A very large audience occupied Music hall on Tuesday, evening, and enjoyed three hours of continual mirth at the comicalities of the "Mighty Dollar" as performed by W. J. Florence and his supporting company.

Major Abbott set a gang of men to work to-day to cut his second crop of ice on the river between the Boston & Maine railroad and Fourth street bridge. He will load six hundred tons in weight on cars to ship to Portsmouth, and from thence to the Isles of Shoals for one of the big hotels there for which he has received a contract.—Dover Democrat, 22d.

Mr. John R. Holbrook has been one of the busiest men in the city this winter, having had work ahead all the time. Since the middle of November he has made sails for the following-named schooners: John Bracewell, jib; Charles H. Trickey, spanker; Mary S. Hontvet, foresail; B. Frank Nealley, foresail and spanker; Grace Choate, full suit of sails. He has also made six large sails for the ship Granite State, and still has work coming in daily.

The G. A. R. committee on the selection of an orator for the evening of Memorial day are in correspondence with Col. E. R. Goodrich of New York.

Good skating was reported at the upper end of the north millpond on Tuesday, but nobody cared to try it during such weather as prevailed that day.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics, at best suppress painfulness only to cut loudly the effects.
In fact, it is conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will no eradicate those diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the cause. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Hospital Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial, it is guaranteed to cure or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE unfortunate victims of vicious habits, those in early life may have contracted chronic diseases, whose constitutions have been undermined by the effects of youthful indiscretion, who are nervous, lack energy, have pimples on the face, blotches on the body, are troubled with premature decay, nocturnal emissions, lost manhood, impotency, or any other disease arising from self-abuse, should read the 25th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of disease, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE: OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can desire require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE: OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures dryness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tendency and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The following testimonial of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who shows the female sex that they need not be ashamed of being called the "Dear Friend of Woman," is one of the correspondence I received lately. She is evidently devoted to her work, and to the interests of a. Kindness, and is entitled to keep its lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each sending her special burden of suffering, or joy at relief from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of its virtues.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely one-half cases of falling of the uterus, leucorrhœa, irregular and painful menstruation, all ovarian troubles, inflammation and ulceration, floodings, all backaches and kidney complaints, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the Law that governs the female system.

For the relief of Kidney Complaints of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says the writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

HEART DISEASE

IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Now

Many people think themselves sick and doctor for kidney or liver troubles, or dyspepsia, while if the truth were known, the real cause is at the heart. The renowned Dr. Cundening, startlingly says "one third of my subjects show signs of heart disease." The heart weighs about nine ounces, and yet more than twenty-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a half, without rest, day and night! Surely this subject should have careful attention.

Dr. Graves a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles and kindred disorders. It is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained at your druggists, $1. per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express. Send stamp for Dr. Graves' thorough and exhaustive treatise. (1)

Books, Magazines, etc.

Ole Bull: a memoir by Sara C. Bull, with Ole Bull's "violin notes," and Dr. A. B. Crosby's "Anatomy of the Violinist." Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

Mrs. Bull, who in the preparation of the memoir of her deceased husband has sought to bring out characteristic traits which the friends of the celebrated artist would recognize, was the second wife of Ole Bull and is known to some of our readers across the Piscataqua. Her memoir accounts in incidents, criticisms and tributes of esteem, as well as a recital of the trials and tribulations of the violinist. The steel engraved likeness of Ole Bull seems excellent, as we remember him on one of his visits to our neighborhood. The appendix is of especial interest to all who play the violin. The pose of the celebrated player, method of handling the violin, and other notes of important value to players, amateurs as well as professionals, are furnished; and by the aid of a well arranged index, subjects in the memoir, as in the appendix, are easily found. The whole forms a most interesting, as well as authentic account of the personal history of the eminent violinist, who from his first public essay in England in May, 1836, down to the time of his death, had achieved such fame for his perfection in this art, in both hemispheres.

"Solid comfort" can be realized by those suffering from all forms of scrofula, if they will take Hood's Sarsaparilla and be cured.

—The New York Commercial Advertiser says that "the tin horn and the toy pistol go hand in hand." This is the first time that we ever knew that either article had hands.

Great Physicians.

In order to be a great physician nowadays, a man must not only be a thorough student in science, but he must thoroughly understand human nature. Speaking of physicians, it is a remarkable fact, that no less than twenty of the medical celebrities of Europe all concur in the highest opinion of the remedy for rheumatism, gout and malaria, and pronounce Salicylica a wonderful success.

—Why she prized it: "I wouldn't lose that roller pin for money," exclaimed an Oshkosh woman, brandishing a chunk of wood that looked as though it had been in a fight with a sausage chopper. "Every time I lose a husband I cut a notch in it."

Mother Swan's Worm Syrup.

Infallible, tasteless, harmless, cathartic; for feverishness, worms, constipation. 25c.

—Mr. Peet, a rather diffident man, was unable to prevent himself from being introduced one evening to a fascinating lady, who, misunderstanding his name, constantly addressed him as Mr. Peters, much to the gentleman's distress. Finally, summoning courage, he painfully but earnestly remonstrated. "Oh! don't call me Peters, call me Peet." "Ah, but I don't know you well enough, Mr. Peters," said the young lady, blushing.

What's the use having dyspepsia? Why belch and say you've got heartburn, every time you eat? Be sensible, take Brown's Iron Bitters and get well.

—Money is often easy when its possessor is tight.

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and I lor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true hunter of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne sway to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unbridled labor are graceful, our friend William, slipped for his work, and attacking a tree as Hercules I assumed the heavy doors of Front de Beef's Castle, must have presented a admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to get a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I could never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calkulate on:—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is cut in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

Many London ladies crop their hair short and wear an almost entire wig, and consequently catch cold more frequently than their American cousins, but of course they all use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Jesse Hagar of Athol, Mass., committed suicide Sunday night, Jan. 21st, by hanging himself to the door-knob in his bedroom. Mr. Hagar was a respected citizen, with plenty to provide for himself through life, and the only reason for his act seems to have been the death of his wife about a year ago.

Speaking of the Great German Remedy to a friend, O'Donovan Rossa said: "Mrs. Rossa has been cured of a very severe attack of neuralgia by St Jacobs Oil, as she will gladly tell you, if you call at my residence, 879 Bushwick avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y."

William Trollope of Northampton, Mass., has been committed to jail for alleged infanticide. He has been living with a widow named Donovan. She gave birth to a child, and it disappeared, probably through Trollope's connivance.

Ely's Cream Balm has completely cured me of catarrh, of which I have been afflicted over ten years, after trying almost every remedy recommended, none having proved so effective and thorough. S. J. It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy. $1 a bottle; six for $5.

The east-bound express train on the Central Pacific railroad was seized about midnight on the night of the 27th inst. at Montello station, 166 miles west of Ogden, by about a dozen masked ruffians, who robbed the trainmen and passengers, and then went for the express car; J. M. Ross, the express messenger, opened fire on them, and after the exchange of about thirty shots the robbers retreated.

"One man's meat is another man's poison." Kidney-Wort expels the poisonous humors. The first thing to do in the spring is to clean house. For internal cleansing and renovating, no other medicine is equal to Kidney-Wort. In either dry or liquid form it cures headache, bilious attacks, constipation and deranged kidneys.

At one o'clock Monday morning, the 22d inst., the high wind and water drove such immense quantities of ice over the falls of Niagara as to most completely fill the gorge below. The ice bridge was over 100 feet thick in places, and thrown up along the shore, destroying houses and other property and doing several thousand dollars damage. Two hundred feet of the inclined railway building, and the magnificent observatory and dressing rooms below the bank, were crushed.

In New York, Jan. 22d, the trial of an action by Fannie D. Wylie against the Northampton National bank of Massachusetts was begun in the United States circuit court before Judge Wheeler and a jury. The suit is for the recovery of $10,180 with interest, the value of eight first mortgage bonds of the Pacific railroad company, deposited with the Northampton bank, and stolen from there by burglars on Jan. 26th, 1876. The plaintiff claims that by compromise with the thieves the bank recovered about $1,500,000 of its stolen property, and thereupon all claims against the robbers were compounded and they were allowed to retain the bonds of the plaintiff and certain other property, her interests being sacrificed for those of the bank. The plaintiff testified to the facts set forth in her complaint. The defendant states that since the action was begun, four of the bonds in question have been recovered.

"If you are a woman and would contribute your influence to redeem humanity from its numberless ills, make all things else subordinate to health. If you possess this inestimable treasure you may transmit the same and your offspring may rise up and call you blessed. To secure this it will be well to seek the motherly countenance of Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Massachusetts.

To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends off who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was take with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. These are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use. I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to take Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before. I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time. It has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork. It is the thing for the student, and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE EMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

FOR THE PERMANENT CURE OF CONSTIPATION.

No other disease is so prevalent in this country as Constipation, and no remedy has ever been tested, the celebrated Kidney-Wort as a cure. Whatever the cause, however obstinate the case, this remedy will overcome it.

PILES. Until discussing complaint is very apt to be complicated with constipation. Kidney-Wort strengthens the weakened parts and quickly cures all kinds of Piles even when physicians and medicines have before failed.

Seven Per Cent. First Mortgages.

FOR SALE, in sums of five hundred dollars and upwards five years to run principal and interest payable where the lender desires. These mortgages are secured on improved farms in Iowa, Kansas and Dakota, valued at three times the amount of the mortgage. These loans are very popular with many conservative investors and the demand for them is increasing. We receive our loans mostly of Trust Companies of high character and experience and believing them one of the best and most profitable investments to be had, we cheerfully and heartily recommend them to investors. The high wind which lifted around the chimney tops and steeples, and blew bricks down into the street, scaring the people who walked below. Snow, sleet and hail drove in the faces of those who dared expose themselves, and made them button their coats tight around their throats. Of course there were sore throats and colds and coughs and rheumatism the next day. But what were these to men and women who could step into any drug store and buy a bottle of Perry Davis's Pain Killer?

The Naval Appropriations.

The Hon. B. Slote, at Music hall on Tuesday evening of this week, made one of his best hits when, reproached with being bribed in the interest of a measure before the house, he remarked, "Certainly I have an interest in it. I am counsel for the railroad."

To the honest and unsophisticated member of the body politic it is a wonder why the government should wish to close up its public works, and place itself in a condition of inefficiency as to building, repairing or maintaining its naval vessels and issuing its naval stores, and be at the merciless mercy of a set of monopolists should any exigency require the services of a government vessel.

But we must remember that the outgoing congressman is but mortal. As he retires after his term of service in Congress, with untarnished name and uncorrupted honor, he hardly relishes the position of the poor but honest ex-public functionary, while his more favored associates have by some lucky stroke of fortune been blessed with a competence. It is upon the eve of this departure that the temptation assails the virtuous member, and perhaps he yields.

In the present exigency the question is, What to do with the navy? The democratic party are quite willing to close the yards, and omit any considerable appropriation for naval expenditures. The representatives from the far west have no especial interest in having money expended, which in its outlay, as they hold, is of no especial benefit to the west; and unless the friends of the navy are agreed upon a policy the navy can get along without improvement for another year.

This then seems just the thing the builders of iron ships desire. The theory that the future ships of the navy are to be of iron has become a plant in the navy department. That this is due to the fact that one great builder of iron vessels contributed generously to elect certain congressmen, and to aid the success of the general ticket in an hour of doubt and uncertainty as to the presidential contest, we unhesitatingly affirm that we don't know. That any legal lights at present flickering around the verge of the government, and soon to expire in the socket, have been in any degree illuminated by processes so well portrayed by the member from the Cohosh district, we certainly at this standpoint cannot determine.

But that the whole talk about closing yards, saving expenses in appropriations, the undesirable character of wooden ships, the necessity of iron vessels to be built near the deposits of coal and iron, the cost of the plant required to enable the government to build in its navy yards an iron ship equally as well as can a contractor, (as if our good Uncle Sam has not had a luxurious experience in this direction!) all comes from one source.—the contractors, who have sought to close the navy yards in order that the department, if it wants anything from a bolt to a boiler, shall come to private monopolists and pay such price for work as their caprice may suggest,—this we do assert.

Now nobody affects to believe that any officer of the government holds to the economy of subjecting the government to this process of extortion. If there is to be waste and extravagance, the present system, which distributes its lavish expenditures, is far better than the mode which would enrich some unscrupulous contractor, who in turn might have the power and the means to debauch an entire arm of the public service.

The only reasonable theory is, that the "Mighty Dollar" has appeared somewhere, and that the "Slotes" who were stranded by the refluent tidal wave of the fall elections, now turn up as "Counsel for the Steamboat."

Local Self-Government.

In response to a call for troops to quell a riot at Opelika, Ala., the governor on the 22d inst. sent there the Montgomery Grays. The trouble arose from the fact that the legislature annulled the charter of the city, and placed its government in the hands of a commission; Mayor Dunbar and his friends refused to recognize the commission, so the military arrested them and "fired them out." This seems rather funny when we remember how much howling the democrats have done about "local self-government."

Hardly Just.

Commenting on the sudden sinking of the steamship Cimbria by collision, the Newburyport Herald says:

The Cimbria pretended to have water tight compartments, but it was only a pretence; as soon as there was one portion of the ship broken into, the water rushed into all parts as if there was no separation, and the Cimbria sunk so suddenly that there was no chance of saving the passengers. It is a disaster which gives a bad name to the German lines of ocean steamers. No British passenger ship of that class could have been sunk in fifteen minutes from such a cause, and it ought not to be possible with any. The captain, first officer and surgeon went with the passengers, but most of the crew escaped, which looks badly for German sailors as in comparison with the British or American.

This criticism is hardly just. The Cimbria carried a crew of ninety-two men, not one-quarter of whom were saved; and if she did belong to a German line, she was built in Great Britain. And it was no longer ago than Jan. 7th of this year that the British steamship City of Brussels, one of the largest and finest ships of the Inman Line, was run down in the mouth of the river Mersey by another and much smaller boat, and sank in a few moments, eleven lives being lost.

News and Notes.

The captain of the steamer Sultan, which sank the Cimbria, says that at the time of the collision his vessel was going dead slow, and her whistle sounding every few seconds; the captain and chief officer were on the bridge, and two of the hands were looking out forward. Suddenly the green and masthead lights of a steamer were seen two points on the starboard bow, and the captain of the Sultan thought the approaching steamer would keep her course and go clear. It was noticed, however, that she suddenly ported and came around rapidly. It was too late to do anything but stop and reverse, which was done at once. By the time the engines had revolved once the captain noticed the other steamer's port light coming rapidly towards the Sultan. The next instant, with the great way she had on, she caught the Sultan's bowsprit in her port forerigging, taking her right around. There was great consternation on board the Sultan, as it was feared that so much larger a vessel would sink her. The Sultan remained on the scene five hours, and the captain heard no sound during the whole time; when he first saw the Cimbria she was going at full speed.

In Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 22d, the wife of John Zimbrick, a laborer, killed her three children, the oldest aged seven years and the younger eighteen months, literally cutting them to pieces. She then attempted to hang herself in an outhouse, but was arrested by the neighbors.

Three coal trains, consisting of three engines and sixty-nine cars, all coupled together, ran away on a down grade of the Georges Creek & Cumberland railroad of Maryland, Jan. 23d, and went off a trestle ten miles from Cumberland. The entire train was smashed, and the fiften men in charge all killed.

The British steamship Wilton, bound to Baltimore from Europe with iron ore, got aground in the Craighill channel, and the captain discharged some of the ore to lighten his vessel. For this he has been fined $1000 by the collector of Baltimore, who however recommends a remission of the fine.

On Jan. 5th the house of Alexander Blanchard in Lowell, Mass., was robbed of $46 in money, two dresses, and some underclothing. Ella Blanchard, a half sister aged seventeen years, was suspected, and a description sent to the various police headquarters. She was arrested at Lawrence on Tuesday the 23d, having on one of the stolen dresses, and confesses her guilt.

Sarah McKenzie of Lowell, Mass., recently became insane from religious excitement. Monday, Jan. 22d, she was sent to the City hospital for temporary treatment. During the absence of the nurse, Tuesday afternoon, she escaped in her night clothes, and before she was captured caused considerable excitement. It took three men to return her. She will be sent to the Danvers insane asylum.

Smallpox is increasing at Salem, Va., and a feeling of great despondency pervades the community. Liberty and Christiansburg are quarantined against the town and business is demoralized. News from Schuyler county, N. Y., is to the effect that the smallpox is very prevalent there, and spreading. Several towns are quarantined.

Thirty-seven cadets of the Pennsylvania Military academy were expelled Monday night, Jan. 22d, for attending a theatrical exhibition.

Samuel C. Bell, son of William Bell, late secretary of state at Columbia, Ohio, on Jan. 22d attempted to shoot his wife and mother-in-law, firing two shots at his wife and one at her mother. He and his wife have been separated some time. He says he intended to kill his wife and then himself.

Over 7,000 hands are idle in the Philadelphia suburbs. Some are out on a strike, others have been forced out by accidental circumstances and the rest have been laid off by the mill owners because of the want of orders for goods.

For some weeks the robbery of letters had been going on in the post-office in Hartford, Conn., and strenuous efforts of detectives failed to discover the offender. On Jan. 23d one of the trusted clerks, Walter C. Dart, was arrested, and the evidence of his guilt was found upon him in the shape of two decoy letters. Dart has been in the post-office nearly ten years, and is respectably connected.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

How the People Are Humbugged

By Co-Operative and Mutual Aid Societies.

The Insurance Department Reports of several States furnish interesting data for judging of the Relative Economy, Security, Reliability, and Business Prudence of placing money with these concerns, under the impression that it furnishes

CHEAP LIFE INSURANCE.

Having duly considered the "lesson" afforded by the following statement, taken from these Official State Reports let the reader consider the DEFINITE Insurance Contract offered by THE under which no "Assessments" are possible, and the benefit to be received definitely decided at time of application, with such an annual return of the unexpired premium as each year's experience shall develop.

Forty-three organizations, known as "Co operative Companies," "Mutual Aid or Relief Associations," "Benefit Societies," &c., report to the State Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, &c., the following

ANOTHER WAY OF PUTTING IT.

These unfortunates hold Certificates representing a supposed value to their beneficiaries of $2,395,525.

The real value proves to have been about 21¾ per cent. or $511,384.36, by waiving their claim of $82,823.58 of the amount collected ($594,207.94) and this is called Cheap Insurance.

SUPREME COURT--POE J.

[SECOND WEEK.]

In No. 81, J. G. Witham vs. town of Northwood, a highway case, a nonsuit was entered. Marston & Eastman for pltf.; Copeland & Edgerly for town.

Batchelder vs. Kent was begun. This is an action against the sheriff of Rockingham county, whose deputy attached the stock of George E. Lane at Exeter. Case taken from the jury, and continued. Leavitt and Frink for pltf.; Marston & Eastman, Wiggin & Fuller, and F. S. Hatch, for deft.

Connell vs. Wentworth, action to recover damages arising from the sale of a horse which it was alleged was represented, as sound, a good traveller, etc. Pltf. claimed that the horse had glanders at the time of the sale; the knowledge of this, of course was denied by the defendant. The price paid was $125; pltf. sold the horse for $60, and an article reckoned at $10 in addition, and he claimed for loss on the sale, cost of treatment and medicines, and other damages. Verdict for plaintiff for $100. Frink & Batchelder for pltf; Emery for deft.

THE AVERY LACTATE CO.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Avery Lactate Co. was held in this city on Wednesday, Jan. 24th; Thos. S. Nowell, Esq., presided. The treasurer's report to Dec. 30th, 1882, was presented, accepted, and ordered to be placed on file.

A letter was read from Charles H. Waters, Esq., of Groton, Mass., declining a re-election to the office of president and general manager, by reason of ill health. The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that the stockholders of the Avery Lactate Co. have learned with sincere regret of the continued ill health of the president of the company, Charles H. Waters, Esq., which prevents his further service in the office of president and general manager.

Resolved, that to the careful and energetic labors of Mr. Waters the company is largely indebted for its present prosperous and substantial condition.

Resolved, that we extend to Mr. Waters our heartfelt wishes for his speedy restoration to health, and that a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to him, to his address at Groton.

A ballot for officers was had, and the following-named gentlemen were declared elected:

Charles H. Waters, Aaron Hobart, Gardner Prouty, N. D. Whitney, S. S. Sprague, Charles F. Fairbanks and Thos. S. Nowell, directors;

William H. Hackett, clerk;

Thomas S. Nowell, president;

Francis Tuckerman, treasurer.

Seven thousand, two hundred and eighty-five shares were voted upon. The following was unanimously passed, and the meeting dissolved:

Voted, that the thanks of the stockholders are due and are hereby presented to Charles H. Waters, the retiring president, for his faithful and able administration of the affairs of the corporation since its formation.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR.

The officers-elect of Sagamore Lodge, No. 258, Knights of Honor, were installed on Monday evening, Jan. 22d, as follows: Dictator, D. B. Macomb; vice dictator, Alfred Stavers; assistant dictator, Oliver M. Knight; treasurer, George E Hodgdon; reporter, George A. Mudge; financial reporter, William Y. Evans; chaplain, D. L. Rand II; medical examiner, Dr. C. J. Cleborne; trustees, R. H. Perkins, H. F. Eldredge, A. M. Lang.

There are now in the United States over 125,000 members of this order, the increase during the past year having been 20,000; the total deaths have been 4019. The last report from the Supreme Lodge gives a list of sixty-nine deaths, and of these decedents two only had paid over $100 in assessments, while their families each received from the widows' and orphans' fund a benefit of $2000.

BRILLIANT WEDDING.

Capt. Henry Salter of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Miss Fannie Bell Peterson, only daughter of Edwin A. Peterson, Esq., were united in marriage on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 24th, at the residence of the bride's parents in Greenland.

At a few moments before 2:30 o'clock the groom, with the bride's mother leaning on his arm, entered the room where the ceremony was to be performed, and took his stand beneath a large floral bell, where he was shortly joined by the youthful bride, who entered on the arm of her father; and soon the pledges were given and declarations uttered that made the contracting parties husband and wife, Rev. James DeNormandie being the officiating clergyman. The bride was exquisitely dressed in white satin, with tablier embroidered with seed pearls; lace veil and orange blossoms, and diamond ornaments.

A reception followed, from three to four o'clock, and was attended by a brilliant and fashionable throng of prominent people of Greenland and this city, and many from places more distant; Messrs. Frank A. Clarke of Manchester, Arthur W. Walker and A. P. Preston of this city, and Wendell C. Peterson of New York, were the ushers.

Weber of Boston was the caterer, and brought with him a corps of competent assistants. The house was profusely decorated with the most beautiful flowers, and an orchestra of six pieces was present to furnish music. The wedding presents were almost innumerable, and many of them of rare beauty.

The newly-made pair took the westward-bound train at 5:30 o'clock, carrying with them the best wishes of hundreds for their permanent happiness.

MASONIC INSTALLATION.

Past Grand High Priest John R. Holbrook installed the following-named officers-elect of Washington Chapter, No. 3, Royal Arch Masons, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 23d, with the formal and impressive ceremonies of the order.

Charles W. Norton, High Priest;
Thomas E. O. Marvin, King;
William S. Hazel, Scribe;
John Nutter, Treasurer;
Oliver G. Fernald, Secretary;
John Dame, Captain of Host;
John R. Holbrook, Principal Sojourner;
John Christie, Chaplain;
Gustave Peyser, Royal Arch Captain;
Michael Crowley, Geo. A. Blaisdell, William G. Billings, Masters of Veils; John McCombie, Harry Keekings, Stewards;
William B. Randall, Tyler.

Osgood Lodge, I. O. O. F., give an entertainment at the hall in National block this (Thursday) evening. The programme is a choice one, including dramatic and musical gems, and other attractions, among them being the first introduction of the Smith family.

Thatcher, Primrose & West's Consolidated Mammoth Minstrels will give an entertainment in Music hall next Wednesday evening.

Mr. George Lane died in Stratham on Tuesday, Jan. 23d, in the 92d year of his age. He was the oldest resident of the town, and a veteran of the war of 1812.

The schooner Active of this port was purchased by her present owners in March, 1882, for $4000, and $1200 additional was laid out on her in repairs. Between that time and December, when she hauled up for the winter, she squared up the $1200, and paid thirty per cent on the purchase money.

Mr. Wm. A. Plaisted, of No. 125 Market street, in another column tells what he will do for the next thirty days in the line of selling extra brands of flour cheap for cash.

The schooner Mary Willey was on Wednesday of this week loading ice from the cars at the Concord railroad wharf, to carry it to the Shoals.

The Piscataqua on Wednesday, the 24th inst., presented a lively scene with drift ice, which at one time threatened to bridge the river.

There were but few fishing arrivals at this port on Tuesday, the 23d inst., and the fares were light, the whole only amounting to about 8000 lbs., which sold at 5 1-4 cents a pound.

On the 23d of January, 1882, the thermometer at this office indicated two degrees below zero, and on the following morning twenty degrees below; this year the same thermometer, hanging in the same place, indicated two degrees below at four o'clock in the morning on both the 23d and 24th of January.

Ellen A. Waite, wife of the "reverend" and notorious Arthur A. Waite, has filed a petition for a divorce from him, and for the custody of their three children. The petition recites that they were married in St. Louis, Mo., June 14th, 1868, and asks a divorce on several grounds, among them being adultery on the part of the respondent.

Companion John Nutter was on Tuesday evening, Jan. 23d, installed as treasurer of Washington Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of this city, for the thirtieth time, this being the thirtieth consecutive year during which he has faithfully performed the responsible duties of that office. Companion Oliver G. Fernald was also installed as secretary, an office which he has filled with ability and punctuality for twenty-one years. Companion William B. Randall has held the office of tyler for seventeen years, and continues to perform the duties of his station with discretion and fidelity.

Still another of the Reading Co.'s steam colliers which have often visited this port, has got into trouble; the Allentown, when entering New Bedford harbor Jan. 23d, struck on a ledge and knocked a hole in her bottom, and was run on the flats to prevent sinking. The Pottsville, which ran ashore on the Jersey coast some time ago, was still ashore on the 24th inst., the previous report of her having been gotten off being incorrect.

Mr. James L. Cole, for many years a resident of Kennebunkport, where he was deacon in the South Congregational church, and postmaster during the administration of President Lincoln, died in Lawrence, Mass., Sunday, Jan. 21st, aged about seventy years.

The house of L. B. Littlefield at Wells was burned on the night of Jan. 23d, with its contents; loss $2000; insurance $1000.

Physicians recommending stimulants for invalids will consult their own interests and those of their patients by writing for "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled only by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. Said by the present and past state assayers to be absolutely pure—a feature quite essential for medicinal use.

—A strong effort is being made to have the taxes on whiskey and tobacco reduced. If this is effected, poor people can worry along with the present prices of beef, boots and bread. The necessaries of life must be made cheaper.

—A Bridgton teacher, who is trying to instruct her little scholars to recite the xxiii Psalm, was surprised to hear a young hopeful innocently repeat in the place of the accepted text, these words: "Thy rod and thy staff they come for me."

—This is not much of a skating season. Occasionally some smart boys shovel the snow off a pond, while the lazy boys sit on a neighboring fence and direct operations. When the smart boys have cleared off a miniature park on the ice, they sit on the fence and watch the lazy crowd skate, because they (the industrious urchins) are too stiff to indulge. This illustrates the fact that an ounce of lazy brains, well directed, gets as far as a ton of industrious muscle misdirected.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISON, OR URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 98 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Given in a trial, is half guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.
$1 a Box. 6 Boxes for $5.
Sent free by mail on receipt of money.
ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.
But do not be deluded into taking imitations or substitutes, or something recommended as "just as good!" Insist on the genuine with the name of WASBURNE & CO. on each box, which is guaranteed to contain pure under our signature, an indispensible requisite to insure success in the treatment. Take no other, or send to us.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be levelated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 400 pages, bound in full Russian, by which prescriptions for all forms of the ases acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, rather than of which is worth ten times the price of the book. It and in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can give much time, suffering an expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures gray-ness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tendency and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

Messrs. Editors.—

This town is a good Mecca of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, who showed her the human letters may be justfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents know well her. She is absolutely devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a Humanity, and is called to keep six busy assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of woe, for her wise advice from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by Clebat physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Flooding, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, stomach and nervous prostration, all the ills of the weakness of the stomach. It cures Floating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight, and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1, per bottle or six for $5, and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply at her Home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All next respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to all.

IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Now Many people think themselves not sick enough for Kidney or liver troubles, or dyspepsia, which if the truth were known, the real cause is in the heart. The statement is made by the medical profession, that "one-third of my subjects show signs of heart disease."

The heart weighs about nine ounces, and just man's twenty-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a-half, resting not day or night! Surely this subject should have careful attention.

Dr. Graves a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles and kindred disorders. It is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained at your druggists, $1. per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express. Send stamp for Dr. Graves' thoroughly exhaustive treatise. (1)

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his swinging strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, a ripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bœuf's Castle, must have presented a admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to stay a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. It it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of RENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I could never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm about as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calkulate on:—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

Ancient Tricks of the Toilet.

The use of cosmetics in connection with the bath prevailed among the wealthy women of a very remote period. At the magnificent court of Ahasuerus, in the seventh year of his reign, the following elaborate processes of "purification" were prescribed for the maidens destined for the king's harem; being "gathered together unto Shushan the palace, - - to the custody of Hegai, keeper of the women," they abode in the "women's house," and "so were the days of their purification accomplished, to wit: six months with oil of myrrh, and six months with sweet odors, and with other things for the purifying of women" (Esth. ii. 8, 12). The Song of songs is rich in figurative allusions to these "sweet odors," its last rapturous note echoing from "the mountains of spices;" "myrrh and frankincense, with all powders of the merchant;" "camphire, with spikenard and saffron; calamus and cinnamon, with all trees of frankincense; myrrh and aloes, with all the chief spices;" "my hands dropped myrrh, and my fingers sweet-smelling myrrh;" "his cheeks are as a bed of spices, as sweet flowers; his lips like lilies, dropping sweet-smelling myrrh;" "the mandrakes" and the "pleasant fruits."

It is most interesting to learn, in connection with another couplet of this exquisite song, "My beloved is unto me as a cluster of camphire in the vineyards of En-gedi," that En gedi is the one only place in all Palestine where camphor still grows. This plant is better known by its Arabian name henna; it is a tall shrub, whose white-and-yellow flowers grow in clusters, like our familiar lilac. The Eastern women are still fond of wearing these fragrant blossoms in their hair or their bosoms; but it is an ancient dye that the plant has came into special notice. The dried leaves of the henna were crushed and made into a paste with water, and applied to the palms of the hands, to the nails of fingers and toes, and to the hair, if the discovery of gray threads should be unwelcome. It was used by the men to dye the hair and beard, and even applied sometimes to color the mane and tail of a favorite horse. The antiquity of this custom is demonstrated by its frequent mention by writers of a very early period, and even more conclusively by the fact that the nails of some Egyptian mummies (especially those of women) still retain the stain of the dye.

Painting the eyelids and eyebrows with kohl was another Eastern fashion (not yet extinct) of equal popularity. The large, languishing black eye, shaded with long dark lashes, has doubtless always been the distinguishing feature of beauty in the daughters of the east; and it is not surprising that they have tenaciously retained a practice supposed to enhance its size and brightness. The black powder called kohl was made of several substances: stibium, or antimony, with zinc and oil; or burnt almond-shells, mixed with liban, a sort of frankincense, also burnt; another sort was made of powder of lead ore, and was considered not only ornamental, but beneficial, by reason of certain medicinal properties. This kohl was kept in boxes or vials of wood, stone, or pottery, having several compartments, and often highly ornamented. It was applied with a small stick of wood, ivory, or silver, which was first wet in rose-water, dipped into the black powder, and drawn carefully along the edges of the eyelids, both upper and under. In the same way the arch of the eyebrow was darkened and elongated.

This practice of eye-painting must have been in great popularity as early as the time of Job: for Keren-happuch, the name of the youngest of his three beautiful daughters, signifies "a horn for paint;" that is, "a bottle for kohl." It was esteemed a great mark of beauty, that the eyebrows should meet over the nose in the form of a bow; and it was common to imitate nature in this respect by the use of the kohl; but this had to be renewed in seasons of mourning, and, if the hair actually grew there, it must be plucked out.

In the toilet of that rare Jewish beauty of the apocryphal story, Judith, the widow of Manasses,—which was made in the highest interests of religion and patriotism, as expounded in the day of that historical fiction,—there is so full a recapitulation of the several customs in connection with women's dress, that it seems appropriate to introduce the description in closing the subject. The narrative reads thus: "She put off the garments of her widowhood, and washed her body all over with water, and anointed herself with precious ointment, and braided the hair of her head and put a tire upon it, and put on her garments of gladness * * She took sandals upon her feet, and put about her her bracelets and her chains and her rings and her earrings and all her ornaments, and decked herself bravely." (Jud. x: 3, 4)—From Mrs. Palmer's "Home Life in the Bible."

Pug dogs as pets have had their day among the extremely fashionable, but colds never go out of fashion, so that it is always necessary to know that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a sure cure for all coughs and colds.

Ensign William F. Fallam is ordered to duty at the naval academy.

Modern excavations and other researches have established the fact that the ancient Egyptians possessed considerable of electricity, as well as a few of the various uses to which it can be applied. This only strengthens the Biblical statement that there is nothing new under the sun—not even Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator, The American people have known and used it for thirty years. No cases of heart disease can withstand its influence.

Capt. Wallace, commanding the Vandalia, reports to the navy department his arrival at San Juan, Porto Rico, Jan. 6th, from St. Thomas, and that he sailed from Porto Rico on the 8th for Samana bay. He states that there is little, if anything, doing at San Juan, and nothing requiring the presence of a man-of-war.

I am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.—Editor.

Captain J. H. Gillis, commanding the training ship Minnesota, has made a statistical report of boys examined and enlisted on board that vessel at New York from August 7th to December 31st, 1882, which shows that the number examined was 1,119, of whom 449 were accepted and 670 rejected; 264 were accepted and enlisted, and 183 accepted and not enlisted. Of the 264 boys who were enlisted 204 were American-born, and the remaining sixty were foreign-born. Since the above report fifty-nine additional boys have been enlisted.

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" perfectly and permanently cures those diseases peculiar to females. It is tonic and nervine, effectually allaying and curing those sickening sensations that affect the stomach and heart through reflex action. The back-ache, and "dragging-down" sensations all disappear under the strengthening effects of this great restorative. By druggists. b

Comdr. Reed, commanding the Alliance, reports to the navy department the arrival of the vessel at Santiago de Cuba on Jan. 11th. He states that everything at Antigua and Santiago is quiet, and that Americans appear to be favorite visitors at those parts, where there are several now making arrangements to invest capital in the development of iron and copper mines. The Alliance will continue her cruise, visiting Havana and Aspinwall, and expects to reach Key West on February 10th and New Orleans about March 15th.

Extreme Tired Feeling.

A lady tells us "the first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good, her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." A second bottle effected a cure. No other preparation contains such a concentration of vitalizing, enriching, purifying and invigorating properties as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well Shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends of who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was taken with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. Those are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use. I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to use Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before. I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time. It has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork. It is the thing for the student and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE REMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

Old Boreas on the Rampage.

The high wind whistled around the chimney tops and steeples, and blew bricks down into the street, scaring the people who walked below. Snow, sleet and hail drove in the faces of those who dared expose themselves, and made them button their coats tight around their throats. Of course there were sore throats and colds and coughs and rheumatism the next day. But what were these to men and women who could step into any drug store and buy a bottle of Perry Davis's Pain Killer?

William G. Haywood, twenty-five years old, living with his mother, shot himself in the head on the steps of the residence of Thomas Sawyer in Providence, R. I., Jan. 24th, and died instantly. He had been engaged in conversation with a young woman, whom he had asked to marry him.

Physicians recommending stimulants for invalids will consult their own interests and those of their patients by writing for "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled only by Chester H. Mrs. Howard A. Palmer of Pembroke, Me., committed suicide, Tuesday night, Jan. 23d, by taking laudanum.

Great Physicians.

In order to be a great physician now-a-days, a man must not only be a thorough student in science, but he must thoroughly understand human nature. Speaking of physicians, it is a remarkable fact, that no less than twenty of the medical celebrities of Europe all concur in the highest opinion of the remedy for rheumatism, gout and malaria, and pronounce Salicylica a wonderful success.

Orrin Paul, a well known citizen of Bristol, Me., fell from and was run over by his team loaded with logs, Jan. 24th, and died from his injuries.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Bad Other Business.

At Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 24th, in the inquest into the Newhall house disaster, Night Clerk Delaney of the hotel was examined. The salient points in his testimony were: He thought the fire originated in the bar-room; that the hose in the halls had not been used or examined for the last two years; that he could have called the guests if he had not been engaged upon matters which he considered more important than alarming guests; that he had twenty-five minutes time between the discovery of the fire and the time when he knew that the hotel was doomed; that he could have run through every hall in the hotel and alarmed every guest in that length of time, but that he had to attend to office duties—saving papers and valuables, knowing the hotel safe to be useless in case of a fire.

News and Notes.

In the Maine legislature, Mr. Goodenow of Calais has introduced an order directing the judiciary committee to enquire into the expediency of restoring capital punishment. He has the courage of his convictions, and believes crimes should be punished, and that murder and burglary are not the same class of crimes. They are punished alike in that state now, so the burglar is invited to commit murder, for his punishment can be no greater, and by murdering he may destroy all evidence against him. It is said that the judiciary committee will report a bill restoring capital punishment. There is a growing opinion that human life—that is, the life of the honest man, not of the murderer—has been held at too cheap a price in the state of Maine.

Henry A. Hill, brakeman on the St. Johnsbury & Lake Champlain road, was killed recently while uncoupling an engine.

S. M. Fields, one of the prominent business men of Newport, Vt., was arrested Tuesday evening, Jan. 23d, by a special agent of the treasury department, on a charge of passing counterfeit money, chiefly silver half dollars. Mr. Fields is the owner of the opera house there, and a well-known railroad contractor. The accused claims that the money was received from Canada in payment for rent, and that he passed it innocently.

The naval appropriation bill passed the house Jan. 25th.

A few nights ago a body of disguised men forcibly took from the Russell county (Va.) jail O. E. Ferrall and Evan Griffith, who were confined therein on a charge of obtaining under false pretences $18,000 worth of cattle from graziers in that section. Nothing is known as to what disposition was made of the prisoners, but it is believed they were lynched.

At Shawneetown, Ill., early in the morning on Jan. 23d, a mob of masked men attempted to enter the jail for the purpose of lynching a colored murderer named Holmes. Repulsed in their first attempt by the sheriff and his deputies, they brought a cannon in front of the jail and threatened to batter down the walls; but shots from the jail, the ringing of the court house bell, and the gathering of citizens scared them away.

Conductor Eugene T. Hosley of the New Haven & Northampton railroad, who ran the freight train which collided Sept. 19th with a wild freight on the State road, killing three men, was arrested at Westfield, Mass., Jan. 24th, for manslaughter, and taken to Shelburne Falls to be arraigned.

What is thought to be a hog cholera is becoming epidemic, in malignant form, among swine in and about Augusta, Me. Of sixteen full-blooded Berkshires, purchased at the Soldiers' home, Togus, by an Augusta landlord, eleven have died. At Togus, eighteen pigs have died of the same disease. The first symptom noticed is coughing.

Henry Barnard, late cashier of the defunct City bank at Rochester, N. Y., has been arrested.

Ferrymaster Moore, charged with robbing a ferry company at New York of $40,000, has been discharged for lack of evidence.

Agents of the secret service have arrested in Parkersburg, W. Va., five men for passing and having in their possession counterfeit coin.

In the national house of representatives, Jan. 24th, in the debate on the naval bill, Leopold Morse of Massachusetts succeeded in getting adopted an amendment providing that if the work on the monitors can be done as cheaply and advantageously in the navy yards as in private yards, the monitors shall be constructed in the navy yards.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the old-est and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eod1jan24

If health and beauty you'd maintain,
And keep your breath a period charm,
Use S. Z. DONT with might and main;
For it alone prevents the harm
That mars a woman's teeth and breath
And leaves her mouth as dark as death.

During a recent melee in a Water street saloon one of the participants was so badly cut near one eye as to require the services of two physicians to dress the wounds.

The second annual ball of Newichewannock Tribe, No. 4, Improved Order of Red Men, came off in Franklin hall on Wednesday evening of this week, and was a very social and agreeable affair. The galleries were well filled with spectators, and there were about seventy-five couples of dancers, fifty-five couples participating in the grand march. The music, by the Salem quadrille band, was fine. The party broke up at two o'clock Thursday morning.

The steamer Acushnet on Jan. 19th, when off the Gurnet, about ten miles out of Provincetown, Mass., fell in with the barque Estelle, bound to Boston from Goree, on the west coast of Africa, with a mixed cargo of African produce; the barque had lost her foreyard and foretopgallantmast, and the Acushnet towed her into port. On Tuesday, Jan. 23d, the Acushnet in coming out of Boston harbor had to break her way through solid ice, she being the first boat to start out that morning; but she arrived at this port on time, with a good cargo.

In the Maine senate, Jan. 25th, "ought to pass" was reported on the bill to incorporate the York Harbor & Beach Railroad Co. In the house, the bill to allow the Kennebunk & Kennebunkport railroad to be leased to the Boston & Maine road, was reported favorably.

The dwelling of Charles C. Wells at the lower village, Kennebunk, was burned on Tuesday, Jan. 23d, at out one o'clock, together with its contents. The family were away, and it is not known how the fire originated.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of

overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. Hood's SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

How the People Are Humbugged

By Co-Operative and Mutual Aid Societies.

The Insurance Department Reports of several States furnish interesting data for judging of the Relative Economy, Insurance Reliability, and Business Prudence of placing money with these concerns, under the impression that it furnishes

CHEAP LIFE INSURANCE.

Having only considered the "lesson" afforded by the following statements, taken from these Official State Reports, let the reader consider the DEFINITE Insurance Contract offered by THE Mutual Life Insurance Co.

OF NEW YORK,

under which no "Assessments" are possible, and the benefit to be received definitely stated at time of application, with such an annual return of the unexpired premium as each year's experience shall develop.

Forty-three organizations, known as "Co-operative Companies," "Mutual Aid or Relief Associations," "Benefit Societies," &c., report to the State Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, &c., the following

OUTRAGEOUS MISUSE — OF THE — Assessments Collected.

Maximum Value of Certificates (or policies, upon which policies were issued in 1881).....	$2,396,725.00
These "Certificates" proved to be worth as claims.....	$511,286.36
Claims were.....	$583,207.94
Difference between collection and disbursement, illustrating Eco. ompm Cost (?).....	$82,823.58 $513,284.36

ANOTHER WAY OF PUTTING IT.

These unfortunates hold Certificates representing a supposed value to their beneficiaries of $2,396,725. The real value proves to have been about 21½ per cent, or $511,284.36, by waiving their claim of $82,823.58 of the amount collected ($594,207.94) and this is called Cheap Insurance.

QUERY.

Who ever heard of any respectable Life Insurance Company selling $2,395,725 of insurance, honestly contracted for, at a discount like the above sum at such a cost?

SUPREME COURT--POE J.

Cases 98 and 99, Mary Atherton and Bradbury Atherton vs. Albert Henderson, were on trial Wednesday and Thursday. The plaintiffs are the father and mother of a boy who it is alleged bought intoxicating liquors at the store of Henderson in Newmarket, the drinking of which caused the death of the son; and this suit was brought under the statute which provides that in case of death in consequence of intoxication from the use of liquor unlawfully furnished, any person who shall be in any manner dependent upon such injured person for means of support, may recover from the person furnishing the liquor all damages and loss sustained thereby. SLEIGH BELLS.

The sleigh barge "Rockingham" was never filled with a more exuberantly jovial party than the one which went to Pocahontas point, Gerrish's island, Kittery, in that handsome vehicle on Wednesday afternoon of this week. The sleighing was excellent, and the spirited four-in-hand skillfully managed by Harry Beacham, the run down, ten miles, being made in less than an hour. At Sea-Side Lodge blazing fires and a steaming supper had been prepared, and were greatly enjoyed by the merry party, after which the surroundings of this charming spot received much attention. The return home was made in season to allow the excursionists to attend the Red Men's ball, all being delighted with the trip, the only drawback being the feeling of regret for the few who "got left," among which unfortunates was a well known newspaper man.

LOST IN THE SUBURBS OF A GREAT CITY.

The night of January 19th, 1883, will hereafter be indelibly engraven in the calendar of at least one goodly young man of our pleasant city.

In the early part of that week the subject of this sketch, having occasion to visit the heart of the Commonwealth of Butler, resolved on the completion of his business — of course "business before pleasure"—to gyrate around the hub of the universe for the remainder of the week, intent on the seeing the elephant in all his moods. It is a well known axiom that nothing gives one so much assurance and self possessions the fact of being well dressed. 'Twas thus with our hero. Clad in garments of faultless cut and fit by Rider & Cunningham, top-hampered with the latest and lowest soup-plate from Butler's, his nether extremities encased in low-cut patent-leathers from Fay's, our friend as he gaily tripped along Washington street, Boston, had the appearance of "a gentleman of blood and breeding."

It is not our purpose to follow him and his fair Polyanthea, who by the way is an occasional resident of our city, in their rounds through the great Metropolis; suffice it to say that the Art Building on its free day, Natural History Rooms, Roller Skating Rink at Mechanics fair building, Jordan, Marsh & Co., McKee Rankin at the Park, were each duly taken in and digested. This brings us to the night and subject proper of our sketch.

A very pleasant evening had been passed with his companion within the cosy and crowded auditorium of the Museum, Boucicault being the attraction, Colleen Bawn the play. Emerging from the building a driving snow storm was found to be in full blast, making a stampede for the horse cars necessary. After divers and herculean attempts to obtain seats, he was compelled to hang upon the ragged edge of a crowded platform, supporting as best he could his companion, the snow blockading his ears and infiltrating down the back of his neck. At length, after tedious and exasperating delays, he deposited his companion at her home, his only thought now being to reach his rooms at East Cambridge, six miles away.

Cars returning down town were not numerous, and those that were, generally were going in the wrong direction; however, he managed to reach Scollay's Square just as the last car over the Cambridge street bridge was starting out, which he boarded. Arriving at Charles river station a policeman came aboard, bearing the form of a half-drowned woman—a would-be suicide, just fished out of the river—an unusual sight to our friend, and one which wholly occupied his attention and thoughts. Awaking from his reverie he asked a fellow passenger, "Are we nearing Sixth street?" "Sixth street!" "Yes sir, Sixth street?" "Why, my dear sir, we passed Sixth street long ago, and are two miles from it this moment." "Does this car go back?" "No sir."

Hastily stopping the car, and with a horse car conductor's directions, our hero plunged into the darkness and the storm, to become hopelessly bewildered, lost. After what seemed to him an age of aimless wanderings, hallooings for police where none could be found, poundings on store doors, hoping thereby to arouse some sleeping watchman, he at length came to a window bearing the legend, made visible by a flickering light within, "Cambridge 1st National Bank" — and was happy. A thundering knock brought the trembling watchman to the door, who excitedly shrieked through the key hole, "What's wanted?" "Sixth street! For heaven's sake tell me where Sixth street is. I've lost my way, and am nearly frozen."

The clock in an adjacent tower struck two as our friend descended the steps to follow his new directions. Again he became lost; nothing seemed familiar, nothing recognizable. Again he hallooed "police!"—but oh, where were they? His feet were like balls of ice, the patent leathers being about as much protection as bathing shoes. He was well nigh exhausted and discouraged when he discovered that he was approaching the bridge, over which he rode two hours previous. About resolving in his mind to tramp to Boston, he read by the aid of a dim gaslight, "Ross House," upon rather an uninviting exterior. Here at least was a haven. The bells rang out three o'clock as he furiously pounded at the front door; no answer; poundings again, with like result. Becoming desperate he seeks the rear of the house, and after tumbling over several ash barrels finds a door upon which he pounds with all his might. Success! A window opens above his head, and "What the devil do you want?" is thundered out in broken English. The lost one is admitted into a kitchen redolent with limburger cheese and sour krout, and finds himself in a German boarding house. A bed is given him, in which he shivers between the cold, damp sheets till morning, only to find on looking out of the window that the house for which he had hunted all night is only two blocks away.

Disgusted with himself he pays his lodging, takes an early car, breakfasts at Young's, and returns home by an early train, fully determined that when he visits Boston again he will give the suburbs a wide berth.

Of the minstrel company advertised for Music hall next Wednesday evening, the Detroit Free Press says: "A minstrel show with new jokes is an anomaly in the theatrical world, and to this extent the consolidated mammoth minstrels of Thatcher, Primrose and West is an anomaly. An immense audience last evening laughed themselves weary at the excellent bill of fare set before them by this organization. Thatcher and Primrose are premiers, as the bills say, and they have surrounded themselves with the best specialty talent procurable. The olio last night was bright and sparkling, the songs and singing excellent, and the finale original in idea and capital in execution."

The Messrs. Hayes, of the noted stock, milk and sauce farm at the Plains, on Wednesday of this week sold to William R. Garvin and George H. Yeaton of Rollinsford three three-years-old heifers; they were very fine animals, all registered in the Ayrshire Register, and the price paid for them was three hundred dollars cash. Who says the raising of pedigree stock does not pay? Two of the animals, since producing their last calves in August, have given over 4000 quarts of milk.

The steamers Mystic and James Sampson were not able to make their forenoon trips to Kittery until eleven o'clock on Thursday last, on account of the ice blockade.

Quite a large party improved the good sleighing on Thursday afternoon last, by taking a trip to Dover Point in one of Beacham's big teams.

A number of ladies and gentlemen went from this city to Rye on Wednesday evening, the 24th inst., to attend the fair given in the town hall by the ladies of the Christian society, and enjoyed the occasion much.

Sagamore creek is frozen over both above and below the bridge, so that no water is visible to persons crossing the bridge.

Since the cold snap set in the steamer James Sampson has made her Kittery Point landings at the government wharf at Fort McClary, not being able to reach her own wharf in Pepperell's cove on account of the drift ice packed in there, and held by the frost.

A party of tramps, respectable in numbers if in nothing else, hung around the Eastern railroad station a portion of the day last Thursday. After getting warmed up they started for the westward.

A Common sense Remedy.

SALICYLICA.

No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.

Immediate Relief Warranted.

Permanent Cure Guaranteed

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

SECRET!

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate those diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Hitherto Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.

Give it a trial, ticket guaranteed or money refunded.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man! Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be a levisted and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

28th edition revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of disease, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 5-, by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—Augusta Journal.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can now much more safely, confidently consult by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures grayness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tend ncy and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

Messrs. Editors—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is industriously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is skilled to keep its lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at relief from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a marvelous remedy for good and evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of the proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing-down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1, per bottle or six for $5, and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimony shows.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world, for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to all.

IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Many people think themselves sick and doctor for liver or lung troubles, or dyspepsia, while if the truth were known, the real cause is at the heart.

The renowned Dr. Cornelius, startlingly says "nine-tenths of the deaths are from heart disease."

The heart weighs about nine ounces, and yet man's "twenty-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a-half, resting not day or night! Surely this subject should be carefully studied.

Dr. Greene a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles and kindred disorders. It is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained of your druggists, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express, on receipt of price for Dr. Graves' thorough and exhaustive treatise. Mr. Gunther's Swimming Horse.

Mr. Frederick Gunther, the proprietor of the North Point farm and headquarters of North Point Bucking club, is the owner of a remarkable swimming horse. Since last June the horse has accomplished the remarkable feat of swimming from the West North Point light to Seven-foot Knoll and set ra, making fourteen miles each round trip. The last feat, and most remarkable of all, was as follows: The horse entered the water, at his old familiar point, the West North Point light, and swam two miles beyond the front beacon light, and near to Tolchester beach. Being headed off by his owner in a four-oared boat, he turned and swam to Miller's island light, and when he struck bottom rested until Mr. Gunther and a well known carsman overtook him. He then again entered the water, and completed the distance back to East North Point light, making a distance of nineteen miles without leaving the water. The horse was purchased by Mr. Gunther at a point down the bay called Chucoteague island, where he was used to swimming from the island to the shore with his rider, and returning whenever he thought it convenient. Your correspondent rode behind this remarkable horse from Mr. Gunther's farm to Canton, a distance of thirteen miles, in ninety-five minutes.—Baltimore Sun.

LOG ROLLING.

White Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, stripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I. assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bœuf's Castle, must have presented a admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to start a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I buckled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, I's my opinion I's orphan never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calculate on:—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the bane of rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

Books, Magazines, etc.

To those who regularly read "The United Service: a monthly review of military and naval affairs," published by L. R. Hamersly & Co. of Philadelphia, it is superfluous to say that the February number is full of reading matter of interest to both branches of the service, and to the general reader as well. Among the papers in this number are "Some old and famous ships," by Rear Adm. Geo. H. Preble; three chapters of "Winning his spurs," by Capt. Charles King, of the army; "The first voyage around the globe from a port in the United States;" "1863," and "West Point discipline," by officers of the army; "Naval artillery fire," by a British naval officer, reprinted from a British magazine; "A comparison of our system of artillery organization and administration with those of foreign armies," and other articles. Three dollars per year; single numbers twenty-five cents each.

Cuticura

THE NEW BLOOD PURIFIER

Resolvent

I will now state that I made a miraculous cure of one of the worst cases of skin disease known, the patient is a man forty years old; had suffered fifteen years. His eyes, scalp and nearly his whole body presented a frightful appearance. Had had the attention of twelve different physicians, who prescribed the best remedies known to the profession, such as iodide potassium, arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sarsaparilla, etc. Had paid $500 for medical treatment with but little relief. I prevailed upon him to use the Cuticura Resolvent internally, and the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally. He did so and was completely cured. The skin on his head, face, and many other parts of his body, which presented a mass of loathsome appearance, is now as soft and smooth as an infant's, with no scar or trace of the disease left behind. He has now been cured 12 months.

Reported by

F. H. BROWN, Esq., Barnwell, S. C.

Scrofula Sore.

Rev. Dr. Dorr, in detailing his experience with the Cuticura Remedies, said that through Divine Providence one of his parishioners was cured of a scrofula sore, which was slowly draining away his life, by the Cuticura Resolvent internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally. The person had had fed the disease was completely driven out.

Eczema.

Sixteen months since an eruption broke out on my leg and both feet, which turned out to be Eczema, and caused me great pain and annoyance. I tried various remedies with no good results, until I used the Cuticura Resolvent internally and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, which entirely cured me so that my skin is as smooth and natural as ever.

ELLEN M. FRAILEY, 64 South St., Boston.

Cuticura.

The Cuticura treatment, for the cure of Skin, Scalp and Blood diseases, consists in the internal use of Cuticura Resolvent, the new Blood Purifier and the external use of Cuticura and Cuticura Soap, the great skin cures. To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends off who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was taken with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. Those are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use. I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to take Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before. I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time. It has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork it is the thing for the student and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE EMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

Popular Monthly Drawing of the COMMONWEALTH DISTRIBUTION CO.

In the city of Louisville, on

WEDNESDAY JAN. 31st, 1883.

These drawings occur on the last day of each month (Sundays excepted.) Repeated solicitation by Federal and State Courts has decided this company beyond the controversy of the law. To this company belongs the sole honor of having inaugurated the only plan by which their drawings are proven honest and fair beyond question.

N. B.—The Company has now on hand a large capital and reserve fund. Send carefully the list of prizes for the Remit money or bank draft in letter, or send by express. Don't send by registered letter or post-office order. Orders of $5 and upward, by express, can be sent at our expense. Address all orders to R. M. BOARDMAN, Courier-Journal Building, Louisville, Ky.

Seven Per Cent. First Mortgages.

FOR SALE, in sums of five hundred dollars and upwards, five years to run principal and interest payable where the lender desires. These mortgages are secured on improved farms in Iowa, Kansas and Dakota, valued at three times the amount of the mortgage. These loans are very popular with many conservative investors and the demand for them is increasing. We receive our loans most of Trust Companies of high character and experience and believing them one of the best and most profitable investments to be had, we cheerfully and heartily recommend them to investors. Money sent us by check or P. O. order will be invested by us with our best care. Correspondence solicited.

Old Boreas on the Rampage.

The high wind whistled around the chimney tops and steeples, and blew tricks down into the street, scaring the people who walked below. Snow, sleet and hail drove into the faces of those who dared expose themselves, and made them button their coats tight around their throats. Of course there were sore throats and colds and coughs and rheumatism the next day. But what were he to men and women who could step into any drug store and buy a bottle of Perry Davis's Pain Killer?

In the police court at Concord, Jan. 24th, John Snyder pleaded guilty to stealing four robes valued at $75. He was committed for trial. He has served seven years in the state prison for horse and harness stealing.

"He who talks sows, he who listens reaps," and he who takes Adamson's Botanic Balsam, the great remedy for coughs, colds, etc., is wise, because he takes the best remedy on earth. Trial bottles, 10 cents.

A recount of votes in the Lowell senatorial district of Massachusetts gives Charles A. Allen, republican, a majority of twenty-five votes over Jeremiah Crowley of Lowell, the sitting member.

Physicians recommending stimulants for invalids will consult their own interests and those of their patients by writing for "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled only by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. Said by the present and past state assayers to be absolutely pure—a feature quite essential for medicinal use.

Rear Admiral Peirce Crosby, commanding the South Atlantic squadron, has been ordered to proceed to China to command the Asiatic squadron. Commo. William G. Temple will be ordered to command the South Atlantic squadron.

"Your Skin Cure is superexcellent. It is fast curing my daughter's ring worm, which had spread all over her body." Mrs. E. L. D. Merriam, Blue Hill, Mass. Druggists keep it, $1 per package.

Transferring the Revenue Cutters.

At a meeting of the New England Ship Owners' association, held at the rooms of the Boston board of trade on Jan. 25th, the subject of the proposed transfer of the revenue cutter service to the navy department, and also the establishment of a bureau of mercantile marine in the navy department, were fully discussed, and it was unanimously voted: "That this association regards the matter as one of serious importance, and considers that the transfer proposed would be exceedingly unwise and detrimental to the best interests of our commerce and mercantile marine." Another meeting was appointed for Monday, Jan. 29th, when it was announced that Hon. Thomas Russell would speak in advocacy of retaining the revenue marine service in the treasury department.

The chambers of commerce and boards of trade of New York, Boston, Portland and other important seaports, have adopted similar resolutions on this question; and strong remonstrances against the proposed transfer have been numerously signed by the shippers, shipowners and shipmasters of many cities.

The furnishing of positions and sea employment for many of the surplus officers of the navy is not to be regarded in considering the proposed change; the only question is, Will the revenue marine service show as good results under the management of the navy department, as it has hitherto shown and is now showing under the treasury department? The almost universal opinion of those connected or conversant with maritime affairs is that the change would be damaging in the extreme to the efficiency of the cutter service, and that no reason yet advanced in favor of the change should have the slightest weight with Congress.

Small-Pox.

A case of small-pox was discovered in Boston Highlands on Thursday, Jan. 25th, the patient being a child three years of age, which arrived in Boston with its mother the week previous by steamer from Baltimore. There were ninety-three deaths in the latter city from the small-pox during the week ending Jan. 20th, and eighty deaths the week before.

Item and Notes.

Fifty-three shares of the Montpelier (Vt.) National bank stock were sold at auction last week, to satisfy an execution for non-payment of taxes assessed against James R. Langdon. Mr. Langdon declined to make the inventory required by the new tax law, and his list was doubled by the listers.

In the naval appropriation bill, as it passed the house, are provisions changing the title of the grade of midshipmen to that of ensign, and that of master to that of lieutenant, and providing that midshipmen and masters now on the list shall constitute a junior grade of ensigns and a junior grade of lieutenants, respectively. The provision in regard to the pay corps of the navy is that whenever vacancies shall occur in said corps there shall be no original appointments to fill such vacancies, but promotions may be made according to the existing regulations from those remaining in said corps; officers in the line shall be detailed to perform the duties of paymasters under the same rules and regulations as now required of paymasters, but such officers shall not be entitled to increased compensation in consequence of performing such duties.

The outrages perpetrated upon the crew of the British bark Avola, now at this port from Cadiz, and which are too revolting for publication, should not be passed by the authorities unnoticed. The usage to which the poor seamen were subjected upon the voyage surpasses in cruelty the stories told of the old "packet ship times." One young boy, who is suffering terribly from wounds which nearly cover his whole body, has become insane, and is still passing through, in imagination, the inhuman tortures to which he had been subjected before losing his reason. It will be a burning shame if the brutal officers of this vessel are allowed to go unpunished.—Boston Post.

An extensive cave-in has taken place in the Delaware & Hudson mine in the second ward of Wilkesbarre, Penn. On the surface cracks are visible for acres in either direction. A number of houses have settled down from six inches to two feet, alarming the inmates so that they have fled for fear of further danger. The cave-in has taken place under the surface, and no less than twenty acres are reported as going down. The mine inspector thinks the fall is the result of a fire that has for the past eight years been smouldering there, and which had caused the weakening of the props.

Notice is given that the iron nun and can buoys which were left at turning and other important points in the lower bay of New York, have all been displaced by ice, and efforts to keep them in place will be abandoned until further notice. The automatic whistling buoy off Gedney's channel has been sunk, and it will be replaced by another at the earliest opportunity.

John Shanihan of Newport, R. I., while returning from his brother's wedding, Jan. 25th, was thrown from his carriage by a runaway horse, and badly injured. He had just returned from Arizona, where he had made a fortune in the mining business.

John Kelly, the Tammany chieftain, has been out of that kind of politics which pays for near y two years. He has not grown very poor, however, during his retirement. His architect has just filed plans for a row of new apartment houses up town, in New York, which are to cost when completed over $100,000. It is the fashion at present to give names to new buildings, and thus Mr. Kelly's caravansaries will probably be termed "The Wigwam." Mr. Kelly ought to be able to charge very high rents for apartments in his new houses, for every Tammany office holder as well as office seeker will be glad to pay a little premium, or a good one too, for that matter, for the privilege of being in the Sachem's tent.

Charles A. Benjamin of Wakefield, Mass., has been held in $800 to answer to a charge of bigamy. A few days ago he married a girl fifteen years old, who worked in the same manufacturing establishment as he, and the complaint against him was made by the girl's father. Benjamin has a wife living, from whom he has long been separated.

William C. Crandall, a printer of Willimantic, Conn., was arrested Jan. 25th by a deputy sheriff of Hampden county, Mass., on a charge of extensive swindling in Palmer, by the advertising-circular scheme and confidence operations on hotel keepers and others.

William Hadden, convicted last May of robbing the post-office at Haddam, Conn., and sentenced to the Hartford jail for ten years, has escaped. He is believed to be a professional New York thief, and the name under which he was convicted is thought to be an assumed one.

Mrs. Emma Dudley of New Haven, Conn., is dead, from the effects of a Cesarean operation, performed by seven distinguished surgeons. She was thirty-seven years of age, and this was the second Cesarean operation that had been performed upon her, the first having been successfully accomplished about ten years ago.

AROUND HOME.

The Poon island and Isles of Shoals lighthouses have been burning kerosene for about a month, the old lard-oil lamps and gear having been discarded. The smaller lights, such as those at Whaleback and Fort Constitution, were changed from oil to kerosene burners several years ago; but it was then announced by the lighthouse board that in the higher order lighthouses a better effect could be secured with lard or sperm oil than with kerosene. This opinion seems to have been reversed, as all the northern lighthouses, of whatever order, are being changed to kerosene burners as fast as possible. One advantage, and a very great one, in the burning of kerosene, is that it is not congealed by cold, whereas one of the most exacting duties imposed on the lighthkeepers of former days was to prevent the oil in their lamp from becoming solid in very severe weather.

Mr. James Morrison, of Frye & Co.'s express, left this city on Thursday of this week for Florida, where he will make a somewhat extended stay, dividing his time between business and pleasure.

Mr. David Kelleher died on Thursday last at the age of about thirty-six years, having been brought home from New York the previous week in a very enfeebled condition. He learned the stone cutter's trade with Mr. Silas Philbrick, and was an industrious and much respected young man. He has two sisters and a brother residing here.

For amusements in the city on Friday evening there were a dance at Mechanics' hall by the Portsmouth & Kittery association, an oyster supper by the Good Templars in their hall on Pleasant street, and a bicycle entertainment in Franklin hall.

The delegation of York men which went from this city to Augusta on Tuesday, Jan. 23d, to advocate before the legislature the passage of a bill to incorporate the York Harbor & Beach Railroad Co., were so jubilant over their success, the bill having passed to be engrossed by a unanimous vote, that they made an extended stay, and on their return stopped at the Kittery station, having previously telegraphed for accommodations for transportation home.

Frank Woods, who recently stole several coats in Saco and Biddeford, and was on Thursday last sentenced by the supreme judicial court at Saco to two years in the state prison, escaped from Saco jail on Thursday night.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of

overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, Mass.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. E. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

NAVAL ECONOMY.

ELIOT, MAINE, Jan. 26th, 1883.

Hon. Wm. E. Chandler, Washington, D. C.: Sir: I understand that by the aid of Representative Robeson, your economical and efficient predecessor in office, you are engaged in the laudable struggle of reducing the expenditures of the Navy Department, in which effort you have my best wishes. As you are so busily occupied that you apparently have no time to read or acknowledge the receipt of letters or petitions from prominent persons in this vicinity, I have thought that possibly a few hints given in private might aid in the reform you so manfully struggle for, and be of service, as others who are laboring to the same end might be able to ascertain where a saving could be made. Now let us look over and see if there is an opportunity to retrench in the luxury which the government extends to the yard officials at this station, and have the sum placed where it will do the most good, in labor, repairs, improvements, or the preservation of the public property. I know that when your attention is called to these opportunities for retrenchment, your desire to obtain a good result for the money expended by your department will induce you to consider what ought to be done, if not to do it.

Now instead of closing the navy yard here, and at some future day incurring great expense in restoring it to a status ante bellum,—you will excuse my Latin, but in this contest "bellum" has a warlike tone,—Why not retrench in some of such items as these?

You expend for coal and for heating the houses of the officers and for the labor in keeping the fires stirred up, between four and five thousand dollars. That is, in addition to paying the officers their legitimate pay, you make it warm for them at a cost of about forty-five hundred dollars a season. As I read your open letter upon the railway free pass system, some time since, I wondered, while I knew that the agent for your newspaper who canvassed the state and came here to urge navy yard employes to take the Statesman, travelled over the state on free passes, that you could so persistently advocate one set of ideas in the paper, and permit a different practice in the dissemination of your views; still I give you credit for the strictest integrity in your intentions. But let us go on to the steamer. While two ferry lines, struggling for a living with the reduced force at the yard, can abundantly accommodate the officers of the yard and their families by their frequent trips across the Piscataqua, you run the "Emerald" to and fro; and let us see, my dear economist, what you spend by this extraordinary luxury, whose place either of the other steamers would easily fill, did your doctrine of free passes on railways apply to steamers. It costs upwards of three thousand dollars for the pay roll of this steamer; for coal, oil and waste, etc., not to mention repairs, perhaps a thousand dollars more,—just to dead-head a few officers and clerks whom the other lines would take D. H., as your late friend Tom Scott used to call it, for the privilege of landing at the government slips. You expend three thousand dollars to light the navy yard and officers' houses with gas, when but a few years since a hundred dollars paid the bill. You disburse nearly two thousand dollars for gardeners and hostlers for certain officers. My old friend Judge Hobson of Indiana would hint that this was without warrant of law, but what shall we do? If you spend a week with us on the Tallapoosa next summer, it would be thought parsimonious if you did not have fresh roseoegays sent on board every morning, even if it should cost $675, to produce them. True, the numerous hot-houses in Portsmouth could afford them at less rates, but the aroma of a government rose is far sweeter than that of one grown on private soil. Now, my dear Secretary, I could fill pages in telling you how you could save money by prohibiting private work, or to speak more correctly, work for private houses, done in the yard. I could point out scores of chances for reform, but you and I are too busy for details. You, in your struggle to keep the capacious maw of the contractors from the meagre sums appropriated for your expenditure, and I in devising some mode by which our mechanics and laborers, in view of reduced appropriations, may yet be employed in legitimate labors upon the public works.

AN HONEST REFORMER.

SUPREME COURT--POE J.

In cases Atherton and wife vs. Albert Henderson, the jury gave a verdict on Thursday evening for the plaintiffs, awarding $100 to Mr. Atherton and $10 to Mrs. Atherton.

Nathaniel Carr vs. Benjamin R. Wheeler was the last jury case for the term. This was a replevin for a derrick and lot of teams, tools, hay, and other appurtenances to a granite quarry on the Gage farm in Salem. Defence was that the property was attached by Wheeler, a deputy of the sheriff, as belonging to one Crockett, and that plaintiff as mortgagee failed to state his claim secured by mortgage under oath, as required by statute in case of attached mortgaged property. The case was taken from the jury on a law question raised. Marston & Eastman for plff.; Frink and Bartlett for deft.

The jurors were discharged from further attendance, and a recess was taken until Monday, Jan. 29 h, when the court will come in for the trial of cases assigned for hearing before the court.

OSGOOD LODGE SOCIABLE.

One of those popular entertainments of Osgood Lodge, I. O. O. F., was given on Thursday evening, Jan. 25th, the hall being filled to its utmost capacity with lovers of good times, who seemed well satisfied with the evening's exercises. The grand concert by the "Smith Family," it being their first appearance in Portsmouth, was a decided success, all the members of the company deserving great praise for sustaining their characters so admirably. "Muldoon's Party" was almost an evening's entertainment in itself; the music furnished by Mr. Wm. Betton was highly appreciated by all; he playing on so many kinds of instruments not only surprised "Mr. Muldoon" but the entire audience generally. The hit on the "Chime Bells" was finely produced, Mr. Betton playing, "Sweet hour of Prayer" on the string of "Horse Shoes" to perfection, the Cracked Bell being prominently note—ed. The farce was nicely produced, each character being well sustained by the Osgood Dramatic Company. The exercises closed with the song "Going Home," by a male quartette. Much credit is due all who took part in this entertainment. C. H. C.

Paymaster Joseph Foster, U. S. N., who was in November last detached from the U. S. S. Monocacy at Yokohama, Japan, has returned to the United States.

A remonstrance against transferring the revenue marine to the navy department has been signed by nearly every prominent shipmaster and shipowner of this city, and transmitted to Congress.

The schooner Mary Willey left the Concord railroad wharf at one o'clock on Friday morning last for the Isles of Shoals, with one hundred and fifty tons of ice for the Oceanic, and was back to the wharf at four o'clock in the afternoon on the same day, having discharged her cargo in the meantime. Mr. James W. Goodwin, of the Kearsarge house, furnished the ice, which was obtained at Dover, and shipped to this city by rail. The Mary Willey will make one more similar trip.

The following were the fish arrivals on Friday, Jan. 26th: Schooner Christie Campbell, with 1000 lbs.; the Ella M. Johnson, 1200 lbs.; Raven, 1000 lbs.; T. Herbert, 1700 lbs.; Grace Choate, 2500 lbs. The price paid by the wholesale dealers was 4 3-4 cents a pound.

Our brother of the Journal charges Rev. Mr. DeNormandie with having been president of the Athenæum. The millennium is still in the dim distance, when such untruths in cold blood are published against so good a man as is so soon to be sent to Roxbury.

Mr. William F. Fernald has twenty men employed in cutting timber on the Elwyn woodlot on the Rye road, and they go out and return every day in one of Stoddard's big sleighs.

The fire alarm of the Portsmouth brewery was sounded Friday noon, the brewery men having been informed that other alarms had been given in the city. Quite a crowd collected, supposing there was a fire in that vicinity, but the alarm did not become general.

A gentleman living in the "new part" of the city, near the South road, was surprised on Friday morning last, on entering his hen-house, to hear the chirping of chickens, and following the sound found that a hen had stolen a march on him, and brought out four bran new hen children.

A Common sense Remedy.

SALICYLICA.

No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.

Immediate Relief Warranted.

Permanent Cure Guaranteed

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

SECRET!

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate those diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all reputable physicians of America and Europe. His Best Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures grayness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tend ney and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who showed other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a lifelong study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at relief from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst forms of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to Ante-Natal Period."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, General Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

Remember, for a trifle, or six for $5, and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says the writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and kids fail to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

Philadelphia, Pa. (2) Mrs. A. H. D.

This plaster is absolutely the best ever made, combining the virtues of the best with gum balsams and extracts. Its power is wonderful in curing diseases where other plasters simply relieve. HEART DISEASE

Your HEART IS YOUR SOUND?

Many people think themselves sick and doctor for kidney or liver troubles, or dyspepsia, when if the truth were known, the real cause is at the heart.

The renowned Dr. Cornelbung, startlingly says "two-thirds of my patients show signs of heart disease."

The heart works about sixty times a minute, and twenty-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a-half, resting not day or night! Surely this subject should have careful attention.

Dr. Cornelbung's phosphorus pills are a specific for all heart troubles and kindred disorders. They are known at Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained at your druggists, $1. per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express, on receipt of stamp for Dr. Graves' thorough and exhaustive treatise. A Female "Fire-Bug."

A woman named Kate Judd was arrested at Newport, R. I., Jan. 24th, on the charge of having set fire to and robbed the villa of Mr. John G. Weaver, and also with having, a few weeks since, set fire to and robbed the residence of Mr. J. C. Risteen of Amesbury, Mass. The woman is about twenty-five years of age, bright looking, and more than ordinarily smart. About five years ago, it is said, she was in the employ of Mr. Stanwood of Topsfield, Mass., whose house was set on fire during her stay, and some of Mrs. Stanwood's wearing apparel being found in her trunk, she was tried and sent to the house of correction for five years. Her trunks were searched after her recent arrest, and found to contain not only a lot of Mrs. Risteen's wearing apparel, but about $1,000 worth of laces, silk dresses, underclothing, etc., belonging to the Misses Weaver. She made a full confession, and was committed to jail in default of $10,000 bail for trial at the March term of the supreme court.

The people of this country were quite familiar a few years ago with the name of the lost steamship Cimbria. She was the steamer which suddenly appeared on the Maine coast in the summer of 1878, under the Russian flag and full of Russian officers and seamen. At that time war was considered imminent between Russia and England, and the supposed purpose of the mysterious Russian crew of the Cimbria was to man cruisers which had been fitted up in this country, and prey upon British commerce. The steamer laid at anchor for several months in a harbor at Mt. Desert, Me.

Compare the dose and quantity of Ho d's Sarsaparilla and you have conclusive proof of its superior strength and cheapness. Try it.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881.
Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

The "Unlucky" Thirteen.

The old superstition in regard to the "unlucky" number of thirteen for a dinner party ought to have been long before this exploded, but it is still religiously held to by many; the experience of the New Bedford Blue Club should, however, forever put an end to it. In 1845 the Blue Club was formed, with fourteen members, for social and literary purposes, the members being young men of the city engaged in business and professional pursuits, many of whom are now well known in prominent circles of Massachusetts and in New York city. At the first annual dinner thirty-seven years ago, it was remarked that only thirteen were at the table, and the death list was curiously scanned for the next year. On the second anniversary, however, the ranks were still unbroken. The 37th annual dinner occurred on Friday evening of last week, and although not all the members were present, they are still living and in excellent health,—and, as might be supposed, they do not take much stock in the old thirteen superstition.

Good style is good sense, good health, good energy and good will, but a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is a good benefaction that suffering humanity has already learned to appreciate.

A despatch from Muscogee, Indian territory, says that while a guard of soldiers was on Jan. 24th taking down $200,000 belonging to the Creek orphan fund to Ikmulkee, where it was to be distributed, they were fired upon from the brush by unknown persons. The troops returned the fire, but no casualties resulted.

Mr. W. J. Melvin, editor Warren, (Mass.) Herald, was cured of neuralgia by St. Jacobs Oil.

George W. Traughber was hanged at Taylorville, Ill., Friday, for the murder of James McKinney in October, 1881. The condemned man passed a wretched night, and had to be supported on his way to the scaffold, which was set up in an enclosure outside the jail.

Lake Champlain, opposite Burlington, Vt., was frozen over Jan. 26th. This is earlier closing than for several years past.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Blood Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

George N. Terry of New York, the legatee of Cornelius J. Vanderbilt, has begun the settlement of Mr. Vanderbilt's old liabilities at Hartford, Conn., although under the statute of limitations not a dollar of the obligations could be collected. The Hartford debts of Vanderbilt were contracted during his residence there, and in the aggregate exceed $11,000.

I am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.—Editor.

Panama correspondence of the date of Jan. 17th says several shocks of earthquake have been felt there and at Aspinwall. A comet is now visible in the heavens.

Among the Shakers.

In certain sections of the country there are religious seeds known as Shakers; but for the present we will not speak of them. The "shakers" to whom we refer are those who suffer from swamp fever which necessarily entails rheumatic troubles and neuralgia. To these unfortunate ones, therefore, we recommend Salvelyica as a panacea for their ailments. Try it and be convinced of its curative powers.

J. Spencer Smith of Philadelphia, ex-receiving clerk of the Gas Trust, who is charged with embezzling $19,000, surrendered himself Jan. 26th, and bail was fixed at $5,000.

Facts Worth Remembering.

There is no danger of dying from heart disease without knowing it for months, and generally years, beforehand. The symptoms are plain and often repeated. There will be no danger at all if Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator is taken in time and according to directions. It will never fail to cure all forms of heart disease.

The Pennsylvania senate passed a bill last week abolishing the delinquent tax department of Philadelphia. The local government dallies now devolve upon the receivers of taxes, saving the city $100,000 yearly.

Human Blood.—On the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system. Disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause. A remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use. Sold by dealers.

There is a great opposition on the part of the farmers throughout the west to any increase of the duty on steel blooms, and numerous protests against such increase have been sent to their various representatives in Congress.

"Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills are worth their weight in gold in nervous and sick headache."—Dr. H. H. Schlichter, of Baltimore.

The senate pensions committee has decided adversely upon the bill granting a pension of $40 per month to soldiers who have lost an arm or a leg. It is doubtful whether any attempt will be made to pass the bill against this adverse action.

What's the use having dyspepsia? Why belch and say you've got heartburn, every time you eat? Be sensible, take Brown's Iron Bitters and get well.

James D. Gordon, colored, has been arrested at Providence, R. I., charged with stealing $400 worth of goods from a clothing store where he was porter. He was formerly employed at the Sturtevant and Rossmore hotels, New York.

To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends off who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was taken with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. These are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use. I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to use Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before. I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time. It has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork. It is the thing for the student and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE REMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

"Served the Dr is. Rigt."

The boys said that it served old doctor Toothsuffer right, when he had the toothache so badly that he couldn't sleep at night. He had inflicted so much pain on other people, in pulling and mending their teeth, that they thought it would be good for him to suffer a little himself. The leading dentist of Portsmouth, N. H., knows what pain is and has relieved himself from the twinges of neuralgia by the use of Perry Davis's Pain Killer. He regards it without a rival.

The American Electric & Illuminating Company.

The success of this company is alike creditable to its managers and gratifying to the stockholders. The vigorous manner in which its business has been handled has attracted more than usual public attention, and many leading practical business men have lately been investing in the eight per cent preferred stock of the company, expecting a considerable advance in its market price. The company has been giving a fifty per cent bonus in the common stock of the company upon each subscription to the eight per cent preferred. The rapid progress and growth of the business is such that the company concludes it no longer necessary to extend this advantage, and has given notice that it will be discontinued on Wednesday next, the 31st inst. Therefore, all intending subscribers must close their orders on or before that date. The recent rapid advance in the price of Bell Telephone stock has drawn general attention to all electric securities. Yesterday's financial article in the Daily Traveller thus refers to the subject in commenting on the stock of the American Electric and Illuminating Company. It says:

"The remarkable advance in the market price and intrinsic value of telephone securities, which has lately attracted such attention from the investing public, promises to characterize the stocks of the various electric lighting companies. The electric light, like the telephone, is the invention of a recent date; its popularity is attested by its already very extensive use, and the merits which it is capable of possess over the ordinary gas light. That it is bound in time, and in a short time, to supersede the latter, is almost as certain as that the sun will rise to-morrow. It is not only going to be used in public places—in halls, on the streets and in stores—but it is coming into the dwelling house and be made "the light of the family." This is evident to every person who has made a study of this system of lighting, and to such, also, is its real value clearly apparent. With such a future before it the natural and only conclusion is that the company or companies who control the patents will realize handsomely on them, and the stockholders secure large dividends. Hence an opportunity to secure an "inside" position in the business ought not to be allowed to pass. It is just such an opportunity that the American Electric Illuminating Company is now offering to the public. The light of this company is, at the present time, as near perfection as it can be, and it gives general satisfaction wherever it is used. The bonus of fifty per cent of common stock will be withdrawn January 31st, and persons contemplating subscribing to the preferred stock should lose no time in profiting by the knowledge. Judging by the rate at which subscriptions are now coming in the company will soon have sold enough treasury stock to fill up its plant to the required power.—Boston Post, January 26th.

News and Notes.

Capt. Andrew Clendinin of Red Beach, Me., was taken ill in the woods near that place last Friday, and died of heart disease before assistance could reach him.

Daily sessions of the Jeannette board are being held at the navy department in Washington, for discussion of the evidence already in. It is found that Berryman, Leach, Manson and Lauterbach, the Jeannette survivors, who are now in Siberia, cannot arrive here before the end of the present congress. The board will prepare and submit a report before the 4th of March next. It is alleged that Bartlett and his colleagues were purposely detained in Siberia by the naval authorities, during the investigation, for fear they would tell a different story from that already told, touching upon the loss of the Jeannette.

The crew of the Wilson line steamer Argo, which has arrived at Hull, England, state that, on the night before the collision between the steamers Cimbria and Sultan, they passed, while on the voyage from London to Bremen, a large mail steamer. They first perceived, through the fog, her masthead and green lights on the port bow. She was coming at an agle toward them. They immediately starboarded their helm, and so passed clear. They all declare that she was the Cimbria, and that she was not sounding her whistle. This occurred three hours before the collision.

Mr. J. H. Arnold of New York bought on Jan. 26th for $1,000, what the Kennebec Journal calls the handsomest and fastest span of horses even seen in Augusta, Me.

At the editors' and publishers' convention in Augusta, Me., Friday, it was voted that the next excursion be to Halifax; that the next annual dinner be at Portland. In the afternoon an essay was read by W. H. Gilman of Houlton, and a poem by W. O. Fuller, Jr., of Rockland.

Six prisoners in the county jail at Pittsfield, Mass., who were concerned in a recent attempt to escape, and who assaulted Jailor Scott during the fracas, were sentenced on Friday, Jan. 25th. After they have completed the terms of imprisonment which they are now serving, M. H. Strickland of Williamstown goes to the state prison for eight years, and Thaddeus Piper of Lee for nine years. John Button, Paul Stone, Thomas Bagley and Frank Allen get five years each in the Berkshire house of correction.

Solomon M. Fields of Newport, Vt., was arraigned at Burlington, before United States Commissioner W. L. Burnap on Jan. 26th, on a charge of passing counterfeit money. Government witnesses proved that Fields passed five counterfeit $10 green pieces, and that on his arrest he offered to redeem what counterfeit money he had passed, and compromise the case. No testimony was introduced for the defence. Fields was held for trial in $3,000, and E. M. Baker of Richford, Vt., became his bondsman.

The Olivet Baptist (colored) church of Lawrence, Mass., are considerably exercised over the desertion of the flock by their pastor, Mr. James M. Powell, leaving them penniless and in a demoralized condition. According to their statements he has gone off with $450, the proceeds of a fair recently held for the ben-fit of the church.

The secretary of the navy it is said will recommend the passage of a bill to compensate the officers and crew of the late steamer Rodgers, for the loss of their personal effects when the vessel was destroyed; to allow the mother of Master Putnam, of that vessel, one year's pay; and to reward the natives of St. Lawrence bay for hospitalities extended the shipwrecked crew.

—The liquor interest is already beginning to recover from the shock which always results from the custom of annually "swearing off."

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eodtJan29,84

A building was moved from "Jerry's island" in the lower harbor (between Fishing islands and Gerrish's island) to Kittery Point over the ice one day last week, on a sled hauled by a yoke of oxen and attended by five men. As may be surmised, the building was not of extensive dimensions.

N. H. Shattuck of Concord, N. H., recently sold to Fred A. Ellis, Frank H. Ellis and Ellen N. Ellis of Springfield, Mass., a lot of land each at Union Bluff, York, at $100 per lot. N. G. Mead of Concord sold to Frank H. Ellis another lot at Union Bluff, for $1.

The Pepperell Manufacturing Co. of Biddeford has declared a dividend of seven per cent, and the Laconia Co. one of four per cent, payable Feb. 1st.

—Says an Arizona paper: "The public generally should bear in mind that there will be horse racing and lots of fun at the race track both on Sunday and Monday. The big race will be on Sunday."

—A gentleman visiting in Philadelphia sent home to his wife a bottle of Schuylkill water to show her what the people there have to drink. His wife was out calling when the bottle arrived, but his mother-in-law was there. Five detectives are now searching for him with a warrant charging him with attempting to poison his family.

—A tramp prefer got the better of Kosloske Murphy last Sunday morning. Kosloske was just leaving his house to go out for a day's hunting, when the tramp asked him for a voluntary contribution. "Ain't you ashamed to be begging on the Lord's day?" "Excuse me, colonel, for stopping you," said the tramp looking at the gun, "but I'll not detain you any longer. You might be late for church."

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

SATURDAY, Jan. 27th.

A young man whose name we do not remember to have seen in the police court reports before, was assessed $9.90 for drunkenness; county farm in default of payment.

Welsh vs. Welsh, a tenant writ to secure possession of the building at the Plains formerly known as the Elm tavern, caused great delight and merriment to the spectators in the court; decision reserved.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTIONS.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Portsmouth Medical Associat on, held on Jan. 26th, the following resolutions on the death of Dr. Eli Q. Adams of Kittery were adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased the Almighty to remove from our midst our fellow member Dr. Eli Q. Adams, who died at Kittery Dec. 26th, 1882, we deem it appropriate that we should perpetuate the memory of his worth by the following resolutions:

Resolved, that as a society of which the late Dr. Adams was a member, we deeply deplore his loss; that we recognized in him an ardent member of the profession, in which his duties as a practitioner were a labor of love, and in the pursuit of which we may truly say he offered up his life as a sacrifice.

Resolved, that we tender our warmest sympathies to his family in their affliction, and to the community to whose interests his most conscientious efforts were directed to ameliorate their sufferings in disease. A. B. SHERBURNE, Secretary.

WILLIAM A. VAUGHAN.

William A. Vaughan died on Saturday, Jan. 27th, aged eighty-four years and three months. He was the son of Capt. Michael Vaughan, and during the war of 1812, while in company with his father, they were chased by the English blockading squadron off this port, while bringing a load of prize goods from Portland, but escaped by outsailing them. Soon afterward the subject of this sketch went to Roxbury, Mass., and learned the painter's trade, and later for many years carried on the painting business in this city. Politically he was a democrat until the nomination of Polk and Clay for the presidency, when he joined the whig party; during the administration of Taylor and Fillmore he was an inspector of customs at this port, and at various times he filled many town and city offices. He was an active worker during the Washingtonian movement, was made a Mason in Pythagoras Lodge sixty years ago, and was a life-long Hosea Ballou Universalist. He leaves a wife and family of eleven children.

THE NEW POOL ROOM.

Preble's pool room, opened last week at No. 31 Congress street, (up one flight, in rear of his hair dressing saloon,) seems to have "met a long-felt want," to judge from the patronage it has so far enjoyed. The table, which is fitted with Came's patent watchspring cushions, is the best one in the city, and is not allowed to lay idle by the lovers of the game. The room is for pool only, there being no objectionable features connected with it.

Messes. James Drew and John Mugford, and Capt. F. P. Coleman, drove into this city on Wednesday of last week in a sleigh said to be one hundred years old, from the Rollins place at Newington. The ancient vehicle had not been on the road before for sixty years, yet it was not a bad-looking turnout by any means, though much more heavily built than the fashionable "cutter" of to-day.

The Kittery Point stage on Saturday came into this city on wheels, owing to the hard going for runners over the intervening bridges, both of which were bare of snow.

Mr. George Appleton of Suncook, Grand Chancellor of Knights of Pythias of New Hampshire, visited the lodge of the order at Newcastle on Friday evening of last week, when an exemplification of the work, a few speeches and an oyster supper made up the programme. An anniversary entertainment is contemplated.

The steamer Reading, Smith master, from Philadelphia with 1623 tons of coal, and the schooner Enoch Robinson, Blake master, from Baltimore with 853 tons of coal, arrived at this port on Saturday last, both to J. Albert Walker.

Carrie Swain will appear in Music hall on Monday evening, Feb. 5th, in "Mab, the miner's daughter," in which piece, written especially for her, she has met with great success wherever she has appeared. She will be remembered by many as having been a star specialist with the "Tourists in a Pullman Car" a year or two ago.

John McCullough, the eminent tragedian, will play "Virginius" in Music hall on Tuesday evening, Feb. 6th.

Rev. James DeNormandie will preach his farewell sermon on the 11th of February, three weeks from to-morrow.—Times, Jan. 27th.

A despatch of Jan. 27th from Rye to the Boston Traveller said: "Mr. E. H. Balch, well known in this county, particularly in this town, Portsmouth and Exeter, as 'Ned' Balch, has recently become converted, and is now laboring as an evangelist in Exeter. He is announced to hold a service at the Sea View hall in this town to-morrow evening. Those who have heard him say he promises to make his mark in this direction."

The steamer Hunter, one of the line of steamers running between Annapolis, N. S., and Boston, came into the lower harbor on Saturday last on account of heavy weather.

On Friday afternoon the steamer James Sampson towed the schooner Orville Horwitz to the lower harbor. It was an amusing sight to see the little steamer tugging a big three-masted schooner down the river, but the job was well done, it being only half an hour from the time the schooner left the Concord railroad wharf before she was anchored off the Kittery shore.

Timothy Lynch of Suncook came into this city on Saturday, to take measures to obtain a pension for injuries received on board the U. S. S. Kearsarge in her encounter with the rebel cruiser Alabama. Mr. Lynch was a fireman on the Kearsarge, and during the fight was struck on the head by a large lump of coal, by which his skull was fractured. Among those who were on the Kearsarge, and who at present reside in Portsmouth, are Martin Hoyt, True W. Priest, Lyman H. Hartford, J. Wesley Young, William Y. Evans, William Barnes and Thomas Salmon, all of whom it is claimed will testify in Lynch's favor.

A ball was given at the Union house, Hampton, Thursday night of last week, by a number of Boston commercial travellers. Harlow's orchestra of this city supplied the music.

The Times says that "Dr. R. C. Grant is shortly to take up his residence in Rochester, N. Y., where he will practice his profession."

Somebody has sent us Senator Logan's speech on the bill for the relief of Fitz John Porter. It fills fifty-seven pages of the Congressional Record. We have concluded to read it—by its title.

We beg to say to the number of persons who wanted Saturday's CHRONICLE that the copies of the paper were all gone by nine o'clock, and an extra edition printed shortly after was soon exhausted. The best way to see all the good things which appear in the CHRONICLE is to subscribe for the paper, and then nothing will be missed.

It is reported that Hon John S. Treat has bought Mr. Silas Philbrick's stock of marble, and also his interest in that branch of the trade, and that Mr. Philbrick will continue his granite works only.

Thatcher, Primrose & West's minstrels are as fine a company of fun-makers as ever delighted an audience. Their entertainment at the Opera house last evening was excellent in programme and execution, and the appreciation of the visitors was very evident. Many novelties were brought out, notably the telephone scene (excellent) by Thatcher and Dougherty, and the fantastic dancing by McNish.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

At Music hall Jan. 31st. See advertisement in another column.

The Exeter Protest says a young fellow of that town went to a party in Stratham a few nights ago, having just previously had his moustache dyed; while at the party "behold he kissed a girl and left the imprint of his moustache on her upper lip, and she can't wash it off."

Twenty thousand feet of four-inch pine plank have been cut and sawed at the Hayes farm this winter, and sold to Mr. John H. Broughton.

Among the freight engagements reported last week is that of a schooner of 171 tons, from Hoboken for this port with coal at $1.60 per ton.

We are informed that Mr. James Reel, of Dover, has been appointed boiler-maker on the United States steamtug Leyden, at $50 per month, and thirty cents a day for rations.

Mr. Samuel G. Donnell, proprietor of the Donnell house at York beach, is making an addition to the house seventy feet long, thirty feet wide and three stories high, giving him twenty more rooms than heretofore.

Among the petitions in favor of a prohibitory amendment to the Maine constitution, submitted to the legislature of the state last week, were two presented by Mr. Shapleigh of Kittery, one signed by M. C. Fernald and fourteen others of Kittery Foreside, and one by W. A. Bowman and ten others of Kittery Point. Mr. Wentworth of North Berwick presented a similar petition signed by George Roberts and fifteen others of Berwick; others were presented from Parsonsfield, Kennebunk, Kennebunkport, Saco, Sanford and nearly every other place in York county.

Dr. Leonard O. Buzzell, late of Dayton, has moved to Kittery Point to practice medicine.

We shall give on Tuesday the views of our Eliot correspondent upon the contract system for building ships in the navy.

A Common Sense Remedy.

SALICYLICA.

No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.

Immediate Relief Warranted.

Permanent Cure Guaranteed

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

SECRET!

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate those diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Its best Medical Agency of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

Samson's Strength.

Abundant hair is not a sign of bodily or mental strength, the story of Samson having given rise to the notion that hairy men are strong physically, while the fact is that the Chinese, who are the most enduring of all races, are mostly bald; and as to the supposition that long and thick hair is a sign and token of intellectuality, all antiquity, all mad-houses and all common observation are against it. The easily-whedled Esau was hairy. The mighty Cæsar was bald. Long-haired men are generally weak and fanatical, and men with scant hair are the philosophers and soldiers and statesmen of the world.—London Lancet.

The physician who has charge of the case of John Gilbert, the actor, who was injured at the Newhall house fire in Milwaukee, says the chief injury is a fracture at the base of the brain. He is able to walk around and dress himself. He eats with apparent appetite, and talks, but has no recollection of the fire, and not the least idea of the cause of his present condition. He will wash his face and then remark: "Water like that is too filthy to wash in," and retire without wiping the water off. He frequently asks where his wife is, and is satisfied with the explanation: "She is off with the troupe." He believes he is at Louisville. Dr. Danforth believes his patient will, in time, recover his mind.

No molasses and water mixture, but a concentrated extract of the active medicinal properties of roots, barks, &c., is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Thursday night of last week some boys who were coasting on Sumner street, East Boston, got into a quarrel, and Martin Curren, a fourteen-years-old lad, drew a pocketknife and stabbed John Brown, a sixteen-years-old playmate. The wound, which is in the right side, between the second and third ribs, may result fatally. In the East Boston municipal court, Friday, young Curren was bound over for trial at the court for juvenile offenders.

Concerning the recent visit of Gen. Butler to the national capital, the Springfield Republican says: "Governor Butler has gone off to Washington for a whole week in the midst of the session to 'look after his private business.' He is the same man who made a great fuss the other day because he did not find the agricultural office open at thirty minutes past eight in the morning, when the secretary was attending farmers' institutes and his clerk was sick a bed. As a humbug, the reform governor is a success."

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Recieves Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Strong and active, and if near 40 he is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, a ripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bœuf's Castle, must have presented a admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he did it, in his own way. It is hardly been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't been of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I'd could never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calc'late on:—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. For, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881.
Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

Daily Chronicle.

At Halifax, Va., Friday night, James Guthrie, a prosperous young farmer, was married to Miss Huldah Martin, at the residence of the bride's father. Owing to bad weather, the large company of guests remained at the mansion all night. Saturday morning the guests were startled while at breakfast by the shrieks of the bride, who on awakening found her husband dead by her side. The deceased's funeral took place on Sunday from the house in which he was married, his four groomsmen acting as pall bearers, and the minister who married him performing the funeral ceremonies.

Saturday, Jan. 27th, the ashes of a three-years-old son of the late Dr. S. Hawn of New York city were forwarded to the grandfather, Dr. Kaufmann of New York. The remains arrived for incineration in the Lemoyne furnace at Washington, Pa., on Friday. This was the 16th corpse cremated in the Lemoyne furnace, and the first child.

At the forenoon service at the Unitarian church in Bangor, Me., Jan. 28th, the pastor, S. J. Stewart, tendered his resignation, accompanying it with a request for a full investigation of the domestic troubles that have led him to resign.

At Shreveport, La., Friday night, Jan. 26th, the steamer Silver City swamped a skiff in which were Alex Morton, wife and son, and Thomas Edwards. All were drowned except Morton's son.

"Why, what are you putting that on my feet for," asked a man with a heavy cold. "Why, to draw the cold out of your head," answered the considerate nurse. "The deuce you say, I would rather have it say where it is than be drawn the whole length of my body." At any rate there is more pleasant method than that, go and get me a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

—There are people malicious enough to say that the rest which Jay Gould wants is the rest of the railroads.

Catarrh.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal and with such a variety of characteristics as catarrh, prove how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

—Under the laws of Illinois he who steals a copy of a morning paper from a subscriber's doorstep can be fined $100. A man who would steal an Illinois paper under any circumstances deserves to be severely punished.

Senator John C. Jacobs of the fourth senatorial district of New York, speaking with our correspondent lately, said: "I never was in better condition in my life. I am now free from rheumatism, which troubled me so long, and I owe my thanks and freedom from pain to St. Jacobs Oil. New York Graphic.

—Said the Colorado man: "Eastern people call the Atlantic ocean 'the drink;' they know what's right, they do; they understand what the size of a drink ought to be."

A Bright Idea.—Instead of using liquid preparations of acid and ammonia for polishing silverware, which destroy, try Electro-Silicon, a perfectly harmless powdered product, producing greatest brilliancy with greatest ease. Avoid imitations. Grocers, druggists.

—The diamond as an engagement ring has gone entirely out of New York fashion. The girls demand something that can't be so easily counterfeited.

"Best of All."

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.; Dear Sir—My family has used your "Favorite Prescription" and it has done all that is claimed for it. It is the best of all preparations, for female complaint. I recommend it to all my customers. G. S. Waterman, druggist, Baltimore, Md.

—A Tennessee clergyman vouches for the fact that a dog in his vicinity crows like a rooster. It took the ambitious canine some month's practice to acquire the art, but he finally succeeded. Let us congratulate ourselves that we did not live near the dog while he was practicing.

The Hop Plaster will cure back ache, and all other pains instantly. 25 cts only, at druggists.

—A Washington letter in a religious weekly says that General Sherman goes every night to the theatre, and also that he swears sometimes. The general is evidently a good dramatic critic.

Mr. Lewis E. Staples has secured the agency for the Dorcas, Saxony, Knitting Worsted and Germantown yarns, which have become so popular throughout the east. The shades and colors are just what are wanted. oedtjan19 —An Ohio farmer put ten cents' worth of strychnine into the carcass of a dead sheep, and made a haul of sixteen dead dogs. He has also been assaulted twelve times, and four attempts have been made to burn his buildings.

—Ely's Cream Balm has completely cured me of catarrh, of which I have been afflicted over ten years, after trying almost every remedy recommended, none having proved so effective and thorough.

To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends of who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was taken with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. Those are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use. I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to take Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before. I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time. It has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork. It is the thing for the student and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE REMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

"Served me then is, Right."

The boys said that it served old doctor To-thistaffer right, when he had the toothache so badly that he couldn't sleep at night. He had inflicted so much pain on other people, in pulling and mending their teeth, that they thought it would be good for him to suffer a little himself. The leading dentist of Portsmouth, N. H., knows what pain is and has relieved himself from the twinges of neuralgia by the use of Perry Davis' Pain Killer. He regards it without a rival.

The German barque Admiral Prinz Adelbert was wrecked at Mumbles Headwater, Eng., Jan. 27th, and a lifeboat which went to the rescue was smashed, and six of the boat's crew drowned. A large steamer was wrecked near Swansea, Wales, the same day, and the crew were lost.

Fun in Dover.

Dover has embarked quite extensively in the libel suit business of late. Some time ago, about the time of the investigation of City Marshal Libbey, a sheet of doggerel was circulated about the streets, as is alleged with intent falsely and fraudulently to injure and prejudice Ex-Marshals Dame and Jordan of Dover, an alderman and an ex-alderman, and others. Jan. 22d a man named David E. D. Frost was arrested on a charge of composing the doggerel, and Ald. George F. Nute was arrested for circulating it; and on the 23d they were held in $300 each for trial in the supreme court. Then the members of the printing firm of George J. Foster & Co., were arrested for complicity in the matter, the "ballad" having been printed in their office in the regular course of business; these cases are postponed to the third Wednesday in February. On Friday, Jan. 26th, City Marshal Reuben A. Libbey, and Jacob K. Twombly of the Railroad house, were held in $300 each for a higher court, on a charge of circulating the alleged scandalous matter.

There is a snarl in the Dover board of aldermen over the question as to whether George F. Nute or George B. Wentworth is entitled to a seat in the board from ward one, both claiming to have been legally elected, and Nute at present occupying the seat. On Thursday evening, Jan. 25th, at a special meeting of the board, two members of a committee previously appointed to consider the question reported that in their opinion Nute was not entitled to a seat in the board; a minority report, signed by one member of the committee, was submitted, to the effect that Nute was entitled to a seat; and a motion to accept the minority report was adopted by a majority of one vote, Mr. Nute, the occupant of the contested seat, supplying that majority with his own vote!

News and Notes.

The post office at Highland, Ulster county, N. Y., was entered by burglars Jan 26th, who broke open the safe and stole $300 worth of stamps and $100 in money.

The democrats of the New York legislature have voted down a resolution indorsing the Pendleton bill, which was introduced by a republican and received the support of every republican assemblyman. Meantime Governor Cleveland continues to do the dirty work of his party by removing republican judges to make room for democratic shysters, and appointing to important offices men who are notoriously corrupt and inefficient, his last exploit in this line being the appointment of one over whose head an indictment is hanging.

Information has been received at Brisbane, Australia, that a large three-masted schooner was some time ago lost at the mouth of the Fly river, New Guinea, and the crew, seventeen in number, were killed by savages, their heads being cut off and distributed among the native villages. Captain Pennafeather, of the schooner Pearl, in de a search, but found only wreckage with nothing to identify the vessel. His party was attacked several times by the natives. One old woman confessed that the crew had been murdered. Captain Pennafeather burned the native villages and destroyed their canoes.

Henry Fanhaur, twenty-eight years old, was shot in the head and probably fatally wounded on Jan. 28th in South Boston by a fourteen-years-old girl named Elizabeth Wessels, his sister-in-law. Fanhaur's wife some time ago left him on account of his drunken habits, and returned to her mother; her husband has several times called at the place and made trouble, and it is alleged was on Sunday choking a young brother of his wife's when the girl put the bullet into him.

THIEVES CAUGHT.

The police on Monday afternoon arrested Andrew Callahan, Bernard Linchey and James W. Meloon, all of this city and all under the voting age, on suspicion of burglary. The circumstances leading to their arrest were as follows:

The clothing store of Wm. Randlett & Co., of Richmond, Me., was broken into a week or so ago, and clothing, boots and other articles to the value of about $500 stolen. Constable George Randlett of Richmond, a member of the despoiled firm, tracked the thieves to Portland, and found that his goods had been sold to a pawnbroker there; he also found out the names of the thieves and that they belonged in this city, and had been at work for an ice company in Richmond, where Callahan went by the name of Andrew Turner. He wrote the particulars to City Marshal Entwistle, and the suspected thieves were soon in custody. Another Portsmouth hoodlum, Willie Barry alias James Williams, is in jail at Augusta, Me., awaiting trial for breaking and entering; it is supposed that he is one of the same gang, and that this gang is the one that has robbed a number of stores in this city and vicinity since last fall.

AROUND HOME.

Rev. Carlos Martyn, D. D., formerly pastor of the North church in this city, and for seven years past settled over the Thirty-fourth Street Reformed church in New York city, preached his farewell sermon last Sunday night to a large congregation. During his term as pastor, he stated that 254 members had been added to the congregation, eighty-nine had been dismissed, and thirty-eight had died. The baptisms numbered 133, marriages eighty-five, the pastoral calls made 3000, and the funerals attended 290. Dr. Martyn will assume the pastorate of the Bloomingdale Reformed church.

Messrs. Eugene Sullivan, of the Portsmouth shoe factory, and George W. Twombly and Willmore Twombly of Goose point, spent the entire day on the 28th inst. on Great bay, fishing for smelts, having left this city at about three o'clock A. M. on that day. They returned to this city late at night, bringing 2200 lbs. (estimated) of wet clothes, and two smelts. Moral: Never go fishing on a Sunday, unless you are certain the fish are biting well.

On Sunday night some oil in the lower engine room of the steamer Reading, discharging coal at the Concord railroad wharf, caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by the officers and crew without much damage being done.

The steamship Indiana, commanded by Capt. Sargent of Kittery, passed in by the capes of Delaware on Monday forenoon at eleven o'clock, from Liverpool for Philadelphia.

About 25,000 lbs. of fish came in on Monday, the 29th inst. The netters are doing the best business, although their fares are small compared with their takes of last winter.

The crew of the schooner Enoch Robinson, on her arrival at this port, were informed that the vessel had been sold under them while they were at sea. She belonged to parties in Taunton, Mass., and was disposed of to settle the account of one of the owners who recently died. The captain and crew (excepting the steward, who it is said is part owner,) left her and went to Boston on the three o'clock train Monday afternoon.

It is reported that Mr. David Welch, baker, of this city, will soon leave for Minneapolis, Minn., he having received letters offering flattering business inducements.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of

overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

Sold by all druggists. Price $1 a bottle or six bottles for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

Hood's Tooth-Powder, Only 25 Cents.

By Co-Operative and Mutual Aid Societies.

The Insurance Department Reports of several States furnish interesting data for judging of the Real Economy, Insurance Reliability, and Business Prudence of placing money with these concerns, under the impression that it furnishes under which no "Assessments" are possible, and the benefit to be received definitely defined at time of application, with such an annual return of the surplus premium as each year's experience shall develop.

Forty-three organizations, known as "Co-operative Companies," "Mutual Aid or Relief Associations," "Benefit Societies," &c., report to the State Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, &c., the following

These unfortunates hold Certificates representing a supposed value to their beneficiaries of $2,395,525.

The real value proves to have been about 21¾ per cent, or $511,284.36; they waiving their claim of $82 923.58 of the amount collected ($594,207.94) and this is called Cheap Insurance.

Who ever heard of any respectable Life Insurance Company selling $2,395,525 of insurance, honestly contracted for, at a discount like the above and at such a cost?

NAVAL ECONOMY: NO. 2.

ELIOT, ME., Jan. 27th.

Hon. W. E. Chandler: Sir: Some of your predecessors in office have been noted for nothing in particular; others have been celebrated in divers ways. For example, Levi Woodbury and John Y. Mason were noted for their strength of character, while Richard W. Thompson was noted for the strength of his western-built cigars, the offer of one of which would start a bore quicker than could any other missile the Indiana statesman might have at hand. Mr. Robeson was noted for his familiarity with naval expenditures, and too much praise cannot be awarded Speaker Keifer for adopting your suggestion to have "Gawge" made chairman of the Com. on Naval Expenditures! He knows it all. He has been there himself, and remained over night, and what there is concerning naval expenditures which the jolly Jerseyman is not cognizant of, is, in the language of the illustrious Jefferson, "not worth knowing."

In this letter I shall not for one moment assume that you are at all "fresh" in this respect. Indeed, the CHRONICLE last summer maintained that even then you were the best-informed secretary of the navy for the length of time you had been in training, of any such cabinet minister the country had as yet had. I believed that you know all that the line officers know, for they long since told you all they knew, and you have a retentive memory, in some respects, though in others the strain put upon it may cause it to fail you.

But it is of mechanical affairs I would write. Let us for one moment step aside from the pomp and show of our nation's pride, and take a view of the practical operations of some of our naval affairs. I fear that as the subject opens and expands, I shall be unable to condense my statements into the space of a singe letter, for those fellows at the CHRONICLE office seem mightily afraid of giving too much space to what you and I know to be wholesome truths, and I do not know now but that I ought to send this and the succeeding letters of advice which you so kindly permit me to write to you, to your Monitor, (how real naval that sounds, as if a foreshadowing of your future career in the navy)—but I see I am getting out to sea, and as your ironclads are said to be unsafe for everybody but the contractors, I will wave ship, and get on my course again.

As I was remarking, when I made the last tack, I do not know that I can boil it down to a single letter, but I want to remind you of what the stanch Old Hickory called "the dangers of government contracts." It is not that there is any peril lest the government officials should not prove honest, able and devoted to the public interest, but that the contractors are, as Mr. Joe Bagstock was constantly saying, "Sly, sir, devilish sly." Here's where the laugh comes in, for in these affairs "they laugh that win," as you know,—if not, you may have heard, as Jere. Black said to Henry Wilson.

Now as to what I am to tell you, perhaps you may already be informed. Although I sometimes wonder, when I consider that your early days were spent in the dull and confined practice of a country lawyer at Concord, where you accumulated a snug fortune before you had become famous enough to afford to live in Washington, "that one small head could carry all you knew," still as it is pertinent to the question of contracts, and as I know you are in favor of the government work being honestly performed with government tools, in government shops at government stations, by the citizens of this country, instead of being jobbed to private contractors who employ the riffraff of Great Britain, men who have no local habitation or appreciation of our free institutions, whose habits of life and degree of intelligence contrasted with the mechanics and laborers upon the Piscataqua, and around the ship building districts of Maine, are not to be mentioned in the same day, I propose now to give, from certain data furnished by a congressional investigation, some idea of the cost of building a government ship by contract,—and right here, let me say that in the history of the "Enterprise" I impute blame to no living man.

I am not the man to go back on a fellow townsman. It has been said that the extras paid to Griffiths, the contractor for building the ship, were at the instigation of Chief Constructor Hanscom, then chief of bureau of construction and repair. I knew the commodore well. In his early days he was an uncompromising democrat. If there was one thing above another of which Eliot boasted in the olden time, it was in the integrity of its democracy, and the name of Hanscom was a synonym for purity in politics. If, surrounded by the corruptions of a later day, Isaiah yielded to the blandishments of the Griffiths, or became demoralized by the example of those above him in political positions, let us draw the mantle of charity over the picture. In fact, let us say as did Gov. Butler, who while making what he supposed was a successful speech in his recent campaign was suddenly brought up all standing by an enquiry issuing from the back part of the hall, "How about the spoons?" "My friend," said the general, soon to be governor, "When I took the spoons I was a republican!"

With these preliminary observations, I will proceed to give you a few figures as to the experiment of Secretary Robeson in building the "Enterprise" by contract. Having had some experience in these matters, I trust you will give me credit for sincerity, and a desire only to aid you in the difficult and trying ordeal through which you are now passing.

[On account of the length of our correspondent's communication, we are obliged to defer giving the remainder until a future issue of our paper.—Ed.]

PARISH MEETING.

At a meeting of the members of the South Parish, held on Monday evening, John Sise, Esq., was chosen moderator. The letter of Rev. James DeNormandie to the wardens, containing his resignation, was read, and the resignation was accepted. Mr. Hackett presented the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the minister of the South Parish in Portsmouth has received and accepted a call to become the pastor of the First Religious Society in Roxbury, and has resigned the pastorate of this society, over which he has been settled for more than twenty years last past: be it

Resolved, that in accepting with regret the resignation of the Rev. James DeNormandie, we recall his faithful and acceptable service in the pulpit wherein he preached his first public discourse, his zeal in his pastoral duties, his constant and sympathetic offices to the families of this congregation in times of sorrow and affliction, as well as his unceasing regard for the public welfare of our community, during the eventful two decades of years just passed.

Resolved, that we extend to our late pastor our earnest hopes for a successful pastorate in the new field of labor to which he has been invited, and our heartfelt desire for his continued usefulness in the Christian ministry.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the Rev. Mr. DeNormandie.

After authorizing the wardens to supply the pulpit from Feb. 11th up to the time of the next parish meeting, and voting to discontinue the vesper service after Feb. 11th, the meeting adjourned.

HOW THE NAVY YARD RUINS PORTSMOUTH.

The Manchester Mirror attributes the alleged decay of Portsmouth to the navy yard, and thinks that "it would be a blessing to the city and state if it could be wiped out of existence." Its reasons are advanced as follows:

Because, in the first place, no manufacturer can live in a place where the government pays men large wages for doing very easy work, if by courtesy it can be called work, eight hours a day. The competition is simply ruinous. Nobody will enter a private establishment who can work on the yard, and those who cannot will do no more for a day's pay than do those on the yard. Because a navy yard and its environs always swarm with uniformed loafers, who look with contempt upon hone-t work and legitimate business; because, in a town of the size of Portsmouth, in which the government disburses $500,000 a year, nearly everybody expects to live by getting directly or indirectly, a slice of that amount, and the habit of shiftlessness, waiting for a chance to get it, becomes chronic; because the navy yard bosses debauch and control the public affairs, own the city government, and use it to freeze out all private enterprise.

How natural it is for members of the press to be modest! The above selection from the Mirror is from the gracefully wielded pen of Mr. Putney, Collector of Internal Revenue for the District of New Hampshire, who pays an occasional visit to Portsmouth, and who, ever since he learned that the collector of internal revenue was not the officer who could manipulate the delegation from the quiet old place by the sea, when a republican state convention was held, has been a disappointed man.

Whether a condition of biliousness proceeding from too arduous confinement in counting ale stamps, or whether the occasional taunts of his political friends in Manchester as to his short delivery of his seaboard supporters, or the mortification one finds at missing fire in a political aim, has caused our collective friend to become so extremely "moody," we are unable to conjecture. But every boy in Portsmouth, from Christian Shore to Puddle dock, knows that if there is any one man who more than another runs the city government or its officers it is the personage who so ably gauges his power in the party, while he enjoys a good place under the collector of internal revenue, and for so long was able to insist, like Rosa Thorpe's English heroine, and to sturdily maintain by his political prowess that "Curfew shall not ring to-night."

A small building a story and a half high, formerly owned by Mr. Haddock, was on Monday hauled from its former site at the Creek to a new location near Sagamore. Twelve yoke of oxen supplied the motive power, and the procession crossed Sagamore bridge, the building being deposited in the field on the west side of the road just beyond the bridge.

A billiard match between two amateurs of this city, for $50 a side, will come off at Newman's this evening.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate those diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Hahnemann Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.
Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.
$1 a Bottle. 6 Bottles for $5.
Sent free by mail on receipt of money.
ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.
But do not be deluded into taking imitations or substitutes, or something recommended as "just as good!" Insist on the genuine with the name of WASHBURNE & CO. on each box, which is guaranteed chemically pure under our signature, an indispensable requisite to insure success in the treatment. Take no other, or send to us.

Testimonials.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.
"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
BOSTON, October 19, 1878.
R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, premature decline of man, or virility impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Sixth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, extra than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample circulars sent free.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION, is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a perfect medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Argus.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can now much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, as the conferring with the author may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address,

The February "Atlantic" continues two of the features which made the January number one of the most remarkable ever issued. It contains the second part of Longfellow's dramatic poem "Michael Angelo," introducing Michael Angelo, Benvenuto Cellini, Titian, and others, and showing the same vigor of mind and exquisite skill of expression which characterize all Longfellow's poems. "The Ancestral Footstep" is concluded with a chapter that will deepen the regret that Hawthorne did not live to complete the story. The "Story of Joseph Lesurques," by S. E. Turner, is a narrative of a crime committed in France, and of the arrest and execution of an innocent man through mistaken identity,—the story which forms the plot of the play, "The Lyons Mail." Bradford Torrey contributes an interesting paper entitled "With the Birds on Boston Common." G. E. Woodberry writes of Walter Savage Landor. Henry L. Nelson furnishes a very timely article entitled "Some Truths about the Civil Service," showing how cabinet officers and others who desire to be regarded as staunch civil service reformers frequently violate in the grossest manner the first principles of a just civil service. Maria Louise Henry discusses with intelligence "The Morality of Thackeray and George Eliot." Richard Grant White, who always writes effectively on matters connected with the drama, contributes a paper of unique interest on "Stage Rosalinds." Prof. E. R. Sill, of California, discusses "Herbert Spencer's Theory of Education." H. H., who has recently visited the Pacific Coast, writes of "Puget Sound" and its vicinity. The number contains several poems, reviews of new books, and short, bright essays in the Contributors' Club. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

If you fail to receive benefit from other preparations, try Hood's Sarsaparilla: it's the strongest, the purest, the best, the cheapest.

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and I lorin the forest from early manhood, he was a stalwart specimen of a man. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, a ripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Beuf's Castle, must have presented an admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to stir a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there and my log rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, I do my opinion I should never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calkilate on:—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881.
Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

SULPHUR BITTERS

Daily Chronicle.

A terrible storm raged in England and along the coast of Wales, Jan. 27th, 28th and 29th. By the wreck of a German barque and a British steamer off Mumbles head, Wales, on the 27th, nineteen lives were lost. The steamer Black Watch went down off Mumbles head on the 29th, with twenty-six men; and a steamer foundered off Portheawl, with twenty men. Ten bodies were washed ashore near Penarth, from some unknown vessel Wreckage is washing ashore at the Scilly islands, believed to be from the British ship Arzilla.

Charles Foote, colored, was recently convicted at Baltimore of brutally beating his wife. On Monday, Jan. 29th, his term of imprisonment expired, and he received seven lashes, laid on by a deputy sheriff within the walls of the jail. This was the first whipping under the new act.

Charles E. Vinton, a man about forty-six years old, on Jan. 28th blew out his brains in the barn attached to his residence in Springfield, Mass. The only explanation offered for the act is that he inherited a tendency to insanity from his father.

Mrs. David Clark shot her husband dead Jan. 28th, with a revolver, at Okumas, Michigan. The immediate cause of the act was the determination of Clark to give medicine to their little daughter, whom the mother wished to have die of neglect.

The French ministry resigned on Jan. 27th.

The heaviest floods that have occurred in the British lake district for twenty years now prevail. Lakes Derwentwater and Bassenthwaite now join, and a portion of Keswick is submerged.

Lawyers will gladly learn that Brougham, the great English barrister was always careful of his throat, and further that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy for bronchitis and other throat troubles.

Catharine Elizabeth Wessells, the girl who shot her ruffianly brother-in-law in South Boston, has been held in $2000 for the grand jury. There was no lack of responsible sureties.

Gen. Orrin L. Mann, sheriff of Chicago, Ill., gives this as his experience with St. Jacobs Oil: "Some time ago I was troubled with rheumatism. I tried St. Jacobs Oil, and was not long a sufferer.

William Whittaker, a seaman who arrived at Providence, R. I., a few days ago, from Baltimore by the steamer James Appold, died of small-pox Jan. 29th.

Humor in the Stomach.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhœa and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of these complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Flint mill at Fall River, Mass., Jan. 29th, it was voted to erect a mill on the site of the structure recently destroyed by fire. The new mill will be four stories high and basement, with a fire-proof picker house in the end of the mill. It will have a capacity of 35,000 to 40,000 spindles, and will be filled with the latest and most modern machinery. Work upon it will be commenced at once.

"Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills are worth their weight in gold in nervous and sick headache."—Dr. H. H. Schlichter, of Baltimore.

Patrick Fanning, a track man, was killed by the cars at New Haven, Conn., Jan. 29th.

Facts Worth Remembering.

There is no danger of dying from heart disease without knowing it for months, and generally years, beforehand. The symptoms are plain and often repeated. There will be no danger at all if Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator is taken in time and according to directions. It will never fail to cure all forms of heart disease.

The Pensacola, with Adm. Hughes on board, sailed from Panama Jan. 18th for Calloa direct.

The Lancaster, flagship of the European squadron, sailed from Genoa, Italy, Jan. 29th, for a cruise along the coasts of Spain and France.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Under the head, "Bodily Deformities in Girlhood," it is remarked in the Popular Science Monthly that "the ingenuity of an Edison could not devise a machine so favorable to the production of flat-foot as the tight-fitting, high-heeled, long-topped boot at present worn by girls."

W. M. Goldsborough, convicted a few days ago of libel on account of a despatch sent to the Washington Star on May 17th, 1882, saying, "It is stated that William M. Price has left Cumberland to avoid arrest on the Morey letter forgery case," was sentenced at Cumberland, Md., Saturday, to pay a fine of $50 and costs, and to be imprisoned until it is paid.

What's the use having dyspepsia? Why belch and say you've got heartburn, every time you eat? Be sensible, take Brown's Iron Bitters and get well.

The craze for "fox-hunting" which was so strongly developed among the young New York swells last year has died out completely, and the superb packs of imported hounds, and high-priced hunters, are eating their heads off in idleness at the kennels of the various "Hunts." The Meadow Brook club fared worst of all. They elected Freddy Gebhard master, but in the pursuit of the Lily the young man forgot all about his duties as a provider of sport. A hunt whose M. F. H. is not an enthusiast on the subject of hunting the fox cannot exist, and thus the Meadow Brook is dropping to pieces.

Cuticura

THE NEW BLOOD PURIFIER

Resolvent

I will now state that I made a miraculous cure of one of the worst cases of skin disease known. The patient is a man forty years old; had suffered seven years. His eyes, scalp and nearly his whole body presented a frightful appearance. Had had the attention of twelve different physicians, who prescribed the best remedies known to the profession, such as iodide potassium, arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sarsaparilla, etc. Had paid $500 for medical treatment with but little relief. I prevailed upon him to use the Cuticura Resolvent internally, and the Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally. He did so and was completely cured. The skin on his head, face, and many other parts of his body, which presented a most loathsome appearance, is now as soft and smooth as an infant's, with no scar or trace of the disease left behind. He has now been cured 12 months.

Reported by
F. H. BROWN, Esq., Barnwell, S. C.

Scrofula Sore.

Rev. Dr. Dorr, in detailing his experience with the Cuticura Remedies, said that through Divine Providence one of his parishioners was cured of a scrofula sore, which was slowly draining away his life, by the Cuticura Resolvent internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally. The person that had fed the disease was completely driven out.

Eczema.

Sixteen months since an eruption broke out on my leg and both feet, which turned out to be Eczema, and caused me great pain and annoyance. I tried various remedies with no good results, until I used the Cuticura Resolvent internally and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally, which entirely cured me so that my skin is as smooth and natural as ever.

ELLEN M. FRAILEY, 64 South St., Boston.

Cuticura.

The Cuticura treatment, for the cure of Skin, Scalp and Blood Diseases, consists in the internal use of Cuticura Resolvent, the new Blood Purifier and the external use of Cuticura and Cuticura Soap, the great skin cures. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50c.; large boxes, $1. Cuticura Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25c.; Cuticura Shaving Soap, 15c.

To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends off who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was take n with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. Those are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use. I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to take Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time, it has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork it is the thing for the student and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE EMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

"S ved the dentist bills."

The boys said that it served old doctor To distuffer right, when he had the toothache so badly that he couldn't sleep at night. He had inflicted so much pain on other people, in pulling and mending their teeth, that they thought it would be good for him to suffer a little himself. The leading dentist of Portsmouth, N. H., knows what pain is and has relieved himself from the twinges of neuralgia by the use of Perry Davis's Pain Killer. He regards it without a rival.

Gov. Butler's pay as governor of Massachusetts is about $76.92 per week, with no deduction for absence from the state on private business. There is no truth in the report that the governor expects to receive a back salary for the reason that he ought to have received the office several years ago when he tried so hard to be elected.

"He who talks sows, he who listens reaps," and he who takes Adamson's Botanic Balsam, the great remedy for coughs, colds, etc., is wise, because he takes the best remedy on earth. Trial bottles, 10 cents.

According to the Washington correspondents, the section of the naval bill as to retiring officers is to be rejected by the senate. The wives of the navy officers are to have front seats in the galleries, and woe betide the senators who vote for Robeson's proposition. They and theirs are to be tabooed in "society," and not recognized in circles polite, if they do not oppose, or at least vote against, any innovation in this respect which the Jersey representative may have squeezed through the house.

Physicians recommending stimulants for invalids will consult their own interests and those of their patients by writing for "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled only by Chester H. AROUND HOME.

The Knights of Pythias have a dance in Congress hall to-night.

At the parish meeting of the South Parish, Monday evening, it was voted to continue the salary of the retiring pastor until the 1st of May next, the close of the fiscal year.

Capt. Ingraham, master of the Boston and Bangor steamer Katahdin, reports the automatic whistling buoy at Boon island ledge as sunk or driven from its station.

Of Carrie Swain, who will appear as "Mab the miner's daughter," at Music hall next Monday evening, the New Haven Union says: "In her peculiar line Miss Swain may fairly claim to be unrivalled. She can ring well, dance well, throw a back-hand-spring like a boy, act well, and she brought down the house. Miss Swain is well supported, and her performance is unique and novel."

A man named Symonds has been looking around town to judge of the feasibility of introducing the electric light.

The steamer Three Brothers is to be towed to Boston by the Acushnet, to receive a new boiler.

Sagamore steam fire engine was utilized on Tuesday, thawing out the inlets to the sewers about the city.

A portion of the top of the chimney at the "head house" on the navy yard was taken down on Tuesday, as it was threatening to fall.

A musical matinee was given on Bow street last Saturday afternoon, a stout Irish lady being the soloists, chorus and orchestra; she gracefully leaned from a third-story window, and warbled selections from the uproar of delirious tremendous, with drum accompaniment of both hands against the clapboards. Her exit from the scene was made with a pull-back, the coming down of the window with a slam, and the breaking of a couple of panes of glass. The audience though not large was appreciative and tuberous.

Residents in the vicinity of the ruins of the Kearsarge mills were recently excited by seeing several strangers viewing the blackened monument of our city's enterprise, fearing that the party might be contemplating the building of another factory, and destroying their present quiet repose.

Mr. James Hanscom Nutter, son of Mr. Mark Nutter of Newington, has for a few weeks past been visiting his friends and relatives in his native town. Mr. Nutter left for the west when a young man, to seek his fortune; this was between thirty and forty years ago, and until his visit he had not been heard from since his departure, nor had he received any news from his early home. He was greatly surprised and pleased to learn on his arrival that his aged father, now in his 84th year, was still alive and enjoying good health; and the return of the son was no less of a surprise to the father. During his absence most of his old acquaintances have passed away, and but few are left who were companions of his youth. He departed on Tuesday, Jan. 23d, for his home in Wauseon, Wisconsin, where he has a wife and family. He has no intention of ever returning to the seacoast again.

On Friday morning last two boats built by William H. Perkins of Ogunquit, Me., for Nathaniel Sprague of Rockport, Mass., were brought to this city for shipment to their destination by rail. They were called "Joppa shay" (chaise) boats, though the experts said they differed from those queerly-named craft in having washboards, which the genuine "shay" has not. They are of a peculiar model, about half way between an Eliot wherry and a fisherman's dory; lap streaked, and fitted with centre-boards, twenty-two feet long over all, six feet eight inches beam, and twenty-seven inches deep. They are used for fishing purposes only, and are said to be excellent sea boats.

GONE AWAY.

Andrew Callahan and James W. Meloon had quite a send-off Tuesday forenoon, when starting on their return trip to Richmond, Me., in custody of an officer. A considerable number of curious spectators, and a sprinkling of friends, assembled to witness their departure. Callahan evidently did not enjoy the ovation, but Meloon seemed as jovial as though starting on a pleasure trip. Bernard Linchey, arrested on suspicion of complicity in the Richmond burglary, has been released, having proved that he was in this city at the time the crime was committed. Callahan and Meloon it is said were both wearing clothes stolen from Randlett & Co.'s store at the time of their arrest.

THE MINSTREL SHOW TO-NIGHT.

This evening, at Music hall, a minstrel entertainment of the highest order will be given by Thatcher, Primrose & West's Mammoth Consolidation, which has been playing to immense houses everywhere, and is engaged for a Boston theatre all next week. Last week, among other places visited, they performed to a $986 house in Fall River, $748 in New Bedford, and $836 in Brockton. Read what the Hartford Post says of them:

The regular minstrel portion is full of excellent songs, jokes and anecdotes. In this Frank Howard sung "Only a Pansy Blossom," written by himself, and was heartily encored. McNish's specialty entitled "Silence and Fun," was very good, and elicited vigorous applause. George Thatcher's act is unique and ludicrous; Primrose and West's song and dance, "Kissing in the Moonlight," was a very neat performance, and the execution of George Turner's "Don't we love to Dance," by Messrs. Queen, Turney, Howe, Bell, Daly and Doyle, was excellent. Frank McNish and George Turner in "Maniacs Let Loose" were very funny, and Hugh Dougherty's stump speech was in every way worthy of him. The Rankins' "Stage-struck Coons" were entertaining, and the scene which introduces the "dancing gladiators" was more effective than ever.

George Spencer, a Biddeford man about nineteen years old, having had his life blighted by the disdain of a Biddeford woman of fourteen, to whom he had been paying attention, determined to end his earthly career, and having procured a revolver blazed away at himself in his boarding house on the evening of Sunday last. His fellow boarders rushed into his room and took the murderous weapon from him, and a physician tracked the bullet, which had knocked a large piece of skin off his right side, besides damaging his clothes. It is supposed he intended to kill himself a little piece at a time, so that he could stop if he found it hurting too bad.

On Saturday, Jan. 27th, three Portland, Me., boys went down the bay on the ice, and fears are entertained for one who did not return, having wandered from his companions. His name is Arthur Thomas, aged twelve years, son of Charles E. Thomas.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Sy up for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eod1jan1,84

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station D, New York City. eod1jan10,83

If health and beauty you'd maintain,
And keep your breath a sweet charm,
Use SOZODONT with might and main;
For it alone prevents the harm
That mars a woman's teeth and breath

Mardi Gras at New Orleans.

February 6 is above Tuesday, this year, and one week after, on Tuesday, February 13th, the 152d Grand Monthly Drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery will occur, when $75,000 will go to some happy mortal who has invested by sending $5 to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., or else it will be scattered into fifths at One Dollar each, and over $375,000 paid as prizes. The tickets are only $5, one to a number, and over two hundred thousand visitors are expected at New Orleans next Mardi Gras.

One of the six men reported by the schooner James A. Garfield of Gloucester, Mass., as having been lost from that vessel on the 10th of January on Green bank, when a southeast gale and snowstorm came up while they were out in their dories, rendering it impossible for them to return or for the vessel to find them, was Charles Ray of Portland, Me., who had once before had a terrible experience somewhat similar to this last and fatal one. On the 24th of March, 1880, Ray and a companion left the schooner Polar Wave on bank Quereau, and lost the vessel; after nightfall, however, they discovered the schooner by her lights, but were unable to reach her on account of the strong wind and tide. The following day they were discovered by the crew, and rescued after an absence of over thirty hours, Ray soon recovering from the exposure. His companion, however, George Nelson, who was a sickly man, weighing only about 110 pounds, succumbed to the cold weather and died before reaching the vessel, though cheered up as much as possible by his companion.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of

overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,

NAVAL ECONOMY: NO. 2.

[Concluded from last issue]

The contract, which was made in Sept. 1873, and which you can easily refer to, as it doubtless may be found in some of the drawers of the bureau of construction, was drawn, as I infer, by our legal friend Robeson. I say this presumingly, in the belief that such an able lawyer would not permit a contract of this magnitude to be executed by one of his subordinate officers, unless it had received his strictest scrutiny.

Moreover, this new departure of building by contract was one of Mr. Robeson's pet measures. Mr. Robeson, you know, is a good man, but when he took the portfolio which you now slip under your arm as you visit the White House, he was a trifle fresh in the ways of the selfish world. By this, I mean that like yourself he had assiduously devoted his energies to the noble profession of which you each are ornaments, although he was cast badly last fall, and his legal practice had not necessarily made him familiar with the wicked schemes of men who seek to aggrandize themselves at the public expense. Like yourself, he was ingenuous and sought to do the best he could in the position he occupied.

The contract was drawn clear and strong. I may say, if you will pardon the simile, it was copper-bolted, iron-strapped, riveted on both sides, and without unnecessary legal verbiage, thoroughly clamped; at least such is my recollection of the paper. But here let me say, by way of caution, contracts have changed with the progressive spirit of the times. What such eminently conservative legal luminaries as Mr. Chitty of the Middle Temple, or Prof. Parsons of the Harvard law school, might regard as the established law applicable to contracts, has long since gone by. The contracts may be the same, but it is the construction which the great legal minds give to the contracts of to-day, which makes the difference. Construction you know, my dear secretary, unless carefully guarded in its early stages, may afterward be found to show a big leak somewhere, and it is against the dangers of striking this rock in the course of your sailing directions, which I wish to earnestly warn you.

The contract provided that John W. Griffiths should furnish the necessary labor for and construct in the navy yard, Kittery, Maine, (the materials, tools and facilities for doing the work to be supplied by the government,) the hull of a steam screw propeller sloop-of-war authorized under the act of February, 1873; the contract recited dimensions and descriptions of fittings, etc., etc., which were to include all work necessary for the completion of the hull, except blacksmith work, which was to be done by the government.

This work was to be done conformably to plans, specifications and drawings, in the best manner and equal in all respects to that done upon vessels built in the United States navy yards by days' work, and to be to the satisfaction of the navy department, and of such persons as the department should appoint to inspect it. Imperfect work was to be rejected, and everything to be satisfactory. Ten months' time was given in which to do the job, and the broad facilities and conveniences of the Kittery yard were understood to be given to aid the contractor.

Mr. Robeson, or Mr. Hunsom, or some other good man, having due regard for the interest of the government, and perhaps fearing that some demoralized member of Congress might like to pool issues in this little job, had duly inserted that salutary clause which should protect the government from rapacity in certain quartres. It provided that "no member of Congress, officer of the navy, or any person holding any office or appointment under the navy department shall be admitted to any share or part of this contract or agreement, or to any benefit to arise therefrom," and it was expressly provided and the contract was upon condition that if any such M. C. or officer of the navy or other person so named shall be admitted to any share of the contract, or in case the contractor failed to perform the contract, the same might at the option of the United States be declared null and void, etc.

I will not here detain you to recite the many safeguards which were seemingly inserted to protect the government from being defrauded. It is refreshing to behold how anxiously the high contracting parties seemed to exert themselves to this end. The price of this labor was to be $46,200, provision being made as to mode and times for payment, etc. The work was begun on the ship, and while she was being constructed the Marion was launched from another ship house. The next day the keel of the Essex, a sister ship to the Enterprise, built by the government, was laid, and in eleven days her frame was up. The workmen at the yard progressed with the Essex so rapidly that it deprived Griffiths of the opportunities of always being able to take timber which had been prepared by government labor for the Essex, and put it in the Enterprise, had he so wished. But however, for some reason, the force at work on the Essex was slowed down to half time.

In June following, the Enterprise was reported ready for launching, but the contractor maintained that there was nothing in the elaborate contract, prepared so carefully, which required the contractor to launch the vessel! Being desirous of not forfeiting his contract by any such breach of its conditions as launching the ship, he paused, and the secretary of the navy wiped his spectacles and took a fresh look at the contract. Sure enough, the little trifle had been omitted, and the contractor was allowed and paid $2000 for launching, the generous government of course providing and building the ways, supplying the blocking, etc., and affording such aid to the contractor as was proper in the furtherance of his labors.

One might suppose that the ship being now launched, and $48,200 paid for the labor of putting together the government materials, that the contract might be considered as complete, and the contractor be satisfied. Not so. In October of the same year we find that a little bill of $4000 for extra work was presented and paid, and in less than three weeks another installment of $18,750 was added to the contractor's claim. By-and-bye came what was believed was a final payment of $5862, made on the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, Jan. 8, 1877, for some little items casually omitted, and probably when this was paid the anniversary was properly celebrated; and then to obtain a full settlement, Feb. 28, 1877, $3519.15 was paid the contractor. These sums aggregated $79,831 15, for a ship that was to be built for $46,200. To these sums may be (and was), added $2500 for pumping apparatus, and $5612 for spar work.

Now what kind of a ship did we get? It is notorious that when put afloat the ship leaked badly, for the reason that her bolts had been improperly driven. She then had to be docked and the copper stripped off, bolts examined, and holes plugged. Then she was recoppered before she could be sent to sea, and as I believe, soon after had to be repaired at Norfolk. To get this small ship in order for sea, the government had to expend three times the sum paid Griffiths on the hull alone; $1579.20 was expended in labor upon spars, in addition to $5612 paid the contractor. In other words, besides materials, the additional labor in getting the ship ready for sea cost the government $74,511.81, and the contractor in one way and another received twice the sum for which he agreed originally to do the work,—no materials, remember; just the labor.

Shall we not profit by this lesson in finance, so dearly learned under the administration of the able and exact Chairman of the Committee on Naval Expenditures on the part of the House? Is it not time to pause before we close the navy yards and put ourselves in the hands of the contractors, and count the cost? Had we not better have even one well fitted yard for doing iron work,—no matter where, as transportation of coal and iron is a mere nominal part of the cost,—then give up the yards and let the contractors build and repair our ships if they must be of iron? But of this I will inform you in my next communication.

AN HONEST REFORMER.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

A lecture on the British Colonies will be given by Miss Fannie Mathes at the North Parish chapel on Middle street, Thursday evening, Feb. 1st, in aid of the public library. To the citizens of Portsmouth Miss Mathes hardly needs an introduction, as she is already favorably known as a lady of rare literary attainments, and as the first assistant teacher in the high school, where her varied abilities are highly appreciated. Tickets, at twenty-five cents each, now on sale at Myers' bookstore; also will be sold at the door. The lecture will commence at eight o'clock.

WAKE UP, GENTLEMEN.

The last of the city of Portsmouth five per cent twenty years bonds fall due this year, $19,500 being payable April 1st, and $6000 September 1st. We suppose a small part of this sum will be met by taxation, but about $20,000 must be paid by a loan. No doubt it would be promptly taken at four per cent, and command a premium. But the city councils must be quick about it, or the first of April will arrive with no funds to pay the bonds then falling due.

RUNAWAYS.

On Monday afternoon a horse driven in a pung, in which were a gentleman and two ladies, became frightened on Richards avenue and ran across Middle street at a rapid rate, passing through the porte cochere at Col. Hackett's on Austin street, and bringing up in the garden. The man was early thrown out, and the younger lady jumped, while the other inmate of the vehicle was thrown out in the yard at Col. Hackett's, just before the horse—against whose heels a whiffle tree was playing and who was badly frightened—was stopped by finding himself in a corner of the lot. The lady was taken home, apparently injured only in her hands.

As a team from Kittery was crossing Portsmouth bridge on Monday, the horse took fright from a freight train, and ran away; the driver was thrown out at the start, and the horse kept on across Noble's island and down Market street to near the corner of Hanover street, where he was stopped. No injury worth mentioning was done to the driver or team.

WHEAT BITTERS.
THE BEST AND The Richest BLOOD, BRAIN and NERVE -F-O-O-D-
CAREFULLY PREPARED, THOROUGHLY TESTED, ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE.
The Phosphates of the Wheat are its most valuable food property, and are, when properly prepared, the most acceptable nutriment with which to build up the system.
The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to avoid sickness it is wise to BUILD FOR HEALTH.
Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates, while the starch and impure matter are eliminated. These salts in themselves a basis, to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is a tonic healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not be confounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls. Medicine to doubly effective when used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.
Sold by druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

A Common-Sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate those diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disease. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.
$1 a Box. 6 Boxes for $5.
Sent free by mail on receipt of money.
ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.
But do not be deluded into taking imitations or substitutes, or something recommended as "just as good!" Insist on the genuine with the name of WASHBURNE & CO. on each box, which is guaranteed to contain pure uric acid, as the indispensable requisite to insure success in the treatment. Take no other, or send to us.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion or loss in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood invigorated.

25th edition revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions! all forms of disease, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. It is bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. Thirty 1 nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can give much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

A dozen or more buildings were destroyed and many more unroofed by a tornado in Denver, Col., Jan. 29th. Several persons were hurt, but none fatally.

A party of bandits, led by Banaran, were attacked Jan. 26th near San Juan, Jalisco, Mexico, by rural soldiers under Capt. Thomas Lemon. A desperate fight ensued, and the bandits were defeated, having eleven killed. Six soldiers were killed, including a brother of Capt. Lemon.

At Denver, Col., Jan. 29th, Hon. Thomas M. Bowen of Rio Grande was elected United States senator for the long term, and Hon. H. A. W. Tabor of Arapahoe for the short term. Both are republicans, and both received the full party vote.

Diphtheria poisons the blood. Convalescents should take Hood's Sarsaparilla to neutralize and eradicate the poison matter.

A chimney connected with the mills at Salmon Falls, built many years ago for carrying off the dust from the cotton pickers, was tumbled to the ground on Wednesday of last week. It was first undermined, and then jack-screws were placed under it, when it toppled over. It was about eighty feet high, and was valuable only for the bricks it contained.

I am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.—Editor.

The property of City Marshal Libbey, Alderman George F. Nute and Jacob H. Twombly of Dover was attached Monday afternoon, Jan. 29th, for libel, for $3,000 each, at suit of Ex-Aldermen Charles J. Morrill, Hiram F. Snow and John W. Burnham. This is an outcome of the recent libellous ballad composed by David E. D. Frost, and alleged to have been circulated by the parties first mentioned. This matter creates much excitement and bitter feeling in Dover.

Among the Shakers.

In certain sections of the country there are religious sects known as Shakers; but for the present we will not speak of them. The "shakers" to whom we refer are those who suffer from swamp fever which necessarily entails rheumatic troubles and neuralgia. To these unfortunate ones, therefore, we recommend Salicylica as a panacea for their ailments. Try it and be convinced of its curative powers.

John Ford was arrested at Laconia on Wednesday, Jan. 24th, for firing two shots at two gentlemen on the street, and one at a lady in a house near by, while he was under the influence of liquor. Thursday he pleaded not guilty, and was bound over; he said he bought his liquor of William Hurley of Lake Village, whereupon Hurley was arrested and bound over in $400.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881.

Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

Daily Chronicle.

How Liquors are Adulterated.

A fresh barrel of raw whiskey is taken in hand by the expert, who converts it in a few hours into old rye or bourbon by a judicious admixture of oak shavings, burned sugar and glycerine. Sometimes he takes away the crude taste by passing an electric current through it. Much of the highest-priced whiskey sold in the best places is made in this artistic fashion. Bourbon is generally supposed to contain more fusil oil than rye, but this is not necessarily the case.

Brandy is made by the distillation of fermented grapes—sometimes from the juice alone, and sometimes from the skins, seeds and juice together. When made from the juice alone it is nearly colorless, has a very agreeable odor, and a slightly acid, aromatic taste. It contains from thirty-five to fifty per cent of alcohol. There is probably no liquor so much imitated and adulterated as brandy. The commonest method of imitating it is by adding to plain grain whiskey certain proportions of various ethers, which are sold in mixture as "brandy essence," burned sugar, spices, tannic acid and acetic acid. Nine-tenths of the brandy that is drank never saw a grape skin.

Gin is made by distilling alcohol with juniper berries, its distinctive taste and odor being due to the presence of a small amount of oil of juniper. The amount of alcohol varies from thirty to forty per cent, the residue being water with less than one per cent of the juniper oil. The gin commonly sold as the real article is, however, made by simply adding a small quantity of this oil, or more frequently oil of turpentine, to common whiskey, together with sufficient water to reduce the strength of the spirit to about thirty per cent of alcohol. None but the most expensive brands of gin are made in any other way. Different brands contain slight additions which give them their peculiar flavors.

The best rum is made by the distillation of fermented molasses. Often pineapples and other fruits are sliced and thrown into the still to give flavor. The molasses used consists of the washings and refuse from the sugar houses. It contains thirty to thirty-five per cent of alcohol, and is not much adulterated, except with certain flavoring ethers, designed to imitate "real Jamaica" or other brands.

The main constituent of absinthe is oil of wormwood. It is made by the distillation of alcohol with water, absinthium (wormwood), and various spices, such as fennel, anise and coriander. The resulting liquid is diluted more or less, the various brands differing greatly in the amounts of water and other substances present in each. It is most frequently made by the simple admixture of oil of wormwood with alcohol and water, various essential oils being added to give pungency. Distilled absinthe well prepared from fresh materials should be of a bright green color. Its effects are well known to be of the most dangerous character, and result in nervous exhaustion and partial or complete paralysis of the heart. There are whole wards in the hospitals at Paris devoted to diseases produced by this fatal drug.

Wines are the most complex of liquors, and afford great opportunity for adulteration. The detection of such adulteration is frequently very difficult. True grape wine, when properly made, contains from six to twelve per cent of alcohol, and either no sugar or quantities varying from a trace to ten per cent. Fragrant ethers, glycerine, tannic acid and acetic acid and other ingredients enter into its composition. Wine may be roughly divided into two classes—red and white; also sweet and dry. Red wines are made by the fermentation of the grape juice together with the skins and seeds, from which they derive their color. White wines may be made from the juice of red or white grapes, fermented without the seeds and skins. As good claret is made in America as the European, but the white wines we have not the experience to produce of equal quality with the imported. Many sweet wines are made without fermentation by simply adding to fresh grape juice due proportions of alcohol and sugar. These are very injurious. Champagne is made properly by fermenting the grape juice partially in casks, then drawing it off into bottles and allowing fermentation to proceed very slowly, the time required varying from one to three years. By this means a wine is produced which contains from three to nine per cent of sugar and heavily charged with carbonic acid gas. Much time and skill are required, and though some good champagne is made in this country, we can but little that is palatable of the native product. Of all liquors champagne is probably the easiest to imitate. All sorts of things are used as ingredients, and a man is said to have taken a prize once for an imitation of which he confessed the basis was coal oil. A barrel of champagne may be made by mixing twenty gallons of Catawba wine, twenty of water, two of Angelica (California sweet) wine, two gallons of alcohol and four gallons of syrup. Honey is frequently used as well. Such a mixture as this can, however, be readily detected by the most uneducated taste.

There are imitations of grape wines which contain no grape juice whatever; but the more usual method of imitation is to take poor, cheap grape wines and add thereto alcohol, water, spices, glycerine, and vegetable or aniline coloring matter. Most of the wine sold in this country is discolored more or less, but most of it has as a basis some real grape wine. An artificial champagne is made by charging sweet white wine with gas. Strange as it may seem, the artificial wine made in this way is quite as good as the real, provided that the wine taken as a basis is sufficiently good, and that it is carefully made. This will be denied by any maker of so-called real champagne, but expert wine tasters are frequently at a loss to tell the difference, and chemists say that it is not material. Claret is so cheap that there is not much imitation. It is mixed more or less with water and alcohol, and tinted with vegetable colors. Ports, sherries and other strong wines are all more or less "fortified" by the addition of alcohol or brandy, and the same may be said of a number of sweet wines. They are dangerous, therefore, as medicines, and from their unreliability should be avoided. The pure red wines are best medicinal stimulants.

To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends off who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was taken with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. Those are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use, I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to take Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before. I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time. It has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork. It is the thing for the student and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE REMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

"Served the Dentist Right."

The boys said that it served old doctor To stuffer right, when he had the toothache so badly that he couldn't sleep at night. He had inflicted so much pain on other people, in pulling and mending their teeth, that they thought it would be good for him to suffer a little himself. The leading dentist of Portsmouth, N. H., knows what pain is and has relieved himself from the twinges of neuralgia by the use of Perry Davis's Pain Killer. He regards it without a rival.

A very general sentiment seems to prevail among the leading colleges and scientific institutions of the country that the management of the naval observatory should be divorced from the navy department and placed under control of a board of trustees composed of scientific gentlemen.

Physicians recommending stimulants for invalids will consult their own interests and those of their patients by writing for "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled only by Chester H. Secretary Folger has written to the speaker of the house that additional vault room must be provided at once for storing the silver or the coinage of the standard silver dollar must be discontinued. Since the coinage of these dollars began eight new vaults have been built at New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and San Francisco. These vaults are now filled, while, under the law, the coinage must go on at the rate of $2,000,000 a month. Since November, 1881, the circulation of silver dollars has increased less than $1,500,000, while the amount coined was $27,775,075. No more vaults can be built at San Francisco, and if the coinage is continued the silver must be sent east at a cost of $10,000 per $1,000,000.

Naval Affairs.

Comdr. Bridgman informs the navy department of the arrival of the Kearsarge at Port Spain, Trinidad, Jan. 7th; she intended remaining until the 17th, and then sail for Venezuela.

Serjeant Jackson Durling, U. S. M. C., has been appointed to his former position in the marine corps, and assigned to duty on board the receiving ship Wabash.

Civil Engineer U. S. G. White, attached to the Boston navy yard, has been ordered to temporary duty at the navy department, Washington.

Boatswain Charles E. Hawkins has been detached from the training ship Saratoga, and ordered to the Washington navy yard.

News and Notes.

The grand jury at Lynn, Mass., have returned an indictment against Dr. W. Duncan of that city for malpractice upon the person of Abby L. Cain.

A despatch of Jan. 30th from St. Paul, Minn., reported the worst snowstorm of the season as having set in that morning.

Dr. Franklin Pierce of Worcester, Mass., has been arrested for causing the death of Mrs. Mary A. Bemis at West Boylston by malpractice. He had been prescribing for her for billious and typhoid fever without success. He then claimed she was suffering from complaints incident to her sex, and treated her with kerosene oil, giving her three sweats, which raised the skin on her body to a blister, and it came off on her back. She lived a week in terrible agony, and died. An autopsy showed the cause of her death to have been the application of kerosene, and Pierce was accordingly arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Jim Mace, the prize fighter, and Slade the Maori, have been arrested in New York city; also Fox and Harding, Slade's backers. The whole gang of them might get drowned without hurting the world any.

The New York County Medical society held a special meeting Monday night, Jan. 29th, and by a vote of 147 to sixty adopted the new medical code which allows allopaths to consult in cases of emergency with regular homoeopathic practitioners.

No satisfactory explanation has yet been given concerning the death of Sever McFarland, the fifteen-years-old school girl who died so suddenly at her home in Malden, Mass., Jan. 25th. It is generally believed that she poisoned herself accidentally, but the girl's mother says that there was no poison in the house, and had not been for twenty years.

The alarm in Wilkesbarre, Pa., over the caving in of an old mine under the city continues, and the situation for some of the inhabitants appears to be really disastrous. Their water supply is cut off; they dare not light fires, lest their houses be burned by the overturning of stoves in case of a further settling of the ground; they are obliged to keep watch during the night in order that they may have warning in time to escape if more of the roof of the mine should give way; and their children dare not attend one of the public schools, which stands in a precarious position.

Solomon Lemfest, living in Cambridge, Mass., was found dead in his bed, Jan. 29th. He was formerly a member of the Cambridge fire department.

An investigation will be made on the death of a boy named McGrath, who died recently in Woburn, Mass. It is suspected that his death was caused by the abuse of his father.

Joseph Bolduc, who was committed to the Maine state prison in March, 1880, for the murder of Mr. Norris, foreman of Cutler, Eddy & Co.'s mill, at Bradley, in the fall of 1878, died Jan. 29th of quick consumption. During his confinement in prison he has been of a sullen disposition, and really a bad convict. He was a French Canadian, and a ruffian of the worst class.

Some figures given in the London Truth furnish a comparison of American, British and German offi ial salaries. Our cabinet officers receive $8,000 a year. In England $25,000 a year is the salary of the seven leading cabinet minisers. At Berlin the chancellor of the empire and prime minister receives $14,000, with a house, and an additional $5,000 a year to keep it in order; the secretary of state's salary is $12,500, with a free house. Our ministers to London, Paris, Berlin and St. Petersburg receive $17,500 each. The British ambassador at Paris receives $30,000 a year, and the German ambassador $30,000. The German ambassadors at London and St. Petersburg receive $37,000 each. Our minister to Turkey receives $7,500, the British minister $40,000 and the German minister $30,000. Our minister at Rome receives $12,000, the British minister $35,000, and the German minister $25,000. Our minister at Pekin receives $12,000, the British minister $30,000, and the German minister $15,000. Our minister at Stockholm receives $7,500, the British minister $15,000, and the German minister $10,000.

Dr. Atwood Crosby of Waterville, Me., died in Mexico, recently, where he went for his health. He graduated from the Maine Medical school in 1864, and in 1867 began practice in Waterville.

Edward Dennison, a young farmer, who stole $28,000 in securities from his employer, George S. Needham, of Peabody, Mass., has been arraigned in the police court of that town. He pleaded guilty, and his case was continued in $4,000.

Nathaniel Evans of Monroe, Me., was recently killed at Darling's lumber camp, Nicatou's lake, by the falling of a tree. He was about sixty-three years old, and leaves a wife and eight children.

Edward Clemence committed suicide in Providence, R. I., Jan. 29th, by taking poison.

In the Massachusetts legislature, one day this week, the committee on agriculture took under consideration the order relative to the expediency of offering a bounty for the destruction of the English sparrows. Representative Martin of Milton, who introduced the order, asserted that the bird is causing great and increasing damage to crops, its ravages on the apples being particularly destructive, nearly one-half that crop last year having been destroyed by it. They also drive away other birds that would destroy injurious insects, while they will not touch such vermin. Prof. Gressman of the Agricultural college stated that in Europe movements are being made to destroy this bird. Mr. Samuels, author of the "Birds of New England," stated that the English sparrow is rapidly driving away native small birds, while it has lost all the taste for insect food that it ever had. It is also remarkably fecund, but it cannot be destroyed without incurring a penalty therefor. If the bird should become common in the west it would, as a grain eater, become a great nuisance. No one had a word to say for the sparrow.

—Dr. Hall says it is very unhealthy to live on the ground floor of a house. Doctor's right. A fellow's creditors can climb in on him with so little trouble.

—Perhaps lager isn't poisonous, but here's a point for temperance agitators. A Cincinnati man got some beer froth into a sore on his finger, and was compelled to have the digit amputated. It is fortunate that he did not get any into the hole in his face.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities (such at HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the diseases that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

MRS. S. S. MOODY,

No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1876.

How the People Are Humbugged

By Co-Operative and Mutual Aid Societies.

The Insurance Department Reports of several States furnish interesting data for judging of the Real Economy, Insurance Reliability, and Business Prudence of sharing money with these concerns, under the impression that it furnishes

CHEAP LIFE INSURANCE.

Having duly considered the "lesson" afforded by the following statement, taken from these Official State Reports, let the reader consider the DEFINITE Insurance Contract offered by THE Mutual Life Insurance Co.

OF NEW YORK,

under which no "Assessments" are possible, and the benefit to be received definitely decided at time of application, with such an annual return of the unexpired premium as each year's experience shall develop.

Forty-three organizations, known as "Co-operative Companies," "Mutual Aid or Relief Associations," "Benefit Societies," &c., report to the State Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, &c., the following

OUTRAGEOUS MISUSE

— OF THE —

Assessments Collected.

Maximum Value of Certificates (for policies, upon which policies were paid in 1881)	$2,385,525.00
These "Certificates" proved to be worth as claims	$511,381.36
But the collections for the same were	$504,607.94
Difference between collection and disbursement, illustrating Co-operative Cost (?)	$2,823.58 $511,384.36

ANOTHER WAY OF PUTTING IT.

These unfortunates hold Certificates representing a supposed value to their beneficiaries of $2,385,525.

The real value proves to have been about 21½ per cent, or $511,384.36, they waiving their claim of $2,823.58 of the amount collected ($504,607.94) and this is called Cheap Insurance.

QUERY.

Who ever heard of any respectable Life Insurance Company settling $2,385,525 of insurance, honestly contracted for, at a discount like the above and at such a cost?

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

A lecture on the British Colonies will be given by Miss Fannie Mathes at the North Parish chapel on Middle street, Thursday evening, Feb. 1st, in aid of the public library. To the citizens of Portsmouth Miss Mathes hardly needs an introduction, as she is already favorably known as a lady of rare literary attainments, and as the first assistant teacher in the high school, where her varied abilities are highly appreciated. Tickets, at twenty-five cents each, now on sale at Myers' bookstore; also will be sold at the door. The lecture will commence at eight o'clock.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 31st.

Patrick Freeman, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90; county farm in default of payment.

George Foote, complained of for an assault on John P. Haskins, was dismissed, the complainant not appearing.

WHO HE IS.

It having recently been announced that "Mr. James Reel, of Dover, has been appointed boiler-maker on the United States steamtug Leyden, at $50 per month, and thirty cents a day for rations," various papers had various things to say in the premises. The Dover Democrat did not know who this "Mr. Reel, a citizen of Dover," was, nor what particular need there could be of a boiler-maker on board the Leyden, which is alleged to be tied up at the navy yard wharf about eleven months and thirty-one days each year. The Dover Republican of Jan. 30th accordingly enlightens its democratic neighbor as follows:

That "Mr. Reel (Rehill) a citizen of Dover," whom Foster does not know, is a good substantial democrat, and a good blacksmith; Foster is mad because a good democrat has received a good job from the navy department. The "considerable talk among the regular employees" was caused by their not getting the job.

If the steamer is moored to the wharf all the time, as the democratic papers have stated, we do not see why a democratic blacksmith isn't just as good a boiler-maker as she can possibly require.

SUPREME COURT--POE J.

[THIRD WEEK.]

The court has been engaged during the week in trying cases which were marked for trial by the court.

E. F. Sise & Co. vs. County of Rockingham was a suit brought to recover the price of a quantity of coal delivered at the Portsmouth jail. The coal was furnished under proposals invited by the county commissioners through an advertisement inserted in the Daily Chronicle in June, 1881, which specified that the coal to be delivered at the county farm should be of the "best quality white ash broken coal, 2240 lbs. to the ton;" the coal for Portsmouth jail was designated as "twenty tons best quality white ash stove coal, delivered" etc. The question was, what was the understanding or contract as to the weight in pounds for the twenty tons? was it the only weight designated in the advertisement, or was it the net weight of twenty hundred weight to the ton? The commissioners supposed they were buying at 2240 lbs., and the plaintiffs intended to bid at 2000 lbs., to the ton. In the police court the judgment was for the plffs. Judge Doe decided in favor of the county, and the question will go to the law term for determination. Page for plff.; Hatch and Bartlett for the county.

In the divorce case Henry D. Taylor vs. Alice C. Taylor, a partial hearing was had. A cross libel has been filed, and the hearing is to be resumed. Parties are from Hampton. Page for libellant; Leavitt and Knight for libellee.

The trustees of the Chase Home for Children acknowledge the receipt of $110.14 from the Portsmouth Young Men's Club.

JOS. HILLER FOSTER, Treas.

A large quantity of ship timber is being hauled from Newington to be used in the construction of the new schooner at Freeman's point.

The schooner Mary Willey sailed for the Shoals on Tuesday of this week with 150 tons of ice, and came back Wednesday, having discharged her cargo.

Carrie Swain, supported by an excellent company, appeared last evening in her new play by Harry Jackson, Jr., entitled, "Mab, the Miner's Daughter." The piece is of the sensational order, and affords plenty of scope for the sprightly star to exhibit her protean talents in a manner that, last night at least, met with much favor. Miss Swain sings and dances pleasingly, and is just as vivacious and charming as ever. In the first and second act, she was called before the curtain, and in the third, friends proffered her a floral offering. She was received at times with loud applause, and really merited all the expressions of appreciation.—Bridgeport News, Jan. 10th.

At Music hall Monday evening, Feb. 5th. Sale of reserved seat tickets commences to-day at Myers' bookstore.

Mr. George W. Hersey has taken a chair in S. Augustus Preble's hairdressing rooms at No. 31 Congress street, where he will be pleased to wait on those requiring his services. Mr. Hersey is a skillful workman at his business, gives a quick, easy and close shave, and is claimed to have no superior at hair-cutting in the city or elsewhere.

The steamer Acushnet, when she started for Boston on Wednesday morning, the 31st ult, had in tow the little steamer Three Brothers, bound to Boston to be fitted with a new boiler. The big boat towed the little one along all right until they got outside the harbor, where a strong breeze from the south-southeast was met, with a heavy sea, when according to the accounts of the fishermen the little steamer took to the deep water altogether, only coming up once in a while to breathe. The Acushnet soon brought her tow back to this city, and then made a fresh start for Boston.

The U.S.S. Tallapoosa left Washington Jan. 31st for this port via intermediate naval stations, with freight for the navy yard.

Thatcher, Primrose & West's minstrels gave an excellent entertainment at Music hall on the evening of Jan. 31st. Many of the specialties were first-class, and the dancing was way ahead of anything usually seen. The company deserves patronage.

The Knights of Pythias celebrated the 12th anniversary of Damon Lodge on Wednesday evening of this week, by a dance and supper in Congress hall. Turner's quadrille band furnished the music.

The New York Herald says: "Mr. John McCullough, both as a man and an actor, enjoys the esteem and popularity of Americans, and it was an almost affectionate welcome that was accorded him at the Fifth avenue. His passionate defiance in the great forum scene and his absolute despair when he stabs Virginia were brought out with a reality at times almost appalling. The actor's individuality was lost sight of, and the audience followed Virginius with feeling wrought up to the highest pitch of sympathy, but at the close of the thrilling scenes the lengthy rounds of cheers and applause showed full admiration for the indisputable talents of the great actor."

The gross earnings of the Eastern railroad are reported as follows: December, 1882, $253,396 29; December, 1881, $248,368.07; increase, $5,088.32. The Eastern also makes a very favorable showing in its net earnings for the three months of October, November and December.

Gen. Stephen L. Butterfield of Kittery has been confined to his house for several days, in consequence of injuries received while shoeing a horse, the animal having flung him with considerable force against the frame of the slings used in shoeing oxen.

Charles A. Grant, proprietor of the Sea Cottage, York beach, has cut from Chas. H. Preble's pond twenty-five tons of ice for use in the house next summer. Henry E. Evans has cut 100 tons from the same pond, for use in the hotel Bartlett; and Andrew R. Webber has cut 250 tons, for general distribution as called for. This ice is twelve inches thick, of excellent quality, and all cut since Jan. 1st. Capt. Emerson's pond at York harbor, made by a dam, has not supplied any ice this season, there not being enough fresh water to keep the salt water out. Samuel G. Donnell has cut twenty tons of ice at Bayberry marsh. Moses French and James Thompson, at Union Bluff, have put in their ice from Cape Neddick this season.

The Biddeford Times of Jan. 26th contained the following: "A large quantity of lobsters are being taken at the Pool. Some loads were brought to town by fishermen who say they never had such large catches before. The lobsters are brought to the city and shipped thence to Boston, where they command a higher price than can be obtained here."

It was reported at Gloucester, Mass., on the evening of Jan. 30th, that Charles Ray and John Whitman, two of the crew of the schooner James A. Garfield, who were lost in a dory on the banks in the storm of Jan. 10th, had arrived at St. Pierre, Newfoundland. Should this report prove true, Ray will have two remarkable escapes to boast of, he having been over thirty hours in a dory on bank Quereau in March, 1880, when he and a companion named Needham missed their schooner, the Polar Wave, in a storm, Needham perishing from the cold before the dory was picked up by the schooner.

It is said that "Representative Harris of Massachusetts, chairman of the naval affairs committee, is satisfied that the proposition to transfer the revenue marine bureau from the treasury to the navy department is unpopular." We should think he might have found that out by this time, if he can read.

WHEAT BITTERS
THE BEST AND The Richest
BLOOD, BRAIN and NERVE
-F-O-O-D-
CAREFULLY PREPARED,
THOROUGHLY TESTED,
ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE.
The Phosphates of the Wheat are its most valuable food property, and are, when properly prepared, the most acceptable nutriment with which to build up the system.
The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to save sickness it is wise to BUILD FOR HEALTH.
Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by Fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates, while the starch and impure matter are eliminated. These take in themselves a basis, to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is at once healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not be confounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls. Medicine is doubly effective when used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.
Sold by druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with unanimous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.
$1 a Box. 6 Boxes for $5.
Sent free by mail on receipt of money.
ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.
But do not be deluded into taking imitations or substitutes, or something recommended as "just as good!" Insist on the genuine with the name of WASHBURNE & CO. on each box, which is guaranteed chemically pure under our signature, an indispensible requisite to insure success in the treatment. Take no other, or send to us.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be levelated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Enhanced vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the Not onal Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions of all forms of the sick, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

The fiftieth anniversary of the holy profession of Rev. Mother Frances Warde Xavier, founder of the order of Sisters of Mercy in the United States, was celebrated at the convent in Manchester on Wednesday of last week. Miss Frances Teresa Warde, who is a native of Ireland, was received into the convent of Mercy in Dublin by the founder of the order, Rev. Mother Catherine McCauley, on the feast of St. Andrew in 1832, and made her final vows on the feast of St. Timothy, Jan. 24th, 1833, being the first Sister of Mercy professed under the founder. She came to this country in 1843, accompanied by six sisters, and established the first convent in the United States at Pittsburg, Pa. She has been the superior of Mount St. Mary's convent in Manchester for a period of twenty-two years, and has, during that time, been instrumental in establishing convents in many places.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881.
Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

Daily Chronicle.

Adoniram Leonard, the suicide whose dead body was recently found in the woods at Raynham, Mass., having been missing for three months, was buried at Taunton on the 31st ult. Another act in the tragedy was unfolded by the story of a relative, who says that while in Fall River some time ago Leonard fell in love with a young lady who returned his affection, and everything was progressing finely until the girl's parents interfered. This caused Leonard to leave suddenly. The young lady, troubled at his mysterious absence, pined away, and died about two weeks ago.

Pier 36 North river, New York, occupied by the Inman Steamship Co., caught fire Feb. 1st, and with the buildings on it was burned. Loss estimated at $1,000,000. The National line steamship Egypt was badly damaged.

The farm-house of A. D. Stige, near Dassett, Minn., was burned on the night of Jan 30th, and four children perished in the flames. Stige, his wife and baby barely escaped with their lives, and were nearly frozen to death in the storm.

A young lady in Philadelphia who for three years has been a patient sufferer with sore-throat, had been effectually cured by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Archaelus P. Coffoniq, an old man living alone, was found dead in his house at Salem, Mass., a day or two ago. He left property and money valued at $7000

Wheat Bitters will make you bold, but not rash; patient, but not insensible; constant, but not obstinate; cheerful, but not light.

Cetewayo has been reinstated as king of Zululand. About 5,000 Zulus were present at the ceremony.

How natural it is to be suspicious. Truly this is an age of suspicion. Nevertheless, Capt. F. M. Howes, of the steamer William Crane, Merchants & Miners' Transportation line between Boston and Baltimore, who suffered severely from rheumatism, caused by the exposure incident to his profession, was cured by St. Jacobs Oil. This is no suspicion.

Mary P. Drew died at the residence of her son, Geo. A. Richardson, of Brookfield, Mass., Jan. 27th. Deceased was born in Strafford, N. H., in November, 1803, and was in the employ of the Cocheco Manufacturing Co in Dover for thirty-five consecutive years. She was the first person to start up the drawing frames in old No. Two mill. Her death was caused by heart disease. The deceased lady was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends. It is only a short time since she ceased to be a resident of Dover, moving to Brookfield, where she died.

Facts Worth Remembering.

There is no danger of dying from heart disease without knowing it for months, and generally years, beforehand. The symptoms are plain and often repeated There will be no danger at all if Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator is taken in time and according to directions. It will never fail to cure all forms of heart disease.

In Concord, in 1882, the losses by fire aggregated $59,846.60, upon which there was insurance of $41,461.50.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Rotanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

In Meredith Village, Jan. 27th, the summer boarding house of George E. Gilman was destroyed by fire. The furniture on the first floor only was saved. The loss on the building was $7,000; insurance $2,500.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—My family has used your "Favorite Prescription" and it has done all that is claimed for it. It is the best of all preparations, for female complaint. I recommend it to all my customers. G. S. Waterman, druggist, Baltimore, Md. 5

At the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Fire Insurance company, the following officers were elected: President, Ex-Gov. James A. Weston; vice president, Hon. Samuel H. Bell; treasurer, George B. Chandler; secretary, John C. French.

Among the Shakers.

In certain sections of the country there are religious sects known as Shakers; but for the present we will not speak of them. The "shakers" to whom we refer are those who suffer from swamp fever which necessarily entails rheumatic troubles and neuralgia. To these unfortunate ones, therefore, we recommend Salicylica as a panacea for their ailments. Try it and be convinced of its curative powers.

The stockholders of the First National bank of Concord have elected William M. Chase, Esq., president, on account of the continued sickness of Augustine C. Pierce, the late president.

To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends off who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was taken with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. Those are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use. I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to take Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before. I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time. It has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork. It is the thing for the student and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE EMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

Seven Per Cent. First Mortgages.

FOR SALE, in sums of five hundred dollars and upwards five years to run principal and interest payable where the lender desires. These mortgages are secured on improved farms in Iowa, Kansas and Dakota, valued at three times the amount of the mortgage. These loans are very popular with many conservative investors and the demand for them is increasing. We receive our loans most of Trust Companies of high character and experience and believing them one of the best and most profitable investments to be had, we cheerfully and heartily recommend them to investors. Money sent to us by check or P. O. order will be invested by us with our best of care. Correspondence solicited.

An Immense Institution.

In the advertising columns of to-day's paper we give our readers, very many of whom are its members, the annual exhibit of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, a model in the ability of its management and a wonder in its achieved results. This company is alike colossal and compact. Its investments are extensive, its business enormous, and its undertakings continental in their scope, and yet the veriest detail is carefully and strictly looked after, so that it progresses steadily in its accumulations, paying its losses from its large receipts, and yet showing such a balance to the credit of the profit and loss account, as in a like institution the world has never seen. This accumulation is not the profits to be divided among a set of shareholders, but the property of the members, and is from time to time awarded to them in the shape of dividends which may be used in payment of annual premiums, or what is far better for the assured, appropriated for the purchase of an increased sum of insurance, the latter mode, of course, augmenting the sum payable by the company at the termination of the policy. We reiterate what in these columns we have so often before affirmed, that this is the leading company of the world, and managed with ability unparalleled in the history of financial success in either hemisphere.

There are two classes of persons in good health, who can afford to become its members, and participate in its extraordinary privileges. One of these comprises those who do not expect to be able to leave at their death any considerable sum for their families, or others for whom they would seek to make provision; the other embraces those able to be successful in this respect, but who insure for an investment. Compared with the cheap catch-penny concerns, which affect to supply a possible insurance though utterly incapable of existing a decade, and in which the cost of insurance in proportion to the amount either promised, or, perchance, to representatives of those who die early, paid, is utterly extravagant, the Mutual Life of New York is shown, not by any assertions of its officers or agents, not by unsupported claims or unwarranted statements, but by careful scrutiny through official investigation, by legal authorities entirely outside and beyond its membership or influence, and amenable to the people of the great state of New York, to be the safest and at the same time the cheapest mode by which a policy of insurance will be paid at whatever future date it may become payable, without an apparent possibility of a doubt.

There is really no substitute for legitimate life insurance, and the best evidence of the stability of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York may be adduced from the fact the shrewest business men and the ablest financiers of the country are enrolled in its membership.

Letter From California.

Dear Chronicle: It is a wintry day in New England, but we will sit down in front of the glowing coals and talk a little of California. You take the easy chair and shut your eyes, and I will tell you of Napa Valley.

This valley lies some fifty miles northwest of San Francisco, you know, and is one of the fairest and most fertile in the state. It is about thirty-five miles in length, and varies in width from one mile at its northern extremity to four or five at its southern. Ranges of mountains stand "rock-ribbed and ancient" on its eastern and western boundaries, and give one a sense of rest and protection. At the head of the valley, where the two mountain ranges meet, stands Mt. St. Helena, over four thousand feet high. It was formerly called Mt. Mayacamas, after the ranges enclosing the valley, but in 1841 was visited by a party of Russians, and given the pretty name it now bears, in honor of the commander's wife, about whom there is a bit of romantic history.

The valley once teemed with Indians, but war and a contact with civilization have made their ravages upon them, so that barely a hundred remain of the 6000 that the early settlers found here. [illegible] North Carolina, and being granted a large tract of land by the Mexican government, came in 1831 to take possession. He has passed into the future, and sleeps in the heart of the valley in a little village bearing his name.

Scattered among these mountains are springs noted for the medicinal properties of their waters,—hot and cold, sulphur and soda,—which are annually visited by hundreds searching for health, or for the fountain of immortal youth, maybe, like Ponce de Leon of old.

The valley contains three towns of importance: Napa City, St. Helena, and Calistoga. The latter lies at the head of the valley, and being the terminus of the Napa Valley railroad, is the shipping point for several quicksilver mines in an adjacent county. Stages also connect it with the Geysers and other places of resort, as well as with the principal towns of Lake county. Within its limits are celebrated hot springs, which were once a fashionable resort; their palmy days have passed, but they still receive many interested visitors.

St. Helena, situated very nearly in the centre of the valley, is a very pretty and flourishing town. Vinticulture has made more advances in this vicinity than in any other part of the valley, and beautiful vineyards stretch away till lost in the distance. Wealthy San Francisc ans have built elegant summer residences here, which have added much to the natural beauties of the place. It has lately arrived at the dignity of a bank, the stock of which—$100,000—was all taken in a few days by the farmers in the vicinity, which certainly speaks well for their thrift.

Napa City, situated near the southern end of the valley, is the county-seat, and very desirable as a place of residence; for added to its natural attractions are its educational institutions, with "Sweet girl graduates in their go den hair."

There are boy-graduates here, as well, but poets don't manufacture such sweet things to say about them. I pity them.

Here in this pretty little city we find fine churches, nice stores and hotels, and the pleasantest and coziest of homes. Indeed, the homes throughout the valley are unusually pretty and inviting, many of them with finely-improved grounds and beautiful interiors.

One of the two insane asylums of the state is situated here; an immense building of splendid architecture, and at a distance resembling some grand castle. Perhaps it is well that its outward appearance is so imposing that we may forget the misery it hides.

The Veterans' Home has just been established a short distance up the valley, and the farmers laughingly assert that they expect to lose all their fruit and watermelons, as the "boys" have become so accustomed to foraging.

Residents of the valley think the climate nearly perfect. It is sufficiently near the coast to have its summer heats tempered by the fresh trade winds, and its winters are mild. This January day the grass and young wheat are fresh and green, larks sing by the road side, and a flood of sunlight rests over all.

"Sensations sweet,
Felt in the blood, and felt along the heart."

Farmers are putting in the last of their wheat crop, or pruning their vineyards, as the case may be. Cereals thrive splendidly here, but since the grape has been found to grow so successfully the acreage formerly devoted to wheat has been considerably lessened to make room for the rapidly spreading vineyards. Apples, pears, peaches, plums and the small fruits are produced abundantly and of excellent quality.

The wine product of 1880 was 2867,250 gallons, and the acreage devoted to vines was estimated at 11,000. It is said an acre of vines will yield a gross return of $157, even with wine selling at thirty cents per gallon. Zinfandel, Rose of Peru, Reisling, and Chasselas are among the principal varieties cultivated.

Those interested in grape growing say it is yet in its infancy here, but amid all its brilliant prospects comes the gloomy foreboding of the dreaded phylloxera, and now and then an erratic frost in April or May, which worries the farmer to a state of desperation. Between the 1st and 15th of April usually, the blossoms appear on the vines, and a frost about this time is very destructive. The farmers watch the thermometer very closely, and if it reaches the freezing point, piles of straw or wood covered with tar are immediately fired, and the whole valley is covered with an impenetrable cloud of smoke, which gradually warms the atmosphere and saves most of the precious vines. Smoking is not considered necessary if the vineyard is situated on the west slope of the valley, as the atmosphere becomes warm before the sun strikes the vines.

The season of '82 was considered a good one for the viticulturalist, notwithstanding the gloomy outlook occasioned by a May frost; and at one of the largest wineries in the valley about 300,000 gallons were made. At the latter cellar the grapes are crushed by steam crushers [illegible]

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Sy up for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little suffer r immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the pr scription of one o the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. codjanu,84

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

SAD ACCIDENT.

On Thursday morning last three young girls started to cross the Portsmouth & Dover railroad bridge from Freeman's point to Noble's island, on their way to school. As there is no planking on the bridge, so that pedestrians are obliged to step from sleeper to sleeper, the path is not very safe at the best; and when the wood is slippery with ice of course the peril is greatly increased. The girls had only got a few rods from the shore when the younger of the three, Belle Fernald, a very pretty and interesting child about eleven years old, only daughter of Mr. Wm. F. Fernald, slipped and fell, striking on the ice twenty-two feet below, and fracturing her skull. Some railroad men who were working near by hastened to her aid, and carried her home in an unconscious state; she came to her senses for a short time in the afternoon, and in the evening it was reported that there was room to hope for her recovery.

We are glad to be able to afford our readers the pleasure of the perusal of a letter from our esteemed correspondent at Vallejo, Cal., who robs a few moments from her daily duties as principal of a large school of young Californians, to keep her promise made to us long since, to favor us in this respect.

A girl named Akerman, seven years old, daughter of Joseph Akerman, who lives on Spinney road, while sliding on the ice last Thursday afternoon suffered a compound fracture of one leg between the knee and ankle, both bones being broken so as to protrude through the flesh and stocking. Mc. Delhi Spinney, while riding at good speed for a doctor, was thrown from his horse by the animal slipping, and was somewhat bruised, though fortunately not seriously hurt.

"Mab, the Miner's Daughter," was played in Portland last Monday night, and the Press says: "The piece is of the old-fashioned melo-dramatic order, with considerable of the business which made 'Cad, the Tomboy,' so attractive. There are startling situations, remarkable denouements; while in all, Miss Swain is ever flitting about, full of tireless spirit and seemingly unwearied vitality. She sings, dances, and we might say, prances about from the rising up to the going down of the curtain; through the entire action of the play maintaining her character with the strictest attention to the minutest details. The support last evening was good, and the audience large and generously appreciative."

A foreign-born peddler who travelled the streets on the 1st inst. with a team well loaded with oranges, found a rival in Mr. Charles Gray, who appeared on Market square with a good stock of the fruit, and elevated high in air a banner bearing the legends "Patronize home industry" and "We don't wish to go west." As Gray was last in the field we suppose he bid the other fellow out, figuratively.

Close observers say that John McCullough is acting this season as he never acted before. Thanks to his recent trip up the Yellowstone with Gen. Sheridan he is in fine physical condition and buoyant spirits. His Virginius was long ago considered to be near the perfection of dramatic art, but it is said to have gained new beauty and finish during the present season.

The schooner Clyde arrived in the lower harbor on Wednesday, the 31st ult., with 80,000 frozen herring. She found a market for them in Gloucester.

Tenney has completed a portrait of the late Daniel M. Christie of Dover, and it can be seen to-day at Montgomery's music store, beneath the CHRONICLE office.

Miss Kate Hooper, treasurer of current expenses for the Children's Home, acknowledges with thanks the gift of $25 from J. Albert Walker, Esq.

The fish arrivals on the 1st inst. were the schooners Flying Cloud with 800 lbs; the Sylph, with 700 lbs.; St. Peter, 2100 lbs.; Grace Choate, 1900 lbs.; E. A. Williams, 1400 lbs.; Christie Campbell, 1200 lbs.; Storm King, 500 lbs. Five cents a pound was the price paid.

Several bright flashes of lightning were seen in the southeast on the evening of Jan. 31st.

The schooner B. Frank Nealley, of the Dover Navigation Co.'s fleet of coasting vessels, has hauled up at Lynn, Mass., to await the arrival of spring.

Mr. John H. Broughton shipped a hundred barrels of lime to Concord on Thursday last.

The schooner Mary Willey, which the CHRONICLE of last Thursday reported as having come in from the Isles of Shoals on the previous day, "having discharged her cargo" of ice, did not discharge the whole of it, but brought in about thirty tons, the heavy weather making it impracticable for her to remain longer at the islands. She made the run in to the lower harbor in thirty minutes.

It is said that Secretary Chandler will tender the use of the closed navy yards to the secretary of the treasury, for the purpose of storage of the silver dollars. They are to be guarded by the marines, who will be left in charge of the yards after the officers are detached. Sec'y Folger, however, is opposed to having any portion of the treasury department placed in charge of the navy department, and as to his Bland dollars, he fears they will not hold out if deposited in the navy bureau.

The steamer Acushnet did not get to Boston on Wednesday of this week after all, though she made two starts from this port. On the second attempt she got about half-way from the Shoals to Thacher's island lights, when she found the sea so heavy as to compel her to return; she started again Thursday morning.

It is soothing when a man has had a fall and thereby got a broken nose, black eye, scratched face, etc., on telling a friend in doleful tones of the mishap to have the friend burst into uproarious laughter, as though it was a capital joke. The broken-up man generally has to hunt to see where the fun comes in.

WHEAT BITTERS.

THE BEST AND The Richest BLOOD, BRAIN and NERVE -F-O-O-D-

CAREFULLY PREPARED, THOROUGHLY TESTED, ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE.

The Phosphates of the Wheat are its most valuable food property, and are, when properly prepared, the most acceptable nutriment with which to build up the system.

The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to save sickness it is wise to BUILD FOR HEALTH.

Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates, while the starch and impure matter are eliminated. These make them themselves a basis, to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is at once healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not be confounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls. Medicine to be effective must be used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.

Sold by druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be revisited and cured. These who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Sixth edition revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions in all forms of the most acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25, by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

It is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can more much to gain, and little to expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great cool and wooded region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from his boyhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, as ripped for his work, and swinging his axe as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bœuf's Castle, must have presented a admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to sta t a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I should never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calkilate on:—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. For, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

No Whiskey!

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is one of the very few tonic medicines that are not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey, thus becoming a fruitful source of intemperance by promoting a desire for rum.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is guaranteed to be a non-intoxicating stimulant, and it will, in nearly every case, take the place of all liquor, and at the same time absolutely kill the desire for whiskey and other intoxicating beverages.

Rev. G. W. RICE, editor of the American Christian Review, says of Brown's Iron Bitters:

Cin., O., Nov. 16, 1881.
Gents:—The foolish wasting of vital force in business, pleasure, and vicious indulgence of our people, makes your preparation a necessity; and if applied, will save hundreds who resort to saloons for temporary recuperation.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS has been thoroughly tested for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumption, liver complaints, kidney troubles, &c., and it never fails to render speedy and permanent relief.

The "Art Amateur" for February contains some striking crayon and charcoal drawings, including the Lions in Trafalgar Square by F. Hopkinson Smith, a portrait of that artist by Millet and Abbey, and a very life-like figure study by Geo. H. Boughton, whose beautiful painting, "Flowers and Falling Leaves," is also handsomely reproduced. The illustrations of "Inexpensive Home Decoration," by Lewis F. Day, and of "Japanese Decorative Art" by Dresser, are numerous and extremely interesting. The text of the number is especially strong. Edward Strahan has an excellent article on water color painting; Clarence Cook dissects without mercy the alleged Raphael at the Metropolitan museum; the art of the past year is reviewed; picture exhibitions in New York and Phil delphia receive ample attention, and "My Note Book" is full of sharp paragraphs. New houses of artistic pretensions in New York and elsewhere are keenly criticised. There are valuable articles on fan painting, china painting and needlework; and various topics relating to bric-a-brac, and art in dress are agreeably discussed. Price, single number thirty-five cents; $4 a year. Montague Marks, publisher, No. 23 Union square, New York.

To Please Her Husband.

Were the Words of a Good Lady, Mrs. Hawkins, who has long Suffered the Pain Common to Chronic Rheumatism. A Woman's Patience and Fortitude well shown.

Your reporter from Mrs. Hawkins at 14 Exchange St., New Haven, Conn. "About four years ago," she said, "I was then a resident of Brooklyn, N. Y. I went over one morning to the Jersey City depot to see some friends off who were started for the west. There was a strong draft of air in the depot, and in standing by the train talking to my friends I caught a severe cold. I had no more than reached my home again when I was taken with a sudden chill and then fever set in. The outcome of all was that rheumatism settled all over me. I was entirely helpless. From this I have never recovered. You see my hands what a state they are in. Those are all chalky swellings and my limbs are very bad. While I remained in Brooklyn I tried all sorts of remedies, but I could never gain any relief. My physician said it was no use. I grew very thin and lost all strength. Finally, after coming here, to gratify my husband, I began to take Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, and my general health has been better than ever before. I am stronger, have an excellent appetite, which I did not have for a long time. It has helped my rheumatism, and with a thorough trial I am in hopes of recovering completely."

Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY has been successfully used by thousands. It will build up a system which has been run down by overwork. It is the thing for the student and literary man to have at hand, and should be in the home of every mechanic. FAVORITE REMEDY is economical, safe and pleasant. Buy it and try it.

"Served the Dentist Right."

The boys said that it served old doctor Toothstuffer right, when he had the toothache so badly that he couldn't sleep at night. He had inflicted so much pain on other people, in pulling and mending their teeth, that they thought it would be good for him to suffer a little himself. The leading dentist of Portsmouth, N. H., knows what pain is and has relieved himself from the twinges of neuralgia by the use of Perry Davis's Pain Killer. He regards it without a rival.

Thomas Bresnahan, sixty-five years old, was killed by the cars at Holyoke, Mass., Jan. 29th.

Adam's Fall.

Ever since Adam's fall, which subjected human nature to diseases of the flesh, there has been a demand for a blood purifier. We all realize the fact that upon the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and vigor of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only a sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause; hence a reliable blood purifier is of greater importance to the people than is generally supposed. We are pleased to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla bears unmistakable proof of being this sort of a medicine, and we think it worthy a trial.

The retirement of Rear Admiral G. H. Balch and Rear Admiral Andrew Bryson has promoted Commodore Chas H. Baldwin to the grade of rear admiral, the promotion dating from Jan. 31st. Rear Admiral Baldwin is now on duty as a member of the lighthouse board; he will be relieved from duty in a short time, and ordered to the command of the European station, relieving Rear Admiral J. W. A. Nicholson, who will be retired on March 10th next. The retirement of Rear Admiral Nicholson, and of Rear Admiral E. R. Calhoun in April, will promote Commodore R. W. Shufeldt, now president of the naval advisory board, to be a rear admiral.

T. De Witt Talmage says in his third sermon on "Night Side of City Life," that every day in christendom $80,000,000 change hands through gambling, but he does not mention the important fact that thousands upon thousands of people die annually from coughs and colds that might be saved to earth by the timely use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

The assembly of New Jersey has passed a law which provides that when juries are composed of six men, four shall be enough to agree upon a verdict, and when composed of twelve men, this result may be reached by eight agreeing. The phrase "let twelve men settle it" will go out of vogue in Jersey.

Ill-Timed Movements.

It is a singular fact that strikes are most apt to occur at times when the employers can best afford, for a while at least, to do without the labor of the strikers. A case in Biddeford, Me., where the operatives in a room of one of the big mills undertook to dictate to the company as to the employment of an overseer who was popular with the employees but had been discharged by the management, is in point; the strike came just when the corporation was desirous of shutting down work in that room, to make changes and improvements. Mills generally at this time are not making anything, because there is really no life in business while Congress remains in session, and merchants cannot decide as to purchases of orders, pending legislation upon the tariff.

So with the boys at Annapolis; just as the country is thinking of reducing the number of officers of the navy, the boys come to the rescue and talk of resigning because a cadet officer has been reduced to the ranks. The secretary of the navy has a good opportunity to teach these boys the first lesson in naval education, namely, that discipline and subordination to authority must never for a moment be lost sight of by those who seek to command.

The Sacking Admirals Aroused.

There are turbulent times at the Annapolis naval academy. The cadet officers of the battalion of midshipmen have resigned, and none of the first and second classes will accept these positions. The third and fourth classes are either incompetent or afraid to accept them. Most of the first class have been sent on board the Santee under arrest. The trouble arose about charges that a cadet officer had exposed the contents of examination papers. A despatch of the 1st inst. from Annapolis says: "This morning there were among the usual orders two lists of those cadets who were charged with mutinous conduct, and one other list of those charged with disorderly conduct. Their names could not be obtained. There was no cheering to-day. The cadets claim that the outbreak is the culmination of a long series of tyrannical acts on the part of superintendent Ramsey."

Secretary Chandler on the 1st inst. issued a circular bearing upon the troubles at the naval academy, in which he says that the disturbances and insubordination among the cadets will doubtless subside if the superintendent is allowed to work out a result without interference. But if the cadets are encouraged to persist by their parents and friends, the dismissal of forty or fifty may result, so far as the department can judge.

AROUND HOME.

At the first annual meeting, for the organization of the Little Princess Mining Co., held at the Rockingham House in this city on Jan. 31st, H. C. Lodge of Nahant, Mass., W. B. Littlefield, J. N. Smith, Geo. Fuller, F. B. Drown, C. F. Moulton, H. F. Jordan, D. A. Sutherland, J. D. Rogers, F. E. Smith, J. W. Brimblecom, C. A. Lake, and J. W. Caswell of Lynn, Mass., were elected directors, Wm. B. Littlefield president, J. W. Brimblecom vice president, Thomas E. Smith treasurer, H. A. Tarlton of Portsmouth secretary, and J. W. Caswell clerk for directors, for the ensuing year.

On Friday there was issued from the internal revenue office in this city to N. H. Asseline, a French Canadian of Manchester, a license to deal in leaf tobacco at retail in New Hampshire—the first license of the kind ever issued in this state and probably the first in New England, there being but ten licensed retail dealers in leaf tobacco in the United States. The tax on such a license is $500 a year, the heaviest special tax levied by the government; and in addition the dealer has to pay in fifty per cent on his gross sales. Where the deuce his profit comes in we can't see.

The fish receipts on Friday, the 2d inst., were only about one thousand pounds, heavy weather preventing the fishing vessels from getting out.

Mr. George Burbank and wife will soon leave this city for a visit to Lexington, Ky., Chicago and New Orleans. It is also rumored that Hon. Daniel Marcy and family intend to make a visit to New Orleans, to spend the remainder of the winter.

The heirs of Samuel Newhall of Saugus, Mass., who was killed on the Eastern railroad on April 28th, 1882, have compromised their case against the road upon payment of $395.

The Washington correspondents inform us that the New Hampshire delegation in Congress have recommended Mr. O. C. Moore of Nashua, editor of the Telegraph, for a place upon the Board of Commissioners of Civil Service, and that Secretary Chandler presented the recommendation at a cabinet meeting on the 29th ult. We had some idea that hereafter congressmen were not to interfere in these matters of appointments. Some of the congressmen hold that they can recommend—nay, ask for—the appointment of commissioners, but not for other positions. If the president construes the law as it reads, and appoints Mr. Moore, it will probably be by reason of his alleged fitness for the position, and to oblige Mr. Chandler, who desires the appointment made, and not to gratify any of the congressional delegation who may wish to remove a possible candidate for United States senator from the field!

RIDER & CUNNINGHAM.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we have naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1878, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1878) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued to use it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. N. S. MOODY,
No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878.

How the People Are Humbugged

By Co-Operative and Mutual Aid Societies.

The Insurance Department Reports of several States furnish interesting data for judging of the Real Economy, Insurance Reliability, and Business Prudence of placing money with these concerns, and the impression thus formed is

CHEAP LIFE INSURANCE.

Having duly considered the "lesson" afforded by the following statement, taken from these Official State Reports, let the reader consider the DEFINITE Insurance Contract offered by THE Mutual Life Insurance Co.

OF NEW YORK,

under which no "Assessments" are possible, and the benefit to be received definitely decided at time of policy issue, with such an amount of the unexpired premium as each year's experience shall develop.

Forty-three organizations, known as "Co-operative Companies," "Mutual Aid or Relief Associations," "Benefit Societies," &c., report to the State Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, &c., the following

OF THE

Assessments Collected.

Maximum Value of Certificates for policies, upon which policies were paid in 1880	$4,355,525.00
These "Certificates" purported to be worth as claims	$3,131,387.38
But the collections for assessments were	$594,807.94
Difference between collection and disbursement, illustrating Co-operative Cost (?)	$2,823.58
	$511,384.36

ANOTHER WAY OF PUTTING IT.

These unfortunates hold Certificates representing a supposed value to their beneficiaries of $2,365,525.

The real value proves to have been about 21¼ per cent, or $511,384.36, by waiving their claim of $2,823.58 of the amount collected ($594,807.94) and this is called Cheap Insurance.

QUERY.

Who ever heard of any respectable Life Insurance Company setting $2,365,525 of insurance, honestly contracted for, at a discount like the above and at such a cost?

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

FRIDAY, Feb. 2d.

Lizzie Murphy, alias Philbrook, was before the court for drunkenness. As she was said to have been drunk way through for several weeks, she was sent to the county farm for sixty days, to give her a chance to get sober; she will also have to work out $6.90 costs.

MISS MATHES' LECTURE.

The lecture given in the North Parish chapel on the evening of the 1st inst. by Miss Fannie Mathes, on the colonies of Great Britain, was well attended, and well enjoyed, the lecture being quite interesting in itself, and pleasingly delivered. It was given in aid of the public library, and the treasurer of that institution, E. P. Kimball, Esq., acknowledges the receipt of $32.25, the proceeds of the entertainment.

THE UTILITY OF THE NAVY YARD.

Apropos to closing the navy yard, its excellent locality so near to the Atlantic, with its deep water, in which a dredging machine never was and never will be required, and its facilities for receiving by way of the Grand Trunk, Ogdensburg and other railroad lines, grain for shipment, it is stated that a thorough examination of the yard by officials of the Grand Trunk railway was recently made. The shops were visited, the wharves examined, and the water frontages estimated by the party. The visitors gave no sign of their purpose, but it is supposed that the object of the inspection was to make some estimate of the value of the spot and of the improvements, in case the iron-ship builders of the United States should succeed in their efforts to have the navy yards closed and ultimately disposed of by sale. That the yard is the very best point on the Atlantic coast for shipment for foreign ports in deep vessels, which could come alongside the extensive wharf room of the yard at any time of tide, and be laden to any extent without fear of touching bottom, and could be at sea in twenty minutes after leaving the wharf, no practical person can doubt. If we could exchange the idle and unproductive condition of a navy yard for the line and healthful operations of commerce, it would be a fortunate move.

MR. CHRISTIE'S PORTRAIT.

The portrait by Tenney of the late Daniel M. Christie of Dover, which was placed on exhibition in Montgomery's music and art store, beneath the CHRONICLE office, on the 2d inst., presents a striking and pleasing likeness of this wonderfully able lawyer. Mr. Christie's best expression appears, as if he had just uttered a good saying, or had perhaps convinced some less informed jurist of his own impregnable position on some legal point, or was perchance enjoying the conversation of his friends and family.

This great lawyer had remarkable facial expression, and his likeness in photographs always appeared strong in outline and marked in characteristics. His two especial phases of expression, more notable, perhaps, than any others, were: one, when he was announcing a legal proposition or arguing a question of fact in the trial of a cause when his earnestness would be especially marked, and his look be of the most decided stamp; the other would be seen when he had let up from the strain of intense professional struggle and his features shew the repose of enjoyment of a triumph, or of social intercourse.

One of the best instances of the latter condition was seen after the close of the trial of the celebrated case of the Portsmouth & Concord railroad against Jones, in this city, nearly twenty-five years ago. Mr. Christie rose to the importance of the case. He argued it in the presence of a large number of persons who were friends of the road or interested in the question at issue, which was to settle, perhaps, the liability of the subscribers to the stock in the enterprise between Portsmouth and Concord. Many succeeding actions on the docket would be determined by the result in that case.

After the argument, Mr. Christie received many congratulations upon the success of his effort. Among those who on that occasion expressed their appreciation of the strength and power displayed by the great lawyer in his summing up, was the late Samuel Plumer Dow of Epping. "Squire," said Mr. Dow, full of enthusiasm, "You have made the greatest argument you ever made in your life." Mr. Christie, who was not to be chary of a compliment, unless it came from a proper source, was apparently pleased to receive the commendation of "Plumer," a man of sincere integrity, whom Mr. Christie liked, and confidentially bending his head replied in an under tone, "I rather think that I exceeded myself a little in that argument."

The artist seems to have painted Mr. Christie's portrait with the happy expression which his intimate friends delight to recall; and as Tenney never saw his subject, and had to rely upon photographs and the directions of the daughters of the deceased for such details as are important to a faithful portraiture, we think it remarkable that such a most excellent likeness of this leading lawyer of his time has been thus secured.

CANDLEMAS DAY.

Friday, Feb. 2d, was Candlemas day, and for a winter day was bright and fair. The old proverb says:

If Candlemas day be clear and bright,
Winter will take another flight;
If Candlemas day be filled with clouds and rain,
Winter is gone, not to come again.

Another old saying is: "Candlemas day—half your corn and half your hay," intimating that the season for housing cattle was half gone.

Mr. John McCullough, the tragedian, will not play in this city at present, having cancelled his date at Music hall.

Rev Benjamin Dickson died very suddenly at Wolfeboro' on Wednesday, January 31st, at the age of about seventy-five years. Soon after retiring he was taken ill, and expired before medical aid could be procured. Several years ago he was settled over the Christian church at Rye.

The Salem Cadet orchestra, Jean Missud leader, has been engaged to play for the cavalry ball, which will take place on Thursday evening, February 22d, instead of on the evening of the 21st as at first decided upon. The change was made because the orchestra could not be secured on the last named date.

The New Hampshire grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, held its annual session in Manchester on the 1st inst. Alonzo T. Pinkham of Dover was elected grand chancellor, and Selden F. Wells of Newcastle one of the guards. The next session will be held in this city in February, 1883.

Of Miss Carrie Swain as "Mab, the miner's daughter," the Fitchburg Tribune says: "She entered into the part of Mab with the whole heart, and won the admiration of the audience before being on the stage five minutes. The play was at times quite thrilling, and Miss Carrie sustained her part most admirably, and was deservedly called before the curtain three times. Her singing and dancing won the most generous applause, and she makes as fine a boy as will be seen on any stage. With all her fun and the somersault thrown in, she retains the respect of her an audience from beginning to end; not a word is heard or action seen that the most refined could not witness. The support was good in every respect, and the whole company deserves the success which its receives."

Miss Belle Fernald, who was so badly hurt on Thursday last by falling through the Portsmouth & Dover railroad bridge, was on Friday afternoon reported to be in such a condition as to give her friends good hope of her ultimate recovery.

The flag was displayed at half-mast on the pole at Liberty bridge, Thursday last, as a mark of respect to the memory of the late William A. Vaughan, whose funeral took place that day. Mr. Vaughan was one of the early subscribers to the fund for the pole, having contributed in 1824. At the funeral, seven of his sons were the pall-bearers, and walked beside the hearse.

The benefit ball to Mr. John H. W. Smith, the veteran bill-poster, given in Freeman's ball last Thursday evening, was well attended. Music was furnished by Turner's quadrille band, and a good order of dances was gone through with. Tables handsomely laid with refreshments were liberally patronized, and but few of the dancers left before the morning hours. The affair was a success, and well enjoyed by the participants.

A leak in the service pipe of the Gas Co. leading from the main on Middle street to the residence of Mr. Geo. Tompson, together with a bad freeze in the pipe, has compelled Superintendent Martin to dig through the frozen ground with much difficulty to remedy the trouble. The frost is quite deep in the ground this winter.

The schooner Mary Willey went to the Shoals again on Friday, to finish discharging her second cargo of ice.

Dearborn & Co., of this city, have recently received orders to make seven hundred and ninety-two cauldrons for the Magee Furnace company of Chelsea, Mass.

It is contemplated to extend the town wharf at Newcastle some thirty feet into the river, which will give ample accommodations during the summer season for steamers and pleasure boats to land. Parties from New York who have recently purchased property in that town are interested in the matter.

Ten sailing vessels and seven steamers arrived at this port in January, exclusive of fishing vessels plying out of this port. Nine of these vessels brought 5047 tons of coal, against 15,125 tons which arrived in December; and there were two cargoes of fish, and three general cargoes, brought in.

The names of ninety-four persons were registered at the police station in January, forty of them being lodgers and twenty-nine drunks. The amount of fines and costs collected during the month was $168.83.

WHEAT BITTERS

THE BEST AND The Richest BLOOD, BRAIN and NERVE -F-O-O-D-

CAREFULLY PREPARED, THOROUGHLY TESTED, ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE.

The Phosphates of the Wheat are in most valuable food property, and are, when properly prepared, the most acceptable nutriment with which to build up the system.

The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to avoid sickness it is wise to HAVE THEM WELL FED.

Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates, while the starch and impurities are eliminated. These make in themselves a basis, to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is at once healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not be confounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as curealls. Medicine is doubly effective when used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.

Sold by druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

A Common-sense Remedy.

SALICYLICA.

No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.

Immediate Relief Warranted.

Permanent Cure Guaranteed

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

SECRET!

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. At the best Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.

Thousands of testimonials sent on application.

$1 a Box. 6 Boxes for $5.

Testimonials.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1879.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you. Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 200 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of disease, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either case of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, or W. H. PARKER, M. D., 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass.

That superb lady's illustrated magazine, "The Season," for February, has been received. As this magazine is confined wholly to subjects belonging to female attire and toilette, it should be taken by every lady who wishes to be informed as to the newest and most taslylike styles. Every number contains numerous patterns and plates, with minute and comprehensive descriptions, besides a large colored plate of some of the most fashionable costumes. For sale by all booksellers and news agents at thirty cents per number; or $3.50 per annum.

A despatch of Thursday, Feb. 1st, from St. John's, Newfoundland, says: "A dory containing two men, which got astray from the schooner Grace L. Fears of Gloucester, anchored sixty miles west of Burgeo last Thursday, was picked up on Monday at Little River. One of the men, named Thomas Walsh, was dead, and the other, Albert Blackmore, was badly frozen. The dory filled several times, but Blackmore bailed her out, and kept her head to the wind by means of a drag. They had had no food all the time, and their sufferings were intense. The poor fishermen at Little River are doing all in their power for the survivor."

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receieves Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll is a rough-hewn specimen of a man, right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, a ripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Beuf's Castle, must have presented a admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to sta t a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em. It's my opinion I should never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calculate on—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette !

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the old home by the sea, it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

PLAIN TRUTHS

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body, and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible. If disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known, and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it, and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth, cause headache, or constipation, and is positively not injurious.

Saved his Child.

17 N. Eutaw St., Baltimore, Md. Feb. 12, 1881.

Gents:—Upon the recommendation of a friend I tried Brown's IRON BITTERS as a tonic and restorative for my daughter, whom I was thoroughly convinced was wasting away with Consumption. Having lost three daughters by the terrible disease, under the care of eminent physicians, I was loth to believe that anything could arrest the progress of the disease, but, to my great surprise, before my daughter had taken one bottle of Brown's IRON BITTERS, she began to mend and now is quite restored to former health. A fifth daughter began to show signs of Consumption, and when the physician was consulted he quickly said "Tonics were required;" and when informed that the elder sister was taking Brown's IRON BITTERS, responded "that is a good tonic, take it."

ADORAM PHELPS.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS effectually cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such wasting diseases as Consumption, Kidney Complaints, etc.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier,

SULPHUR BITTERS.

Why suffer with Boils? Why are you troubled with Blotches? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain, with Rheumatism? What makes you tremble so? Your nerves are unstrung, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which your excesses have caused. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink, to be taken by the glass, like other preparations which stimulate only TO DESTROY. It is composed of the choicest Roots, Herbs and Barks, combined with the Extract of SULPHUR in such proportions as to make a NATURAL GREAT NERVINE.

SULPHUR Bitters

The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it, and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Mrs. Martha Ordway, nineteen years old, wife of Willard Ordway, was shot dead in Loudon on the 2d inst. by her stepson, a boy fourteen years old, who deliberately fired a charge of shot through her head in the kitchen.

Common Sense.

Very few people in this world possess what is known as practical common sense, yet those who do claim a moiety of that necessary acquirement say that it is foolish to assert that there is no known cure for rheumatism, when the great medicine, Salicylica, is guaranteed to give immediate and permanent relief. A test of its efficacy is the fact that it has been established for five years, and is an assured success.

An unusually extensive lumber business is being done this winter in the vicinity of Concord.

Quick Work.

The heart of a human being fills and empties itself about 75 times a minute. To increase or retard this operation is too often prima facia evidence of some disorder, and, generally speaking, disease. A panic, caused by a false alarm of fire, took place in a wool factory at Bombay, India, Feb. 1st, and twenty-three women were trampled to death in endeavoring to escape. Twenty-eight others were badly hurt. The alarm was caused by a cloud of dust, which was mistaken for smoke.

Scrofula. A medicine that destroys the germs of scrofula and has the power to root it out is appreciated by the afflicted. The Bangor Commercial learns that two brothers and a brother-in-law in the northern part of Penobscot county, Me., who are, respectively, lawyer, justice of the peace and constable, have been detected in doing a flourishing trade in the rum traffic. Twenty Years a Sufferer.

R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—Twenty years ago I was shipwrecked on the Atlantic Ocean, and the cold and exposure caused a large abscess to form on each leg, which kept continually discharging. After spending hundreds of dollars, with no benefit, I tried your "Golden Medical Discovery" and now, in less than three months after taking the first bottle, I am thankful to say I am completely cured, and for the first time in ten years can put my left heel to the ground. I am yours, William Ryder, 87 Jefferson St., Buffalo, N. Y. a

A GOOD ODD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.,—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a household medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

His Hair Breadth Escapes from Seen and Unseen Foes.

Troy Kansas Chief, Jan. 18, 1883.

Most of our older citizens well remember Mose Kite (who lived in Petersburg Bottom), the hero of our state's early political history, who was of stalwart build and powerful physique; who in 1858 led a colony of our people to Pike's Peak; who fought the Indians on the plains and was shot through the body; who on his return here after the rebellion was converted and baptized by Elder Henshall, of the Christian church at Petersburg Bottom, and became a revival preacher of celebrity all through this section. They will also recall the fact that, attacked with consumption and reduced to a skeleton, he was obliged to remove to the Rockies in the hope of saving his life. None thought he would succeed. Last fall, however, the editor of this paper met him at the head of the Republican river, bigger and more robust than ever. "Why, I thought you had died of consumption long, long ago, Elder?"

"Me? I never had consumption, man! though people thought that was what ailed me, and I thought so myself. But the doctors had sent me on a wild goose chase after a dozen other diseases just as fatal, and this was the wildest one of all."

The good Elder then recounted to us, in a charming vein, his many adventures in the rough and ready life he had led. "but" he said, "remarkable as you may think my warlike life has been, I have a much more interesting story to tell you."

"You know what a rough, noisy fellow I used to be; and I could stand any hardship. Why, on a wager, I have knocked down an ox and a mule with my fist. I have fought ruffians, border outlaws and Indians; but I was

by a more dangerous unseen enemy that was ever getting me more completely in his clutches. I was shot by an Indian in a fight on the plains, but that wound healed readily and gave me but little trouble. After I returned to Kansas and commenced preaching, I first began to give way. I had a dull feeling, accompanied with a pain in the right side. Dr. Butler, our family physician, said my liver was out of order, caused by the malaria of the bottoms. I had always had an appetite like an ostrich, but my digestion became seriously impaired. While on the circuit preaching, I consulted a doctor, who said I had dyspepsia. After that, distressing palpitation of the heart followed, and the physician said this was caused by my indigestion and diseased liver which would probably terminate fatally. Sometimes I had a ravenous appetite, at others none at all. I was feverish and then chilly. My food seemed to do me no good. A specialist told me I had a tape worm! Then I was troubled with unusual quantities of water and a frequent desire to urinate, which was done with difficulty and great pain. The specialist said I had a touch of the gravel, caused by use of the alkaline water of the plains. I then began to suffer severe pains in the loins and the small of the back, accompanied with sudden attacks of dizziness, during which I had to sit or lie down, to avoid falling. I was forced to abandon because I could no longer ride on horseback, or trust myself out alone. I began to be seriously alarmed, and sought the advice of the most noted physician within reach. He said that my frequent horseback riding had jolted and jarred me until the old Indian wound, which had injured my kidneys, had become inflamed. He treated me with medicines and electricity also, but gave me no permanent benefit. My painful symptoms all returned. I began to cough, got very thin and my legs were disagreeably numb. I began to despair. At each attempt to cure, my ailments became worse, with new symptoms. I next consulted a celebrated physician from the east, who, after thumping and examining me, stated that I was in an advanced stage of consumption and threatened with diabetes and paralysis! He thought I might possibly prolong my life for a year or two, by seeking a higher and drier climate. This was my condition when the people in your part of the country last saw me.

Then I started for the Rockies but liked this country, and settled here. At first the change helped me, but about three years ago the benefit ceased. Then I failed so rapidly that I could lie out of bed only part of each day. All my old symptoms returned. At this crisis, a party of eastern gentlemen, made my house their headquarters. In the party was a Dr. Wakefield, who informed me that I had a bad case of incurable Bright's disease, and gave me a preparation which might, he said, ease me for a few weeks or months, but that was the best that could be done. Around the bottle was a newspaper. Now a newspaper was a rarity in our home, and I sat in my chair looking it over when my eye providentially fell upon an article relating a most wonderful cure of Bright's disease—the very malady that was killing me—by the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, (of Rochester, N. Y.) Convinced that further delay would be fatal, and everything else failing, the next morning I dispatched one of my boys to the nearest railroad station, many miles distant, to obtain a bottle of the Safe Cure. The druggist said the demand for the Cure was so great he could not keep it in stock, and he had to send to Kansas City for more. It was more than a week before it arrived, and I was daily getting weaker. But it came at last, and I at once began to take it. When I told Dr. Wakefield what I was taking, he gave me a look, half of scorn, half of pity, as much as to say, .

ON A BUFFALO HUNT,

'POOR FELLOW!

he is putting his trust in a humbug' Nevertheless I persevered, and for the past year and a half I have been as stout and rugged as I ever was in my life. After escaping the attacks of Indians and half a dozen desperadoes, I was lying at the mercy of a still more dreadful foe that was about giving me the finishing blow, when that great remedy stepped in, slew my adversary, and placed me firmly on my feet once more. I have commenced preaching again; for I look upon the circumstances and manner of my cure as a direct interposition of Providence, and to Providence are my services due. That is my story. I think it is as good as a romance—and much better, for it is true."

Such is the substance, and very nearly the language of Elder Kite's narrative. Those who read it, and are suffering, may benefit by his experience, if they will follow his example.

"She Wore A Wreath of Roses."

She had the jumping tooth-ache
The night when first we met;
Her face was marked with anguish,
Her eyes with tears were wet,

I told her Perry Davis's
Pain Killer was the thing
To cure the jumping tooth-ache,
And take away its sting.

Next evening, when I saw her,
I asked her, "Did you get
That bottle of Pain Killer?"
Said she: "All right—you bet!"

It is said that the senators have less inclination than the representatives to adopt the plans for iron ships which Ex-Secretary Robeson favors, but will oppose the project without fear and without rep-roach.

The proposition to pay the government officials in silver will, if carried out, entail much inconvenience. The prospect of seeing officers of the navy and other employes of the government going about with large bags in which to tote their silver seems singular, but such appears to be the present intention of Congress. Some one has a silver mine to sell.

Adam's Fall.

Ever since Adam's fall, which subjected human nature to diseases of the flesh, there has been a demand for a blood purifier. We all realize the fact that upon the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and vigor of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only a sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause; hence a reliable blood purifier is of greater importance to the people than is generally supposed. We are pleased to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla bears unmistakable proof of being this sort of a medicine, and we think it worthy a trial.

The Newburyport Herald reports that three distinct shocks of earthquake were felt in that city and vicinity on Friday morning last, at 4:45 o'clock, five and 5:15.

T. De Witt Talmage says in his third sermon on "Night Side of City Life," that every day in christendom $80,000,000 change hands through gambling, but he does not mention the important fact that thousands upon thousands of people die annually from coughs and colds that might be saved to earth by the timely use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

A LADY BANK-OFFICER.

At the annual meeting of the Union Five Cents Savings bank in Exeter, last week, Miss Sarah C. Clark was elected secretary and treasurer, succeeding Frank P. Cram, resigned.

Miss Clark is a niece of Hon. Daniel Clark of Manchester. She is thoroughly capable of filling the office, having for a long time served as book-keeper and teller of the bank, and is familiar with the various duties of the position to which she has been called. This is an illustration of the capacity of women for a field of usefulness perhaps never before occupied by one of the sex in this state.

AROUND HOME.

Six thousand lbs. of fresh fish was sent from this city to Boston on Saturday.

Store No. 5 Daniel street, which has long been vacant, is being fitted up for an eating house to be conducted by colored persons.

A representative democrat from ward four boasts that not a drop of ardent spirits is sold within the precincts of said ward, and challenges any other ward in the state to show a like satisfactory condition of things.

The schooner Etta M. Barter has left Wilmington, N. C., for this port, with a cargo of hard pine timber and lumber. The timber, about 150,000 feet, is for the schooner now in course of construction by Mr. Wm. F. Fernald; planks and boards to the amount of 40,000 feet are for Mr. John H. Broughton.

Mercer Goodrich has taken possession of the book and stationery store lately occupied by Mr. Willis G. Myers, and will continue the business there in connection with his Market street store. The stores have been connected by telephone with the central office, and every arrangement made for the conducting of the increased business in a thorough manner, satisfactory to himself and his patrons.

Mr. William Swallow, an engraver and printer recently from England, is visiting Mr. Wm. Ward in this city.

AN IMPRUDENT GIRL.

A few evenings since a well known farmer living about two miles out of town started to drive into the city to attend a meeting. While passing through a back road that is uninhabited and somewhat unfrequented, the motions of his horse warned him that there was something ahead that was not all right. He stopped his team and discovered a horse and sleigh about three or four rods distant, and just then a young girl came running toward him, imploring his protection and begging him to take her into town. She said the man with whom she was in company had taken advantage of the lonely spot in which they were found, and had grossly insulted her. "What is the man's name?" inquired the farmer. "I don't know," said the girl; "I never saw him before." "Why did you go to ride with an utter stranger?" queried the farmer. "Well, he asked me to get in and take a short ride around town, and the first thing I knew he was driving me out Middle road," was the answer. "Well," said the farmer, "you deserve to be insulted for venturing to get into a team with one whom you did not know. Get into my sleigh, and I will carry you home—although I don't know why you should get into my sleigh either, as you don't know me any better than you did the other man." The girl gladly availed herself of the farmer's hospitality, scrambled into the sleigh, and was soon at her home, or at the house where she lived as a domestic. Of course, while the above conversation was going on the scoundrel who attempted to ruin the girl took advantage of the moment and drove off at a rapid rate into town. It was fortunate for the young woman that relief arrived when it did, as no outcry could have been heard indoors at the nearest house. The experience will doubtless make her cautious about again accepting an invitation to ride from a stranger. Other thoughtless, giddy girls will also do well to heed the lesson that the incident teaches.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Sy up for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. codjan9,84

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that Hoop's SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Hood's SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,

SATURDAY, Feb. 3d.

Hannah Griffin or Griffy (she prefers the latter pronunciation of her name) was up for drunkenness, and was fined $3, costs being taxed at $6.90. She might as well have been assessed $690,000, so far as her ability to pay was concerned, so she will sojourn at Brentwood for a time.

THE SHOW TO-NIGHT.

This evening, at Music hall, "Mab, the miner's daughter" will be performed by Carrie Swain and her dramatic company. The piece was performed in Portland on a recent evening, and the Argus next day said:

It is a play full of exciting scenes and circumstances, and Miss Swain has a part which gives her full opportunity to sing, dance, etc. She has a splendid voice, and her lullaby was heartily encored. It is just such a play as suits the popular taste, and is enacted by a very excellent company.

FREIGHT ENGAGEMENTS.

Among the freight engagements reported last week was a schooner from Woods Hole to this port with muriate of potash, at $1.75 per ton. Coastwise freights are dull, though there is a scarcity of tonnage, as many vessels are hauled up for the winter.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. John H. W. Smith extends sincere thanks to all his friends who aided in making his benefit ball, which was held on the 1st inst., a success.

THE SNOW STORM.

The heaviest snow storm of the season set in early Saturday morning, and the snow fell until Sunday morning, sometimes fast and sometimes slow, with rain and hail at intervals for variety, about a foot in depth being the total deposit. The storm was felt quite severely to the eastward, and railroad trains in that direction were more or less impeded all day Saturday, and Saturday night. The Saturday morning train from Portland to this city was nearly half an hour behind time; the night freight trains were late; and the Sunday morning Pullman train was three hours late. The railroad hands say they have seldom experienced harder wheeling than they found on Saturday night and Sunday forenoon. The trains between Boston and this city were delayed but little, except through waiting for eastern trains.

The train from Concord due in this city at 6:20 o'clock Saturday evening, did not arrive until about ten o'clock at night; it was nearly on time in arriving at Newmarket junction, but was delayed by ice on the rails, and drifted snow, between that point and this city. The up train from this city, by aid of the engine of the down train, which returned to its assistance, was enabled to get through toward Sunday morning.

An engine with snow-plough ahead, which was sent out from this city on Sunday morning over the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, was five hours in getting through.

The Boston Globe, which comes via the Eastern railroad, arrived in this city on Sunday nearly on time; but the Herald did not get here until one o'clock P. M., (due at 8:50 A. M., over the Boston & Maine road,) owing to the blockade on the Boston & Maine, and the bad travelling on the highway between Newmarket junction and this city.

The revenue cutter Albert Gallatin, and ten fishing schooners, anchored in the lower harbor on Saturday. During Saturday night the bellowing of the "Jersey bull" at Kitt's rock was almost incessant, the regular music of the foghorn at Whalesback frequently joining in; the latter would "let up" once in a while for a short time, when there would be a clearing of the atmosphere, but there was no let up at all to the warning moans of the bull.

ANOTHER ONE SPEAKS.

KITTERY, ME., Feb. 1st.

Editor of the Chronicle—Sir: "An Honest Reformer," in your issue of the 27th ult., though a little severe on the Portsmouth navy yard, gave some wholesome advice to the naval secretary.

There is doubtless room for retrenchment—not by cutting off the gas, which is necessary for the lighting and protection of the yard, nor the coal, which is needed for heating other buildings as well as the quarters.—but by reducing the officers to the actual number required. Instead of eighteen or twenty officers, a commanding officer, a lieutenant, a constructor, a paymaster and an engineer, are all that are necessary for the yard. Close up all departments for which there are insufficient appropriations, but let the money voted for construction and engineering be used here.

"Honest Reformer" is a little inconsistent in his charges and reforms. He cuts and slashes at the officers as well as the commandant. He speaks of hostlers and "gardeners," when in reality there is but one gardener, who does nothing for the yard or its officers; though he does not estimate a commodore's pay (like the Army Journal) at $13,000 a year, he would cut off his gardener at $675, his hostler and coachman at as much more; but spares him his coxswain and barge's crew, steward and messenger, forage for cattle, even his carriage and pair, and the Germantown wagon, which used to be good enough for all purposes.

Cut off the "Emerald" if you please, and give a chance to the two struggling steamers; dead-head such officers and clerks as have not vehicles of their own, and let the rest use boats or "shank's mare," like other men.

Do not cut off the necessary comforts of the commandant and other officers, but reduce the red tape and the number of officials. "Live and let live," now be the motto for "Honest Reformer," and for us all.

Close up the barracks if necessary, and the hospital, if "Humphry's specifics" will answer as well,—but keep open the yard for the employment of the mechanics and laborers who pay the taxes to support the yard, by earning their daily bread.

JUSTICE.

[Note. Our correspondent we presume does not intend even by implication to suggest that the commandant at the navy yard at Kittery receives anything like $13,000 yearly. His pay proper is $4,000, and there is now complaint by the officers of his class, that certain staff officers who entered the service at a much later date, now receive an equal pay.

As to the horses we think "Justice" may possibly be mistaken. When we recall the fact that the Secretary of the Navy spent a week at the station last summer, and became thoroughly conversant with all the powers and capacities of the yard, and informed of what was being done with public labor for private purposes, in ways which a committee of the next Congress will easily learn, we rather incline to the belief that this winking at a violation of laws in the case of the department purchasing and maintaining a pair of horses for private driving, was inconsistent with the secretary's declared intention to retrench the expenditures of his department; but yet we may be in error.—Ed.]

TWO KINDS OF INDIANS.

Editor Chronicle: In Miss Mathes' lecture delivered on Thursday evening of last week, she spoke of the Canadian government having never had an Indian war. I have often heard this mentioned since residing in New England, as reflecting either on the United States government or its citizens, but this idea is erroneous.

The Indians on the two sides of the line are entirely different kinds of animals. Those south of the line are powerful and numerous, forming nations composed of many tribes, as the Dakota nation, consisting of the Sioux, Iowa, Kiowas, Otoes, Saux, Foxes, Omahas, etc., all speaking the Dakota tongue or language; or the Ojibwa nation, speaking the Ojibwa tongue, composed of the Chippewa and many other tribes which it is not necessary to mention. These tribes of one nation are ever ready to band themselves together to war upon other Indian nations or tribes, as well as upon the whites.

North of the great lakes, the Indians are made up in small bands, each with an individual tongue or language, and never—or "nearly never"—fighting among themselves or encroaching upon their neighbors; they are a cowardly, timid people, no more to be compared with the Indian on our frontier than a rabbit is to a panther.

I have passed months roaming over the country north of lake Superior without seeing a white face, feeling as safe among the British American Indians as if I had been with a lot of children; but when living in the Sioux territory of our northwest, I was as shy of a Chippewa as I would have been of a hyena. Therefore I can affirm that it is not necessarily the fault of the government or the setler on the frontier that makes the difference, and justice demands that the difference be known, and our American citizen be not held responsible for crimes of which he is innocent.

REVILO.

The Woman's Temperance League of this city are making arrangements to celebrate their anniversary by an entertainment, to be given at Golden Cross hall, on Daniel street, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 13th.

About five tons of butter arrived at Conn's butter, cheese and country produce depot, No. 68 State street, on Saturday. This butter is all of prime quality, of course, as Mr. Conn deals in no other kind of goods.

A private dancing party was held in the hall in Badger's block, Daniel street, last Friday evening.

A dog belonging to a Mr. Gilligan cut his throat last Sunday morning by jumping through the snow crust.

Willie Barry, who was reported a few days ago as being confined in jail at Augusta, Me., on a charge of burglary, and was credited with being a member of the gang of young thieves who have at last come to grief through robbing a store in Richmond, Me., arrived home in this city on Friday last. He says he has been working for an ice company at Portland, hasn't been in jail at Augusta or elsewhere, and is not a member of any gang of thieves.

On Saturday last, at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Rev. E. M. O'Callaghan, the pastor, united in marriage Mr. Cornelius Sullivan and Miss Mary E. Morrison, daughter of Mr. Patrick Morrison, sexton of the church. The groomsman was Mr. James Morrison, brother of the bride, and the bridesmaid was Miss Annie Carroll. After the ceremony a solemn nuptial mass was sung. Mr. Sullivan is employed in the Portsmouth shoe factory, and is a member of the church choir.

We learn that the big boilers on the Kearsarge mills lot have been sold to parties in Providence, Rhode Island.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, liniments, linaments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.
$1 a Box. 6 Boxes for $5.
Sent free by mail on receipt of money.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be levisted and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Fifth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, in whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 $2; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond a comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Recieves Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed product of his toil. Accustomed to accident and to fortune, he was right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, a ripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bœuf's Castle, must have presented a admirable picture. One day, however, he let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to sta t a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side. I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a mean sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I should never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you can calculate on—I shall never wrassle with another log unless I have the Capcine at hand on the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is cut in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents.

PLAIN TRUTHS

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body, and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible. If disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known, and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS will that oughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it, and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth, cause headache or constipation, and is positively not injurious.

Saved his Child.

17 N. Eutaw St., Baltimore, Md. Feb. 12, 1880.

Gents:—Upon the recommendation of a friend I tried Brown's IRON BITTERS as a tonic and restorative for my daughter, whom I was thoroughly convinced was wasting away with Consumption. Having lost three daughters by the terrible disease, under the care of eminent physicians, I was loth to believe that anything could arrest the progress of the disease, but, to my great surprise, before my daughter had taken one bottle of Brown's IRON BITTERS, she began to mend and now is quite restored to former health. A fifth daughter began to show signs of Consumption, and when the physician was consulted he quickly said "Tonics were required", and when informed that the elder sister was taking Brown's IRON BITTERS, responded "that is a good tonic; take it."

ADORAM PHELPS.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS effectually cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such wasting diseases as Consumption, Kidney Complaints, etc.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier,

SULPHUR BITTERS.

Why some will say and teach that certain diseases are incurable. Why some will say that such a thing as a cure is impossible. Why such persons will persist in administering poisonous mercurials and potash, which destroy the patient's nerves and ruin his digestion, when a few bottles of SULPHUR BITTERS would cure him, are questions which we do not care to answer. Suffice it to say, that SULPHUR BITTERS is compounded on a new principle, which combines the Extracts of Sulphur in such proportions as to make it SATISFACTORY, GREAT NATURAL REMEDY.

On time—The "Pathfinder Railway Guide" for February, with its usual carefully revised schedules of official time tables of the New England railways.

Expressions of gratitude on the part of the public are always impressive and solemn. It is pleasant to know that the people are justly praising the merits of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, a safe remedy for coughs, colds, bronchitis, croup and sore throat.

Mrs. Charles Blackwell of Northampton, Mass., fell dead while hurrying for a horse car, on the 1st inst.

Mr. Angelo Williams, asst. treasurer of Haverly's 14th st., theatre, New York City, spilled a quantity of carbolic acid over himself. He freely used St. Jacobs Oil, and was cured in less than one week.

Leominster, Mass., is excited over the disappearance of J. C. Hoyt, an ice dealer, who leaves a wife and three children; also many creditors.

Public benefactors are not alone confined to the higher orders of scientific research. Indeed but few have done more for the welfare of the working masses than James Pyle through the introduction of his labor-saving Pearline.

A safe in A. W. Wright's lumber yard office at North Adams, Mass., was blown up Thursday night, Feb. 1st, but the robbers secured only $8. There is usually $300 in it.

Thousands of women bless the day on which Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" was made known to them. In all those derangements causing backache, dragging-down sensations, nervous and general debility, it is a sovereign remedy. Its soothing and healing properties render it of the utmost value to ladies suffering from "internal fever," congestion, inflammation, or ulceration. By druggists.

The central district court in Worcester, Mass., last week fined the Boston, Barre & Gardner railroad in Worcester $100 for obstruction a street while making up trains.

Absolutely the best Plaster ever made. The Hop Plaster is composed of fresh hops, balsams and gums. Weak back, side ache, sore chest, and all pains are speedily cured by its use. Apply one. Only 25 cts., at any drug store.

It began snowing in Rawlins, Washington territory, on Monday of last week, in the afternoon, and it snowed incessantly until late on the following Thursday night, accompanied by high winds. Railroad traffic is at a standstill. The storm was general throughout southern Wyoming, and fears are seriously entertained for stock and especially for sheep.

"Horse-car conductors," says a spiteful writer, "should always be chosen with a view to personal courage, because 'None but the brave deserve the fare.'" It is pre-eminently true that "None but meritorious preparations deserve success." Everybody knows the nature and effects of catarrh. It is one of the most loathsome maladies, and has been pronounced incurable. Ely's Cream Balm may be described as a gigantic tidal wave which has submerged that theory. This Balm is a pleasant, popular, perfect preparation, and a certain cure for catarrh. It is not a liquid or snuff, and is easily applied. "I had catarrh for fifteen years," said C. Z. Warren, Rutland, Vt., "with distressing pains over my eyes, gradually the disease worked down upon my lungs. Ely's Cream Balm cured me." All who use it speak in the same grateful strain.

The hearing in the case of the Dexter (Me.) savings bank against the Barron estate is still in progress in Dexter. The auditors are Judge S. F. Humphrey and John S. Ricker, Esq., both of Bangor, who are very familiar with banking affairs. The amount of claims made by the bank against the Barron estate on account of alleged defalcation is about $5,000. From the plaintiffs' standpoint Mr. Barron was a defaulter and suicide, but the defence claim that while he had loose ways of keeping his books he did not owe the bank anything, and that his memory has been wrongfully assailed.

Keep to your place and your place will keep you." But you cannot expect to keep your place without health, the foundation of all success. For instance, a railroad engineer in the employ of the C. M. & St. Paul R. R. had been grievously affected with diabetes for six years. He took four boxes of Kidney-Wort and now writes that he is entirely cured and working regularly.

The Hall extradition case, which has been before the Canadian courts for nearly a year, terminated Feb. 3d with his departure for Newark, N. J., in custody of American detectives.

A letter from the schooner Thomas Sweet of Stonington, Conn., reports her arrival at Cape Horn, where she found upon the rocks Mr. Smith and a boat's crew of eight men belonging to the wrecked schooner Surprise, of New Bedford, destitute of provisions. She took them off and carried them to the mission at Terra Del Fuego. She also reports the loss of the schooner Golden West of Sandy Point.

A GOOD OLD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a household medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

Adam's Fall.

Ever since Adam's fall, which subjected human nature to diseases of the flesh, there has been a demand for a blood purifier. We all realize the fact that upon the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and vigor of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only a sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause; hence a reliable blood purifier is of greater importance to the people than is generally supposed. We are pleased to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla bears unmistakable proof of being this sort of a medicine, and we think it worthy a trial.

At the inquest on the body of Mrs. Mary E. Ordway, shot through the head at her home in Loudon last week by her stepson, Charles Ordway, a boy twelve years old, the gun with which the deed was committed was produced; the barrel is bursted for about a foot from the nipple, showing that it was heavily charged. Mr. Ordway testified that the boy and his stepmother got on well together, and the boy himself said the same. Mr. Taylor Haines, father of Mrs. Ordway, said his daughter had told him on Monday, Jan. 29th, that Charley had threatened to shoot her, and he (Mr. Haines) had advised her to come home to live, which she declined to do.

Proposed Navy Reorganization.

In the senate, last week, Mr. Rollins of New Hampshire submitted a proposition looking to a large reduction in the active list of the navy, by means of an amendment to the naval appropriation bill. His proposition was referred to the appropriations committee, before whom this bill is still pending; its text is as follows:

"That the president shall appoint a board of three rear-admirals on the active or retired list, and one officer from the engineer, medical and pay corps, respectively, of high rank on the active or retired list, who shall, before the 1st day of October, 1883, thoroughly scrutinize the active list of the navy, and shall select therefrom six rear-admirals, 19 commodores, 46 captains, 80 commanders 70 lieutenant-commanders, 240 lieutenants, 70 masters, 70 ensigns, 10 medical directors, 10 medical inspectors, 45 surgeons, 85 assistant and passed assistant surgeons, eight pay directors, eight pay inspectors, 35 paymasters, 15 passed assistant paymasters, five chief engineers, with the relative rank of captain, 10 chief engineers with the relative rank of commander, 40 chief engineers with the relative rank of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant, 55 passed assistant engineers, and 35 assistant engineers with the relative rank for each as now fixed by law, to be retained on the active list of the navy to discharge the current duties of the service under the law and regulations governing it. And all others, now on said list, shall be considered supernumerary, and shall be placed on a separate list, not entitled to promotion and with leave of absence, but subject to be ordered to service with the proper pay of their grade only in time of war; and they shall retire on reaching the retiring age of their grade, or at any time before reaching that age on their own application. And the officers so retained shall be entitled to their promotion after proper service and examination, as vacancies may occur, without regard to the officers remaining on the supernumerary list."

Senator Sawyer of Wisconsin also gave notice that he would offer as an amendment to the naval appropriation bill a proviso that officers of the navy on the retired list, who, on account of wounds or accidents received or diseases contracted in the line of duty require the constant and indispensable attendance of a third person, shall receive an allowance therefor of $35 per month, but shall not be entitled to any other pension.

Hon. Leopold Morse of Massachusetts favors selling the Boston navy yard. He would sell the yard for $10,000,000, and so invest the money as to get $400,000 per year from it; then another $400,000 per year would be saved on the running expenses of the yard, making $800,000 a year, which would build a first-class steel cruiser. In this way he would add a new vessel to the navy every year.

Destructive Floods.

The mild weather and heavy rains which prevailed last week in the Allegheny and Ohio river regions, caused heavy rises in the rivers, and disastrous floods. The ice in the smaller streams was broken up, and entering the larger rivers aided in making "gorges" and overflows.

Between Oil City and Pittsburg, Pa., bridges and buildings to the value of several hundred thousand dollars were swept away. At Pittsburg all the retail coal dealers' barges, and twenty rafts of lumber, valued at $100,000, were swept away.

At Cleveland, Ohio, 23,000,000 feet of lumber and 15,000,000 shingles were washed away, and houses, stores and industrial establishments flooded, the total loss being estimated at $1,000,000. Bridges were carried away and mills damaged all around—at Delaware, Mt. Vernon, Strasburg, Akron, etc. At Columbus the river was higher than ever before known.

At Bradford, Pa., five bridges were carried away, and many streets were submerged. Similar reports come from scores of places in Pennsylvania and Ohio, and many in Indiana. Many hundreds of persons were driven from their homes on the banks of the streams, and many lives are reported lost.

Naval Affairs.

The United States steamer Hartford arrived at Valparaiso on December 26th, thirteen days from Sandy point, straits of Magellan.

Assistant Engineer John A. Tobin has reported for duty on board the Powhatan.

Pay Director A. H. Gilman fell on the ice in the Boston navy yard, Feb. 3d, and sustained a fracture of the right leg.

Rear Admiral Nicholson, commanding the European station, reports to the navy department, from Genoa, that the Lancaster would leave for Villefranche about January 18th, after the arrival of the midshipmen and marines from the Juniata at Gibraltar. The Quinnebaug arrived at Genoa from Villefranche on December 27th.

Naval Constructor George R. Bousb, of the Portsmouth navy yard, has been ordered to temporary duty at the Boston yard.

News and Notes.

There was an immense fire in Cleveland, Ohio, on the night of Feb. 2d, when 50,000 barrels of petroleum belonging to the Standard Oil Co. were destroyed, with tanks, refineries and warehouses. The fire was not got under control until late in the day on the 3d, and the loss was nearly $400,000.

A boy in his 14th year, with a girlish face and lisp, was found straying about the streets of Providence, R. I., recently at one o'clock in the morning, and taken to a police station, where a search revealed on his person a big pistol, a gimlet, a pair of scissors, a tallow candle, a Police Gazette, and some novels with such titles as "The Wharf Rat's Revenge" and "Cannoneer Ben; or, the Pirate's Last Shot." His intention was to commit a few ordinary robberies at home, and then start out for greater achievements in the far west.

Policeman Cronan of Burlington, Vt., can't tell a hydrant cover from a stove lid, and therefore is likely to suffer. He arrested Rufus Brown, a peaceable resident of Colchester, while Brown was proceeding from Burlington with a huge stove lid, claiming that it was a hydrant cover, and that Brown had stolen it. Brown protested his innocence, but Cronan took him to the lo-kup, where he was imprisoned three whole days.

Susan Lefferts, aged seventy-two, was burned to death in New York city on the 3d inst. While lighting the stove her clothes caught fire, and before she had time to throw herself upon the floor she was ablaze. She was literally roasted alive. Her husband is over eighty years old, and too feeble to aid his wife.

On Saturday morning, Feb. 3d, an unknown man was found lying on the track of the Pennsylvania railroad at Newark, N. J., burned in a horrible manner about the head and body. A bottle containing a little benzine was found in one of his pockets, and he acknowledged having poured the benzine over himself and fired it with the intention of ending his life. He was sent to the city hospital in an ambulance, but he died in five minutes after reaching there.

The boot and shoe lasters' strike that has prevailed in Montreal for two months, necessitating the idleness of 8000 or 9000 operatives, has hopelessly collapsed, through the union and firmness of the employers, who were determined not to be coerced into running their factories at the dictation of the labor union.

The steamer Old Colony ran ashore on Hart's island, Long Island sound, in a fog on the 4th inst., and remained at ten o'clock on the 5th.

There was a sharp shock of earthquake at Wolfeboro on Sunday last, soon followed by a slighter one. Dishes, windows and furniture rattled. The first shock passed from west to east, and lasted fully five seconds.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,
No. 75 Broadway.

OF NEW YORK,

under which no "Assessments" are possible, and the benefit to be received definitely decided at time of application, with such an annual return of the unexpended premium as each year's experience shall develop.

Forty-three organizations, known as "Co-operative Companies," "Mutual Aid or Relief Associations," "Benefit Societies," &c., report to the State Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, &c., the following

OUTRAGEOUS MISUSE

— OF THE —

Assessments Collected.

Maximum Value of Certificates (or policies) upon which policies were paid in 1881.....	$2,395,525.00
These "Certificates" proved to be worth as claims.....	$511,356.28
But the collections for the same claims were.....	$594,397.94
Difference between collection and disbursement, illustrating Economy in Cost (?).....	$82,923.58
	$511,356.36

ANOTHER WAY OF PUTTING IT.

These unfortunates hold Certificates representing a supposed value to their beneficiaries of $2,395,525.

The real value proves to have been about 21½ per cent. or $511,356.36, they waiving their claim of $82,923.58 of the amount collected ($594,397.94) and this is called Cheap Insurance.

QUERY.

Who ever heard of any respectable Life Insurance Company settling $2,395,525 of insurance, honestly contracted for, at a discount like the above and at such a cost?

CORPORATION MEETING.

The annual meeting of the corporation of the Piscataqua Savings bank was held on Monday, Feb. 5th, when the following-named gentlemen were chosen trustees: Edward P. Kimball, William L. Dwight, John H. Broughton, J. W. F. Hobbs, Ephraim C. Spinney, Emmons B. Philbrick, J. Albert Walker, John H. Hutchinson, Alfred F. Howard, Robt. C. Peirce, and Henry A. Yeaton.

The trustees subsequently met and elected E. P. Kimball president, and R. C. Peirce treasurer.

THE BAD INDIANS.

Mr. Editor: "Revilo" in the CHRONICLE of the 5th inst. drew a comparison between the Indians in Canada and those in the United States, in favor of the former,—that the reason of no Indian wars in Canada was owing to these being better behaved Indians, and not to the system of dealing with them by the government. Did "Revilo" forget that many of these well-behaved Indians went from the tribes in our land to the Canada side, for the very reason that they would be better treated? x.

RELIGIOUS NEWS.

Yesterday was the first day of the forty days' lenten fast before Easter.—Times, Feb. 5th.

MISS JEFFREYS LEWIS,

Who is to appear at Music hall on the evening of Feb. 10th, in the great Wallack theatre success "La Belle Russe," is an actress strongly endorsed as being well worthy of the high reputation accorded her as one of the best exponents of emotional acting on the American stage. Although this is her first visit to Portsmouth the fame of her achievements elsewhere should serve to secure her a large audience. The supporting company includes Mr. J. Newton Gotthold, an actor who takes rank among the best leading men of the day, and every member of the cast seems to have satisfied the press of the large cities throughout the United States and Canada where "La Belle Russe" has been presented.

The play itself bears the reputation of being something out of the usual order, and obtains the interest of the audience at the start, to hold it till the final fall of the curtain. The engagement in Portsmouth is but for one night, and the company opens at the Globe theatre in Boston on the following Monday.

The city teams were at work on Vaughan street, Monday, carting off the snow and levelling the high ridges beside the sidewalks, so as to make the street fit for travel.

In Dover, on Saturday last, Joseph Tuttle of Lee was brought before the police court on a charge of cruelly beating a steer; he pleaded guilty, and was fined $5, the costs amounting to $14.33. The complaint was made by the state agent of the anti-cruelty society.

The school board of Manchester has had twenty-four applications for the vacant position of master of the Franklin street grammar school. Among these was one from R. H. Perkins of Portsmouth. The sub-committee were given power to fill the vacancy of the mastership, subject to the approval of the board.

The receipts of internal revenue in this district for the month of January, 1883, were $20,976.52, against $18,284.27 for the corresponding month in 1882.

Mr. Martin Hoyt, for many years the popular proprietor of the hair-dressing rooms over Freeman's oyster house, but who was last summer gallivanting back and forth across the Atlantic in steamships, and inspecting the elephant as exhibited in the big cities on both sides of the pond named, is back in his old quarters, as assistant to Mr. Edgar D. Wood.

At the regular monthly meeting of the public school teachers of the city in the common council room, Monday evening, Col. William H. Hackett read a paper giving a very interesting synoptical history of the schools and the school systems of Portsmouth from the date of the earliest records.

A daughter of Mr. Warren Keen, while turning his team near Plaisted's grocery and flour store on Market street, Monday, was thrown out by the overturning of the sleigh, but held on the reins and was dragged a few feet through the snow, till the horse was stopped by Mr. John H. Parks, teamster for A. A. Fernald. No damage was done.

The fishing arrivals on the 3d inst. were the schooners Emma S. Osier with 1500 lbs.; the Grace Choate with 800 lbs.; St. Peters, 1600 lbs.; Flying Cloud, 1400 lbs.; Addie & Hattie, 1100 lbs.; Bonita, 900 lbs.; Nettie Adams, 500 lbs.; Mary E. Smith, 500 lbs.

Mr. William G. Snow starts for Minneapolis, Minn., to-day.

During the sociable in Newington town hall on the evening of the 2d inst., two overcoats were stolen, one belonging to Thomas B. Hoyt and the other to F. W. de Rochemont, Jr., the latter's garment being a new one. Their hats also were stolen.

Mr. Warren Keen is at work on the schooner Emily A. Staples, now occupying winter quarters inside of the Noble's island bridge, putting her in condition for commencing the spring work.

The York stage came in on Monday with four horses attached, the going being bad.

A gentleman who arrived in this city by the Pullman train Saturday night, bound to York, and stopped here over night on account of the storm, on Sunday morning started for his destination on foot; he was just six hours making the ten miles he had to go.

The Maine legislative committee on congressional apportionment have agreed that the first district shall continue to be made up as at present, of York and Cumberland counties.

Among the petitions presented in the Maine legislature are the following: Of Augustus Stevenson and fifty-two other persons of Kittery, Eliot and York, for a charter for a steam ferry across the Piscataqua river between Kittery and Portsmouth; of Bartholomew Wentworth and others, of Eliot, for a tax on dogs; of the selectmen of Kittery, for reimbursement to the town of the state tax of 1880; remonstrance of Timothy B. Hussey and seventy-five others, of North Berwick, against the restoration of the death penalty.

The schooner Gold Hunter, of Cape Neddick, which went on Long rock at the mouth of Cape Neddick harbor last fall, and was considerably damaged before coming off, will be put in thorough repair in season for the opening of the coasting season next spring.

The new screw for the Omaha is now on the way from Norfolk to this navy yard in the U. S. S. Tallapoosa; it is composed of bronze and gun metal, weighs 15,000 lbs., and cost $2300.

Mr. S. S. Brackett of Greenland, N. H., has set up his portable steam sawmill in York, not far from Mt. Agamenticus, and large quantities of logs are being hauled to it for cutting into lumber.

More firewood has been hauled to Cape Neddick harbor this winter than ever before in the same length of time; it is estimated that over 2000 cords are now piled there in readiness for shipment on the opening of spring navigation.

Work has been commenced on the steamboat pier at Concordville, York beach, by Messrs. Morgan & Davis, the contractors, who will push matters as fast as practicable. At present a number of men are engaged in drilling holes in the rocks below high water mark, for setting the iron pillars of the pier—a slow job, of course, as they are only able to work a small part of the time each tide.

It was stated on Monday, the 5th inst., that over $60,000 has been pledged to aid in the construction of the York Harbor & Beach railroad; if this amount of stock is promptly subscribed for, the prompt building of the road is assured, as its promoters are sanguine will be done.

Mr. Samuel Dixon of South Eliot has arrived home from Minneapolis, Minnesota, where he has spent a portion of the winter; he reports the weather as very severe, but business booming nevertheless. Messrs. Charles and Pascal Langton, of Kittery, who recently went west, have purchased land in Minneapolis and will erect a tenement block thereon.

In response to an order of the Maine legislature the state treasurer has furnished a list of the cities and towns which paid for the year 1880 the state tax on a valuation in excess of that fixed by the report of the valuation commissioner to the legislature of 1881. It appears that 247 towns are concerned, which have claims amounting to nearly $45,000 for alleged over-taxation. The York county list is as follows: Alfred, $25.74; Buxton $783.49; Eliot, $332.64; Hollis, $115.50; Kennebunk, $817.67; Kennebunkport, $155.83; Kittery, $392.55; Lebanon, $447.86; Limington, $512.14; Limerick, $327.14; Newfield, $154.43; Parsonsfield, $310.59; Shapleigh, $10.82; Wells, $347.76; York, $247.40; total, $4901.56.

An entertainment will be given in Trefethen's hall, Kittery, on Friday evening, Feb. 9th, under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal society, by Prof. J. Everett Lord, the noted elocutionist and reader of Providence, R. I. Mr. Lord's high reputation as a reader is deserved; he is good in the rendering of selections of any kind, and when it comes to comic sketches is unrivalled.

The Biddeford Times says: "Moses Harriman, of this city, the union candidate for sheriff in the last state election, has left for Baltimore, where he is to have charge of a large netting factory, just being established in that city." This is the famous "Mose" Harriman of Kennebunk, whose principal claim to immortality will rest on the fact that he was the pal of "Hon. Thomas B. Swan of Minot," afterward known as the "corn-sheller swindler," in the bribery charges brought against several republican members of the Maine legislature at the time of the abortive Garcelon infamy.

Mr. Lewis Holmes has just finished building a fine row boat, and is ready to build another one per order.

A Common-sense Remedy.

SALICYLICA.

No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.

Immediate Relief Warranted.

Permanent Cure Guaranteed.

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

SECRET!

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from inflection in early life may be a lasted and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should read the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Sixth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jeweled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt, price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Advertiser.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or Self-Preservation, which the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Now

Many people think they have a diseased heart when the disturbance for Heart-trouble, or palpitation, is due to disorder of the stomach and bowels, or a rheumatic condition of the heart. The renowned Dr. Cheesbrough, startingly says "two-thirds of my patients show signs of heart disease." The heart tends about its work quietly, and yet which is the principal process of blood purification, circulating in a minute and a half, resting not day or night! Surely this subject should have careful attention.

Dr. Graves a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles, called the Heart Regulator, it is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained at your druggists, $1. per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express. Send stamp for Dr. Graves' treatise on Heart Disease and testimonials. (1)

A difficult piece of literary work lay before the person who would make use of all the rich material collected in the papers and letters of Ole Bull; so to use these that they would form a connected memoir, and give a true idea of his singular personality, was no light task. It has been, however, so far accomplished as to present to the reader a most interesting record of one of the marked men of the century. He was a favorite everywhere, not only for the pleasure conferred by his music, but for his warm heart, his generous nature and his ardent patriotism. Ole Bull and Norway were one. He made her interesting to crowds of people wherever he went, whether in Europe or America, many of whom had hardly heard of her except as a far-away little nationality of no great political importance; and throughout the literary and artistic world he created earnest expectation of further development of her hidden stores of art and literature. Their expectation was not in vain, for to-day in every land Norway music is loved, and Norway authors are honored and admired.

In this respect Ole Bull was a pioneer, and we think would have enjoyed being recognized as such far more than any tribute paid to him for his personal gifts as an artist. H. M. K.

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had passed down the Lackawanna sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, s ripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Beuf's Castle, must have presented a formidable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to get a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I'd could never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm about as good as new. But there's one thing you kin talk here on—I shan't have much write another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is cut in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Scabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

PLAIN TRUTHS

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body, and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible. If disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known, and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

Brown's Iron Bitters will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it, and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth, cause headache or constipation, and is positively not injurious.

Saved his Child.

77 N. Eutaw St., Baltimore, Md. February, 1880.

Gents:—Upon the recommendation of a friend I tried Brown's Iron Bitters as a tonic and restorative for my daughter, whom I was thoroughly convinced was wasting away with Consumption. Having lost three daughters by the terrible disease, under the care of eminent physicians, I was loth to believe that anything could arrest the progress of the disease, but, to my great surprise, before my daughter had taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, she began to mend and now is quite restored to former health. A little daughter began to show signs of Consumption, and when the physician was consulted he quickly said, "Tonics were required;" and when informed that the older sister was taking Brown's Iron Bitters, responded "that's a good tonic, take it."

ADORAM PHELPS.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS effectually cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Weakness, and renders the greatest relief and benefit to persons suffering from such wasting diseases as Consumption, Kidney Complaints, etc.

"She Wore A Wreath of Roses."

She had the jumping tooth-ache
The night when first we met;
Her face was marked with anguish,
Her eyes with tears were wet.

I told her Perry Davis's
Pain Killer was the thing
To cure the jumping tooth-ache,
And take away its sting.

Next evening, when I saw her,
I asked her, "Did you get
That bottle of Pain Killer?"
Said she: "All right—you bet!"

Adam's Fall.

Ever since Adam's fall, which subjected human nature to diseases of the flesh, there has been a demand for a blood purifier. We all realize the fact that upon the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and vigor of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only a sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause; hence a reliable blood purifier is of greater importance to the people than is generally supposed. We are pleased to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla bears unmistakable proof of being this sort of a medicine, and we think it worthy a trial.

Rev. Nathaniel Barker, the retired pastor of the Congregational church at Wakefield, is in his 88th year, but takes an active part in evening religious meetings.

T. De Witt Talmage says in his third sermon on "Night Side of City Life," that every day in christendom $80,000,000 change hands through gambling, but he does not mention the important fact that thousands upon thousands of people die annually from coughs and colds that might be saved to earth by the timely use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

Col. Andrew H. Young of Dover is at Washington, looking after certain matters before the treasury department.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Food for Young and Old.

Food and medicine for young and old, prepared without fermentation, from Canadian barley malt, hops, quinine, bark, etc. Malt Bitters are warranted more nourishing, strengthening, vitalizing and purifying, by reason of their richness in bone and muscle producing material than all other forms of malt or medicine, while free from the objections urged against malt liquors.

The Tragedy at Loudon.

Charles Ordway of Loudon has been held to await the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder. Examination of the room where Mrs. Ordway was killed shows that the charge from the gun entered the door at the bottom, showing that the breech of the gun must have been held as high as the boy's shoulder when it was discharged. He claims that he dropped a bullet or leaden slug into the gun; nothing of the kind can be found, and the officers do not believe his story. He has made various contradictory statements, and the neighbors say he has frequently threatened to kill his stepmother, abd has been known to point a gun at her before. He is very cool and collected, and apparently does not realize the terrible position in which he is placed. He still stoutly maintains that the killing was an accident, but his reputation for truth-telling is not good. It came out on the inquest that Ordway did not enter the room where his wife's dead body was lying until twenty minutes after he arrived home, and that he seemed little concerned over the affair. Mrs. Ordway had been married to him but a few months, and it is alleged that he did not wish to marry her, but was compelled to by her threat to resort to legal proceedings.

AROUND HOME.

The operatives,—or a part of them,—who left one of the weaving rooms in the York mills at Biddeford on Jan. 29th, because the company had discharged their favorite overseer, had a meeting on Friday evening, the 2d inst., to endeavor to organize a general strike of the mill hands, most of whom, however, caring nothing for the private grievance of the overseer, declined to make martyrs of themselves on his account. The corporation, having kept the room closed for a week while it was being painted and some repairs made, opened it for work on Monday morning, the 5th, and about two-thirds of the operatives went in.

Mrs. Edward Blaisted, of the Agamenticus district, York, one night last week got up to give medicine to a sick child, and hearing a noise in the room of her son, a youth eighteen years old who has frequently walked in his sleep, she opened the door of his room to see that all was right, and was instantly knocked down by a blow from a flatiron thrown at her, which struck her in the face, smashing the bridge of her nose and giving her a pair of the blackest eyes. The young man was entirely unconscious of what he was doing, and on being aroused hastened after a doctor.

Gen. Chamberlain will deliver his celebrated lecture, "The surrender of Lee," in the Methodist Episcopal church at South Eliot on Friday evening, Feb. 9th, under the management of Piscataqua Commandery, United Order of the Golden Cross, of that town. Should Friday evening be stormy, the lecture will be postponed to Tuesday evening, Feb. 13th.

At the brokers' board in Boston, on the 6th inst., about a hundred shares of Eastern railroad stock sold at $48 per share the price dropping to $45.25 on the second call; Maine Central stock brought $89, and Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway $30.25, per share.

Willie Hoyt, the Newburyport boy who had one leg cut nearly off and the other one badly broken while trying to steal a ride on an Eastern railroad freight train some weeks ago, had his remaining leg (one was amputated immediately after the accident) cut off on the 5th inst.

Conductor Wyatt, of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, is off duty for a fortnight's vacation. Conductor Byron is running Wyatt's trains.

The York Harbor & Beach Railroad Co. was organized at Portland on the 5th inst. by the following-named persons: E. S. Marshal, Frederick E. Potter, J. E. Staples, J. C. Stewart, H. E. Evans, J. P. Simpson and S. W. Junkins, all residents of York excepting Dr. Potter, who is a citizen of Portsmouth. S. W. Junkins was chosen clerk of the corporation. A meeting of the stockholders will shortly be called, and a full board of officers elected.

"The Tribune Almanac and Political Register for 1883" is a valuable publication, which those who are accustomed to its convenient presence at their desk cannot do without. Its information on political affairs is impartially prepared, making it a reliable book of reference for subjects political, legal, mercantile and financial. There are several new features in the number for '83. The price of the almanac is twenty-five cents. Published by the Tribune Association, New York, and sold by leading book-sellers and news-dealers. A prominent New York lawyer writes to the Tribune that the statistical work is without spot or blemish; that but three errors are to be found—one a transposition of votes of two counties, not affecting a general result; a second in calling Judge Sharpstein's given name "James" instead of "John;" and an incorrect middle letter in the name of a district judge in Illinois. These are well denominated pinhead inaccuracies, when the enormous labor of collecting and collating so large a body of political statistics is borne in mind.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eod&jan30,84

A Startling New Medical Discovery.

A physician of high repute advises each of his patients to buy every month a ticket (or a fractional par of one) in the Grand Monthly Distribution of The Louisiana State Lottery. He has noted, after an unusually large and varied experience, that the hope of winning one of the princely fortunes that are held out as inducements to investors does wonders in a sanitary and mental clearness superior to any alleviation produced by drugs. He says the Five Dollars sent to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., before the second Tuesday of each month acts as a charm in many cases.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that Hood's SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Hood's SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,
No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878.

AN ANCIENT SMELL.

Among the curiosities unearthed by Col. Hackett, in his search among the old records for material for his lecture delivered to the teachers on Monday evening last, was a complaint of the school committee fifty years ago or more, that the odors from the South millpond interfered with the usefulness of the Lancasterian school then kept in the basement of the Universalist meeting house. "So you see," said the colonel, "that nuisance is no new thing."

SUPREME COURT--DOE J.

[FOURTH WEEK.]

The court came in on Tuesday morning to dispose of the cases remaining on the docket. Several cases were heard upon motions.

At 3:15 o'clock P. M. the final adjournment occurred. In the absence of Sheriff Kent, this duty was essayed to be performed by Deputy Hoyt, the "previous proclamation" having been made by Clerk Conner. This honored functionary deaconed off the adjournment proclamation to the crier, but stopped at the last sentence, when Hoyt started off with a finale, "So help me God!" The chief justice, who never is a stickler for mere form, accepted the situation, and thus ended the January term.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT.

The Norfolk Jubilee Singers, composed of colored students from Norfolk and Richmond, Va., will give a sacred concert in Music hall on Sunday evening, Feb. 11th. The company is said to be an excellent one, and a fine programme will be introduced. The Bangor Commercial speaking of a recent concert in that city, says: "The programme comprised a large number of religious songs, rendered by the colored people, and they were sung in that characteristic manner that is so novel and entertaining to northern residents. The basso has an excellent, deep voice, and his odd manners created considerable mirth. The audience were greatly delighted with the selections and the singing, and most of the pieces were encored. The audience, at the close, went to their homes delighted with the charming melodies, and hoping at a not distant day to be able to hear them again."

MATRIMONIAL.

An auspicious wedding took place in this city on the 6th inst., when Miss May Gay Goodrich, youngest daughter of Hon. Moses H. Goodrich, was united to Mr. Willard I. Lewis, a woollen manufacturer of Walpole, Mass., at Mr. Goodrich's residence on Vaughan street, the officiating clergyman being Rev. I. W. Beard, pastor of the Episcopal church at Dover. The ceremony took place at six o'clock P. M., in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, the bride wearing a beautiful dress of white surah and tulle, with white veil and flowers. A brilliant and largely attended reception followed, from seven o'clock to nine, Messrs. Harry Childs of Walpole, Mass., William Senter of Portland, Me., and Edwin Rundlett, formerly of this city, acting as ushers. The wedding gifts were almost endless in number, and of rare beauty. The youthful couple bade adieu to their friends in time to take the Pullman train for the eastward.

Of the performers and performance advertised for next Saturday evening at Music hall, the St. Louis Spectator says: "Miss Jeffreys-Lewis and her company are admirable. The performance of 'La Belle Russe' is good throughout. All the parts are well taken and well acted, and no more interesting play has been produced here this season." Tickets at Goodrich's Congress block bookstore.

Gardner T. Locke, Esq., of Rye, returned home on Tuesday evening last from a trip to North Carolina.

Mr. Thomas J. Donovan is agent and clerk in this city for the South Shore line of steamers.

We learn that Mr. Herbert Welsh, son of the late United States minister to England, will shortly visit this city, and give an address on the history of the Sioux Indians. This will afford a rare opportunity for all our residents to hear an able an eloquent statement of this subject.

Two big schooners have arrived at this port this week, the Charles E. Mitchell on Monday, with 956 tons of coal, and the James Ford on Tuesday, with 973 tons, both from Newport News, Va., and consigned to J. Albert Walker.

Richard Smith, a seaman on board the schooner James Ford, which arrived at this port on the 6th inst. with a cargo of coal, when off Fire island fell from the main crosstrees to the deck, a distance of some sixty feet, and died in about two hours from the injuries received. He was about twenty-one years old, and belonged in Liverpool, England. He was buried at sea.

The boys belonging to the high school assembled in considerable numbers on the Gas Co.'s wharf after the session on Tuesday to witness a regular stand-up fight between two of their number, a la Sullivan and Mace. Each of the pugilists got a bloody nose.

Alderman A. K. W. Green and wife celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding day on Tuesday, the 6th inst. A large number of friends joined in wishing them continued happiness, and many valuable tokens of good will were received.

On Saturday evening of last week, while some of the crew of the schooner Albert Woodbury were "coasting" on Water street, they collided with a team at the junction of Water and Pleasant streets. Mr. Frank Cook had his hat knocked off by the horse, and received some severe flesh wounds; and the sled and party were capsized and more or less injured and demoralized. The driver of the sleigh did not stop to see if any damage had been done.

The little steamer Three Brothers, which attempted to tow to Boston astern of the Acushnet last week, but had to give it up on account of the heavy sea, will steam to Boston on the first favorable opportunity. After receiving a new engine—not a new boiler, as has been before stated—she will make regular trips during the summer season from the Willows at Salem to Lowell island and Beverly, Mass., on week days, and Sunday trips among the islands. Mr. Colcord Upton is part owner, master and agent.

Work was commenced at the navy yard on Tuesday, at shifting the ships Constitution and Marion into each other's berths. The battery and masts of the Marion are to be taken out.

The National Mechanics & Traders' bank was on Tuesday examined by C. B. Dearborn, Esq., national bank examiner for New Hampshire; this examination is made on account of the expiration of the bank's charter Feb. 24th, application having been made for a new charter under the act of July 1882.

For valentines of the most beautiful patterns and in large variety, call at Montgomery's music and art store.

Mr. John O'Brien, "cash or trade," who has been been reported as dead, was on the street Tuesday, and flatly denied the truth of the report. He has been very sick with erysipelas, but he is very tough.

Callahan and Meloon, who were taken from this city to Richmond, Me., last week, have been committed to jail to await trial on a charge of burglary, in default of $1000 bail each.

The steamer Mystic will receive her new boiler this week.

Mr. Editor: In answer to "X's" article of the 6th inst.: I did not say the Canadian Indian was better, or behaved better, than those on this side of the line, but that they were less brave, and had not the power to do as much damage, as one dog cannot do as much harm in a flock of sheep as a pack can. I am not aware that many of those northern Indians went from this side of the line, because of better treatment. I am aware that several small bands have emigrated, much as Mr. Kenyon, president of the Pacific bank of Boston, emigrated, (he went because he would "be better treated" there,) but all have surrendered and returned, preferring to be prisoners in the States than at liberty in the Dominion.

REVILO.

Mr. Fred E. Sargent, of Hampton, who narrowly escaped drowning in Hampton river a few days ago, gives the following account of the affair: In sculling a small boat across the creek he fell overboard, having on at the time heavy fishermen's clothing and boots; the wind was blowing strong from the southwest at the time, and sent the boat rapidly away from him, but though so heavily encumbered he finally managed to reach it by swimming. He was in a very exhausted state on catching the boat, but managed to cling to it for twenty minutes, when he was rescued by Mr. Chas. C. Perkins; the river at this point is very wide, having two channels, and but for the timely aid of Mr. Perkins he would have soon perished. Mr. Sargent was formerly a resident of this city.

A Maltese cat which was sent to a resident of this city for a Christmas present, was by him sent to a friend, and by the latter to another, and is still "moverin' along," having as yet failed to find a permanent abiding place. The animal is complained of as being altogether too quiet and restful in disposition.

Thirty barrels of frozen herring, for bait, arrived here from Eastport, Me., on the 5th inst., by rail.

The fishing arrivals on the 6th inst. were the schooner E. A. Williams with 1000 lbs.; the Christie Campbell with 900 lbs.; Morrill Boy, 1500 lbs.; Flying Cloud, 3200 lbs.; Ella M. Johnson, 600 pounds.

The schooner Christie Campbell has hauled off from further fishing this winter. Four of her crew, namely, Isaac Pridham, John Cummings, Andrew Garland and Isaac Gillis, will fit out the schooner Rambler and finish the fishing season in her.

—The Niagara hackman who drove the suicide Hilson to Goat island was the most excited person over the sad event. He had lost his fare.

A COMMON-SENSE REMEDY.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.
$1 a Box. 6 Boxes for $5.
Sent free by mail on receipt of money.
ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.
But do not be deluded into taking imitations or substitutes, or something recommended as "just as good!" Insist on the genuine with the name of WASHBURNE & CO. on each box, which is guaranteed chemically pure under our signature, an indispensible requisite to insure success in the treatment. Take no other, or send to us.

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll's character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unblemished labor are graceful, our friend William, s ripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bœuf's Castle, must have presented a admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to sta t a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. It it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger! I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I'd could never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calk late on—I shall never wrestle with another log unless I have adhesive plaster of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette !

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by their owners for sale; news of neighborhoods and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

— THE —

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE

Contains more original matter than any other paper of its size in the State, the editors working more with their pens than with their scissors.

THE N. H. GAZETTE

Presents an excellent opportunity for a weekly invitation to customers, at a reasonable rate, and all those who desire to reach patrons in Rockingham and York counties will find it an economical medium. THE GAZETTE is in many instances the only paper taken by families, and it is read to a large extent in localities whence is derived much of the trade of Portsmouth, a fact which our merchants should not fail to bear in mind.

PLAIN TRUTHS

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of the body, and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible. If disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known, and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS will not roughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthening it, and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will not blacken the teeth, cause headache or constipation, and is positively not injurious.

Saved his Child.

17 N. Eutaw St., Baltimore, Md., Feb. 17, 1880.

Gents:—Upon the recommendation of a friend I tried Brown's Iron Bitters as a cure and restorative for my daughter, whom I was thoroughly convinced was wasting away with Consumption. Having lost three daughters by the terrible disease, under the care of eminent physicians, I was loth to believe that anything could arrest the progress of the disease, but, to my great surprise, before my daughter had taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, she began to mend and now is quite restored to former health. A full daughter began to show signs of Consumption, and when the physician was consulted he quickly said "Tonics wonderfully!" and when informed that the elder sister was taking Brown's Iron Bitters, responded "that's a good tonic, take it."

Twenty Years a Sufferer.

R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—Twenty years ago I was shipwrecked on the Atlantic Ocean, and the cold and exposure caused a large abscess to form on each leg, which kept continually discharging. After spending hundreds of dollars, with no benefit, I tried your "Golden Medical Discovery" and now, in less than three months after taking the first bottle, I am thankful to say I am completely cured, and for the first time in ten years can put my left heel to the ground. I am yours, William Ryder, 87 Jefferson St., Buffalo, N. Y. a Ronald Thomas, a New York banker, was recently sued by his washerwoman for $789, balance due. The mean creature tried to "bem" the poor woman, but the jury awarded her $873, the full amount claimed with interest.

Tuesday night, Feb. 6th, Fred Jones, son of Deacon A. M. Jones of Lewiston, Me., closed his father's store and was on his way home when he was assaulted by three roughs, who evidently thought he had money on his person. He was hit on the head with an ale bottle. Fortunately two men came up just then, and the fellows fled.

It is said that Oscar Holway of Augusta, Me., who does most of his business in Lewis on, sold $1,250,000 worth of flour and grain last year. His flour sales alone reached 72,000 barrels.

"Keep to your place and your place will keep you." But you cannot expect to keep your place without health, the foundation of all success. For instance, a railroad engineer in the employ of the C. M. & St. Paul R. R. had been grievously affected with diabetes for six years. He took four boxes of Kidney-Wort and now writes that he is entirely cured and working regularly.

The Boston Post says "They have had a hard time of it in Ohio for a year past. First it was whiskey, and now it is water that sets the state in an uproar."

Catarrh.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal and with such a variety of characteristics as catarrh, prove how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

Gen. Grant sees little difference between Beethoven and Offenbach, and detests grand opera. Once, when a lady asked him if he "cared for music," he replied that he cared a great deal for it; he couldn't bear it.

A GOOD ODD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.,—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a house hold medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

"She Wore A Wreath of Roses."

She had the jumping tooth-ache
The night when first we met;
Her face was marked with anguish,
Her eyes with tears were wet.

I told her Perry Davis's
Pain Killer was the thing
To cure the jumping tooth-ache,
And take away its sting.

Next evening, when I saw her,
I asked her, "Did you get
That bottle of Pain Killer?"
Said she: "All right—you bet!"

Miss Arianah H. Pulcifer, for many years a successful teacher at the New London institution and at the Worcester academy, died Feb. 3d at Lake Village, aged thirty-eight years.

Lieut. Gawn Wilkins died recently at Henniker. He was born in that town Jan. 16th, 1812. He served through the war, and has been postmaster for the past eight years.

Charles Ordway was on the 7th inst. held in $1000 to answer before the supreme court on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree, in killing his stepmother. The feeling in Loudon is said to be growing strong against Ordway sender.

Adam's Fall.

Ever since Adam's fall, which subjected human nature to diseases of the flesh, there has been a demand for a blood purifier. We all realize the fact that upon the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and vigor of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only a sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause; hence a reliable blood purifier is of greater importance to the people than is generally supposed. We are pleased to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla bears unmistakable proof of being this sort of a medicine, and we think it worthy a trial.

More Steamship Disasters.

An unknown steamer of about 1,500 tons burthen, with black funnel having a red band around it, foundered off Cape Cornwall, Eng., Feb 2d. It was impossible to render any assistance.

The steamship Tacoma has been wrecked on the California coast, with the loss of at least ten lives.

The British steamship Kenmure Castle, of 2000 tons, bound from London to Shanghai, foundered in the bay of Biscay on the 2d inst., going down so quickly that only one boat could be launched. Eight passengers and eight seamen were saved in this boat, being picked up in an exhausted condition by a French steamer. Over thirty of the crew were drowned.

A bottle was found on Bournemouth beach, Southampton county, England, on the 7th inst., containing a steamship's saloon ticket on which is written: "Our ship is in great distress; the masts are destroyed; immediate help is necessary. Steamer Nederland." The Nederland sailed from Antwerp Feb. 3d at five o'clock in the evening, for New York.

News and Notes.

During the month of January the revenue marine cruisers of the Treasury Department rendered assistance and afforded relief to twenty-nine distressed or shipwrecked vessels on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. In two instances the crews of distressed vessels were saved.

Advices from Bozeman, Montana territory, give particulars of the attempt of the respectable citizens of Weedsville to break up the reign of terror and outlawry which has prevailed at that place for some weeks. Less than ten days ago Billy the Kid was captured and shot and thrown into the river; but Sunday, Feb. 4th, was the worst day ever known at the terminus. On Sunday night four desperadoes, "Ohio Dan," "Bloody," "Ed Enright," and another man, were arrested. The first three were hanged without ceremony, and the fourth was shot. At the "Y," another camp two miles out of Weedsville, a similar scene was enacted on the same day, three men, whose names are unknown, being hanged on the same tree; and three more desperadoes were hanged at the terminus on Monday.

Col. John J. Coppinger, U. S. A., and Miss Alice Blaine, daughter of Hon. James G. Blaine, were married in Washington on the 6th inst., Rev. Father Chapelet officiating. The president, General Sherman, Secretaries Teller and Chandler, Chief Justice Waite and other notables were present.

A man named Cox was some time ago sentenced to a month's imprisonment at Rutland, Vt., for selling alcoholic beverages, but had the alternative of paying a fine instead at any time within twenty-four hours. He refused to pay for his liberty until he found that as a prisoner he must part with a beard that reached to his waist, and had been twenty-five years growing. The warden said it was then too late, and ordered the barber to do his duty. Cox was held fast and his face roughly shaved, without using any lather or first clipping off the whiskers with the scissors. He caught cold and nearly died, as a consequence of this treatment. He sued for damages, and two trials have resulted in verdicts of heavy amounts against the warden; but each time there was an informality, and a third jury will hear the case.

Advices from the Indian territory are to the effect that the Indians are greatly excited regarding the invasion of Oklahoma by Capt. Payne. Opinion is divided among the leaders as to whether the Indians ought not to assist the government in driving them out. Gen. Pope's troops are guarding the border.

Tuesday morning, Feb. 6th, the bodies of two little boys were taken out of the pond in the rear of F. B. Richards & Co.'s manufactory in North Attleboro, Mass. They went out upon the pond, and slipped into the channel under the ice. They were respectively eight and ten years old, one being a son and the other a brother of Mr. Blatchford, who lately moved to North Attleboro from Wrentham.

Mr. Samuel Harlan, jr., president of the Harlan & Hollingsworth company, ship-builders at Wilmington, Del., died in Virginia, recently, aged seventy-seven. He leaves an estate valued at upwards of $2,000,000. He was one of the patriotic men who thought it would be for the interest of the government to build their ships by contract on the Delaware, and the figures of his fortune show what it comes to to be a contractor.

The chief of the secret service in Washington has received from New York a photographic counterfeit $5 United States note, series of 1875, check letter "A." The note has a dark, blurred appearance. A counterfeit $5 note of the same series, and printed by the same process, but with the check letter "D," has been on the market for two years. This is the first counterfeit note with the check letter "A" yet discovered.

A YORK COUNTY MYSTERY.

Parsonsfield, Me., recently developed a mystery so wonderful as to be almost miraculous, and which for a time caused much excitement in the vicinity. Mr. Hodgdon, a well-off farmer over sixty years old, and in religious matters inclined to spiritualism, has living with him on the homestead farm a number of his grandchildren. The story of the wonderful things which happened to him is told by the Portland Argus as follows:

Like other men, Mr. Hodgdon is human, and the long drought that has prevailed through that section all winter, compelling him, day after day, to drive a large stock of cattle to the river, quite a distance from his barn, for necessary water, at last wore away his patience. So one evening in the presence of the household and one or two neighbors who had dropped in for a friendly chat, Mr. Hodgdon, after bitterly lamenting the lack of rain, suddenly cried, "I wish the Almighty would send rain on me every day as long as I live." Nobody took special notice of the imprecation, nor would it probably have occurred again to their minds, save for what happened the next day and the next and so on. Wherever the old man went the next day after the invoked curse, ever and anon, rain would fall upon his head. The sky was cloudless, but the rain found him. In the barn or in the house, or in the dooryard, it made no difference. The rain struck upon his coat collar, and sometimes drizzled to the ground or floor. This continued day after day, and the old man grows frightened, and the neighbors and those who had come from out the village to see the startling occurrence, can give no solution. At last he tells his wife that the Almighty must have granted his rash wish, and that rain will fall upon him till the day of his death. And now he wishes to die and leave a place where the rain falls upon him in the barn, the yard, at the table, in the sitting-room; in fact, everywhere on his premises. It is a strange affair, to say the least.

Since writing the above, news comes that the cause of the rain falling on Mr. Hodgdon's head has been discovered in the person of his young grandson, who, by means of one of those little rubber squirt guns, that is readily concealed about the clothing, sent a tiny stream of water over his grandpa's head, whenever he liked, with small chance of discovery.

It is added that the old gentleman reasoned with the boy in such manner as to convince him of the enormity of his conduct, and also that all the fun of the joke came in before he was found out.

THE SNOW-STORM.

The snow-storm of Tuesday night, the 6th inst., was more severely felt to the eastward than in this vicinity. The Pullman train from Bangor, Wednesday morning, was delayed two hours, and the 10:55 train from Portland and North Conway was late one hour. The forenoon train from Concord was thirty minutes late. The Dover train which left here at five o'clock in the morning got as far as the Cushing station, where it firmly stuck; the train men managed to get the engine through, which went to Dover and then returned to the train, and backed it down to this station, arriving here at 10:30 A. M. Another engine, with a baggage car attached, carrying a gang of shovellers, went out to clear the road, and returned at 2:30 P. M. The Maine Central failed to connect at Portland with the 8:45 A. M. train for this city over the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad, which caused the running of an extra train to transport the mails. The later trains of the day came in on time.

Milkmen and others who drove in from out of town early Wednesday morning, reported the travelling as very bad indeed, the crust of the snow being so hard and coarse as in many instances to draw blood from the horses' legs.

FIGHTING IN OUR HIGH SCHOOL.

Editor Chronicle: Your paper of the 7th inst. alludes to "a regular stand-up fight" between two young men of our high school at the close of the previous Tuesday's session. Can it be possible that this is the outcome of our high school training? We can do better than that in our grammar schools, where the boys, if thus pugilistic, are flogged or compelled to leave the school. In the high school case the names of the combatants should be made known to the principal, and then he should suspend them from the school. Let our committee look into this matter.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1878, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1878) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that I I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,

How the People Are Humbugged

By Co-Operative and Mutual Aid Societies.

The Insurance Department Reports of several States furnish interesting data for judging of the Real Economy, Insurance Reliability, and Business Prudence of investing money with these concerns, under the impression that it furnishes

CHEAP LIFE INSURANCE.

Having duly considered the "lesson" afforded by the following statement, taken from these Official State Reports, let the reader consider the DEFINITE Insurance Contract offered by THE Mutual Life Insurance Co.

OF NEW YORK,

under which no "Assessments" are possible, and the benefit to be received definitely decided at time of application, with such an annual reduction of the unexpired premium as each year's experience shall develop.

Forty-three organizations, known as "Co-operative Companies," "Mutual Aid or Relief Associations," "Benefit Societies," &c., report to the State Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, &c., the following

OUTRAGEOUS MISUSE

— OF THE —

Assessments Collected.

Maximum Values of Certificates (or policies) upon which policies were paid in 1881	$2,395,525.00
These "Certificates" proved to be worth as claims	$511,238.56
But the collections for so doing were	$1,501,807.94
Difference between collection and disbursement, illustrating Co-operative Cost (?)	$2,822.58 $513,284.36

ANOTHER WAY OF PUTTING IT.

These unfortunates hold Certificates representing a supposed value to their beneficiaries of $2,395,525.

The real value proves to have been about 21¾ per cent, or $511,238.56, by waiving their claim of $22,823.56 of the amount collected ($534,207.94) and this is called Cheap Insurance.

QUERY.

Who ever heard of any respectable Life Insurance Company settling $2,395,525 of insurance, honestly contracted for, at a discount like the above and at such a cost?

NAVAL EXPENDITURES.

We have noticed in several newspapers that "James Reed of Dover has been appointed boiler-maker at the navy yard," and certain insinuations seem to be hovering in the air that Secretary Chandler was professing rather than practicing economy in relation to the employment of men on the yard. We think it unfair to charge upon the Secretary any responsibility for these apparent inconsistencies, unless it is deserved.

The facts are that a man by the name of James H. Rehiel re-enlisted in the navy as a boiler maker in January, ostensibly for general service, under General Order No. 251 of June 30th, 1882. This man appears to have been detailed, by an order of Commodore English, Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting of the Navy Department, to serve in connection with the steamer Emerald, the steam launch, and the heating apparatus on board the Constitution; that is, the man had to be placed somewhere because "Senator" Christie, who largely runs some of the bureau officers of the department, wanted his Dover constituent placed where he would do the most good.

Now it is not fair, when the Secretary is asking Congress to appropriate money for the purpose of keeping open the navy yard for legitimate work, to have men sent here on special duty for the performance of which men are already to be found in abundance. While the Chief of the Bureau maintains that the interest of the service can be promoted by discharging a clerk who could keep the accounts of the cost of certain operations at the navy yard, and adding to the roll a boiler maker to look after the Emerald! it is not fair that such unwise and ridiculous perversion of the public money should be charged upon the Secretary, who we have, good reason to suppose knew nothing of either of the moves which have evoked such general criticism, any more than of several similar special orders for employment of men for whom there was only a necessity of obliging some one by having them employed.

THE BANNER WARD.

A representative democrat from ward four boasts that not a drop of ardent spirits is sold within the precincts of said ward, and challenges any other ward in the state to show a like satisfactory condition of things.

The above item which I took from the CHRONICLE of the 5th inst., filled me with a degree of pride that I have not experienced for a long time. For I am an old resident of ward four, and for twenty-five years it has been to me a source of profound regret that the fair name of this democratic stronghold should be tarnished by the presence of liquor shops. And then the above boast coming from a "representative democrat," too! Truly, the world moves; and may be, after all, we shall not be cheated out of the millenium. Now it has occurred to me that if the liquor sellers and liquor drinkers would withdraw from our precincts, what a paradise we should have! Real estate would advance in value, and even the Utopian dreams of our new resident on Pickering street might be realized.

A WARD FOUR RESIDENT.

P. S.—On reflection, this wouldn't answer; such a state of things would lose the ward for the democrats, and a corrupt republican rule would ensue. No, no, rumsellers! stay with us, and preserve the purity of the ballot box.

A. W. F. R.

Wednesday, the 7th inst., was Ash Wednesday, the beginning of Lent, and appropriate services were held in the Episcopal and Catholic churches. The bells of Christ church chimed some solemn tunes at the usual hour of forenoon service.

Six shares in the Portsmouth & Dover railroad were sold at auction in Boston on the 7th inst, at $106 per share. At the brokers' board, Eastern sold at $47 and $48; Portland, Saco & Portsmouth, $112.50; and fifty shares of Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway brought $35 per share.

The secretary of the navy on the 30th ult. reported to Congress, giving a list of the vessels whose names will be stricken from the Navy Register in accordance with the report of the examining board, under the authority given to the board by the act of Aug. 5th, 1882. The list includes about forty vessels, of which five are at this navy yard, namely: the Congress, Guard, Kansas, Sabine and Massachusetts. The last-named vessel is recommended to be broken up, and the others to be sold at auction.

We learn that Mr. Charles A. Shannon will in a few weeks remove his family to Brockton, Mass., where he has several sons employed. Mr. Ashbel S. Brown, engineer on the Eastern railroad, will move into Mr. Shannon's pleasant house on Christian Shore.

Messrs. George Cox & Son, grocers, have removed from the store near the north millbridge to the one on the corner of North and Dennett streets, where they have more room and can better accommodate their increasing business.

The Dover Democrat of Tuesday, Feb. 6th, says: "Miss Katie Farrell of this city was to-day married to Dennis J. Lynch of Portsmouth, by Rev. Father Murphy at St. Mary's church. The bridal party at the conclusion of the ceremonies drove to the bride's home on Fifth street, where refreshments were served, congratulations offered, and numerous and elegant presents viewed by the friends. The couple departed on the afternoon train for Montreal. The bride was the daughter of Patrick Farrell, Esq., well known in this city."

The council of Congregational ministers which met in Dover on the 6th inst. to officially dissolve the pastoral connection of Rev. George B. Spalding, D. D., with the First church of that city, chose Rev. Mr. Robie of Greenland moderator, and Rev. W. A. McGinley of Portsmouth scribe. Delegates from Great Falls, Rochester, Durham, Newmarket, Exeter, Stratham and South Newmarket were present, and assisted in the deliberations of the body.

The Portsmouth Journal was the authority for the report that McCullough had cancelled his engagement to play at the Opera house in that city. On the contrary he appeared last night and was welcomed by a full house, and repeatedly applauded. Dover musicians aided the Portsmouth orchestra in furnishing music for the occasion.—Dover Democrat, 6th inst.

Dearborn & Co. manufactured during the past year one thousand and seventy cauldrons for the Magee Furnace Co. of Chelsea, Mass. Thirty-three cauldrons were sent to Chelsea on Tuesday, Feb. 6th. The firm expect a large increase of business the present year.

Mr. John Hall, of Smuttynose island, will engage largely the coming spring in the catching of lobsters in the vicinity of the Shoals. He will employ five men, and is now making preparations to commence business. Five hundred lobster pots will be used in the trapping of the lobsters.

The Dover Republican says the Sawyer cornet band, P. Taylor leader, expect to furnish the music for the steamer City of Bangor on her trips between this port and York beach next summer.

The McCullough dramatic company passed through this city on the 7th inst., on the way from Manchester to Portland.

The sloop Raven, having been thoroughly calked by Messrs Bailey & Adams, has gone to Boston. The Island Belle will go on the marine railway to-day, to be calked from keel to covering boards.

About 16,000 lbs. of fish were brought in on the 7th inst.; 8000 lbs. were sent to New York.

Mr. John H. Broughton on the 7th inst. received 127,000 shingles by rail from Bangor.

The Temperance Mutual Relief Association, at a meeting on the evening of the 6th inst., voted to disband the organization, on account of the number of members being too small to make it an object to continue. The funds will probably be divided at a special meeting next week.

Col. Sise, chairman of the permanent committee on the "return of the sons," has commenced correspondence with reference to the next grand coming home, which ten years ago was set for July 4th, 1883.

Mr. Thomas Leehe had a trial of his new boat on the river, on the 7th inst. She is sloop rigged, with two jibs; she made a very pretty appearance, and as seen by us at a distance we judged she had none too much sail, that she is stiff, and has good sailing qualities. Mr. Leehe made the model and built the boat; he has sailed the seas over in all kinds of fishing craft, and seems to have combined many of the points needed to make the right kind of a boat.

Mr. John R. Holbrook has just finished making a mainsail and foresail for the schooner Free Wind, which vessel was formerly owned by parties in this city and Kittery, and afterward sold to persons in Providence, R. I., where she is now owned. Capt. George W. Taylor, now master of the Free Wind, sailed out of this port for some years in the schooners Gov. Goodwin, George L. Treadwell and Daniel Marcy, owned by Valentine Doane, and also in the schooner Fairfield, owned by Daniel Littlefield of this city and Mr. Willey of Willey's island. Mr. Holbrook made sails for all the schooners named while they were under command of Capt. Taylor, and quite naturally feels complimented by the fact that his work gave such satisfaction as the order from the Free Wind shows it did do.

Work is more brisk at the Portsmouth shoe factory now than at any time in its history.

Portsmouth boasts more and better livery horses than any other city in the state.

Mr. Welsh of Philadelphia will address the Portsmouth public, by request of the Indian Association; let him have a crowded house. Mr. Welsh is a talented and able speaker, and has been received with enthusiasm wherever he has presented his Christian appeal.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.
$1 a Bottle. 6 Bottles for $5.
Sent free by mail on receipt of money.
ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.
But do not be deluded into taking imitations or substitutes, or something recommended as "just as good!" Insist on the genuine with the name of WASHBURNE & CO. on each box, which is guaranteed chemically pure under our signature, an indispensable requisite to insure success in the treatment. MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be relieved and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work, published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Sixth edition revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the Net onal Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions from all forms of disease, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25, by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There nothing whatever that the married or single can desire require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Chicago.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can have much to do, suffering as a response by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

HEART DISEASE

IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Many people think themselves cured of disease for Kidney or liver troubles, or dyspepsia, while the truth were known, the real cause is at the heart. The renowned Dr. Cheesbrough, startlingly says "one-third of my subjects show signs of heart disease." The heart weighs about nine ounces, and yet man's seventy-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a-half, resting not day or night! Surely this delicate chamber needs careful attention.

Dr. Graves a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles and kindred disorders. It is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained of your druggists, $1. per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express. Send stamp for Dr. Graves' thoroughly exhaustive treatise. (1)

A good story is told about Mazzini. While the notorious Italian agitator was in London he went out one day with an English friend and bought a lot of rusty old swords and pistols. "What on earth are you going to do with them?" asked the Britisher. "Nothing at all," replied Mazzini; "only when the police hear of my purchase, telegrams will be sent everywhere, and no a king or queen will sleep quietly to-night." And the Italian chuckled.

It is one of the most loathsome maladies, and has been pronounced incurable. Ely's Cream Balm may be described as a gigantic tidal wave which has submerged that theory. This Balm is a pleasant, popular, perfect preparation, and a certain cure for catarrh. It is not a liquid or snuff, and is easily applied. "I had catarrh for fifteen years." said C. Z. Warren, Rutland, Vt., "with distressing pains over my eyes, gradually the disease worked down upon my lungs. Ely's Cream Balm cured me." All who use it speak in the same grateful strain.

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Health is a very valuable thing. While is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, stripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Boeuf's Castle, must have presented an admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to stay a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I should never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin talk'date on:—I shall never wrestle with another log without having the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents.

The night when first we met;
Her face was marked with anguish,
Her eyes with tears were wet.

I told her Perry Davis's

And take away its sting.

Next evening, when I saw her,
I asked her, "Did you get

Adam's Fall.

Ever since Adam's fall, which subjected human nature to diseases of the flesh, there has been a demand for a blood purifier. We all realize the fact that upon the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and vigor of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only a sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause; hence a reliable blood purifier is of greater importance to the people than is generally supposed. We are pleased to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla bears unmistakable proof of being this sort of a medicine, and we think it worthy a trial.

How the Treasury views the Navy.

The movement for the transfer of certain treasury bureaus to the navy department has had the effect of drawing out a heavy fire against the weak spots in the navy. The fact that Secretary Chandler himself has done everything in his power to direct attention to navy abuses does not, of course, detract from the force of these criticisms upon the results of the naval system continued through many years. The report made to Secretary Folger by E. W. Clark, chief of the revenue marine division of the treasury, which has just been completed, makes a showing of our naval establishment, as compared with that of other nations, which may attract attention in the senate when the naval appropriation bill comes up. The following table is from this report, the first column of figures giving the number of ships in the navy of each of the nations named; the second column, the number of modern war cruisers to each navy; the third column, the number of officers to each navy; the fourth column, the number of men to each officer; the fifth column, the annual cost of each navy:

Austria	55	7	6·4	11	$ 4,000,000
Germany	81	16	6·8	10	11,564,000
Italy	66	49	3·9	10	8,300,000
United States	122	17	12·3	13	16,100,000
France	356	54	6·6	9½	41,000,000
Great Britain	650	115	5·8	11	51,800,000

It seems that our navy has one officer for each four and a half men, and of course there is nothing left to expend upon vessels with this disproportionate number of officers to be paid. As the tendency seems to be to get along without a navy, the question of future employment naturally follows one of interest to the officers of this branch of the service.

As Mr. Clark points out, this table shows that the United States has twenty-five per cent as many ships, including unserviceable ones, as England, but we have only 17 2-3 per cent as many in commission. To man these ships our navy has eighteen per cent as many men as England; but the ratio of officers of the United States navy to those of England is nearly two and a half times greater than that of ships and men.

Italy has a powerful navy, with forty-nine heavily-armored modern war cruisers, four of which are equal to any naval vessels in the world; but while she employs nearly a thousand more men to man them than the United States musters, she has less than half the number of officers, and expends only about one-half as much annually to carry on her efficient and formidable forces as this country spends.

The United States has more than double the proportion of officers to men of any other nation. Even if the United States navy should become in years as strong in ships and guns as that of Italy, one-half its present number of officers would suffice. The report continues:

The most shameful misapplication of means to ends is the management of the navy is shown, however, in the column of annual expenditures, when considered in connection with the facts in the rest of the table; for, while the United States has a navy not worth mentioning in comparison with that of either of these great powers, it is spending annually a far greater proportionate sum than they are upon their powerful armed fleets. Our navy expends yearly 29 1-2 per cent as much as England for construction and repairs and cost of yards and docks, yet while England includes in these the annual addition to her navy of 10,000 to 15,000 tons in new vessels, we include none. At our ratio of expenditure we should add 3,000 to 5,000 in new tonnage every year.

Congress has appropriated $369,000,000 for the navy since the close of the war. Meantime the navy has dwindled from 675 vessels to 139 of all classes, the average annual expenditure being $21,000,000. Within the last seventeen years $98,435,875 has been appropriated for construction and repairs, $12,832,029 for ordnance, and $32,724,712 for maintenance of navy yards; in all, $143,992,616 has been provided for vessels and armaments since the war, for which, as the report says, there seems to be nothing to show.

Smallpox has created a panic throughout the southwestern counties of Virginia. The disease has made its appearance at several towns along the Norfolk & Western railroad, and in the interior counties.

Three little boys in Francestown were playing on a scaffold in a barn recently, when a door used for pitching in the hay became unfastened and they all fell to the ground, one of them having his arm broken and all receiving severe injuries.

A lodge of Knights of Pythias is about to be instituted in Lake Village.

The stone work on the new bridge at Weirs will be completed and ready for the carpenters by the first of March.

The new opera house at Gorham is now completed and open to the public use. It is a very handsome building, the hall being the best in northern New Hampshire, with a stage and scenery seldom found outside of large cities.

The supreme court for Strafford county begins its session at Dover on Tuesday.

It is reported that the income of the dowry left the Austin academy at Strafford by the late Mr. Austin of that place, will be attainable another fall, and it is hoped that the institution will then regain its past standard.

The work on the Kennebunk & Kennebunkport railroad is now being rapidly prosecuted, and the road will be completed and ready for travel by June 1st next. Hon. Joseph Dane of Kennebunk is president of the board of directors.

Agreeably to previous notice given the liquor dealers of Biddeford, Deputy Sheriffs Elliott and Grant of York county visited a number of places on the 6th inst., and made seizures. At Harry Hines' shop they captured small quantities of ale, rum and whiskey, and at his house they seized about fifty gallons of rum and whiskey, and thirty gallons of ale; Thomas Donovan lost a barrel of ale, and kegs of rum and wine; Mrs. Donovan lost three bottles of rum, and one each of wine and whiskey; from Lewis Cross five gallons of hard liquors, from John Walsh four gallons of ale and two quarts of liquor, and from Grace Holt a quantity of ale and jug of whiskey, were taken. The parties were all summoned to appear at court.

The fish arrivals on Thursday, the 8th inst., were as follows: Schooner Martha Jane, with 1200 lbs.; T. Herbert, 200 lbs.; Storm King, 1000 lbs.; Hattie N. Reed, 1500 lbs.; Bonita, 500 lbs.; Onward, 3000 lbs.; E. A. Williams, 1800 lbs.; Flying Cloud, 1200 lbs.; Sylph, 1200 lbs. Six and a half cents a pound was paid.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Sy up for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eod1jan29,84

The cars which arrived from the eastward on Thursday morning last were ornamented along the sides of their roofs with fringes of icicles nine or ten inches long.

The committee of the Maine legislature appointed to consider the petition of certain residents of Old Orchard, that that district be set off from the city of Saco and made into a separate town, on the 7th inst. reached a conclusion to report in favor of the separation. It is surmised by some of the Saco people that the Old Orchardists will have to pay dear for their whistle, in the shape of increased taxes and responsibility; and it is alleged that in consequence of the division a number of persons will dispose of their property at Old Orchard, and remove elsewhere.

Mrs. Hannah Hasty, aged about sixty-five years, wife of Sewall Hasty, of Limington, died suddenly on Sunday forenoon, the 4th inst., while sitting in her chair. She had been indisposed for some time previous to her death.

The directors of the York Beach railroad held a meeting at the office of John E. Staples of York, and completed their organization by electing E. S. Marshall of York president, and Dr. J. C. Stewart clerk. Subscription books for stock have been opened. It is reported that the road will probably be narrow guage, and can be built and equipped for $10,000 a mile, or about $100,000 for the ten and a half miles.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla in the summer of 1876 they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many may be benefited the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,

NAVAL ECONOMY: NO. 3.

ELIOT, ME., Feb. 8th, 1883.

Hon. W. E. Chandler: Some of the friends of the navy—and on the Piscataqua it is astonishing to see how many friends the navy seems to have—are of opinion that you are committed upon the question of iron ships. But I am not to be so easily convinced of that. What man of any consequence was there to whom, as Junius says, there did not "some false and foul aspersion strive to cling?" Indeed I found the other day that one of the Manchester papers got very wide of the mark as to an assertion claimed to be found in one of my early communications, and took the unwarranted liberty of calling me a leading republican! And is it for this I have lived a l these years away from the spoils, and tried to be a consistent democrat, only to have a paper once owned by Alpheus make such a prevarication? Let me say to the Manchester editor, let your accusation

"Take any shape but that."

I think that you will in this respect, as you have to all other official requests, give a careful and unprejudiced consideration. As I read of the recent frequent disasters to iron steamships, in the language of a celebrated writer "I am amazed and alarmed at the perils" to which our gallant officers are likely to be subjected if they are unable to obtain "influence" enough to get out of orders to iron ships.

The disaster to the Cimbria seems to be a case which well illustrates the common fate of an iron vessel. The steamer had seven bulkhead compartments, with all the appliances for safety known to the shipbuilding art, and yet she sank in less than fifteen minutes after being struck, not by a ram or an armed vessel in any hostile attack, but by another merchant steamer. The Sultan simply bore down upon the Cimbria, and made such a breach that she at once heeled over with a portion of her deck under water, and from the time of her first striking to her final sinking not fifteen minutes elapsed. She was struck forty feet from her bow. "After making the breach the Sultan scraped along the Cimbria, and completely rolled up her iron plates."

Now I suppose there has nothing yet been invented, (unless we perhaps except the greed of the Delaware contractors,) which can make such a hole in our navy as an iron-nosed ram. If the merchant steamers, following their peaceful and quite ways, by simply undesignedly drifting toward such other can receive such irreparable damage, what must be the effect upon iron ships in combat? Compared with our wooden ships, with which Farragut and Bailey victoriously ascended the Mississippi and carried our flag in triumph past the forts, what will they prove in point of endurance?

Again, you have learned I suppose that an iron vessel must be planked and otherwise finished with wood. The bottoms of these vessels foul so that they must either be sheathed with wood, and coppered, or go into dock every few weeks. Now with the improved system of ventilation in wooden ships, I think from my knowledge of such things gained by observation in years gone by, that the wooden hulls built of impregnated timber, and constructed with proper study as to air passages, will in the end prove far more effective and economical.

It is said that we want iron ships to carry abroad and show to foreign powers, and then they will respect us. That's Porter. He is good at theory, but unsafe to follow. What we want is, not huge, unwieldy ships to show off abroad at immense expense, but moderate-sized cruisers which can get in and out of ports, and make frequent visits to places with which we have or ought to have commercial relations. These composite vessels too will cost fearfully, and will in the end be expensive.

You will remember that in these vessels the sails, spars, engines, boilers, decks, and indeed all parts of the ship, will always need repairs, and are like those in and upon wooden ships; and I do not know how much better off we should be to apply to them the provisions of the act of congress which prevented wooden ships from being repaired when the estimated cost of such repairs should exceed thirty per cent of the estimated cost of a new ship of the same size and like material; and this suggestion, I confidently commend to your careful consideration. You are still young in this matter of construction, and there is much to learn; not all of it, however, should come from the contractors, and that is the reason why I thus have again trespassed on your kind attention.

AN HONEST REFORMER.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, February 8th, Mayor Treat in the chair:

Present the full board, except Ald. Atwell.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

City marshal's report was referred to committee on police.

Dr. R. C. Grant's resignation as city physician was accepted.

Petition of Perkins Chair Co. to be exempted from taxation for eight years was referred to committee on claims.

Bills amounting to $1936.85 were ordered paid.

Bill of Ernest W. Bowditch, civil engineer, was referred to the mayor with power to act.

An informal report on the north millpond matter was made by the mayor, from which it appeared that the committee having the matter under consideration favored hiring the pond at $500 per year, fitting it with tide gates similar to those of the south pond, and dredging a good channel from the bridge to the head of the pond.

A bill sent up by the Common Council, authorizing the mayor to hire $80,000 for current expenses until the next appropriation is available, at interest not to exceed 4 1-2 per cent, was passed under suspension of the rules.

A bill sent up by the council, authorizing the sale of part of the city farm, was referred under the rules.

Met the common council in convention to elect health officer and city physician. On the sixth ballot for health officer, Dr. Daniel W. Jones was elected; and the same gentleman was elected city physician, on the third ballot. James L. Parker was elected sealer of weights and measures, having sixteen votes—all that were thrown.

The convention then rose, and the board adjourned for one week.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, Feb. 8th.

Wm. Falvey and Michael Shelley, for drunkenness, were each assessed $9.90 which they paid.

It has been a long time since Galveston theatre-goers were given such a dramatic feast as was spread before them by Miss Jeffreys Lewis last evening. "La Belle Russe" is a drama possessing a depth and intensity of power far beyond the ordinary run of society plays. In the acting of Miss Jeffreys Lewis there is a power and finish that stamp her as a worthy exponent of the emotional school—whether in the height of passionate defiance or the depth of piteous entreaty, she was equally mistress of her art.—Galveston News.

On Sunday, the 4th inst., as Mr. T. J. Downs of Wolfeboro junction, a brakeman on the Conway freight, was digging clams on the flats at the east end of the bridge at Noddles island, he saw a fish scattering in the water, and made for him with his clam fork, striking him through the gills and capturing him. He turned out to be a bass weighing twenty-three and a half pounds. Mr. Downs refused several offers for him, preferring to exhibit his trophy to his country friends.

The Central bakery, No. 91 Congress street, is open Sunday mornings from 6:30 o'clock until nine.

If there is any one thing more than another that the American people believe in and mean that every man on this continent shall have, it is fair play. And as soon as they understand how cruelly this has been denied to the Indians, they will rise up and demand it.—Mrs. H. H. Jackson, in her thrilling book called "A Century in Dishonor."

Our people are to be congratulated that they have now an opportunity of listening to an address everywhere heard with ardent interest, and in our large cities drawing crowds of enthusiastic listeners. Mr. Welsh of Philadelphia, the son of our late minister to England, freely imparts to all interested the results of his careful investigation and late experience among the Indians on the frontier. He has kindly consented to address the people of our city on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 13th, being invited to do so by our newly-formed Indian Association. We would bespeak for him a full and heartily-interested audience, such as has met him elsewhere, wherever he has gone on his important mission. The time and place of his address will be announced later. E. M. H.

Hett, the city expressman, has attached to the collar of his huge St. Bernard dog a miniature barrel, which is a very pretty ornament, aside from its bringing to mind the stories formerly told of the wonderful courage, sagacity and endurance of dogs of this breed in rescuing benighted Alpine travellers.

The schooner H. Prescott, of this port, 95.73 tons register, has been sold to Capt. William H. Davis of Pemaquid, Me.

The ship Paul Jones, Capt. Gerrish, which arrived at New York on the 7th inst. from Hong Kong, was ashore for a short time that day on Coney island point, but came off without damage and was towed up to the city.

The county commissioners were in the city on Thursday last, their business being the examination of the assessors' valuation of real estate. The law requires them to perform this duty every fourth year in all the towns of the county, and report to the state board of equalization of taxes.

There were one hundred and two new entries at the January term of the supreme court of this county. In the divorce cases Taylor vs. Taylor, where cross libels were filed, the court rendered a decision dismissing both libels.

The Union League club of New York celebrated its twentieth anniversary on Tuesday evening, Feb. 6th. An oration was pronounced by Mr. Evarts, and a poem was read by R. H. Stoddard. Among the guests were Comdr. Shepard, U. S. N., and First Lieut. F. D. Webster, U. S. M. C.

There are two parrots in this city that have each been in possession of their present owners over thirty years. How old the venerable birds are is not known.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

SECRET!

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.

Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be delighted and cured. These whose delicate diseases unfortunately shunned purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of disease, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 5; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

Is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

HEART DISEASE

Now IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Many people think themselves sick and doctor for kidney or liver troubles, or dyspepsia, while it is the well-known fact that most kindness is at the heart. The renowned Dr. Cleadinning, startlingly says "one-third of my subjects show signs of heart disease." The heart weighs about nine ounces, and yet man's twenty-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a-half, resting not day or night! Surely this subject should have careful attention.

Dr. Graves a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles, and the result is that it is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained at your druggists, $1. per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express. Send stamp for Dr. Graves' thorough and exhaustive treatise. (1)

There has been a good deal of talk in Warren, Mass., lately, about the supposed elopement of Charles S. Lincoln and his wife's sister, Miss Abbie Hitchcock, both of whom are members of the first families of the town. It seems that Lincoln left Warren on Monday, Jan. 8th, ostensibly for California, and Miss Hitchcock, who has been divorced from a man named Moody, told her family the next day that she was going to see a friend in Hartford, where she wished to get a new dress for the citizens' ball, in which she was to have a prominent part. Neither has been heard from, so far as known since, although it is supposed that they are in Arkansas.

A cable despatch of the 8th inst., from Antwerp, Belgium, says the steamer Nederland passed the Scilly islands, 200 miles west of Bournemouth, Eng., on the 5th inst. The bottle found on the beach on the 6th is supposed to be a miserable attempt at a joke.

Rear Adm. Cooper, commanding the North Atlantic squadron, who has recently been at Martinique, W. I., reports that that island has a large and increasing trade with the United States, and there are a number of American vessels in port at St. Pierre. On account of the high duties in our country upon light-colored sugar it is all sent to Europe, but nearly all the brown sugar produced in the island is sent to the United States. American flour, preserved meats and manufactured goods are coming into general use there, and are taking the place of French and English goods. Quite a large quantity of lumber for building purposes is sent there every year from the southern part of the United States.

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and I for to the forest from early manhood, he was a true Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, stripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I. assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Bœuf's Castle, must have presented an admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to sta t a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I should never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and I'm 'bout as good as new. But there's one thing you kin calculate on:—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them bruises I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting. The word CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

Daily Chronicle.

The new Duchess of Westminster, wife of one of the richest men in Europe, was married in a dress of white foulard, costing seventy-five cents a yard. This certainly is economy, and economy it is to use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the great remedy for coughs and colds.

—Joe Cook says Herbert Spencer is regarded as nothing more than a mere crescent moon in its last quarter. We would suggest that Joe has been getting a little gibbous lately.

St. Jacobs Oil strikes heavy blows for good all around, by its power over rheumatism, observes the Nebraska City (Neb.) Press.

—A new rival brass band was hired to play at the funeral of a Connecticut deacon. They were playing a slow and solemn dirge at the grave, when suddenly the trombone man shut out a blast that started the hearse horses and broke up the whole procession. The leader turning upon him fiercely, asked him what in the name of all hot places at once he was doing that for? He answered with a smile, "Gosh! I thought it was a note, and it was a horsefly; but I played it."

Useless Fright.

To worry about any liver, kidney, or urinary trouble, especially Bright's disease or diabetes, as Hop Bitters never fails of a cure where a cure is possible. We know this.

—The editor of the Omaha Herald now goes barefooted. He hung up his stockings Christmas eve and hasn't seen them since. It is thought that perhaps Santa Claus needed some new horse blankets.

He who is ready to buy up his enemies will never want a supply of them." It is cheaper to buy a true friend in Kidney-Wort who will drive away those miserable enemies, a torpid liver, constipation, diabetes, piles, diseased kidneys and bowels. This remedy is now prepared in liquid as well as in dry form.

"Five doctors; no end of medicine; no relief. Dr. Benson's Skin Cure has driven away all eruptions and I'm nearly well." Ida C. Young, Hamilton, Ills.

The estate of the late Rev. Dr. Mercer of Newport, R. I., which soon after his death was estimated at $200,000, is found to amount to over $1,000,000. He had been taxed for $10,000, and great surprise is manifested at the revelation.

"Horse-car conductors," says a spiteful writer, "should always be chosen with a view to personal courage, because 'None but the brave deserve the fare.'" It is pre-eminently true that "None but meritorious preparations deserve success." Everybody knows the nature and effects of catarrh. It is one of the most loathsome maladies, and has been pronounced incurable. Ely's Cream Balm may be described as a gigantic tidal wave which has submerged that theory. This Balm is a pleasant, popular, perfect preparation, and a certain cure for catarrh. It is not a liquid or snuff, and is easily applied. "I had catarrh for fifteen years," said C. Z. Warren, Rutland, Vt., "with distressing pains over my eyes, gradually the disease worked down upon my lungs. Ely's Cream Balm cured me." All who use it speak in the same grateful strain.

Washington gossips intimate that some of the senators prepare for the discussion of the whiskey tax by sampling the supplies in the committee rooms. The gossips are always slanderers.

There is a better contest for the insurance commissionership of Connecticut. Editor Parsons of the New Haven Register is a leading candidate, but Editor Troup of the New Haven Union opposes this appointment. The latter's opposition grows out of the warfare between the Register and the Union, which are both democratic newspapers. Parsons is strongly supported, and is likely to secure the place.

"All ladies who may be troubled with nervous prostration, who suffer from organic displacement; who have a sense of weariness and a feeling of lassitude; who are languid in the morning; in whom the appetite for food is capricious and sleep at proper hours uncertain, should have recourse to Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A GOOD ODD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.,—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinnipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy' FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a house hold medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

Startling Statistics.

The Shadow Hanging over New York City and the Entire Country—A Tribune Opinion.

The nation has been horrified at the burning of a Milwaukee hotel, whereby over seventy lives were lost. This event carried terror because it was sudden and appalling; but had the same disastrous results to life and limb come silently they would have been unnoticed, not only by the people of the land but also by the very community in which they occurred. Fatal events of a far worse nature have taken place in this very city, but they have attracted no attention, nor would they now did not the Bureau of Vital Statistics bring them to our notice. "Figures do not lie," whatever else may be uncertain and the report on the deaths of this city is a startling comment on its life. During the past year the enormous increase of certain maladies is simply appalling. While the total number of deaths has diminished and the death rate on most diseases has decreased still it is far greater in one or two serious disorders than was ever known before. More people died in the city of New York in 1882 from Bright's disease of the kidneys, than from diptheria, small-pox and typhoid fever all combined! This scarcely seems possible but it is true, and when it is remembered that less than one-third the actual deaths from Bright's disease are really reported as such, the ravages of the malady can be partially understood.

The immediate query which every reader will make upon such a revelation of facts, is: What causes this increase? This is a difficult question to answer. The nature of the climate, the habits of life, the adulteration of foods and liquors, all undoubtedly contribute; but no immediate cause can be certainly assigned. Often before the victim knows it the disease has begun. Its approaches are so stealthy and its symptoms so obscure that they cannot be definitely foreseen and are only known by their effects. Any kidney disorder, however slight, is the first stage of Bright's disease. But it is seldom that kidney disorders can be detected. They do not have any certain symptoms. Mysterious weariness; an unusual appetite; periodical headaches; occasional nausea; uncertain pains; loss of vigor; lack of nerve power; irregularity of the heart; disordered daily habits; imperfect digestion—all these and many other symptoms are the indications of kidney disorder even though there may be no pain in the region of the kidneys or in that portion of the body. The serious nature of these troubles may be understood from the fact that Bright's disease is as certain to follow diseased kidneys as decomposition follows death.

It is high time the Doctors in this land who have been unable to control kidney troubles, should be aroused and compelled to find some remedy, or acknowledge one already found. The suffering public needs help and cannot await the tardy action of any hair-splitting code or incorrectly formulated theories. If the medical world has no certain remedy for this terrible disease let them acknowledge it and seek for one outside the pale of their profession. For the discovery of this remedy and for its application to this disease, the people of this city; the people of the whole land; not only those who are suffering, but those who have friends in danger are earnestly and longingly looking.

The above quotation from the New York Tribune is causing considerable commotion, as it seems to lift the cover from a subject that has become of national importance. The alarming increase of kidney diseases; their insidious beginnings and frightful endings, and the acknowledged inability of physicians to successfully cope with them may well awaken the greatest dread of every one who has the slightest symptoms. It is fortunate, however, that the surest relief is often found where, possibly, least expected, and that there is a specific for the evils above described we have come to fully believe. Within the past two years we have frequently seen statements of parties claiming to have been cured of serious kidney troubles even after hope had been abandoned; but in common with most people we have discredited them. Quite recently, however, a number of prominent and well known men have come out voluntarily and stated over their signatures that they were completely cured by the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. Most people have been aware that this medicine has an unusual standing and one entitling it to be classed above proprietary articles generally; but that it had accomplished so much in checking the ravages of kidney disease is not so generally known. Its great worth has been shown not only by the cures it has effected, but also because a number of base imitations have appeared in the market, fraudulently claiming the valuable qualities of the original Safe Cure. If it were not valuable, it would not be imitated.

The above may seem like an ultra endorsement of a popular remedy, but it is not one whit stronger than the facts admit. Whatever assists the world toward health and consequent happiness, should receive the hearty endorsement of the press and all friends of humanity. It is on precisely this principle that the foregoing statement is made, and it merits the careful consideration of every thinking reader.

The disabled steamer Georgia was spoken Feb. 5 h about 200 miles off Block Island, and a pilot put on board. She had not arrived at New York on the 9th, and tugs were sent out to hunt for her.

Railroad Affairs.

The recent upward movement in the price of Portsmouth, Great Falls & Conway railroad shares is thus explained by a leading stock broker:

"Measures have been taken which will result in giving the New York Central railroad a connection with northern New England points, independently of the Central Vermont railroad. For years past the Grand Trunk of Canada has had almost a monopoly of the through traffic of that part of New England. The New York Central has reached that territory, but it has been placed under disadvantages because of the alliance between the Grand Trunk and the Central Vermont. The New York Central uses the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg road from Syracuse to Potsdam Junction, and the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain thence to Rouse's Point. In order to reach its northern New England connections, however, the New York Central has been compelled to use a link of a road some ten miles long, which has been controlled by the Central Vermont. In the transfer of freight over this link the New York Central people have felt that they were subjected to all the delays, impediments and annoyances which are the common tactics of a road that objects to connecting with a rival.

Mr. Vanderbilt and George B. Phelps, a wealthy citizen of Watertown, N. Y., have agreed, it is understood, to advance the capital necessary to build a road from Rouse's Point to Swanton, Vt. At the latter place connection is made with the St. Johnsbury & Lake Champlain and the Portland & Ogdensburg roads, that carry the New York Central's line to Portland, Me., Portsmouth and Boston. The road will be built by the Lamoille Valley Extension company, which has been organized. It is said that some preparatory work has already been done upon it. The Central Vermont and Grand Trunk line has been accused of almost constantly disturbing the New England pool by cutting rates. The securing of an independent line to Portland and other points in New England, by the New York Central, will enable that road to retaliate vigorously upon the Canadian road should occasion require it."

Another statement is that in the event of a lease of the Eastern to the Boston & Maine railroad, the latter would be compelled to pay the stockholders of the P., G. F. & C. R. R. a dividend for the use of their road; at least this is the opinion of many who have given the subject some attention.

John Walsh, one of the liquor dealers recently raided on at Biddeford, Me., was before the court in that city on the 7th inst., and fined $100 and costs, from which sentence he gave notice of appeal. It is said that Walsh was formerly a resident of this city.

The masts of the U. S. S. Marion were taken out on Thursday, the 8th inst.

The bill of Ernest W. Bowditch, the civil engineer who recently furnished several plans for the drainage of the city, and the abatement of the millpond nuisance, is only $206.63. Nothing mean about him.

The board of instruction have voted that the winter term of the schools close on the 31st of March, and the spring term commence on the 16th of April, giving a vacation of two weeks.

Chas. A. Richmond, who has been collector for the Boston & Northern Telephone company for Rockingham and Strafford counties, has resigned that position and accepted that of reporter on the Dover Daily Republican.

The fish-dealing firm of Shea & Jameson has dissolved. The business will be continued by Mr. Thomas Jameson.

The fishing arrivals on the 8th inst. was the schooner Paul & Elsie, with 1000 lbs.; the Ella M. Johnson, with 500 lbs.; and about 2000 lbs. by other boats. Several of the vessels were unable to get their trawls on account of the strong southwest wind blowing, but one or two of the boats were fortunate in getting a chance to set.

Mr. Perry Randall has arrived home, having made the voyage from New York to China and back in the ship Paul Jones, Capt. Gerrish.

The schooners Nettie Adams and Bonita, in going down the river on Thursday morning last came in collision, and the former had her foresail torn.

The schooner Cocheco, Capt. Richard H. Seaward, sailed from Jacksonville, Florida, Jan. 28th, for New York, with a cargo of lumber, having made quick work of discharging at Jacksonville a load of railroad iron from Perth Amboy, N. J., for a Florida railroad. There are few if any more energetic and successful coasting skippers than Capt. Seaward, and we should like to see him commanding a first-class schooner out of his home port.

On Friday, the 2d inst., in the yard of the Concord railroad at Manchester, a truck wheel on each of the locomotives "Merrimack" and "Hildreth" was found broken, necessitating the laying up of both engines until repairs could be made. In the evening of the same day the locomotive "Lawrence" switched the Portsmouth train into the passenger station, and on its way to the roundhouse broke down, and colliding with the tender damaged the latter so that it required work until midnight before the locomotive could be removed from the track.

A man named M. S. Blood, a resident of Revere, Mass., fell from a Boston bound train on the Eastern railroad on Wednesday afternoon, the 7th inst., and sustained severe, and it is feared fatal injuries. He was picked up by a train bound for this city, and carried to Salem.

The train from Concord, Friday morning, was about half an hour late, owing to the engine having broken one of the parallel rods when near Raymond.

At a meeting of the directors of the Maine Central railroad, held on Wednesday, the 7th inst., it was voted to declare a dividend of two and one-half per cent, payable on and after Feb. 15th.

It is said the proposition to establish a regular steam ferry between this city and Kittery will be strongly opposed by the proprietors of the passenger boats Mystic and James Sampson, and of Portsmouth bridge.

George Stover, an aged citizen of Wells, was found nearly dead near his barn on Saturday, the 3d inst., and expired soon after being carried to his house. He was in very poor health, and is supposed to have been stunned by a fall and so chilled by subsequent exposure that death was inevitable.

The principal roads in Kittery and York are in good travelling condition; teams loaded with wood and timber are constantly passing over them, and the several sawmills are kept constantly at work.

Mr. William T. Jacobs of Wells recently lost three children within a week, by diphtheria.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that Hood's SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring water to my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

MRS. S. S. MOODY,
No. 75 Broadway.

Lowell, Mass., Jan. 15, 1878.

THE FIGHTING SCHOOL-BOYS.

Editor Chronicle: One "Com," in your issue of Feb. 8th, makes some remarks under the head of "Fighting in our High School," which seem to be entirely too severe, and are in one particular manifestly unjust. In asking the question "Can it be possible that this is the outcome," etc., he propounds a conundrum which his own common sense must answer in the negative. Because a boy acts boyishly (and a boy who fights does) it is no reproach to the school he attends. No one will for a moment maintain that our high school or any school can make men of boys of thirteen. It seems to be and has been a common thing to speak rather lightly of the benefits to be acquired from attendance at our high school, but I can assure "Com" that the least attentive scholar may acquire much of value in the four years he spends there. The boys are not desperate characters, as "Com" seems to assume, but acted boyishly, thoughtlessly, and I am sure the principal will do no such thing as to suspend them. The matter calls for a mild reproof, and no more, notwithstanding "Com's" opinion. E.

Mr. Editor: Seeing a piece in the CHRONICLE of the 8th inst., entitled "Fighting in Our High School," I should like an opportunity to answer. The article advises that "the names of the combatants should be made known to the principal, and then he should suspend them from school." Why would any one suspend boys from the school which they attend for fighting after school hours, off from the school grounds, and under the jurisdiction of their parents?

Why blame the gentleman who is their teacher for allowing this to be done? Do you suppose he knew of the trouble which existed? Hardly! If he had he would certainly have tried to restore peace, etc., but won'd not have expelled or "suspended" them from the school. As for "doing better in the grammar school," I think that if anyone looks into the matter he will find it to the contrary, as the high school has the reputation of being the best regulated school in the city, and I have heard it said, the best in the state. NEMO.

AGAIN THE RED MAN.

We are glad to find that there is quickened interest about the welfare of the Indians, and a sense of individual responsibility regarding it. Mr. Welsh, in visiting the Sioux, was so impressed with their condition and sufferings that he has sacrificed personal interests and occupation to give a fair statement of the interesting yet tragic story of the race. He has been heartily received by the best people of our country; let Portsmouth give him a crowded house and courteous welcome—the advertisement in another column tells when and where—to aid in removing the dense overgrowth of ignorance and indifference that has obscured this subject. K. M.

"LA BELLE RUSSE."

This drama, which is to be presented in Music hall this evening with Miss Jeffreys Lewis in the title role, was given in Bangor last Wednesday evening, and the editor of a paper there telegraphed to the Biddeford Times that it "was an event in the history of the Bangor stage. Miss Lewis possesses a power of assumption excelled by none who have ever attempted an emotional part of such depth as is called for by the title role of this powerful drama. Her appearance upon the stage is a magnetic attraction for every eye, and her facial expressions, passionate acting and general perfection in bearing through the finely adjusted lights and shades of this absorbing part, won for her such applause as is seldom accorded by a Bangor audience. The support was splendid, and the only regret is that other engagements prevent the immediate appearance of the company here. Manager Goodwin was offered one thousand dollars to play next Monday and Tuesday evenings in Bangor, but was obliged to refuse on account of an engagement at the Globe theatre in Boston."

The schooner Etta M. Barter, Barter master, arrived at this port on Friday last from Wilmington, N. C., with hard pine lumber to John H. Broughton and timber for Wm. F. Fernald. She had on her deck one hundred and sixty tons, and in her hold three hundred tons.

Ex-Senator James W. Patterson, state superintendent of public instruction, accompanied by Mayor Treat, visited the schools of the city on Friday. He returned to Concord by the evening train.

Mrs. Scott, mother of Mr. George Scott, is the oldest woman in the city, and the oldest person, so far as we know, having reached the advanced age of ninety-five years. She was born in Cork, Ireland, is remarkably strong and active considering her years, attends to household duties and has a keen interest in all that is going on, and appears younger than many persons a score of years her junior. Her mother died at the age of 115 years, and for a long time previous to her decease was frequently visited by the most notable people in the region of her home.

Three truant scholars were returned to school on Friday by Marshal Entwistle, who is truant officer.

The result of two days fishing this week, by one of the vessels sailing out of this port, was eleven fish, weighing 316 lbs. Another vessel caught in the same time thirty-two fish, weighing 1000 lbs.

"She Wore A Wreath of Roses."

She had the jumping tooth-ache
The night when first we met;
Her face was marked with anguish,
Her eyes with tears were wet.

I told her Perry Davis's
Pain Killer was the thing
To cure the jumping tooth-ache,
And take away its sting.

Next evening, when I saw her,
I asked her, "Did you get
That bottle of Pain Killer?"
Said she: "All right—you bet!"

The state of Tennessee has sued the Merchants' bank of Nashville for $57,000, which amount the bank had charged itself with and placed to the credit of State Treasurer Polk, so he could make his statement look correct.

The Greatest Care

should be taken in preparing medicine for the sick. It has been taken in the article known as "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled by Chester H. Graves & Sons, and for sale by all leading druggists and grocers. Physicians can safely prescribe it.

New York, hard pressed for a really new social reform, is calling out to have the male clerks in ladies' shoe stores supplanted with young women, in order that "sensitive ladies may be freed from the embarrassment and accidental annoyances which now sometimes attend the trying on of new shoes."

T. De Witt Talmage says in his third sermon on "Night Side of City Life," that every day in christendom $20,000,000 change hands through gambling, but he does not mention the important fact that thousands upon thousands of people die annually from coughs and colds that might be saved to earth by the timely use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

Joanna Gibbs, an old lady of about eighty years, was burned to death on the 6th inst. at Fairfield, Me.

Adam's Fall.

Ever since Adam's fall, which subjected human nature to diseases of the flesh, there has been a demand for a blood purifier. We all realize the fact that upon the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and vigor of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only a sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause; hence a reliable blood purifier is of greater importance to the people than is generally supposed. We are pleased to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla bears unmistakable proof of being this sort of a medicine, and we think it worthy a trial.

At Lasalle, Ill., Tuesday night, Feb. 6th, while officiating at a marriage service, Rev. George F. Bronson, pastor of the Congregational church in that city, fell dead at the feet of a couple whom he was marrying, just as he pronounced them husband and wife.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOU URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate those diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most acute pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.
$1 a Box. 6 Boxes for $5.
Sent free by mail on receipt of money.
ASK YOUR DRUGGIST FOR IT.
Do not be deluded into taking imitations or substitutes, or something recommended as "just as good." Insist on the genuine with the name of WASHBURN & CO. on each box, which is guaranteed chemically pure under our signature, an indispensable requisite to insure success in the treatment. ☞ Ask for it, or send to us.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be levelled and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or virality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the Nat onal Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

HEART DISEASE

IS YOUR HEART SOUND?

Now Many people think themselves sick and doctor for kidney or liver troubles, or dyspepsia, while the truth were known, the real cause is at the heart. The renowned Dr. Goodwin, Surgeon, recently says "one-third of my subjects show signs of heart disease." The heart weighs about nine ounces, and yet man's twenty-eight pounds of blood passes through it once in a minute and a-half, resting not day or night! Surely this subject should have our attention.

Dr. Graves a celebrated physician has prepared a specific for all heart troubles and limited disorders. It is known as Dr. Graves' Heart Regulator and can be obtained at your druggists, $1, per bottle, six bottles for $5 by express. Send stamp for Dr. Graves' thorough and exhaustive treatise. (1)

LOG ROLLING.

While Wrestling with a Fallen Tree a Lumberman Receives Consequential Damages.

While on a hunting excursion in the great coal and wood region near Carbondale, Pa., the writer met William Coll, a lumberman. Accustomed to life and labor in the forest from early manhood, he was the Knight of the Axe. Many a tree had fallen before his ringing strokes, and fleets of rafts had borne away to market the sawed products. Coll is a character, and if Oscar Wilde is right in saying that all movements in unhindered labor are graceful, our friend William, stripped for his work, and attacking a tree as Richard I assaulted the heavy doors of Front de Beuf's Castle, must have presented an admirable picture.

One day, however,—but let him tell the story himself, as he told it to me:

"I was out in the woods, you know, trying to stay a log down a hill. Thinking I could get a better purchase on it from the lower side, I tackled it there with my log-rolling hook and threw my weight on the lever. She started, she did, but as luck would have it, before I could get out of the way, she rolled right over me. If it hadn't been for a lot of small limbs and brush lying in the road, which lifted her up, she'd a crushed me flat. As it was I got up without a broken bone, but with some mighty bad bruises."

"Then you were all right," said his auditor.

"Not by a blamed sight, stranger. I took cold, rheumatism set in, and, if I hadn't heard of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS and used 'em, it's my opinion I'd ought never have made another chip fly. But the Capcine took hold quick, and now I'm as good as new, except that the thing you kin calk late on:—I shall never wrastle with another log unless I have the advantage of the ground. Fur, as I told you before, if it hadn't been for them brushes I'd been smashed so you could 'a sold me for a door mat."

The Capcine is the thing for rheumatism. It doesn't keep you waiting long. The CAPCINE is CUT in the centre of the genuine. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

CAREFULLY PREPARED. THOROUGHLY TESTED. ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE.

The Phosphates of the Wheat are its most valuable food property, and are, when properly prepared, the most acceptable nutriment with which to build up the system.

The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to save sickness it is wise to BUILD FOR HEALTH.

Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates, while the starch and impure matter are eliminated. These make in themselves a basis, to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is at once healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not be compounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls. Medicine is doubly effective when used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Attorney General Brewster, in response to a letter from Secretary Teller calling attention to the non-performance on the part of the Union Pacific railroad of certain requirements of the Thurman act, says he will institute a suit at once. The amount involved is between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

A Funny Mistake.

Some time ago an editor had what was called "a cystic tumor" in his throat, and one of his contemporaries stated that "Mr. Blank is suffering from a sciatic tumor on his neck." Of course this was an error; but a greater error is the mistaken idea that prevails among some people that sciatic pains cannot be cured. Not only those pains, but rheumatism, will yield to the action of Salicylica, one of the most reliable remedies of modern times.

A GOOD ODD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinnipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy' FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a house hold medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

The Tale of the False Teeth.

False teeth may tell lies in a quiet way. But a real tooth tells the solemn truth when it sends its messages of pain through all the nerves and muscles of the face. "I have the tooth-ache!" is the almost audible howl. And the echo is, "Yes, and the tooth-ache has me!" When the pains of neuralgia settle in a decayed tooth, something must be done. Get Perry Davis's Pain Killer.

Rev. Dr. Spalding, of Dover, has received a gift of $300 from eight of his late parishioners.

T. De Witt Talmage says in his third sermon on "Night Side of City Life," that every day in christendom $60,000,000 change hands through gambling, but he does not mention the important fact that thousands upon thousands of people die annually from coughs and colds that might be saved to earth by the timely use of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam.

Dr. H. W. Brockway, apothecary at Franklin, was knocked down in the street one evening last week, and robbed of $250 in money and $2,800 in bonds. It was thought he was struck by a sand bag. There is no clue to the rogue.

The Greatest Care

should be taken in preparing medicine for the sick. It has been taken in the article known as "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled by Chester H. Graves & Sons, and for sale by all leading druggists and grocers. Physicians can safely prescribe it.

Early Wednesday evening of last week three young ruffians entered the residence of Margaret Griffin, a widow residing on Church street, in Manchester, and after plying her with drugged liquor, outraged her. The parties are still at large.

Adam's Fall.

Ever since Adam's fall, which subjected human nature to diseases of the flesh, there has been a demand for a blood purifier. We all realize the fact that upon the purity and vitality of the blood depend the health and vigor of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only a sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause; hence a reliable blood purifier is of greater importance to the people than is generally supposed. We are pleased to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla bears unmistakable proof of being this sort of a medicine, and we think it worthy a trial.

A Statesman Gone.

Hon. Marshall Jewell, ex-governor of Connecticut, died at his home in Hartford, Conn., shortly before ten o'clock on Saturday night, Feb. 10th, after an illness of a few days from pneumonia.

Marshall Jewell was born at Winchester in this state, Oct. 20th, 1825, and removed with his father, the late Pliny Jewell, to Hartford in 1845. Here he has since been engaged as one of the partners of the firm of P. Jewell & Sons, latterly composed of the four sons of P. Jewell, a house whose repute for integrity, honorable dealing and comprehensive mercantile ability is world-wide.

In politics Mr. Jewell was patriotic and practical; in business energetic and clear-headed; in public positions zealous and industrious, ever seeking to discharge the duties of his office faithfully and for the good of his constituency. While he filled the office of Postmaster General, the country saw the value of the services of a man of practical ability in a position the discharge of the duties of which so closely affect the comfort and convenience of every inhabitant. Gov. Jewell infused new life into this branch of the public service, and was one of the most valuable incumbents ever seen in the office.

But it was in his private and personal relations that Gov. Jewell was seen at his best. He had a certain nobility of character, a largeness of heart, which drew forth the regard and admiration of all who possessed his friendship. He was generous and whole-souled, of attractive personal appearance and agreeable manners; he everywhere had warm friends and admirers, who all over the country to-day mourn what seems to be his untimely death. His fine figure and healthful appearance seem to have induced his friends at least to regard him, while so full of vigor and elasticity, as likely to live for many years to come.

He was one of the many men whom New Hampshire has sent forth to enrich her sister states, and a man of that sterling type of integrity and purity which in its contemplation leads us to be proud that he was born within our borders.

A Possible Break-Up.

According to a Boston paper of Saturday, it would not be surprising, judging from the statements of prominent railway men in that city if a general soaking up of transportation arrangements to the northward were made at no distant day. The paper reports that a gentleman having intimate knowledge of "line matters" states that there is much dissatisfaction among the roads forming the great northern route, and that a dissolution of the intimate relations between the Boston & Lowell and the Concord railroads may perhaps result. "It is only a question of time," he added, "how soon Manager Sherburne retires from that position, and returns to his own road. The cause is jealousy on the part of the Lowell people. In fact, the Lowell is kicking all the time, and Mr. Sherburne won't stand it long." Another well-informed railroad man, speaking of the most probable combination of roads in opposition to the Lowell-Northern-Central Vermont system, said "The advantages of an independent through connection for the Canadian Pacific would be sufficient to counterbalance the twenty miles or so of greater distance than via St. Albans, and the terminal facilities of the Eastern railroad are certainly as good as those of any road by which an entrance into Boston and a track alongside the European steamships could be gained. Besides, the roads composing such a line would have a fair division of the mileage,—the Eastern getting the most haulage, 138 miles,—while the Boston & Lowell gets only forty miles, including the Nashua & Lowell, which it leases. The result of this is that the Boston & Lowell, with its costly terminal facilities, gets only a very small proportion of the through freight receipts, while if it attempts to make adequate terminal charges it is met by the objection from the western roads that the Boston & Albany makes no terminal charges—which the latter can afford, as it gets 202 miles haul. In the case supposed, the Eastern would get its pay for terminals in its large percentage of freight receipts, owing to its long haul."

Queer Law Suit.

An interesting suit was tried in the United States Circuit court in Boston last week. The defendants were three officers at the Charlestown navy yard, and in November, 1881, they were engaged in firing at a target for practice, there being a high wall behind the target. The plaintiffs allege that as they were seated about half a mile away one of the shots struck them both, wounding one in the arm and the other in the thigh. Each defendant denied that the shot was fired by him, and it was contended that all the defendants were acting under orders from their superior officers. The judge left it for the jury to say which, if any, of the defendants fired the shot, and ruled that as they were acting under the orders of their superior officers they were not liable except for negligence. The case was given to the jury on Thursday afternoon, and Friday morning they reported that they were unable to agree.

RUNAWAYS.

On Saturday evening last a horse belonging to Stoddard's livery stable, which was left standing in the vicinity of the Concord railroad station, got tired and started for home, going through Deer, Market, Congress and Vaughan streets to the stable. The only loss was a valuable robe, neither horse nor sleigh being injured.

Messrs. Taylor and Tasker, who were driving into the city from Dover to assist in the orchestra at Music hall on Saturday evening, were coming across the track at the Eastern railroad station when their horse took fright, and on turning into Dver street threw both gentlemen out of the sleigh. The horse continued on, and brought up in the dock by Sise's wharf, where he shortly drowned. The horse was a valuable one, and being very high spirited was easily frightened. The sleigh was recovered, the only damage done being to the horse.

Rev. James DeNormandie on Sunday closed his ministry with the South Parish, a good congregation being present at the morning service notwithstanding the unfavorable weather and bad travelling.

Sawyer's Band, of Dover, is engaged in this city Memorial day.

New Hampshire Lodge, I. O. O. F., will have a social dance at their hall on Wednesday evening.

The Sunday morning Pullman train from Bangor was three hours late on its arrival in this city, owing to detention on the Maine Central railroad. The train from Boston was one hour coming from Hampton to this city. Four extra freight trains, two bound east and two west, were far behind time.

The relatives and friends of Mr. Freeman Sanborn and wife, to the number of about thirty-five, gave them a surprise party on Thursday evening, Feb. 8th, which was enjoyed very much by the participants. The company took possession of the house and an excellent supper was provided for them, after which the party amused themselves with games and social converse until a late hour.

Mr. Benjamin F. Thorndike will exhibit his "Illuminated Myriorama Armory" at the Methodist vestry on Daniel street this evening.

The new boiler for the steamer Mystic was hauled to the navy yard on Saturday, and will be put in the boat there.

It is reported that parties from another state who recently visited this city seeking aid to establish a manufactory for the production of silver-plated goods of high quality, have met with success, and are negotiating for a suitable building, which they will probably procure. The establishment if started will give employment to thirty or forty skilled workmen, and more if the facilities and means will allow it.

On Saturday last a party of sixteen gentlemen from this city visited Dover, and took dinner at the Hawthorne house. The Hawthorne has recently been opened, and is becoming quite popular.

Fifteen thousand feet of lumber from the schooner Etta M. Barter has been sold to Dead & Dowst of Manchester, and will be shipped by rail to that city. There will remain of her cargo about twelve thousand feet of lumber unsold.

Mr. O. D. Bryant, formerly an overseer in the Kearsarge mill, and now holding a similar position in one of the Biddeford factories, spent Sunday in this city, and says the mills at that place are running day and night.

The arrangements for the eighth anniversary entertainment of the Woman's Temperance League, to be given at Golden Cross hall on Tuesday evening, Feb. 13th, are being rapidly pushed forward; and if given as the programme is now made up, it will be the best entertainment ever given by the league. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged at the door, to defray the expense of hiring the excellent talent engaged.

On the 26th of August, 1882, sparks from a locomotive on the Eastern railroad set fire to Norton's grove, comprising four acres of woods located at the seaside at Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass., and owned by Rev. C. A. Bartol, D. D., of Boston, the flames charring the trees badly before being extinguished. The owner brought a claim against the railroad company for damages, which was submitted to Messrs Daniel Leach of Manchester and J. O. Wetherbee of Boston, as referees, who have awarded Dr. Bartol the sum of $5000.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the week ending Feb. 3d, the haddock fleet landed 2,500,000 lbs. of haddock at Boston, the largest quantity received at that port in one week for many years. Prices averaged $1.75 per hundred pounds, while at the same time cod brought $5 per hundred.

Why Do People Have

Two sets of teeth?

They don't shed arms and legs to get new ones, teeth are indispensable, and the Creator gives two chances. When one uses SOZODONT, even among babies, it preserves the "deciduous teeth," and helps to strengthen the permanent.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. codtjan9,84

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. WE DO NOT CLAIM that Hood's SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olintment ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,
No. 75 Broadway.

How the People Are Humbugged

By Co-Operative and Mutual Aid Societies.

The Insurance Department Reports of several States furnish interesting data for judging of the Real Economy, Insurance Reliability, and Business Prudence of placing money with these concerns, under the impression that it furnishes

CHEAP LIFE INSURANCE,

Having duly considered the "lesson" afforded by the following statement, taken from these Official State Reports let the reader consider the DEFINITE Insurance Contract offered by THE

Mutual Life Insurance Co.

OF NEW YORK,

under which no "Assessments" are possible, and the benefit to be received definitely stated at time of application, with such an annual return of the unexpired premium as each year's experience shall develop.

Forty-three organizations, known as "Co-operative Companies," "Mutual Aid or Relief Associations," "Benefit Societies," &c., report to the State Departments of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Massachusetts, &c., the following:

OUTRAGEOUS MISUSE

— OF THE —

Assessments Collected.

Maximum Value of Certificates (or policies) upon which assessments were paid in 1881	$2,305,525.00
These "Certificates" proved to be worth as claims	$51,384.36
But the collections for assessments were	$584,207.94
Difference between collection and disbursement, illustrating the cost (?)	$2,823.58 $511,384.36

ANOTHER WAY OF PUTTING IT.

These unfortunates hold Certificates representing a supposed value to their beneficiaries of $2,305,525

The real value proves to have been about 21¾ per cent, or $511,384.36, by waiving their claim of $82,823.56 of the amount collected ($584,207.94) and this is called Cheap Insurance.

QUERY.

Who ever heard of any responsible Life Insurance Company selling $2,305,525 of insurance, honestly contracted for, at a discount like the above and at such a cost?

"LA BELLE RUSSE."

The curtain at Music hall on Saturday evening went up fifteen minutes behind time, before a limited audience which had appeared to witness Miss Jeffreys Lewis in her portrayal of "Geraldine, La Belle Russe." Miss Lewis evinced strong dramatic power in the difficult role of the noted adventuress. She has apparently made a great study of this part, and not only speaks with the varied tones of flattery, denunciation, entreaty and invitation, but in her movements and with her eyes is constantly emphasizing the strong passages of her dialogue. Mr. Gotthold as Capt. Brand was at times approaching to a good support, but in every respect was not in keeping with the demands of his part. Mr. Dennis as Sir Philip Calthorpe wants more training in elocution; he is either indistinct in his utterances, or speaks too low; much of his dialogue was lost from this cause. The piece, like all emotional plays of this character, needs the occasional relief of a lighter and more mirthful turn than Mr. Jackson was able to make out of Esquire Quilton; in his make-up he did not quite carefully follow the English model of British lawyers, and in this respect the character of the legal adviser of the ancient family of the Calthorpes might have been decidedly improved; and in the same view, Lady Calthorpe could receive with profit some lessons. Miss Lewis of course is the object of interest throughout the play, and she has professional talent which will commend her to the patrons of the Globe theatre in Boston this week. The play as a whole gave marked satisfaction to the audience.

NAVAL ECONOMY: NO. 4.

SOUTH BERWICK, Me., Feb 9th.

Mr. Editor: As reform in the civil service is called for, and a general curtailment of expenses of the government, that the sentiment "the greatest good to the greatest number" be as nearly accomplished as possible, I have noticed with pleasure your willingness that your paper should be used as a medium to enlighten the public in that direction.

I wish to call your attention to a few facts, viz., the diverting of appropriations from their proper and lawful channels to the sole benefit of a privileged class,—the officers of the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H. The amount allotted for maintenance of yards and docks at this yard for the fiscal year ending July 1st, 1882, was $36,000, which was appropriated for the express purpose of paying watchmen, building and repairing carts, wheels, etc., food for cattle and horses, teamsters, steam fire engines and attendance, coal for stoves and furnaces. For the fiscal year ending July 1, 1883, the amount appropriated for the same purposes as stated above for all yards (i. e., for the same bureau in all yards) was $220,000, which was one-half the amount appropriated the previous year; allowing this yard the same proportion as in 1882 would give it $18,000.

But from this amount we must deduct the following sums, taken by officers as perquisites without authority of law: For coal and labor for heating their quarters, $5000; [I would here state that their quarters are heated by steam from boilers set on the hill near the commodore's quarters, steam being driven from there to the island through every house on the yard;] for gas to light their houses, $3000; for hostlers and gardeners $2000; for cutting and storing ice for their use, $500; delivering same, $500; for wood for the cook stoves, $1000, (as it requires the services of two men to saw it, and teams to deliver;) there is also cut on the island for which the government paid $105,000, from fifteen to twenty tons of hay, which instead of being used to feed government cattle is taken by the officers for their uses, with pasturage for their stock in summer; steamer "Emerald," used exclusively for officers and clerks as conveyance to and from Portsmouth on week days, and on Sundays for the servants of officers to attend church and visit their friends in Portsmouth—coal and labor, $4000. The government allows the commodore one horse, and forage for same. Some three years ago a horse used on the yard was condemned and sold; and one purchased to take his place, which proved to be a good driver, was immediately appropriated by the commodore to match the one allowed him, making him a nice pair of coach horses for his private use.

Taking into consideration the salary of these officers,—none less than $2600, and from that to $4000 per annum,—it certainly would appear to a man of ordinary intelligence they could afford to buy their own lights, and fuel to keep them warm in winter, and leave a balance for ice to keep them cool in summer.

Take the amount thus diverted from what it was appropriated for, and you will easily see how much is left for general maintenance of yards and docks, which if kept in its lawful channel would give employment to hundreds of tax-payers, and thus the sentiment "the greatest good to the greatest number" would be realized, as far as the bureau of yards and docks is concerned. Of the other bureaus on this yard I have not been informed with sufficient data to make it public, consequently they will appear after another visit at the yard.

If a steamer is necessary to convey officers and their clerks and servants to and from Portsmouth, why not take one of the two steam launches now laying idle at the yard, and man her with enlisted men, of whom there are six now attached to the "Leyden," a steamer of 306 tons burden that lays at the wharf for months without getting as far from the yard as Portsmouth. I am informed they are capable of taking a launch to Portsmouth and return with safety; if not, why keep them attached to the "Leyden?"

AN HONEST REFORMER.

THE OLD FOLKS' CONCERT.

The concert at the Pearl street church this evening is especially deserving of encouragement, for one reason because it will be well worth listening to. On a former occasion by the same vocalists the concert in the church was highly enjoyed. Then, too, the proceeds are for a worthy object,—the sustaining of religious worship by a set of Christians who, in proportion to their means, contribute more abundantly to this end than any like number of Christians worshippers in our city. Let there be a proper encouragement given these people in their worthy undertaking

WON'T GO WEST.

The continued success of Preble's pool room at No. 31 Congress street indicates the popularity of the game for itself alone, the large patronage with which the room was opened being maintained, although pool is the only attraction, no liquors being sold there. He has been obliged to procure an assistant to look after the room, not being able to spare time for that purpose from his hairdressing and shaving business, though Mr. George W. Hersey, a first-class workman who learned his trade with Mr. Preble, has recently taken a chair in the saloon. Mr. Preble says he hasn't the least thought of going west

THE FIGHTING SCHOOL-BOYS.

Editor Chronicle: If I was astonished at the announcement that "a regular stand-up fight" recently took place between two high school lads, I was none the less so to find out the fact that professed friends of the said school are so ready to come forward and defend everything, fighting and all, as shown by the two communications that appeared in your issue of the 10th inst. Verily, when any institution must be bolstered by such indiscreet persons, it may well cry out, "save us from our friends!" Now I claim to be a true friend to the school and to its able preceptor, and as such, I grieve to hear of such grossly immoral transactions occurring within sound of the school bell. I made no charge against Mr. Goodwin. On the contrary, I fully believed, from my intimate knowledge of the character of the man, that could the names of the belligerents in question be made known to him, he would have done something more than administer a "mild reproof," as your correspondent "E" suggests would have been sufficient. I suppose the champions who have so ably come to the defence of this disgraceful scene, forget that the fighters and their participants are liable to arrest by the authorities for violating a law of the land, and the matter now only awaits a complainant, the penalty being, if I mistake not, quite severe. Fifty years ago, fighting among schoolboys in this deliberate manner was, as well as I can remember, met by the severest punishment in the school I then attended. Since then, in all schools that I have ever attended, taught or supervised, it has been interdicted, altho' very rarely occurring. For a school-boy in the heat of anger, goaded by taunts and jeers, perhaps, to give a schoolmate a "good thrashing," is a not unexpected incident, because it is somewhat in the line of human nature. But to see two young men (boys, if you please,) carefully plan a fight to take place according to the rules of the ring, with witnesses, and all the accompaniments of professionals, is so reprehensible, that language fails to furnish me with words sufficiently strong to condemn such a proceeding. In regard to the statement of "Nemo" that our high school is the "best regulated school in the city, or in the state," I will take no issue, as I prefer the more solid evidence of a tree being known by its fruit. COM.

THE VALVE SUITS.

It will be remembered that, some time since, suits for a large amount were brought against a number of cities for the use in steam fire engines of a valve alleged to be an infringement on patents owned by Marcus P. Norton and others. The city of Concord, one of the respondents, has filed a bill in the United States circuit court, setting forth that it has never manufactured or sold engines containing this valve, and that Norton had known of their use for a long time by manufacturers, thereby forfeiting his right to bring suit, and asking that Norton and his associates may be perpetually enjoined from further action against the complainants. A similar suit has been brought in behalf of the city of Portsmouth, and probably have been or will be in behalf of all the New Hampshire cities that were sued in the circuit court. These equity suits have been brought in the Massachusetts district.

The steamer Mystic this (Monday) morning closes her trips between this city and Kittery, until further notice. She will have a new boiler put in, a new stern built on her, and be otherwise improved, before she is again put on the line.

Mr. Thomas R. Moore, night watchman at the Portsmouth shoe factory, went home on Sunday morning complaining of feeling unwell, took to his bed, and died early in the evening of the same day, of heart disease. He was about thirty-six years old, and leaves a family. He was a stout, rugged-looking man, was in the service of the Union during the war, and for three or four years was a member of the police force of this city.

About forty singers were present at the Old Folks' rehearsal in the Pearl street vestry on Saturday evening.

A large gang of snow shovellers were at work around the Eastern railroad station on Sunday.

The Osgood Dramatic club, so well and favorably known in connection with the entertainments given by Osgood lodge, I. O. O. F., of this city, will form a part of the attractions at the festival of the Congregational society of Rye, to be given at the town hall in that town on the evenings of Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 20th and 21st. This ensures a good time to all who may attend, independent of whatever other attractions may be offered.

In the Maine senate, on the 8th inst., the committee on railroads reported a bill to ratify the contract between the Eastern and the Portland, Saco & Portsmouth railroad companies, dated May 4th, 1871, and all contracts additional and supplementary thereto.

Permanent Cure Guaranteed
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISON OF URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
It has been pronounced by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 85 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.

This elegant, cheap article a ways makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures grayness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tend ncy and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Boston, Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is seriously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at relief from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1 per bottle or six for $5, and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, are obtained by addressing Mrs. L. Pinkham, with stamp for reply at her Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

The Protection Fisheries.

One effect of the fishery provisions of the treaty of Washington is to greatly foster the fisheries of the British provinces, at the expense of the American fishermen. Stimulated by the advantages resulting from the treaty, and the present success of the fishing industry, the Halifax merch nts propose to organize a fishing company to carry on the business on a large scale. At a recent meeting statistics were presented showing the extent of the business done elsewhere and the the resultant profits, and a committee was appointed to prepare a prospectus and solicit subscriptions. Designs were exhibited of "a process for curing fish, recently patented, by means of which a building and apparatus, costing $1,000, would cure about seventy quintals per day, with absolutely no loss, thereby saving ten per cent in the cost of curing."

The Boston Fish Bureau reports that market "well supplied with all the leading varieties of fish, principally from the Provinces. Higher prices and quicker returns from the Boston market than the West Indies is bringing forward reserve stocks that leading ports in Nova Scotia have been holding for the latter trade."

THAT SETTLES IT.

Brought into Competition with the World, the Best Carries off the Honors.

At the great Centennial Exhibition of 1876, the leading products of all the branches of the World's industry were assembled at Philadelphia. To carry off a prize in the face of that tremendous competition was a task of no ordinary difficulty. Inventions and preparations for the alleviation of pain and the cure of disease were present in the greatest possible variety, representing the skill and the profoundest study of the age, and it may be of vital importance to you, personally, to know that the highest and only one at all given to rubber Porous plasters, was awarded to the manufacturers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER, by the following jury:

DR. WM. ROTH, Surgeon-General, Prussian Army.

J. H. THOMPSON, A. M., M. D., Washington, D. C.

C. B. WHITE, M. D., New Orleans.

ERNEST FLEISCH, M. D., Austria.

The decision was afterwards confirmed by the medical jury at the last Paris Exposition. Knowing the value of such high and unbiased testimony, the medical profession, both in the United States and in Europe, quickly threw aside the old, slow acting plasters they had been using, and adopted Benson's in their regular practice. That physicians and surgeons of the broadest reputations did this, distinctly proves the intrinsic merit of the article.

It is no more than just to add that the average physician of to-day is not dominated by the prejudices which retarded the progress and modified the success of his predecessors of not more than twenty-five years ago. He accepts hints from all quarters and endorses and adopts demonstrated healing agents wherever he finds them.

The right of Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster to stand at the head of all external applications whatsoever, for the mitigation or cure of disease, is no longer questioned.

Let the purchaser, however, be on his guard against imitations, the genuine has the word CAPCINE cut in the middle.

The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to save wear it is wise to BUILD FOR HEALTH.

Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates, while the starch and impure matter are eliminated. These take in themselves a basis, to which is added the best and choicest medical quantities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is at once healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not be confounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls. Medicine is doubly effective when used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.

Sold by druggists, $1.00 per bottle.

A Queer Funeral.

The Dover Democrat gives the following account of a queer funeral that took place last week:

Jonathan Chadwick, aged about sixty years, member of I. O. O. F. and K. of P. orders, and noted for his eccentricities, died on Wednesday, Feb. 7th, at his residence in Farmington. He left about $6,000. When taken sick he was told that he he might never recover. He immediately sent expressman York to Boston to buy him a $65 music box. The instrument was placed on a table at the head of his bed. He then arranged the details of his funeral, which he directed should be literally carried out, and left $600 to defray expenses. According to his request his remains were enclosed in a casket and followed by members of the orders to which he belonged and friends in sleighs, and transported to Great Falls.

At the Berwick cemetery was found the grave which he had dug with his own hand, and in it an elaborately chiselled coffin of stone, made and sunk by himself. The remains were taken from the casket and put into the stone coffin, which was in turn hermetically sealed. The casket was then broken in pieces, and the pieces were then thrown into the grave, and the whole covered with dirt. The Odd Fellows performed the burial service, and the crowd proceeded to the Great Falls hotel, where dinner was served to about seventy guests.

In obedience to his wishes not a funeral note was heard, not an expression of sorrow heard, but smoking, story-telling and general jollifications were indulged in to the absolute exclusion of all grief. There were present at this peculiar funeral, among others, Dr. Parker, Rev. Mr. Adams, John Tuttle, justice of the peace, and W. F. Cooper, of Farmington.

Geo. J. Jones, of Farmington, has, we understand, been appointed executor of his will, which amounts to about $6,000. The funeral procession from Farmington comprised forty teams. The affair has created no end of comment, and the people of Great Falls have not yet recovered from the shock of surprise.

Farmers who know that tobacco-stalks are a very valuable manure, because their ashes contain a great portion of potash, perhaps do not know that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best cure for coughs and colds.

Last year 263 divorces were granted in St. Louis, Mo., eighty-seven in favor of husbands and 176 in favor of wives; and of the whole number of decrees no fewer than 243, or more than nine-tenths, were granted by default to the plaintiffs. It would be interesting to know in how many cases the defendant knew nothing of the application.

Mlle. Dinelli, the most popular actress of the Palais Royal theatre, Paris, has become insane. In the middle of a new comedy, when the audience was perfectly quiet and attentive, she turned to the other players and said: "Do you hear how they hiss me? I cannot finish this piece." Next day she tried to kill herself, and had to be taken to an asylum.

"Horse-car conductors," says a spiteful writer, "should always be chosen with a view to personal courage, because 'None but the brave deserve the fare.'" It is pre-eminently true that "None but meritorious preparations deserve success." Everybody knows the nature and effects of catarrh. It is one of the most loathsome maladies, and has been pronounced incurable. Ely's Cream Balm may be described as a gigantic tidal wave which has submerged that theory. This Balm is a pleasant, popular, perfect preparation, and a certain cure for catarrh. It is not a liquid or snuff, and is easily applied. "I had catarrh for fifteen years," said C. Z. Warren, Rutland, Vt., "with distressing pains over my eyes, gradually the disease worked down upon my lungs. Ely's Cream Balm cured me." All who use it speak in the same grateful strain.

Hunnewell, Kansas, shipped during the last season 4,000 car loads of cattle, averaging twenty-two head to the car. The cattle brought $35 per head at the market, making over $3,000,000 worth shipped from this one point.

Truth is Mighty.

When Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., announced that his "Favorite Prescription" would positively cure the many diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, some doubted, and continued to employ the harsh and caustic local treatment. But the mighty truth gradually became acknowledged. Thousands of ladies employed the "Favorite Prescription" and were speedily cured. By druggists. 5

The latest novelty in bonnets is made of wash leather. A London fashion magazine expresses a hope that the twine trimming which was fashionable some time ago will be revived to adorn them with. There would not then be any really bad stock. The shapes could be used to clean windows with, and the trimming come in for tying up parcels.

A GOOD ODD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinnipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a household medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

The Tale of the False Teeth.

False teeth may tell lies in a quiet way. But a real tooth tells the solemn truth when it sends its messages of pain through all the nerves and muscles of the face. "I have the tooth-ache!" is the almost audible howl. And the echo is, "Yes, and the toothache has me!" When the pains of neuralgia settle in a decayed tooth, something must be done. Get Perry Davis's Pain Killer.

The senate judiciary committee have determined to offer the Lees $150,000 for the Arlington estate of 1,100 acres, the Lees to pay back taxes, which have not been paid since the war, and now amount to about $20,000. The Lees are willing to agree to this.

The declaration of the friends of the proposed Lake Shore railroad, thus early, that they shall ask the next legislature to charter such a road, is interpreted by opponents of the measure as meaning that the stubborn contest of 1881 is to be repeated. Friends of the Lake Shore claim much greater strength in the present legislature than they had in 1881, when they were overwhelmingly defeated.

Willis S. Filch, aged eleven years, of North Weare, was killed on Friday, Feb. 9th. A locomotive ran into his ox sled.

Waking up.

Chicago too is discussing the idea of high licenses for bar-rooms. The arguments in favor of that policy are substantially the same as those advanced in several other western cities. From seventy-five to ninety per cent of all the Chicago crimes, casualties, and pauperism is traced directly to rum. Sixty in a hundred of the inmates of the city's penitentiary are by their own confessions intemperate. Three-fourths of the work of the criminal courts and the police is caused by drink. A calculation made by the Lumbermen's Exchange is that a license fee of not less than $500 would decrease the number of bars by one-half, and yield money enough to relieve taxpayers of nearly all of the costs of intemperance. Other bodies, mercantile, religious, and philanthropic, take the same ground, and the outlook for the liquor dealers who have so long ruled Chicago is rather dark.

"Ruth Eliot's Dream: a story for girls, by Mary Lakeman." Cloth, illustrated, $1.25. Boston; Lee & Shepard.

There is an individuality about this work, and a purpose as well, which lend peculiar fascination to the narrative, and that distinguish the story from a host of others that have been written for young women. All the incidents and events occur in New England, while the characters are all fair daughters of the same locality—brave, frank and winsome girls that enlist our admiration while awakening our sympathy. Ruth Eliot, the heroine, is thoroughly unconventional, and we follow her fortunes to the end with an uncommon interest. Something of the spirit of regretfulness lingers after one has finished reading the book, and one, too, feels like saying, "It might have been!" Mary Lakeman—if this is her first book—has made a wonderful success with it, and will win for herself a host of admirers, who will impatiently await another story from the same hand. For sale by Mercer Goodrich.

Detected by His Mother-in-Law.

A Chicago judge, riding in the cars last week, from a single glance at the countenance of a lady by his side imagined he knew her, and ventured to remark that the day was pleasant. She only answered:

"Yes."

"Why do you wear a veil?"

"Lest I attract attention."

"It is a province of gentlemen to admire," replied the gallant man of law.

"Not when they are married."

"But I am not."

"Indeed."

"Oh, no; I am a bachelor."

Then the lady quietly removed her veil, disclosing to the astonished magistrate the face of his mother-in-law. He has been a raving maniac ever since.

Why Do People Have

Two sets of teeth?

They don't shed arms and legs to get new ones. Teeth are indispensable, and the Creator gives two chances. When one uses SOZODONT, even among babies, it preserves the "deciduous teeth," and helps to strengthen the permanent.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eod,jan29,S4

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that Hood's SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Hood's SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,
75 Broadway.

THE LECTURE TO-NIGHT.

Many questions are asked about Mr. Herbert Welsh and his address. All who have the privilege of hearing him this evening will realize the abundant reason for the present appeal. Mr. Welsh does not come before our community as an orator, wishing to sway a mass meeting by mere theories on some trivial question of the hour; he comes, untrained as a public speaker, with an appeal to the intelligent and honorable founded on the simple eloquence of facts, which facts are of historic and vital interest.

We feel that our Portsmouth Indian association has accomplished a good work in bringing us face to face with Mr. Welsh. Let us give a welcome to the speaker and the cause which will be creditable to our churches and our city. See advertisement for time and place. Come all, and come early. P.

AN EPIC POEM.

One of the high school boys has suffered a very severe attack of the divine afflatus, and sends us a poem of eight verses, in which, under the caption of "The Battle of the Giants," he gives the history of an occurrence which took place last week. The first verse relates how a quarrel arose between two of the boys; but the poet makes "razor" rhyme with "half an hour," so we cannot consistently use that verse.

The second and third verses contain many technical terms, and relate how the belligerents adjourned to the Gas House wharf with their backers; how they said "look out" and then "let drive," also "put their dukes up," and did other things properly pertaining to a prize fight. The fourth verse tells how one "led off with his left," and the other

"Was hit on the head,
And feeling the blood, he cried,
'Oh! I am dead, dead, dead!'"

Verse the fifth relates how the worthy gentleman who has long acted as watchman at the navy yard landing proceeded to preserve the peace, as follows:

Just then Bob Anderson came up,
And proudly showed his shield;
And then laying about with his fists,
He quickly cleared the field.

This account of the manner in which the fight was ended gives the officer due credit for zeal and energy, but is hardly consistent with his deserved reputation as a law-abiding citizen, and we think the poet must in this verse have stretched his license considerably.

The remaining verses are devoted to telling how the papers described the affair, and how the two combatants bore themselves in school thereafter; but they lack the poetic fervor and skillful construction of the previous stanzas, so we omit them.

FUNERAL NOTICE.

The officers and members of Osgood Lodge, No. 48, I. O. O. F., are hereby notified to meet at Odd-Fellows hall, on Wednesday, Feb. 14th, 1883, at 10:30 A. M., to attend the funeral of our late Bro. Thomas R. Moore.

Per order of the N. G.,
E. T. MORRISON, Secretary.

Members of Sister Lodges are invited to join.

The morning train from the east was delayed half an hour on Monday.

It has been suggested that the big bell in the Christ church chime join in with the ringing of other church bells on the 22d of February.

On Saturday a druggist in this city moved two small drawers, with their contents, from one side of his store to the other, and estimates that by so doing he has saved two hundred miles of walking in a year! When he thinks of the matter now his feelings are similar to those of the man who was told that his clock was an eight-day one, after he had for thirty-seven years been carefully winding it up every night.

Mr. Thomas R. Moore, who died suddenly on Sunday last, was a member of the crew of the United States sailing frigate "Cumberland" at the time that vessel and the frigate "Congress" were sunk in Hampton roads by the rebel ironclad "Merrimac"—a sea fight which revolutionized the navies of the world. It is said that he was one of those who were carried down by the sinking ship, and that it was mainly owing to his exertions that Carpenter Laighton was enabled to extricate himself from the wreck. Mr. Moore was an Odd Fellow, a Freemason, and a member of the Improved Order of Red Men.

The bill of Mr. Ernest W. Bowditch, which has been remarked upon as being excessive, is really but a reasonable one, as the following explanation will show. The arrangement made by the committee was that Mr. Bowditch should receive twenty-five dollars a day for his services, which is certainly not a large compensation for a civil engineer of his reputation and ability; he has supplied the city with five separate plans, and aside from that part of the work in which is involved the abating of the north millpond nuisance, gives a complete survey for sewerage for the whole city. The plans are valuable for future use, whether any one of them is adopted now or not, and and are obtained at a smaller cost than any previous surveys ever procured by the city. Mr. Bowditch has been strictly honorable in his transactions, is a capable engineer, and the city has gained by his skillful services. G.

About two thousand pounds of fish was received on Monday. Prices have ruled higher this season than any previous winter for years. Eight cents a pound was asked for cod on Monday.

Navy yards near large cities, when the space they occupy could be used for commerce, seem to find but little favor with business men if the programme for doing work by contract is to be adopted, and the yards kept only for the residence of idle officers. Mayor Low, at a meeting held in Brooklyn last week in regard to the advisability of selling or retaining the yard, said the city would be as well off if the yard was used for commercial purposes. Boston people think their city would be better off if commerce could succeed in the possession of their navy yard. This seems an indisputable proposition, unless the yards are to be used in the interest of the government for proper naval purposes.

A Manchester lawyer, C. R. Morrison, has written a book entitled "the proofs of Christ's resurrection from a lawyer's standpoint." We have had this annually demonstrated to us at Easter by clergymen; and whether it is safe to consider the subject from a lawyer's standpoint, depends somewhat upon the location of the point of contemplation. Our Saviour's remarks upon the morality of lawyers in the display of their appetite for the real estate of widows, leads us to infer that perhaps the lawyers might be prejudiced in the consideration of subjects of this nature.

Mr. William H. Gardiner of this city, of the class of '76 of Dartmouth college, recently prepared for the columns of the Boston Journal sketches of sixty-five Dartmouth alumni resident in Washington, which occupy nearly five columns in the Journal. Among the Washington men we note Samuel M. Wilcox, Daniel F. Merrill, Calvin S. Brown, Horace S. Cummings, I. Goodwin Hobbs, Israel H. Hobbs, Frank H. Goodall, and others known in this city.

Last week's Army and Navy Resister, of Washington, D. C., says: "There were many beautiful and noticeable toilets at the presidential reception on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Theodore D. Wilson, wife of Commodore Wilson, chief of the bureau of construction of the navy department, was very handsomely dressed in a garnet velvet trimmed with duchesse lace. Her niece, Miss Maggie Clark, wore a light blue satin dress trimmed with swan's down."

The Newburyport Herald says that three young fellows from this city, aged nineteen, sixteen and fifteen, sought lodgings at the police station in that city on Friday night of last week. It says they visited Newburyport to obtain work, and "were as sharp as razors."

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa, Commander A. G. Kellogg commanding, arrived at the navy yard at three o'clock in the afternoon on Monday last from Norfolk, Va., via intermediate naval stations, with the new propeller for the U. S. S. Omaha, and stores for the yard.

Mr. George A. Jackson, of Dennett street, Christian Shore, on entering his pigeon cote last Sunday morning found a number of his birds lying around on the floor, dead. Thinking the havoc to be the work of rats, he set about finding how the animals got into the coop, and soon discovered an owl in the back part of the place, quietly sleeping the day away. Encasing his hands in a pair of thick buckskin gloves, Mr. Jackson caught the marauding intruder, and though the bird bit and clawed to the best of his ability he was soon thrust into a cage, where he is now ready to receive visitors and fresh meat, and to bite either with equal readiness. The owl is handsomely marked, has a body apparently as big as a large parrot's, and measures three feet from tip to tip of the extended wings.

A letter received in this city last week from Mr. James R. Morrison, of the express firm of Frye & Co., who is spending a short vacation with friends in Florida, says that the thermometer at the time he wrote was standing at eighty-four in the shade, and on the Sunday previous he spent the afternoon in picking strawberries.

Mr. Editor: We had the pleasure on Sunday evening of hearing Rev. Mr. McGinley deliver a very fine discourse on "Confucius." He portrayed so concisely yet so vividly the character of this "mighty man," that he stood forth like a picture before us, the lights and shadows touched by a master's hand. The marked distinction between the teachings of Confucius and Christ was forcibly shown, although we could have wished for a little more elaboration on this point. The weather being unfavorable, many were unable to attend church on this occasion; and for the sake of those who have not heard this discourse, as well as for those who would like to hear it again, we wish Mr. McGinley might be induced to repeat it on some pleasant evening when all can enjoy it. ***

The land connected with the almshouse which it is understood the city government purposes to sell, consists of five lots west of the Creek road, containing seventy-nine acres and twelve hundredths; four of the lots are in a good state of cultivation, and one is used as a pasture. East of the Creek road are twenty-nine and forty-three hundredths acres, divided into three lots—orchard, field and pasture; in the pasture is a pond, which can be utilized as a fish pond, and for cutting ice from in winter. The lands are valuable, and it is said that parties are ready to purchase as soon as the fields are put into the market.

The Biddeford Times says: "The drill stand accepted by Mr. Solon S. Andrews, of this city, at Portsmouth, N. H., is rather a ponderous affair. It is to be placed in the Portsmouth river, and is to be used in drilling operations. It measures thirty-eight by twenty-six feet, is forty feet in height, and was built of fourteen-inch-square timber at a cost of $400. Seven hundred yards of the river's bottom is to be drilled, and obstructions removed. Mr. Andrews has assumed the contract, and will receive $25,000 for the work. Eighteen men are to be employed, four of them divers, and work will be commenced April 1st. The work can only be prosecuted between April and December." This stand was built by Mr. Warren Keen, and will be placed over Gangway rock.

Col. John M. Fessenden, who was chief surveyor of the route of the Boston & Newburyport (Eastern) and Salisbury & Portsmouth (Eastern in New Hampshire) railroads, between the years 1836 and 1843, died in Washington, D. C., Feb. 8th, at the age of eighty years.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt their manhood should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physology ever published. There nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures grayness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tendency and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a lifetime, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or pay at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the kidneys. It cures Kidney Headache, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1, per bottle, or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimony shows.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

Magnetize the Bed.

A German has occupied many years in studying the art of bed-making, or rather bed-placing. Baron Reichenbach, the painstaking German, maintains that improperly placed beds will shorten a man's life. He says:

If a mere magnet exercises an influence on sensitive persons, the earth's magnetism must certainly make itself felt on the nervous life of man. In whatever hemisphere you may be, always sleep with your feet to the equator, and let your body lie "true as a needle to the pole."

The baron says the proper direction of the body is of the utmost importance for the proper circulation of the blood, and many disturbances in the human organisms have been cured by simply placing the bolster at a different point of the compass from that it had occupied.

Let such as have hitherto been in the habit of sleeping with their heads where their feet ought to be, take to heart the example of the late Dr. Fischweiter, of Madgeburg, who died recently at the age of 106 years.

The most unhealthy position, we are told, is when the body lies due east and west. Some observers assure us that to sleep in such a postage is tantamount to committing suicide, and that diseases are often aggravated by deviations from the proper posture.

Extreme Tired Feeling.

A lady tells us "the first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good, her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." A second bottle effected a cure. No other preparation contains such a concentration of vitalizing, enriching, purifying and invigorating properties as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

—Now that Oscar Wilde has left us Gen. Daniel Pratt again stands a chance of mention in the papers.

*All ladies who may be troubled with nervous prostration, who suffer from organic displacement; who have a sense of weariness and a feeling of lassitude; who are languid in the morning; in whom the appetite for food is capricious and sleep at proper hours uncertain, should have recourse to Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

—Out of a train of twelve cars entering Mexico, recently, ten were loaded with beer. Thus it is that the froth and foam crests the advancing wave of American civilization.

*"He who is ready to buy up his enemies will never want a supply of them." It is cheaper to buy a true friend in Kidney-Wort who will drive away those miserable enemies, a torpid liver, constipation, diabetes, piles, diseased kidneys and bowels. This remedy is now prepared in liquid as well as in dry form.

—A fashionable young lady who made seven hundred words out of "conservatory," could not make anything out of flour.

Bright's Disease of the kidneys, diabetes and other diseases of the kidneys and liver, which you are being so frightened about, Hop Bitters is the only thing that will surely and permanently prevent and cure. All other pretended cures only relieve for a time and then make you many times worse.

—"You are always prying into other people's business," said the policeman to the burglar who was endeavoring to open a jewelry store with a jimmy.

"Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills, are worth their weight in gold in nervous and sick headache."—Dr. H. H. Schlichter, of Baltimore.

—The Vicksburg Herald estimates that there are forty pistols to every subsoil plow, in the state of Mississippi.

"Rough on Corns."

Ask for Wells' "Rough on Corns." 15c. Quick, complete, permanent cure. Corns, warts, bunions.

—Beecher agrees with Ingersoll that God is not going to punish people for Adams' sin "by dropping them like beans into hell for 10,000 years."

Catarrh of the Bladder.

Stinging irritation, inflamation, all kidney and urinary complaints, cured by "Buchu-paiba." $1.

—A farmer near Philadelphia had just got twenty spring chickens ready for market when some one stole them. The thief has not been identified yet, but a man who recently applied at a blacksmith shop to have his teeth filed is strongly suspected.

Public benefactors are not alone confined to the higher orders of scientific research. Indeed but few have done more for the welfare of the working masses than James Pyle through the introduction of his labor-saving Pearline.

Brought into Competition with the World, the Best Carries off the Honors.

At the great Centennial Exhibition of 1876, the leading products of all the branches of the World's industry were assembled at Philadelphia. To carry off a prize in the face of that tremendous competition was a task of no ordinary difficulty. Inventions and preparations for the alleviation of pain and the cure of disease were present in the greatest possible variety, representing the skill and the profoundest study of the age, and it may be of vital importance to you, personally, to know that the highest and only medal given to rubber Porous plasters, was awarded to the manufacturers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER, by the following jury:

DR. WM. ROTH, Surgeon-General, Prussian Army.

J. H. THOMPSON, A. M., M. D., Washington, D. C.

C. B. WHITE, M. D., New Orleans.

ERNEST FLEISCH, M. D., Austria.

The decision was afterwards confirmed by the medical jury at the last Paris Exposition. Knowing the value of such high and unbiased testimony, the medical profession, both in the United States and in Europe, quickly threw aside the old, slow acting plasters they had been using, and adopted Benson's in their regular practice. That physicians and surgeons of the broadest reputations did this, distinctly proves the intrinsic merit of the article.

It is no more than just to add that the average physician of to-day is not dominated by the prejudices which retarded the progress and modified the successes of his predecessors of not more than twenty-five years ago. He accepts hints from all quarters and endorses and adopts demonstrated healing agents wherever he finds them.

The right of Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster to stand at the head of all external applications whatsoever, for the mitigation or cure of disease, is no longer questioned.

Let the purchaser, however, be on his guard against imitations. The genuine has the word CAPCINE CUT in the middle.

THE CONSTANT HEART.

Sadde songe is out of season
When birdes and lovers mate,
When soule to soule must paye swete toll
And fate be joyned with fate;
Sadde songe and wofull thought controle
This constant heart of myne,
And make newe love a treason
Unto my Valentine.

How shall my wan lippes utter
Their summons to the dedde.—
Where nowe repeate the promise swete,
So farre my love hath fledd?
My onely love! What musicke fleet
Shall crosse the walle that barres?
To earthe the burthen mutter,
Or singe it to the starre.

Perchance she dwelles a spirit
In beautye undestroyed
Where brightest starrs are closely sett
Farre out beyonde the voyd;
If Margaret be risen yet
Her looke will hither turne,
I know that she will heare it,
And all my trewe heart learne.

But if no resurrection
Unseale her dwellinge low,
If one so fayre must bide her there
Until the trumpe shall blowe,
Nathlesse shall Love outvie Despaire,
(Whilst coustant heart is myne)
And, robbed of her perfection,
Be faithfull to her shrine.

At this blythe season bending
He whisper to the clodde,
To the chill grasse where shadowes passe
And leafesse branches nodde;
There keepe my watche, and crye—Alas
That Love may not forget,
That Joye must have swifte ending
And Life be laggard yet!

—Nearly everything is called in question in these days of free inquiry. A man in Australia recently died, leaving $7,000 to be expended in masses to be said for the deliverance of his soul from purgatory. Ordinarily such directions are faithfully followed, whatever may be thought of their wisdom. But in this case the executor refused to pay over the money to the church until it was legally proved that there was such a place as purgatory, and that the priests were really able to deliver souls from it by saying masses. The case is therefore to be tried in the secular courts, when some interesting developments may be expected.

A Funny Mistake.

Some time ago an editor had what was called "a cystic tumor" in his throat, and one of his contemporaries stated that "Mr. Blank is suffering from a sciatic tumor on his neck." Of course this was an error; but a greater error is the mistaken idea that prevails among some people that sciatic pains cannot be cured. Not only those pains, but rheumatism, will yield to the action of Salicylica, one of the most reliable remedies of modern times.

—"What's the crowd about?" queried a stranger, as he noticed a stream of visitors going into a fashionable residence. "It's a silver weddin'," obligingly replied his informant. "What's a silver weddin'?" "Why, a chap's been married twenty-five times, and he's a celebratin' of it."

A GOOD ODD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a household medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

KIDNEY-WORT

The Tale of the False Teeth.

False teeth may tell lies in a quiet way. But a real tooth tells the solemn truth when it sends its messages of pain through all the nerves and muscles of the face. "I have the tooth-ache!" is the almost audible howl. And the echo is, "Yes, and the toothache has me!" When the pains of neuralgia settle in a decayed tooth, something must be done. Get Perry Davis's Pain Killer.

The Nashua police made a raid on the 12th inst. on Josiah Robbins' residence near that city, and found a lot of harnesses and whips, stolen from residents in Littlefield and other towns. The principal thief, Thomas Ware, made his escape. The arrests are considered of considerable importance, and break up a gang which has been operating quite extensively this winter in that region.

A Severe Arraignment.

Some time ago Master George H. Peters, U. S. N., went quietly through the treasury department at Washington in order to prepare a report giving reasons why the revenue marine, life-saving, coast survey, and marine hospital services should be transferred to the navy. In reply to his argument Secretary Folger of the treasury directed the heads of those bureaus to prepare answers why the transfer should not be made. One of these, by Captain E. W. Clark of the revenue marine division, is nearly ready to be sent to Congress. The reasons given by Master Peters (or Secretary Chandler) for transferring that service to the navy, on the surface appear more convincing than those for any other; but Capt. Clark's statement effectually demolishes Secretary Chandler's argument.

After showing the present high status of the service, that no fault is found with the management, that the number of vessels and amount of work done have steadily increased, while the expenses have been steadily diminished, and that during the last six years 678 vessels have been saved from peril by revenue cutters, amounting in value to over sixteen million dollars, while in the same period 642 persons have been saved from drowning, he goes on to demonstrate that navy officers do not, and from the nature of their education and experience cannot, possess the qualifications needed for officers in the revenue marine. He argues that the same department which collects the revenue should be charged with its protection. From this succinct statement in defence of keeping the service as it is, he goes on in a most unsympathetic manner to give a few cold facts about the navy, to prove why this economically-conducted and efficient revenue marine should not be ruined by entrusting it to the navy.

No stronger argument against the proposed change can be given than Capt. Clark's analysis of the extravagance and inefficiency which for years has reigned at the navy department. Our navy has twice as many officers in proportion to its men as that of any other nation. We have now 2000 officers, and only fifty-seven serviceable vessels,—not one an effective cruiser. We have spent three hundred and sixty-nine millions since the war closed on our navy, and the result is that it has steadily decreased from six hundred and seventy-five vessels to one hundred and thirty-nine, most of which are useless. In seventeen years ninety-eight millions have been spent for construction and repairs, nearly thirteen millions for ordnance, and almost thirty-three millions for navy yards. For all this money no tangible results appear.

Many naval vessels have been lost on shore since the war closed; not one of the revenue ships, whose duties keep them near the coast, has been lost. Captain Clark suggests that in a few years the naval officers would contrive to wreck all the vessels of the revenue marine, were they put in charge of the nearly 900 clamorous idlers who now adorn the list of naval officers. He then brings forward the most severe charge of all by alluding to the fact that in many cases naval officers are themselves smugglers, whom it is almost impossible to detect because of their special facilities. This, too, in direct violation of their oaths and the law. For the five years ending last December over fifty naval officers were caught directly concerned in the business of smuggling on naval vessels, not only for their own advantage, but also for that of merchants in New York. These scandalous infractions of the law and naval regulations were never visited with discipline. He does not consider these gentlemen the best material of which to make revenue officers.

A similar attempt to absorb the revenue marine was made in 1843, and met with deserved failure. All the secretaries of the treasury, including Hamilton, Gallatin, McLean, Woodbury, Cass, Shaw, Sherman, approved the present system. "It remained for a master in the navy," concludes this lively report, "to discover the incongruities of the system and point out its hidden defects, to teach state-craft to statesmen, to roll back the curtain of time and reveal the errors of judgment of the founders of the republic."

The revenue marine service will not be transferred to the navy this year.

Telegraph Consolidation.

The absorbing powers of that gigantic monopoly, the Western Union Telegraph Co., have again been tested in having to swallow the Mutual Union Co., which has been leased with its 46,000 miles of wire.

By the terms of the lease, it is provided that the Western Union shall assume all the obligations and contracts of the Mutual Union; that it shall pay the interest on the $5,000,000 bonds and 1 1-2 per cent dividends on the $10,000,000 share capital of the company, and that it shall establish a sinking fund of not less than $50,000 a year toward the payment of the principal of the bonds. These charges amount to $500,000 a year; the interest to $300,000, the guaranteed dividends to $150,000, and the payment to the sinking fund to $50,000. The earnings of the company have been recently at the rate of about $1,600,000 a year, and the cost of operating its lines has been about two-thirds of the gross earnings. A large reduction in expenses is expected to be made by the practical consolidation of the company with the Western Union. Offices will be united as rapidly as possible, and the number of operators reduced. Western Union officers say that the cost of working the newly acquired lines will be very small, because that company will not be obliged to increase greatly its present force. The lease is to go into effect immediately, but the arrangement of details is likely to take some time.

How long it will be before a new rival comes to the surface, to be in turn bought off, and for which the public will have to pay in increased tolls to the mammoth Western Union, is of course a question it is too early to answer.

The Raymond California Tours.

Persons desirous of seeing the wonders of Colorado and California will be interested in the advertisement of the Raymond excursions, to be found in another column. Three different parties are to go to the Pacific coast in April, the dates of departure from Boston being April 5th, 12th and 26th. The programme of travel is the same in each case, the parties going out by the southern route through Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Southern California, and returning over the Central and Union Pacific lines through Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska and Iowa. Thus the outward and returning trips will be wholly different, from the Mississippi river to the Pacific. Special trains of Pullman cars, and many extra sight-seeing facilities, will be enjoyed in connection with these tours. The regular trip covers fifty-nine days, and the return tickets are good for a much longer period. An eighty page programme giving full details will be sent to any address by W. Raymond, No. 240 Washington street, Boston.

News and Notes.

The latest western flood is the worst one for many years. At Cincinnati, on the 12th inst., the river was higher even than the great flood of 1832. At Louisville, Ky., vast damage was done; and in Indiana all the Ohio river towns were drowned out to a greater or less degree, the loss at New Albany being $200,000 at least, 600 houses being flooded. Water in many places was over the tops of the telegraph poles. Lawrenceburg and Harkentown, Ind., were on the 13th reported entirely covered; and at Shawneetown, Ill., the people were moving into second stories. At Cincinnati the freight depot of the Cincinnati Southern railroad suddenly fell, carrying down a crowd of people, all of whom were drowned; number unknown, but supposed to exceed a hundred.

Daniel Buckley, twenty-four years old, was killed by the cars at Hopkinton, Mass., Feb. 12th.

Busch, the superintendent of the Erie county (New York) almshouse is under a cloud. It is alleged that his peculations foot up as high as $100,000. The institution has from 500 to 800 inmates the year round. The expenses of the poorhouse have been outrageously high. Busch has been a saloon keeper in Buffalo for some years. He has always been an active ward politician, and this secured for him the position he now holds.

John Casey was killed by the busting of an emery wheel in a shop at Greenfield, Mass., Feb. 12th.

The Bay State Iron Company of Massachusetts has failed.

Thursday night, Feb. 8th, John Day fatally shot a young man named Freeman, who was eloping with his daughter, at Roxana, near Charlotte, Mich. The father pursued the flying lovers on horseback, armed with a rifle, and fired as soon as he overtook them.

New Hampshire Items.

Chadwick, the Farmington "eccentric," requested that after death he should be secured standing in his coffin, a pipe placed in his mouth, and in that position hauled in a hay rack to his last resting place. This request was not complied with.

The widow of Hon. Alexander H. Tilton is to give a steam fire engine to Tilton, and she will also build a tower on the Episcopal church in that place. A Boston lady, daughter of the late Dr. Hall of Tilton, offers the town a $10,000 public library and building.

Gen's Andrew Jackson, G. T. Beauregard and Jubal A. Early.

The military chieftains above named were brought in strange contact a few days ago at New Orleans, La., on the 8th of January, 1883, when the 153d Grand Monthly Drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery took place, immediately after the anniversary of the Battle of New Orleans, known there as St. Andrew Jackson's day, and is observed as a general holiday. Gen's Beauregard and Early had (as they always do) the entire management of the distribution of $265,500 in prizes, and here is what they did with it: Ticket No. 10,454, sold for $5 to Alvin Kramer, of Odessa, La. Fayette county, Mo., drew $75,000. Ticket No. 5,888 drew $25,000—sold in fifths (for $1 each)—one $5,000 to Augustine Lopez, 56 Barone st.; another $5,000 to F. Tagliapietra, 123 Conti st., both of New Orleans. Among others, the third capital prize of $10,000, won by ticket No. 86,401, sold in fifths in New York city. Tickets Nos. 22, 285 and 76,755, drawing each $6,000, were sold in fifths—one to N. B. Apple, of Omaha, Neb.; one collected through the Union and Planters Bank of Memphis, Tenn.; one to of J. R. Ketchum, No. 622 Broadway, New York city; one to H. E. Stevens, of Titusville, Pa. Tickets Nos. 23,260, 23,635, 39,950, 78,516, 93,672, each drew $2,000, scattered over the country. Next opportunity will be on Tuesday, March 13th. Write for any one applying to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., will be fully informed.

A $10,000 Romance!

A true romance in real life recently took place in Louisville, Ky. The circumstances were these: Miss Alcene Vanderrept, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of one well known and esteemed druggist, had a well known young gentleman, also of Louisville, paying her attentions, and both being possessed of the speculative spirit and unknown to the other, purchased a $1 ticket in the Commonwealth Distribution Company. It so happened that each took a half ticket with the same number, and when the drawing terminated they had drawn $5,000 each, their number having drawn the $10,000 prize. When the young gentleman called to tell his good fortune, his surprise was great to find his sweetheart was also entitled to congratulations. Of course, a wedding soon followed, for it was self-evident they were intended for each other, and the young gentleman is now the owner of a prosperous business, and at his request we refrain from giving his name also. Now let all young gentlemen and ladies go and do likewise. Next drawing, Wednesday, Feb. 28th. 1,000 prizes, $112,400. Capital prize, $30,000. Tickets, only $2. Send your order immediately to R. M. Boardman, Louisville, Ky.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. coitjan9,84

Are Our Hotels Safe!

The recent fires in the Newhall House, Milwaukee, Sturtevant House, New York, and Planters' House, St. Louis, causes anxious travellers to ask the above question; so also is the above question asked by purchasers of lottery tickets, is the lottery drawing safe, and is it able to pay the prizes drawn, are they drawn and paid, and are the chances good to win a fortune? The Commonwealth Distribution Company, of Louisville, can truthfully answer yes, to all the above interrogatories. Next drawing Feb. 28th, 1883. Tickets only $2. Address R. M. Boardman, Courier-Journal Building, Louisville, Ky.

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. WE DO NOT CLAIM that Hoop's SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Hoop's SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

MRS. S. S. MOODY,

MR. WELSH'S LECTURE.

The lecture of Mr. Welsh at the North church on Tuesday evening, upon the Indians' rights and wrongs, was listened to with much attention by a highly appreciative audience. The church was well filled. In the desk with the lecturer were Rev. Mr. McGinley and A. S. Wentworth, Esq. After prayer by Mr. McGinley the lecturer was introduced, and gave a clear and comprehensive narrative of what he saw in a journey to the Indian territory. He shew the possibilities of civilizing these Indians, educating their children, and converting the race to Christianity. The address, without being pretentious, was at times eloquent, and given entirely without notes. Applause followed its conclusion. Mr. McGinley supplemented the remarks of Mr. Welsh by an eloquent appeal to our people to do their duty in this needed effort, and after singing "America" the congregation dispersed.

PORTSMOUTH GAS-LIGHT CO.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of this company was held in their office, No. 38 Market street, on Tuesday of this week. C. C. Jackson, president, called the meeting to order, and presided.

The call having been read, John Sise, Esq., introduced resolutions of respect to the memory of the late Ichabod Goodwin, for many years president of the corporation, and moved their adoption, which unanimously passed.

The president read the report of the directors, giving the cost of improvements for the past year, during which period the manufacturing part of the works had been rebuilt at a cost of $5,130.92, which item had been charged to profit and loss. After a new condenser and washer,—which will require $1500 more outlay,—shall have been obtained, the directors hope to improve the quality of gas, and if possible reduce its price to consumers. Two dividends of four per cent each have been paid. The report, which gave certain figures of interest to the stockholders, was accepted.

The ballot for officers resulted in the unanimous election of David Kimball as clerk and treasurer; Christopher C. Jackson, John Sise, Ezra H. Winchester, Joseph W. Peirce and John J. Pickering, directors; and Andrew J. Penhallow, auditor.

After certain enquiries by some of the stockholders as to consumption and the price of gas, and explanations by Mr. Sise, of the board of directors, the meeting was dissolved.

The directors at a meeting held after the adjournment of the annual meeting elected Christopher C. Jackson president of the board.

In addition to the brief record of the military career of the late Thomas R. Moore published in this paper, we learn that he was a member of the 1st District of Columbia cavalry, eight companies of which regiment were recruited in Maine. Mr. Moore was taken prisoner in the spring of 1864, while participating in Gen. Kautz's raid along the Danville railroad in Virginia, and was confined some months in the Salisbury prison pen in North Carolina. In September, '64, the members of the 1st D. C. cavalry were transferred to the 1st Maine cavalry, a regiment which bore upon its flag, by special order of the war department, the names of more battles than any other regiment in the army of the Potomac. Gunner Mack, U. S. N., who was gunner of the frigate Cumberland at the time of the Hampton Roads fight, and fired the first shot which hit the Merrimac, speaks in warm terms of the cool bravery with which Moore, then little more than a boy, did his duty on that disastrous day, passing powder-boxes after all the powder-boys were killed, and obeying all other orders as promptly and cheerfully as though at ordinary drill, until finally receiving the word from the gunner to look out for himself if possible, as the ship had but a few moments more to float.

The schooner Charles L. Mitchell, Frost master, which arrived at this port on the 5th inst. from Newport News, Va., with 956 tons of coal for J. Albert Walker, and after discharging her cargo sailed for a coal port, went ashore on Fisher's island on the 10th, and bilged. The crew were saved.

Mr. Jasper, claim agent for the Eastern railroad, authorizes a denial of the statement that the road has paid Rev. Dr. C. A. Bartol of Boston the sum of $5000, or any other sum, for claimed damages to his woodland at Manchester, Mass., from locomotive sparks. The amount named was awarded by referees, but it is regarded as excessive.

A ship in tow of a large tug put into the lower harbor on Sunday evening, and spent the night there; supposed to be the ship Syren, bound from Portland to New York.

The owl caught by Mr. George A. Jackson in his dove cote on Sunday, and put in a cage, made his way out through the side of his prison on Monday night, and departed. Mr. Jackson now wishes he had whacked him with a club.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa, on her passage from Boston to this port this week, went into Marblehead, Mass., to recover an anchor which she slipped last summer when in that port with the secretary of the navy on board. The anchor got fouled on the bottom, and it was deemed best at that time not to wait for it to be cleared, but to go for it "some other time."

Applicants for the position of night watchman at the Portsmouth shoe factory are numerous. It is thought, however, that Mr. George W. Twombly, formerly night yard master at the Eastern railroad station in this city, will be appointed to the position; the company could not secure a better man.

The steamer James Sampson, when making her "workmen's trip" from this city to the navy yard on Tuesday morning, ran aground on Pumpkin island, and hung there until after noon, when she came off with the flood tide, unharmed. At the time of the mishap she had about ninety passengers on board, who were landed through the courtesy of Mr. Wm. F. Noyes, foreman shipwright on the yard, who came off with his big boat at once. The steamer had made her early trip from Kittery Point without inconvenience, and her getting on the island was due to a dense surface-vapor which shrouded the river to the height of twenty or thirty feet, and to floating ice which compelled her to deviate from her regular course.

A new skating rink is to be established here in one of the halls in Franklin block, formerly used for the manufacture

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

(26th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—(London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—(Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures grayness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tendency and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, Irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists, or may be sent by mail in the form of pills or lozenges, on receipt of price, as above, for either of the preparations, as the demand may be for one or the other, as the Compound is the same in both.

For Kidney Complaints of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

Somebody's Child.

Somebody's child is dying—dying with the flush of hope on his young face, and somebody's mother thinking of the time when that dear face will be hidden where no ray of hope can brighten it—because there was no cure for consumption. Reader, if the child be your neighbor's take this comforting word to the mother's heart before it is too late. Tell her that consumption is curable; that men are living to-day whom the physicians pronounced incurable, because one lung has been almost destroyed by the disease. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured hundreds; surpasses cod liver oil, hypophosphites, and other medicines in curing this disease. Sold by druggists.c —A close calculator estimates that 5,000,000 base balls are made and used in this country every year, and as every ball ought, at least, to average three sprained fingers and one chug in the stomach, it's easy to see why the price of arnica is kept up.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

—This must be the bronze age. John G. Whittier recently received from a Chicago lady 200 engraved visiting cards with a request to write his illustrious name on each of them, as the writer was to give a reception to her friends and desired to present them with some memento of the event.

Food for Young and Old.

Food and medicine for young and old, prepared without fermentation, from Canadian barley malt, hops, quinine, bark, etc. Malt Bitters are warranted more nourishing, strengthening, vitalizing and purifying, by reason of their richness in bone and muscle producing material than all other forms of malt or medicine, while free from the objections urged against malt liquors.

—"Have you ever tried the faith cure?" asked a long-haired, sallow-faced stranger, addressing a gentleman who sat behind him in a Brooklyn street car. "I have," was the answer. "Do you believe in it?" "I do." "May I ask, then, of what you were cured?" "Certainly. I was cured of my faith."

I am Proud

to say from personal experience that Sulphur Bitters, which advertisement will be seen in another column, is the best spring and blood medicine to be found. It is prepared by an honest firm who scorn to use cheap and worthless medicines, but use the best that money can buy.—Editor.

—A New York doctor has been figuring for the last twenty years, and has reached the conclusion that very small feet on a woman means a temper like cayenne pepper, and a tongue which will lie about its best friend. This is a noble effort to console women with big feet, but it won't work.

Wheat Bitters have received the endorsements of medical men of the highest standing. These can be shown.

—An exchange announces in a tone of surprise: "The Czar and Czarina have been dancing at a ball." There doesn't seem to be anything out of the way in such conduct. That is what balls are for. Now, if they had danced at a prayer meeting, comment would have been in order.

"For seven years or more I suffered with a distressingly painful joint trouble—called by many rheumatism. I used St. Jacobs Oil, and was quickly cured, says John Carr Moody, Esq., of Vallejo, California.

—The story is told of Congressman Smalls of South Carolina, that being complimented upon the good order which prevailed in the house while he was in the speaker's chair, he said: "White men don't like to be ordered by a colored man to be quiet. That is why they kept quiet."

Bright's Disease, Diabetes.

Beware of the stuff that pretends to cure these diseases or other serious kidney, urinary or liver diseases, as they only relieve for a time and makes you ten times worse afterwards, but rely solely on Hop Bitters, the only remedy that will surely and permanently cure you. It destroys and removes the cause of disease so effectually that it never returns.

—Mrs. Langtry walken into a Philadelphia milliner's store, and trying on a bonnet said: "What a fright I am." "Oh, no, madam," the milliner replied, deprecatingly; "we have really worse looking ladies than you coming in here!" The beauty did not purchase a bonnet from that establishment.

It's hard to believe Miss Whittier was cured of such terrible sores by Hood's Sarsaparilla, but reliable people prove it.

—Now that Oscar Wilde has left us Gen. Daniel Pratt again stands a chance of mention in the papers.

—"Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills, are worth their weight in gold in nervous and sick headache."—Dr. H. H. Schlichter, of Baltimore.

THAT SETTLES IT.

Brought into Competition with the World, the Best Carries off the Honors.

At the great Centennial Exhibition of 1876, the leading products of all the branches of the World's Industry were assembled at Philadelphia. To carry off a prize in the face of that tremendous competition was a task of no ordinary difficulty. Inventions and preparations for the alleviation of pain and the cure of disease were present in the greatest possible variety, representing the skill and the profoundest study of the age, and it may be of vital importance to you, personally, to know that the highest and only medal given to rubber Porous plasters, was awarded to the manufacturers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER, by the following jury:

DR. WM. ROTH, Surgeon-General, Prussian Army.

J. H. THOMPSON, A. M., M. D., Washington, D. C.

C. B. WHITE, M. D., New Orleans.

ERNEST FLEISCH, M. D., Austria.

The decision was afterwards confirmed by the medical jury at the last Paris Exposition. Knowing the value of such high and unbiased testimony, the medical profession, both in the United States and in Europe, quickly threw aside the old, slow acting plasters they had been using, and adopted Benson's in their regular practice. That physicians and surgeons of the broadest reputations did this, distinctly proves the intrinsic merit of the article.

It is no more than just to add that the average physician of to-day is not dominated by the prejudices which retarded the progress and modified the successes of his predecessors of not more than twenty-five years ago. He accepts hints from all quarters and endorses and adopts demonstrated healing agents wherever he finds them.

The right of Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster to stand at the head of all external applications whatsoever, for the mitigation or cure of disease, is no longer questioned.

Let the purchaser, however, be on his guard against imitations. The genuine has the word CAPCINE CUT in the middle.

An Early Crop of Peas.

There are two distinct classes of peas, those with small round seeds, and others with much larger, irregularly shaped peas, the surface of which is wrinkled. The wrinkled seeded, or marrow peas, are as much better than the others as sweet corn is superior to field corn. The round peas, while not so good, are much hardier and earlier than the others. Unless the soil is warm, and they germinate quickly, wrinkled peas will decay before they can come up. The round peas are vastly better than no peas, and are very acceptable until the others come. To have early peas, they must be sown early—the earlier the better. After the soil has thawed for the first four inches, even if it is solid below, sow peas. If the ground was manured and plowed last autumn, all the better; if not, select the richest available spot, and open a drill four inches deep. Peas should be covered deeper than most other seeds. For varieties, the "Early Kent" is one of the best; it has almost as many names as there are dealers. "Daniel O'Rourke" is one of the names of a good strain of this pea. "Carter's First Crop" is another good variety, and every spring new extra early sorts are sent from England, which usually turn out to be the old "Early Kent," with a new name. The peas should be sown in the bottom of the drill, rather thickly, at least one every inch, and at first covered with about an inch of soil. It is well to put about four inches of coarse stable manure over the rows; this is to be left on in cold days, but when it is sunny and warm, pull it off with the rake, and let the sun strike the soil over the peas, replacing it at night. When the peas sprout, gradually cover them with fine warm soil, placing the coarse manure over them as needed, until the covering of soil reaches the level of the surface. If a ridge of soil, a few inches higher than the peas, be drawn up on each side of the row, it will greatly protect them from cold winds. When the plants are a few inches high, draw some fine soil up to them, and stick in the brush. When the soil becomes dry and warm, the main crop of wrinkled peas may be sown.—Dr. Thurber, in American Agriculturist.

"What thing so good?" is the query of a poet some what confused; if he has a cold, the only good thing we know of is a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

The youngest son of the late William E. Dodge of New York was the son-in-law of Governor Marshall Jewell of Connecticut. On Friday, Feb. 9th, his father died suddenly; on Saturday, the 10th, his father-in-law. "Horse-car conductors," says a spiteful writer, "should always be chosen with a view to personal courage, because 'None but the brave deserve the fare.'" It is pre-eminently true that "None but meritorious preparations deserve success." Everybody knows the nature and effects of catarrh. It is one of the most loathsome maladies, and has been pronounced incurable. Ely's Cream Balm may be described as a gigantic tidal wave which has submerged that theory. This Balm is a pleasant, popular, perfect preparation, and a certain cure for catarrh. It is not a liquid or snuff, and is easily applied. "I had catarrh for fifteen years," said C. Z. Warren, Rutland, Vt., "with distressing pains over my eyes, gradually the disease worked down upon my lungs. Ely's Cream Balm cured me." All who use it speak in the same grateful strain.

Judge Virgin, of the supreme court of Maine, has decided that a prohibition in a marine insurance policy against loading grain in bulk, does not prohibit loading grain in bins made by setting up bulkheads in a vessel's hold. Some of the marine underwriters think that the judge is not one of the wise Virgins.

Human Blood.—On the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system. Disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause. A remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use. Sold by dealers.

One of the projects which would shorten railway travel between New York and places east of Boston is, to have a transfer steamer run from the New York & New England station in Boston, to East Boston, and thence over the East Boston line of the Eastern railroad to Maine. It would save the tedious delays now incident to a New York passage by the Boston & Albany line, and very materially shorten the time between stations on the Eastern and Maine Central road and Boston.

A GOOD ODD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinnipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times excruciately. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a household medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

The Tale of the False Teeth.

False teeth may tell lies in a quiet way. But a real tooth tells the solemn truth when it sends its messages of pain through all the nerves and muscles of the face. "I have the tooth-ache!" is the almost audible howl. And the echo is, "Yes, and the toothache has me!" When the pains of neuralgia settle in a decayed tooth, something must be done. Get Perry Davis's Pain Killer.

O. C. Moore has written to Washington urging that some better man than himself can be found for civil service commissioner, and suggesting that the east cannot expect two members of the commission. The movement to appoint Mr. Moore was made by the delegation in Congress entirely without his previous knowledge.

The Greatest Care

should be taken in preparing medicine for the sick. It has been taken in the article known as "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon," bottled by Chester H. Graves & Sons, and for sale by all leading druggists and grocers. Physicians can safely prescribe it.

The Railway Problem.

The apparent divorce of the relations between the Concord and the Boston & Lowell railroads is probably a ruse de guerre made expedient by the incessant law raids of Mr. Pearson, a large owner of the stock of the Concord railroad, who has a chronic dread of consolidation, and affects to believe that the business arrangements between the Lowell and the Concord railroads are neither lawful nor for the interest of the Concord road.

The Boston & Lowell road is a short line, and in order to be repaid for some of its great outlays to accomodate through business, must assess disproportionately some of the upper roads. Of these, the Concord is better able to stand the levy than any of its connecting lines, and possibly it has to suffer in this respect. The fact that it would be more economical to concentrate the entire line of railway from the Vermont line to Boston, under one management, if economy in operation was to be consulted, does not seem to outweigh the consideration that in the making up of the capital or relative share coming to the Concord, some of its shareholders from its present high market price and its unusually high rate of dividends, would not be content with any share upon which the other lines might be willing to agree.

The Navy List.

Secretary Chandler favors Senator Rollins' amendment to the naval appropriation bill, looking to a reduction of the number of officers of the navy. The total list of officers on the active list on July 1, 1882, was 937 on sea duty, receiving $1,880,900; 644 on shore duty, receiving $1,568,200; 236 on waiting orders, receiving $376,300; 77 officers of the marine corps, receiving $174,040; and on the retired list, 301 naval officers, receiving $703,180; and 13 officers of the marine corps, receiving $25,858, making a total of 2,208 officers, receiving annually $4,728,478. The secretary says he is aware that it will require strong conviction and great firmness to sustain any person who shall undertake to lessen the privileges and emoluments of this great military array maintained in connection with our thirty-one old-fashioned ships and 264 inferior guns and 8,000 seamen, but the work is a public duty, the performance of which he will never cease to recommend. In any event, the secretary says he hopes that there will be no repeal of any of the reformatory legislation of last year.

There is one contingency which may permit Mr. Chandler to become chairman of the Republican National Committee. Should the recalcitration of the treasury department, upon the recent raid of the navy bureau, result in further damaging developments, it is possible that the navy department might be merged in the army, or made an adjunct to some more important branch of the public service, in which case the present secretary will be in a position not to violate any of the principles of the civil service rules, but could consistently serve as chairman, provided of course that he could obtain the consent of a majority of the committee to such a result.

Our New York Fashion Letter.

So various a variety of varieties come up this month for notice, that I send you a variety letter. If displeased by the change, accord me I pray you a variety of pardons.

Bustles are certainly becoming more of bustles; longer, and sad to say, more prominent. More people wear them, yet one does not yet look outlandish without one. Let us cling to that "yet" as drowning mariners, and hope against hope. There is talk of hooped-skirts, which let us hope will continue to be talk.

Gros grain silks lift up their heads again and claim supremacy, while following close upon them we see mention made of alpacas. Desirable because shedding the dust, we cordially greet again these materials so much liked, particularly as it is prophesied that they will appear in a finish of "modern improvement."

A "cotton summer" is predicted. All sorts of pretty cotton goods are already in market, and passing by the old familiar prints, we find satines, checked, striped and floral patterned in immense variety, awaiting customers, who will generally choose plain satine to make up in combination—generally, but not always.

Thirty years experimenting ought to produce something, and something has been produced. None other than the new nonpareil brocaded velveteens, which have become immediate favorites, and are destined to a great run. They have the advantage over embossed velvet, as the ground is not clipped, and their woven broche figures are much more lasting than those merely stamped by hot irons. Not injured by water, they are in large demand for spring jackets, pelisses, mantalets, basques, or for costumes in combination with fine wool or silk. The prices are one-third less than velvet, and all stylish colors are shown; rich shades of navy blue, olive, garnet, myrtle, sapphire, wine color and black. Designs are various; some modest, others bold in size, but all are very tasteful.

Long cloaks have been in vogue so long that they really ought to be growing shorter, or growing old-fashioned, or growing or doing something. Instead, they stand staunch and steadfast, the tides of fashion sweeping by them, eddying around them. Somehow we have an idea that a long cloak ought to be a warm one, but a process of logical sifting shows that to remain an idea only. In Paris lovely spring cloaks are made of lace over colored satin, and very thin wools are utilized for the same purpose. So, you see, a long cloak can be either thick or thin, and can be worn by either the young or the elderly, especially the latter. There is a flippancy about the jacket which suits not well the lady who for many years has weathered the storms of matrimonial life, and for her the dignity of a prolonged garment is more in keeping. Young ladies have greater freedom, and wear either or both, as the paternal purse may give consent.

Each year the fancy for rugs seems to grow, and as the fancy grows so grows a wherewithal to satisfy it. In place of carpets, come very large rugs, the one sufficient for a room, and which are spread over mattings or painted floors as the case may be. The advantage of this over the carpet that must be re-cut and re-fitted every time one moves, the migratory New Yorker alone can tell. We think of these things, now that the first of May looms up, and nobody knows where anybody is going to be. From the above climax of a rug, we have them in every size down to convenient little things put anywhere and everywhere, as the good wife fancies. As a late improvement, come rolls of carpeting with fringe sewn on the edge. These are cheaper than the genuine rug, and also as desirable.

Housekeepers may also note that Horsford's Bread Preparation is coming more and more into favor. This is the invention of Professor Horsford of Cambridge, whose Acid Phosphate ranks high with the medical profession, and the same scientific principles which have rendered that so excellent a remedy, have produced ingredients that restore to biscuits, cakes, etc., the nutritive phosphates lost in the process of bolting. It is therefore considered stronger and healthier than any other, besides making lighter bread, and of course grows every day in popularity.

One set of fashionables have their panes of glass cut very small, in imitation of some old, ancestral homes. Others adopt the modern elegance of an entire pane.

It is hard to tell "master" from "man," as the exquisite now imitates as nearly as possible the attire of his coachman.

LUCY CARTER.

News and Notes.

W. W. Bradley, sheriff and state tax collector of East Carroll parish, Louisiana, is a defaulter for $6,000. He has been suspended by the governor.

James Treglown, who murdered Minnie Chergwin, was sentenced on the 12th inst. at Morristown, N. J., to be hanged on Wednesday, March 21st.

The house of John Sheffield, near Edgarton, Wis., was burned by an incendiary fire early in the morning on the 13th inst., and a girl of fourteen years and an infant boy perished. Sheffield, who is a drunken character, and deserted his family after a quarrel two weeks ago, is suspected of the crime.

Richard Wagner, the eminent composer, died in Venice on the 13th inst., at the age of seventy years.

James Andrews of Cornish died on Friday, Feb. 9th, of hydrophobia. He was bitten last spring, and the dog was killed. He commenced to show symptoms two weeks ago, and died in horrible agonies.

The roof of the Glenn hotel, in Jacksonville, Vt., was damaged to the extent of $1000 on the 12th inst. by the snow upon it.

David Dodge, a blacksmith, residing in Jefferson, Me., who left Gardiner for his home some time ago, was found by the roadside on the 12th inst., frozen to death. He was fifty years old, and leaves three children. He was intoxicated when last seen.

Two of the Wamsutta Co.'s mills at New Bedford are shut down, on account of the breaking of a gear wheel; 1000 operatives will be out of work for two weeks.

Minnie Jackson, a young lady of Swampscott, Mass., was knocked down and robbed by a man on Saturday, Feb. 10th, and on Tuesday evening, the 13th, the Lynn police arrested Thomas Gannon at the Forest River house, on suspicion of being the assailant.

The British admiralty court has decided in favor of the Inman steamship company in its action for damages against the owners of the steamship Kirby Hall, which vessel ran into and sank the steamship City of Brussels on the 8th of January, near Liverpool.

Adams Logan of North Adams, Mass., while watering his cows, Feb. 12th, was killed by being crushed by the roof of his barn, which caved in in consequence of the weight of snow upon it. He leaves a wife and three children.

The Powhatan took provisions and coal on board at the Boston navy yard on the 13th inst., completing her preparation for sailing.

Mr. Stephen E. Grant, who was formerly landlord of the Cape Neddick house, York, and after that hotel was burned conducted the Moody house at York beach, now offers for sale the Limerick house at Limerick, which he bought when he left York several years since.

The schooner Etta M. Barter, with timber for Mr. William F. Fernald, hauled up from the Gas Co.'s wharf to the north end on Tuesday. The timber will be rafted to Mr. Fernald's shipyard at Freeman's point.

The young daughter of Mr. Wm. F. Fernald, who fell through the railroad bridge near Freeman's point two weeks ago, sustaining terrible injuries, is improving.

The steamer Acushnet arrived on Tuesday with a fair freight. In a lot of iron for the navy yard were thirteen sheets weighing 22,000 lbs.

Gen. Chamberlain's lecture on the "Surrender of Lee," delivered in Eliot last week, was attended by a large audience. The lecture gave great satisfaction.

Why Do People Have

Two sets of teeth?

They don't shed arms and legs to get new ones. Teeth are indispensable, and the Creator gives two chances. When one uses SOZODONT, even among babies, it preserves the "deciduous teeth," and helps to strengthen the permanent.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eodtjan9,84

A Card.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. WE DO NOT CLAIM that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itch. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 14th.

S. W. Wells and Wm. T. Gessford were charged with driving a team on Congress street at a rate much faster than the law allows. The former was assessed $9.50 and his companion $10.27, which they paid. [These were the persons who ran into and knocked over Dr. Sylvester Gilbert on the previous evening.]

THE "MERRIE MAKERS."

Of the performance of Little Corinne, the child actress, who with her Merrie Makers will appear at Music hall on Saturday afternoon in "The Magic Slipper," and at the same place on Saturday evening in "Bijou, Our Company," the Boston Globe says:

Corinne, who has enjoyed since her last season in Boston a series of triumphs which would turn the head of any young lady of her years less self-possessed, was welcomed at the Globe theatre by a very large and friendly assemblage. In "The Magic Slipper" the wonderful child-actress gives a performance full of dainty bits of acting, and her singing is remarkable for its sustained power and the command of tone, which many a singer much older would be glad to possess.

Tickets now on sale at Goodrich's Congress Block bookstore. For prices, etc., see advertisement.

ANNIVERSARY ENTERTAINMENT.

As had been anticipated, a large and select audience filled Golden Cross hall on Tuesday evening of this week to enjoy the entertainment furnished under the auspices of the Woman's Temperance League, it being the eighth anniversary of the formation of the league. The first number on the programme for the evening's entertainment was a laughable farce by the Osgood Dramatic club, entitled "Muldoon's Party," with Mr. Chas. Hatch in the title role; a part of this play consisted in some excellent music on several different instruments by Mr. William Betton, which was highly enjoyed by those present. After the play there was some excellent reading by Miss Fannie Deverson, which was highly appreciated; then came a recitation, "Dollars and Dimes," by Miss Bertha G. Gammon, which was well rendered, followed by some excellent reading by Mrs. R. D. Smart; the Osgood Dramatic club then gave another very laughable farce, entitled "The two Buzzards," with Messrs. Green and Hatch in the leading parts; the president of the league, Mrs. James Sanborn, then read a very interesting paper on temperance; and Miss Garrie Randall, ex-president of the league, read a well-constructed and interesting paper on the "History of the League," from its organization to the present time, showing that much and excellent work has been done by the league. S.

Mr. William C. Robinson, for some time past clerk of the Portsmouth Brewing Co., has resigned that position, and disposed of his house. It is reported that he intends making a home somewhere in the west.

The Dover Republican says: "The Dover point brick makers want the Eastern railroad to put down a track running from the point along the river bank to their brick yards, in order that they may be better accommodated, and be enabled to enlarge their works on an extensive scale. This proposed track will accommodate six or eight yards whose bricks are all sent to the Boston market, and we are informed that over ten thousand dollars are paid annually by them to the schooners for freight on brick alone. These schooners do not afford sufficient accommodation, hence the brickmakers are anxious to have the Eastern road put down a track so they may send their bricks to Boston by rail."

A horse belonging to Mr. Warren Keen was hitched in front of John S. Rand's store on Market street, Tuesday of this week, when a snow-slide occurred which frightened the animal, and in his efforts to get loose he broke the shafts of the sleigh and some parts of the harness. A short time afterward, as Mrs. Keen and her daughter were standing with several other persons looking at the damaged sleigh, another body of snow came down, filling the sleigh half full and liberally covering the spectators.

The long-talked-of "business arrangement" between the Eastern and Boston & Maine railroads, looking to a mutual advantage, is as good as completed, and the public will soon be in possession of the particulars.—Boston Post.

The bodies of Rear Adm. John C. Beaumont and his child were removed from the receiving tomb on Wednesday of this week, and taken to the navy yard, where they were put on board the U. S. S. Tallapoosa for transportation to Washington. The steamer sailed in the afternoon.

A number of Portsmouth Red Men, of the "improved order," were in Manchester on Tuesday evening of this week, attending a ball given by Passaconnaway Tribe of that place, instead of listening to the able lecture delivered in the North church of this city that evening by Mr. Herbert Welsh, relative to their unimproved—and many persons think unimprovable, except by killing—brethren of the far west. Mr. J. E. Dixon, formerly of this city but now of Manchester, was one of the committee of arrangement in charge of the affair.

On Tuesday afternoon, the 13th inst., Mr. John Woods in turning the corner of Middle and Congress streets capsized his sleigh, and was thrown out. The horse went down Congress street and turned into Fleet street, where he was stopped by Harry Beacham. No injury was sustained by the team or driver.

A blockade of teams occurred on Vaughan street, Wednesday afternoon, the 14th inst. Twenty teams were counted between the Hanover and Deer street crossings.

The steamer Mystic was taken on the marine railway at Kittery, Feb. 14th. The steamer James Sampson will be taken off the river for repairs, as soon as the Mystic resumes running.

The steamer Acushnet left for Boston on Wednesday evening, Feb. 14th, at seven o'clock. This is her last trip between this city and Boston for the present, as she is to haul up for repairs.

The fish arrivals on the 14th inst. were the schooners Grace Choate and Flying Cloud, with 3700 lbs. each; the Ev. Nichols with 2100 lbs.; Ella M. Johnson, 1200 lbs.; Bonita, 1000 lbs.; Hattie N. Reed, 1800 lbs.; E. A. Williams, 1700 lbs.; Flora Temple, 800 lbs.; Mary E. Smith, 2600 lbs; Addie & Hattie, 2000 lbs.; Nettie Adams, 1500 lbs.; Storm King, 1500 lbs.; Water Lily, 1700 lbs.; other vessels, 5000 lbs. Price ruled at six cents a pound.

An attempt was made on Wednesday afternoon, the 14th inst., to take a raft of timber through the draw of the Noble's island bridge on the first of the flood tide, but it swung round broadside against the piles, and hung there to wait for a more convenient season.

Never before within our recollection were householders so much annoyed by the backing in of snow-water under the roofs of their houses, from ice-filled gutter, as during the first half of this week. In some instances considerable damage was done to plastering, wall paper and carpets; and on Tuesday and Wednesday dozen of men, with ladders and hatchets, kettles of hot water, buckets of coarse salt, ropes and shovels, were engaged in clearing snow from roofs and ice from water-conductors.

The obsequies of Thomas R. Moore took place at his late residence on Court street, on the 14th inst., Rev. John A. Goss officiating. Delegations of Freemasons and Odd Fellows attended the funeral, and acted as pall bearers; the shoe factory shut down for several hours, to enable such of the operatives as desired to attend, and the flag was displayed at half-mast on the Liberty bridge pole. Quite a number of floral tokens were contributed by friends, including an anchor from the shoe factory hands.

The schooner Mary S. Hontvet, of this port, arrived in Boston on the 13th inst. from Georges with 28,000 lbs. of haddock and 15,000 lbs. of cod.

The only schooner lying at the wharves on Tuesday of this week, aside from those laid up for the winter, was the coaster Etta M. Barter, at the Concord railroad wharf.

Mr. Lemuel B. Caswell shipped by the steamer Acushnet, to Haskell Bros. of Boston, twenty-five barrels of fish spawn, realizing two dollars and eighty-seven cents a barrel. During the summer and fall of 1882 the fishermen received only one dollar a barrel for spawn, and there were but few buyers even at that price.

Mr. George A. Jackson's owl holds out nobly as a provider of items. We have already related how the bird was caught on Sunday, the 11th inst., and how he escaped on the night of the 12th; we now have to record his second capture, within two hundred feet of his first seizure, which shows that a person may be "wise as an owl" and still not know a great deal. On Tuesday, the 13th, Mr. Jackson went into an old dove cote, some distance away from the one in which his owlship was first caught, and in another building, and there was the owl, who was once more quickly transferred to his cage.

Mr. E. C. Spinney, of Kittery, has this winter hauled from the "Rice lot" in that town to the landing on the shore of the river near the Eastern railroad station, about 600 saw-logs, and it is said will make the number about 1000 before stopping. The logs will be rafted, floated across the river to Mason's steam mill in this city, and cut into lumber.

Three Tree island is to be further decorated by the erection of a dance hall. A walk on the beach of that island, though somewhat limited in extent at high tide, has on moonlight night its peculiar attractions, so those who have enjoyed such a ramble say.

A Common-sense Remedy.
SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 86 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly. Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.
Thousands of testimonials sent on application.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

238th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures grayness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tendency and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joyful release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed, as abundant testimony testifies.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

Bright's Disease, Diabetes.

Beware of the stuff that pretends to cure these diseases or other serious kidney, urinary or liver diseases, as they only relieve for a time and makes you ten times worse afterwards, but rely solely on Hop Bitters, the only remedy that will surely and permanently cure you. It destroys and removes the cause of disease so effectually that it never returns.

The supreme court for Strafford county opened in Dover on the 13th inst., Judge Clark presiding.

"He who is ready to buy up his enemies will never want a supply of them." It is cheaper to buy a true friend in Kidney-Wort who will drive away those miserable enemies, a torpid liver, constipation, diabetes, piles, diseased kidneys and bowels. THAT SETTLES IT.

Brought into Competition with the World, the Best Carries off the Honors.

At the great Centennial Exhibition of 1876, the leading products of all the branches of the World's industry were assembled at Philadelphia. To carry off a prize in the face of that tremendous competition was a task of no ordinary difficulty. Inventions and preparations for the alleviation of pain and the cure of disease were present in the greatest possible variety, representing the skill and the profoundest study of the age, and it may be of vital importance to you, personally, to know that the highest and only medal given to rubber Porous plasters, was awarded to the manufacturers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER, by the following jury:

DR. WM. ROTH, Surgeon-General, Prussian Army.

J. H. THOMPSON, A. M., M. D., Washington, D. C.

C. B. WHITE, M. D., New Orleans.

ERNEST FLEISCH, M. D., Austria.

The decision was afterwards confirmed by the medical jury at the last Paris Exposition. Knowing the value of such high and unbiased testimony, the medical profession, both in the United States and in Europe, quickly threw aside the old, slow acting plasters they had been using, and adopted Benson's in their regular practice. That physicians and surgeons of the broadest reputations did this, distinctly proves the intrinsic merit of the article.

It is no more than just to add that the average physician of to-day is not dominated by the prejudices which retarded the progress and modified the successes of his predecessors of not more than twenty-five years ago. He accepts hints from all quarters and endorses and adopts demonstrated healing agents wherever he finds them.

The right of Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster to stand at the head of all external applications whatsoever, for the mitigation or cure of disease, is no longer questioned.

Let the purchaser, however, be on his guard against imitations. The genuine has the word CAPCINE cut in the middle.

THE

New Hampshire Gazette!

Established 1756.

The Gazette is published every Thursday and sent to Subscribers at the low price of $1.50 per year, paid in advance, or $2 at the end of the year.

It contains full accounts of all of importance that transpires in Portsmouth and its vicinity, and a condensed summary of news, foreign and domestic; editorials upon current topics; New Hampshire items; carefully prepared marine news, containing reports of vessels owned at this port, or offered by men from Portsmouth or its neighborhood; and is just the paper for residents desiring to be posted on all that takes place at home, while to those living in the vicinity of Portsmouth, or to former residents who retain their interest in the "old home by the sea," it is the best means of keeping informed of what transpires in this city.

How to Graft.

Our first successful grafting was done at the age of nine years. "At home" we had an old orchard that seemed to be past its period of usefulness, and what apples it did bear were of inferior sorts. It was a question whether to cut down the trees, or try and rejuvenate them by the application of an abundance of manure, well stirred into the soil, and by grafting the old limbs with new and superior varieties of fruit. It was concluded to see what virtue there was in manure and clons, and this gave us an opportunity to watch the process of grafting. Before the job was finished we had learned the art of cutting a cion, making a cleft, applying the wax, etc. Later in the season it was a source of much gratification to see the young grafts we had put in, growing along with those set by a master-hand.

This reminiscence of youth is given as a proof that grafting is not a monopoly of gifted minds, or an art that can only be acquired by the few. With the ordinary amount of "gumption" to begin with, followed by careful teaching for only a short time, almost any one can graft successfully. Grafting is simply planting a cutting of one variety in the wood of another, instead of in the soil. It is essential that the growing layer of the cion and stock come in close contact, and be so held until they grow together. Now is the time to get the clons. They may be bought at most nurseries, and great care should be taken to get only the best varieties. If cut at home, be equally careful to get them of the right kind, cutting only twigs of last season's growth. Each sort should be cut separately and tied in bundles, labelled, and afterwards put in boxes with damp saw dust or moss, and kept in a cool place until used. A fine saw, two good knives, one strong and heavy, the other smaller, with a keen edge; a hard-wood wedge, six inches long and half an inch thick; and a small mallet, are the implements used in grafting. The wax may be easily made by melting together, beeswax six oz., rosin and tallow four oz. each, over a moderate fire, stirring gradually until all is melted. Rolls of waxed cloth may be formed from old cotton stuff made thin by wear, and torn into strips two inches wide. Wind the strips upon a stick and dip them into the melted wax; when the cloth is thoroughly penetrated by the wax, remove, let drip, and put away from dust ready for use.

Grafting should be done as soon as the buds begin to swell. Having determined upon the place for the graft, saw off the branch, smooth the cut surface, and make a cleft with the knife and mallet. Cut the cion from the twig, leaving two or three buds upon the piece, and sharpen the lower end into a wedge. Open the cleft with the knife and place the cion in carefully so that the lower bud comes at the top of the cleft. The inner bark, or growing layer, of the cion and the stock should touch as much as possible. If the grafted branch is small, a single cion is enough; otherwise, put in one on each side. Unroll enough waxed cloth to cover the wound of both stock and cion, and press it on carefully and closely. The quick application of this protection is only a matter of practice. It is well for beginners to start with worthless limbs before doing regular grafting in the orchard. If possible find some one in the neighborhood familiar with the process and learn the art from him. The general principles may be obtained from printed directions, but the success of the work will depend upon the knack, and that is only acquired in the orchard.—DR. HALSTED, in American Agriculturist.

A Funny Mistake.

Some time ago an editor had what was called "a cystic tumor" in his throat, and one of his partisan newspapers stated that "Mr. Blank is suffering from a sciatic tumor on his neck." Of course this was an error; but a greater error is the mistaken idea that prevails among some people that sciatic pains cannot be cured. Not only those pains, but rheumatism, will yield to the action of Salicylica, one of the most reliable remedies of modern times.

Truth is Mighty.

When Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., announced that his "Favorite Prescription" would positively cure the many diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, some doubted, and continued to employ the harsh and caustic local treatment. But the mighty truth gradually became acknowledged. Thousands of ladies employed the "Favorite Prescription" and were speedily cured. By druggists.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Catarrh.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal—and with such a variety of characteristics as catarrh, prove how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

A GOOD ODD FELLOW.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., New Haven, Conn.—How He takes Life Easy now and how He Obtained the Means to Regain his Health.

Mr. Cutler, of 21 Lyons St., is a faithful Odd Fellow, and for forty years a member of Quinnipiac Lodge, No. 1, (the oldest organization of its kind in the State of Conn.) He is a man much respected in New Haven. Your reporter found him at his pleasant home on Lyons street one afternoon, taking life easy. "You see," he says, "I'm trying to make myself feel a little indisposed. I presume it's the lingering results of a Lodge dinner which I attended a while ago down at the beach. I have been, as many of my friends in New Haven know, a sufferer for years from indigestion and biliousness. When I have indulged in too hearty food I've had to suffer at times extremely. As a result I've had to place myself under my physician's care often, and I have taken a great many remedies, but I find after a thorough trial that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the most excellent medicine I have ever had knowledge of for any of the disorders above mentioned. It leaves no exhaustive effects, but rather strengthens and regulates the digestive organs in a charming manner. We keep it as a household medicine, and I have recommended it to my friends, for it is an excellent preparation."

Mr. Cutler is a man whose word can be depended upon. His testimony is but a re-echo of the words of thousands in New England who have received relief from the sole use of Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY.

The Tale of the False Teeth.

False teeth may tell lies in a quiet way. But a real tooth tells the solemn truth when it sends its messages of pain through all the nerves and muscles of the face. "I have the tooth-ache!" is the almost audible howl. And the echo is, "Yes, and the toothache has me!" When the pains of neuralgia settle in a decayed tooth, something must be done. Get Perry Davis's Pain Killer.

In advocating the appointment of Dorman B. Eaton as one of the civil service commission, Brother Moore, who has been recommended for the place by the New Hampshire delegation, is altogether too modest. Mr. Eaton drew the bill creating the commission and has spent a year at Washington lobbying it through Congress, for no other reason than to provide himself with a place upon it. This alone should prevent his appointment, and aside from that he isn't half as well fitted to discharge the duties as Mr. Moore.—Manchester Mirror.

The Proposed Reduction of the Navy List.

The amendment to the naval bill proposed in the senate on the 13th inst. by Mr. Rollins differed somewhat from that offered by him several days previous, though the results sought to be obtained are substantially the same. The last proposed amendment provides for the appointment by the president of nine officers of high rank on either the active or retired list, who shall, before October 1st, 1883, thoroughly scrutinize the active list of the navy, and shall select therefrom 6 rear-admirals, 10 commodores, 40 captains, 80 commanders, 70 lieutenant commanders, 240 lieutenants, 70 masters, 70 ensigns, 100 midshipmen, 10 medical directors, 10 medical inspectors, 45 surgeons, 85 assistant and passed assistant surgeons, 8 pay directors, 8 pay inspectors, 35 paymasters, 15 passed assistant paymasters, 10 assistant paymasters, 5 chief engineers with the relative rank of captain, 10 chief engineers with the relative rank of commander, 40 chief engineers with the relative rank of lieutenant-commander or lieutenant, 55 passed assistant engineers and 35 assistant engineers with the relative rank for each as now fixed by law, 12 chaplains, 6 professors of mathematics, 8 naval constructors, 4 assistant naval constructors, 3 civil engineers, 30 boatswains, 30 gunners, 30 carpenters and 20 sailmakers, to be retained on the active list of the navy to discharge the current duties of the service under the law and regulations governing it; and all others now on said list shall be considered supernumerary, and shall be placed on a separate list, not entitled to promotion and with leave-of-absence pay, but subject to be ordered to service with the proper pay of their grade only in time of war, and they shall retire on reaching the retiring age of their grade, or at any time before reaching that age on their own application; and the officers so retained as above provided shall be entitled to their promotion after proper service and examination, as vacancies may occur, without regard to the officers remaining on the supernumerary list, provided that all officers of the navy shall be retired on reaching sixty-two years of age.

AROUND HOME.

The steam tug C. M. Winch, of Boston, Rich master, put into the lower harbor on Thursday last for shelter, while on her way back to Boston from Booth-bay, Maine, whither she had towed the schooner Helen H. Benedict. In the lower harbor she found the brig Ysidora Rionda, bound to Portland from Boston, and engaged to tow her to her destination the first favorable weather.

Mr. Charles A. Watkins, for some time past engaged in running a stationary engine on the Concord railroad wharf, and one of the best hoisters on the wharf, proposes to remove to Boston.

Tickets for the entertainments on Saturday afternoon and evening by the Corinne Merrie Makers at Music hall, can now be obtained at Goodrich's Congress Block bookstore.

The pay car of the Eastern railroad arrived here from Boston at 9:50 o'clock last Thursday forenoon, and left for the eastward on the 11:05 train. Hitherto there has been a special pay train, travelling over all the branches of the road, but under the new arrangement the paymaster's car is attached to the regular train, and does not diverge from the main track, the hands employed on the branch roads being paid by those in charge of them. As the pay roll at this station bears the names of about sixty persons, the car is always a welcome visitant, whether it runs as a "special" or is "hooked on behind."

On Tuesday evening of this week seventeen young men, mostly coal shovellers, started out to give a calithumpian serenade to a friend, recently married, and residing on Deer street. They had hardly commenced their overture when they were greeted with generous showers of water, hot and cold, followed by a volley of brick-bats, a flank attack being made on the band by a broom brigade of one. The musical performance was stopped by the efforts of a supernumerary police officer, and the musicians adjourned to the house of one of their number, where a pair of handcuffs were placed on the wrists of the host, the band then departing; the victim of this joke slept in irons that night, and did not get the bracelets off until the next afternoon. On Wednesday evening the serenaders attempted another performance, which was brought to an inglorious end by the police, who arrested one of the party. The boys say it was a mere matter of sport among themselves, and no harm would have come of it had they been left alone.

Abner Mitchell, a well-known citizen of Alfred, died at that place on the 8th inst., at the age of eighty years. He was for many years deputy sheriff of York county, trial justice, and town clerk. Mr. Mitchell was a native of Livingston, Me., but had been a resident of Alfred for the past thirty years.

New Hampshire Items.

A. A. Thurlow, a freight conductor on the Portland & Ogdensburg railroad, fell between the cars at Bartlett, and was killed.

John W. Ham, of Canterbury, while drawing ice, got thrown under the sled, which passed over him, breaking several ribs and causing other severe injuries.

The partial suspension of work in the mills at Manchester on account of the drouth has brought a good many families to want, and the amount of food and fuel distributed by the county commissioners is much larger than for many years.

Hon. H. G. Parker and Francis J. Parker, executors of the late Chief Justice Joel Parker, have notified the trustees of Dartmouth college of their readiness to pay to the college the sum of $50,000, as the first instalment of Judge Parker's bequest for the establishment of a law department.

Humane Harshness.

Kindness, in the guise of cruelty, was shown in a novel way by a Montana stage-driver during a recent cold snap. The stage was on its way from Deer Lodge to Missoula, and was passing over the Flint Creek hills. So intense was the cold that the only passengers, a woman and her little child, were in danger of freezing to death. The mother's heart was so worked upon by the condition of her child that she placed around the babe all her wraps. The driver saw that drowsiness, the first stage of freezing, had fallen upon unfortunate the woman. He put his coat around her, but her blood seemed to be standing still. Then he grew very harsh, seized the woman, dragged her from the coach and left her by the roadside. "Oh, my baby!" the mother cried. The driver cracked his whip. The stage flew over the snow, with the woman running after. The race was kept up for nearly two miles, when the driver took the mother in and again wrapped his coat around her. By a clever ruse he had warmed her blood, and saved her life.

A despatch from Hamburg says that at the conclusion of their evidence before the court of inquiry concerning the Cimbria disaster, Captain Cuttill and First Officer Bullard, of the steamer Sultan, were allowed to go free. This indicates that in the opinion of the court the Cimbria's officers were responsible for the awful disaster.

Callender's billiard-table manufactory at Stamford, Conn., was burned Feb. 13th; loss $225,000.

The storeroom of the lockup at Woburn, Mass., in which were stored liquors seized from local dealers, was entered Tuesday night, Feb. 13th, and four barrels of liquors were stolen, four empty barrels being left in their place. The liquors were valued at $350.

A Los Angeles (Cal.) despatch says: A freight train left the track near Summer on the 13th inst., and two engines and six cars were smashed. A fireman was killed, and two others bruised. A lot of cattle were also killed. A waterspout covered the track with mud, which caused the accident.

Fears are entertained for the safety of schooner Willie H. Joyce, Capt. Charles Doyle, which sailed from Fortune bay, Newfoundland, about the 18th of January, for Gloucester, Mass., and has not yet arrived. Vessels which left Newfoundland in her company arrived in Gloucester during the first days of this month. She is reported to have been last seen by schooner William E. McDonald about forty miles east of Cape Sable, and may have been caught in the ice. She was a handsome new vessel, built last year, and owned in Portland, Me. She was chartered by Gloucester parties, and had a crew of seven men.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

For week ending Wednesday, Feb. 14.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

Amount of stock at market—Cattle 1567; Sheep and Lambs 4814; Swine 13,600; Veals 45; Horses 48.

Prices of Beef Cattle ℔ 100 lbs, live weight—Extra quality $6 75 @ 12¼; first quality $6 00 @ 6 62½; second quality $5 25 @ 5 87½; third quality $4 25 @ 5 12½; poorest grades of coarse oxen, bulls, etc., $3 00 @ 12½.

Brighton hides 8¼ @ 9c ℔ lb.

Brighton tallow 7¼ @ 8c ℔ lb.

Country hides, heavy ones 8 @ 8½c ℔ lb; light ones, 6 @ 6½c ℔ lb.

Country tallow 4 @ 4½c ℔ lb.

Calf skins 12 @ 13½c ℔ lb.

Sheep skins $1 00 @ $1 25 each.

Lamb skins $1 00 @ $1 25 each.

Extra skins $1 50 each.

The trade for beef cattle has not been so active this week as it was last. Cattle cost higher at the west, and the quality of those brought was of a better grade than those offered on the market one week since. Prices ruled lower for most of the cattle were nearly, if not quite, ½c ℔ lb higher than those obtained one week since for the same grades of beeves. Retailers of small lots of cattle said they were not selling their cattle at any better prices than those quoted one week since.

Working Oxen—Only a few pairs in market and a light call for them. We note sales of a few pairs ranging from $80 at $145 ℔ pair. Trade for working oxen will revive as the season advances.

Store Cattle—Yearlings $8 @ $14; 2-year olds $14 @ $22; 3-year olds $22 @ $45 ℔ head. Prices of small cattle depend much upon their value for beef.

Veal calves sell quick at 3 @ 7¼c ℔ lb, live weight.

Milch cows and springers are in fair demand. We note sales of 2 new milch cows at $60 each; 2 cows and calves at $45 each; 1 springer at $60; 1 new milch cow at $70.

Sheep and Lambs—Those from the west were mostly owned by butchers. Sheep cost from 5 @ 6½c, lambs from 6 @ 7½c ℔ lb, live weight, landed at the yards.

Swine—Store pigs in light demand at 7 @ 9c ℔ lb, live weight. Western fat hogs cost 6¾ @ 7¾c ℔ lb, live weight, landed at the slaughter houses.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

MRS. S. S. MOODY,

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, February 15th, Mayor Treat in the chair:

Present the full board.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

The report of the chief engineer of the fire department was accepted, and referred to the committee on fire department.

The resignation of John Laighton as assessor of taxes was accepted.

Charles W. Coleman presented charges against Assistant Marshal Charles A. C. Gray for assault, etc., requesting an investigation; the matter was referred to the committee on police.

A document protesting against the sale of city lands, and requesting the sale of Portsmouth & Dover railroad stock to raise certain needed funds, was laid before the board, and though not addressed to the board was accepted and placed on file.

The petition reads: "We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of the city of Portsmouth, believing that it will be prejudicial to the interests of said city to dispose of the city farm or any part thereof for the purpose of raising money to pay the bonds of said city falling due this year, respectfully protest against such action, and request the city councils to sell for that purpose a sufficient amount of the capital stock of the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, now held by said city."

The petition is headed by Ex-Mayor Sise, and is signed by J. W. Emery, T. Salter Tredick, Joseph Sise, Alex. H. Ladd, Geo. W. Haven, W. H. Rollins, E. H. Winchester, J. P. Bartlett, Dr. Potter, Jno. J. Pickering, Daniel Marcy, T. M. Ball, H. M. Clark, W. G. Myers and others,—in all thirty-three citizens.

Mr. Hackett said that possibly the petitioners had not given the subject as much attention as have the committee of the board. A portion of the city farm lying west of the road leading to Newington from the Creek road could be sold at a fair price. At present, with the few paupers capable of out-door-work at the almshouse, the city was undertaking to carry on farming on land of high value in competition with individuals. In other words, the land was not needed for the city farm, and it costs very much for the city to own it. As to the stock of the railroad, shares might be sold in small lots, perhaps, at a small premium, but if the amounts required to be in the treasury in six weeks (as the money to meet these maturing bonds must be in the bank in Boston, where they are payable, on the 31st of March) were to be realized, and it was known by buyers that it was to be put in the market with more to follow, it would depress the price of shares.

The number of shares owned by the city is 8440, rather a large supply with which to begin a sale. The bonded debt for this stock was $343,000.00. Many had regarded it better to keep these shares or their proceeds as a special means of paying the railroad loan, and to pay the other loans by sale of the city farm in part, and in part by proceeds of the taxes. To obtain funds at a low rate of interest would require a long-time bond; this would not reduce our indebtedness.

It is also apparent that if we sell the railroad stock, the city must pay six per cent interest on its bonds to their maturity, while it loses the same sum with which to pay its interest until the bonds mature.

The bonds maturing this year were issued on account of war expenses, and ought to be paid rather than extended. He had great respect for the signers, and hoped if any one desired to be heard on the subject there would be abundant opportunity.

Met the common council in convention, and ballotted for assessor of taxes to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of John Laighton. Samuel S. Green was elected.

In board of aldermen, resumed: The committee on police reported, approving the annual report of the city marshal for the year 1882; and it was accepted, to be printed with the city accounts.

The commitee to whom was referred the request of Mr. Gignoux to hire a portion of the Spring market, reported that Mr. Wm. S. Hadley, who at present occupies it for storage purposes, has the right to retain it until April.

No report on the north pond matter was made, the committee not having been able to meet General Manager Tucker of the Eastern railroad. Mr. Tucker will confer with the committee before the next meeting of the board.

Adjourned.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER J.

THURSDAY, Feb. 15th.

There was quite a rush of business in the court on Thursday, seven sinners being brought up in the forenoon.

John Hennessey, for brawl and tumult, was fined $2, costs $8.04, which he paid.

Cornelius Reagan paid $9.90 for one drunk by him had and expended.

Henry Lyons was assessed $9.90 for one drunk, and sent to jail for not paying it.

John Hathaway's drunk was apparently one of extra size, as he was charged $5 for it, with $6.90 costs; county farm in default of payment.

John Hughes, for drunkenness, was sent to Brentwood for thirty days, costs being taxed at $6.90.

Thomas Towle, vagrancy, six months in Brentwood, costs $6.90.

Arthur Porter, vagrancy, four months in Brentwood, costs $6.90.

THE "MERRIE MAKERS."

To-morrow (Saturday) the Corinne Merrie Makers will give two entertainments in Music hall—in the afternoon, when a special performance of "The Magic Slipper" will be given for the convenience of ladies and children, and in the evening when "Bijou, Our Company," will be presenfed. Little Corinne is undoubtedly the infant prodigy of the American stage; she was entitled to that term when she first appeared in public, and has steadily and rapidly improved since. Of her the New York Tribune says: "Corinne has lately been so prominently before the public that it is unnecessary for us to inform our readers as to who she is. Of her performance, we can truly say that it is wonderful. In the amount of work which she does, as well as in her manner of doing it, she excels any child we have even seen. She possesses a considerable knowledge of music, and is endowed with histronic talent surprising both in quantity and quality. Her acting is not of that parrot character so common among 'stage' children, but bears the impress of originality, and is so natural in its piquancy and picturesqueness that the little prima-donna at once leaps bodily into the affections of her auditors."

A REMARKABLE GAIN.

The extraordinary growth of the Boston Daily Globe has been fully equalled by that of the Boston Sunday Globe. The latter shows an increase of 11,620 subscribers during the last year. Many hundred copies of the Sunday Globe are sold in this city, and we cheerfully call the attention of our readers to the card concerning that paper in another column of this issue.

Between 400 and 500 teams crossed Portsmouth bridge on Wednesday of this week.

About 2000 lbs. of fish came in on the 15th inst., and commanded eight cents a pound.

Mr. George Scott was the purchaser of Mr. Wm. C. Robinson's house on Hanover street, the price paid being $2200.

The Central Bakery, No. 91 Congress street, is open Sunday mornings from 6:30 to nine o'clock.

Mr. Lewis B. Marden has sold out his stock and interest in the store No. 26 Market street to his brother, Frank E. H. Marden, and will remove to Waterbury, Conn., where he will open a similar store, with the addition of a stock of jewelry.

The schooner Charles L. Mitchell, which recently went ashore on Fisher's island, near New London, Conn., on the passage from this port for Baltimore, had six feet of water in her hold on the 13th inst. The captain and crew remained on board, and efforts were intended to be made to float her the first good weather.

"Iolanthe," the latest of Gilbert & Sullivan's comic operas, is advertised to be given in Music hall on Wednesday evening, Feb. 21st, by Snyder & Grau's English Opera Co. The libretto is said to be one of Gilbert's best works, and the "situations" even more amusing than those of "Pinafore" or "Patience." The company has recently been playing in Pennsylvania, and the papers of that state endorse the organization as being a very strong one, the principals and chorus being excellent and the costumes superb. We have had no similar entertainment in Music hall for some time, and a large audience may be expected on this occasion.

Hot brown bread every Sunday morning at the Central Bakery, No. 91 Congress street.

On Thursday of this week sixteen commercial travellers took their departure from this city, and eight others arrived. If the number of runners visiting a place is any indication of the amount of its business, then that of Portsmouth must be booming.

For the best brown bread in the city go to the Central Bakery, No. 91 Congress street.

SALICYLICA.
No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia.
Immediate Relief Warranted.
Permanent Cure Guaranteed.
Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.
SECRET!
THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.
SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy, because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so-called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.
In has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.
SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy of Paris reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.
REMEMBER
that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt their condition should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or Vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

250th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There nothing what ever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Gentle Women

Who want glossy, luxuriant and wavy tresses of abundant, beautiful Hair must use LYON'S KATHAIRON. This elegant, cheap article always makes the Hair grow freely and fast, keeps it from falling out, arrests and cures gray-ness, removes dandruff and itching, makes the Hair strong, giving it a curling tendency and keeping it in any desired position. Beautiful, healthy Hair is the sure result of using Kathairon.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

[From the Boston Globe.]

Messrs. Editors:—

Thankyou is good thanks of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by regular physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm, and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to especial cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass.

For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity.

All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.

THAT SETTLES IT.

Brought into Competition with the World, the Best Carries off the Honors.

At the great Centennial Exhibition of 1876, the leading products of all the branches of the World's industry were assembled at Philadelphia. To carry off a prize in the face of that tremendous competition was a task of no ordinary difficulty. Inventions and preparations for the alleviation of pain and the cure of disease were present in the greatest possible variety, representing the skill and the profoundest study of the age, and it may be of vital importance to you, personally, to know that the highest and only medal given to rubber Porous plasters, was awarded to the manufacturers of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER, by the following jury:

DR. WM. ROTH, Surgeon-General, Prussian Army.

J. H. THOMPSON, A. M., M. D., Washington, D. C.

C. B. WHITE, M. D., New Orleans.

ERNEST FLEISCH, M. D., Austria.

The decision was afterwards confirmed by the medical jury at the last Paris Exposition. Knowing the value of such high and unbiased testimony, the medical profession, both in the United States and in Europe, quickly threw aside the old, slow acting plasters they had been using, and adopted Benson's in their regular practice. That physicians and surgeons of the broadest reputations did this, distinctly proves the intrinsic merit of the article.

It is no more than just to add that the average physician of to-day is not dominated by the prejudices which retarded the progress and modified the successes of his predecessors of not more than twenty-five years ago. He accepts hints from all quarters and endorses and adopts demonstrated healing agents wherever he finds them.

The right of Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster to stand at the head of all external applications whatsoever, for the mitigation or cure of disease, is no longer questioned.

Let the purchaser, however, be on his guard against imitations. The genuine has the word CAPCINE cut in the middle.
